SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT TO

WEDNESDAY, JULY 24, 1872.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

Abstract of the Proceedings of the Council of the Governor General of India, assembled for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations under the provisions of the Act of Parliament 24 & 25 Vic., Cap. 67.

The Council met at Simla on Thursday, the 4th July 1872.

PRESENT:

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General of India, G. M. S. I., presiding.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab.

His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, G. C. B., & C. S. I.

The Hon'ble Sir John Strachey, K. C. S. I.

The Hon'ble Sir Richard Temple, K. C. S. I.

Major-General the Hon'ble H. W. Norman, C. B.

The Hon'ble Arthur Hobhouse, Q. C.

The Hon'ble E. C. Bayley, C. S. I.

The Hon'ble R. E. Egerton.

INDIAN PENAL CODE AMENDMENT BILL.

THE Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the definition of 'Coin' contained in the Indian Penal Code. He said that this Bill, like that which he had first introduced, was necessitated by the use of unnatural and arbitrary definitions. Its object was to check the practice of counterfeiting the copper coin of Native States.

These counterfeits were freely circulated in parts of British India, and the Financial Department stated that the result was injurious to our currency. The Penal Code (section 230) prohibited the counterfeiting of coin. But "coin" was defined as metal stamped and issued by the authority of some Government, and 'Government,' by section 17, denoted the person or persons authorized by law to administer executive government in any part of British India. It had thus happened that the coin of Native States was not coin within the meaning of the Code. It was doubtless an oversight, and due to the draftsman forgetting that the word "Government," which in section two hundred and thirty he used in its true meaning, had by section seventeen something different from its true meaning affixed to it. This defect the proposed Bill would amend.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE also moved that the final Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the solemnization in India of marriages of persons professing the Christian Religion be taken into consideration.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE then moved that in section eight, line four, after the word "Christian," the following be inserted:—"either by name or as holding any office for the time being."

This amendment was due to Mr. Aitchison, who had suggested that it would save a great deal of trouble if, instead of naming the individual holding the office, they should describe the officer. It was obvious that the officer would be selected not for his own merits but for his position.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE then moved that in section fifty-six, for the words "the Secretary in the Foreign Department of the Government of India," the following be substituted:—"Such officers as the Governor General in Council from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, appoints in his behalf."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE then moved that in section eighty-one, line one, after the words "Local Government," the following words be inserted:—"and the officers appointed under section eighty-six," and that in lines five and ten for "him" the words "them respectively" be substituted; and that in line ten, after the word "to," the words "the Secretary to the Government of India in the Home Department to be by him forwarded to" be inserted. And that the following proviso be added to the section:—

"Provided that in the case of the Governments of Madras and Bombay, the Chief Secretary shall forward the said certificates directly to the Secretary of State for India."

His Excellency the PRESIDENT suggested that for the words "to be by him forwarded" should be substituted the words "for the purpose of being forwarded," and that the proviso would run thus:—

"Provided that in the case of the Governments of Madras and Bombay, the said certificates shall be forwarded by such Governments, respectively, directly to the Secretary of State for India."

These amendments, with the alterations suggested by the PRESIDENT, were put and carried.

The Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE then moved that to section eighty-six the following clause be added:—

"And all such powers and functions may be exercised, as regards Native States situate within the local limits of the Presidencies of Fort St. George and Bombay, by the Governors in Council of those Presidencies respectively."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE then moved that the Bill as amended be passed. He now took the opportunity of explaining what had been done in respect to the Bill. It was introduced into the Council in the month of October 1871 by Mr. Cockerell, who assigned two reasons for its introduction. One was, that it would be convenient to consolidate the law relating to the solemnization in India of the marriage of persons professing the Christian Religion, and the other reason was that there was a substantial grievance felt by a class of Native Christians owing to recent legislation on this subject, which took place in 1865. It was thereby provided that marriages might be contracted by persons whom we should consider mere boys and girls; that the husband might be only 16 years old and the wife only 13; and no provision was made for reserving to the parents the right of objecting to the marriages of these young persons. Accordingly, representations were made by the Bengal Christian Association that there was a substantial grievance created by this law, and it was thought that the grievance ought to be remedied. This was done, by the Bill, and at the same time opportunity was taken for giving greater facilities for marriages in Native States. The Bill was referred to the Select Committee, who reported upon it. But it was found on examination to be not wholly in a satisfactory state. There were a good many little flaws in it, so it was found desirable to re-cast it, and thereupon it was referred to the Select Committee again, and they had again reported. He would not occupy the time of the Council with the details of that report, but it was desirable to notice some of them before the Bill was passed. What the Committee had done required mention in two respects. In the first place, section sixty of the Bill which the Committee had to consider, contained a condition of marriage which had disappeared from section sixty of the Bill now before the Council. The condition was this,—"the man and the woman shall not stand to each other within the prohibited degrees of consanguinity or affinity."

What was the legal meaning of "the prohibited degrees," it was difficult to say, and of course if the Council retained the clause in the old shape, it would be necessary to examine it much more carefully than they had done. There was, however, little doubt that the intention of the Bill, as introduced, was simply to deal with the forms and ceremonial of marriage; it was to be what it called itself—A Bill to regulate the law for the solemnization of marriage, not a Bill to regulate the Marriage Law. This had nothing to do with the essence of the contract, and the Committee thought it desirable to confine it to the purpose specified. MR. HOBHOUSE begged the Council to bear these observations in mind, because they had a still more stringent application to the remarks he was about to make on another clause. The omission of such a clause as that under consideration would be remarked, but they had done all the framer of the Bill intended by putting the clause in a negative form, namely, that nothing in this Act should be deemed to validate any marriage contracted under a law forbidding the parties to contract that particular marriage. That was the whole intention of the original section sixty, and it was accomplished by the present section eighty-eight.

MR. HOBHOUSE would next proceed to consider the more important point which related to sections seventy-six and seventy-seven of the draft Bill as approved by the first Select Committee:—

Bar of right, by change of religion, to practise polygamy.

"76. No European British subject, and no person domiciled in any country by the law of which polygamy is prohibited, shall acquire a right to practise polygamy by any change in his religious belief.

Punishment for marrying again during continuance of marriage, under law forbidding polygamy.

"77. If any person who has contracted any such marriage as is provided for by this Act, or any other marriage which by the law to which he is subject would render any subsequent marriage during its continuance illegal, marries any other person during the continuance of such marriage, he shall, whatever religion he may profess at the time of such subsequent marriage, be deemed guilty of the offence described in section four hundred and ninety-four of the Indian Penal Code, and every such subsequent marriage shall be void"

These clauses were intended to prevent the practice of polygamy under certain circumstances, and he believed the occasion of them was a scandalous case which had occurred in the Presidency of Madras. Some gentleman, who was married to an English wife, thought proper to declare himself a Muhammadan, upon which he contracted another marriage with a woman, who also declared herself a Muhammadan for the same purpose. Every one must feel that this was a very wicked act; it was a gross breach of the contract between man and wife. But whether the Council should remedy it by these clauses was another question. In the first place, the clauses under consideration ought not to be in the present Act. If it were proper to enact them, they ought to be separately enacted, for the present measure was merely one to regulate the form and solemnization of the marriage ceremony. This view was suggested by the Bishop of Madras, who had sent in some very useful and carefully considered remarks upon the Bill. Approving of the spirit of the clauses, that prelate doubted whether they ought not rather to be included in an Act dealing with the law of Marriage or of Divorce.

There was another reason why these clauses should not be included in this Bill. The principal of them applied to all persons contracting marriage under the law of monogamy, Jews for instance, and not to Christians alone. But the Bill only professed to deal with Christian marriages. As such, it had been published and criticised, and it would be hazardous to insert clauses affecting other communities whose attention had not been called to them.

Another consideration that had occurred to the Committee was this, that there was considerable danger in defining the law and attempting to express it by their own words, when they were not quite certain whether the law as it existed would not do all that was required. Mr. Stephen, who advocated the clauses, expressed himself as perfectly clear that the Madras marriage was illegal. In fact he proposed only to declare the existing law. Mr. Mayne, then Acting Advocate General of Madras, made some remarks upon the Bill, and, while approving of a declaration of the law, he expressed his opinion that the law was perfectly competent to deal with the case in question. Mr. Hobhouse himself thought that there was not a civilized country in the world by whose law such an act would not be treated as a gross fraud, and the doer of it held to the consequences of his fraud. At all events there was no great hurry in legislating for such a question. For these reasons the Committee thought that the subject-matter of these two clauses should not be dealt with in this place or at this time.

Oddly enough, since they had come to that conclusion, a letter had come from Burma, in which the Recorder of Rangoon made some remarks which Mr. Hobhouse took the liberty of reading to the Council: —

"As regards the proposal to insert in the Bill a provision dealing with the case of Europeans who adopt Muhammadanism, or, more generally, a declaration that no person who, by his law of domicile is a monogamist, should be permitted to acquire the right to commit polygamy, by any change of his religious tenets, I am most decidedly against any such provision or declaration being inserted in the Act, until, at least, it has been decided that the law is, at present, otherwise. There cannot, I imagine, be any doubt in the minds of professional lawyers on the subject, and, if that be so, it is better, both as regards the particular instance and as regards the general principle that the question should be brought before a competent tribunal and decided. If the law is now to be declared by the Act, that will raise an implication in the minds of many that it was otherwise previously, and, as it is almost impossible to meet the mischief in every possible phase, by a declaration, the same question is sure to arise in some other form, and then the declaration is worse than none at all."

In these remarks, Mr. Hobhouse expressed his entire concurrence. He thought he would be wrong if he did not add on his own part, though he was not now speaking on behalf of the Select Committee, that the nature of these clauses was such that they ought not to pass. It seemed to him that if they were to amend the essence of the law of marriage on this subject, it would be necessary to consider it more carefully than had been done. These clauses certainly went far beyond the principle laid down by Mr. Stephen when he originally advocated them. He laid down the sound principle that a person who had contracted marriage under the law of monogamy should not be allowed to contract a second marriage during the continuance of the first marriage by reason of any change of his religion. But these clauses certainly went a great deal farther. They did not rest on the violation of the monogamous contract: they said nothing about the character of the first marriage: they provided generally that no European, who was a British subject, could acquire the right to practise polygamy by any change of his religious belief. Now there were European British subjects in India who had been brought up in Indian society and in some form of Indian religion, and a total change of circumstances of this kind, of which a change of religion might be the principal or the only tangible one, would make a person blameless in practising polygamy. In regard to this matter, he would quote the remarks of a gentleman who had seen the scope of these clauses:—

"I hope Mr. Stephen, in framing the declaration in question, will adhere to the wider expressions used in the remarks made by him when announcing his intention to the Council, namely, that no person who by his law of domicile was a monogamist should be permitted to acquire the right to commit polygamy 'by any change whatever in his religious opinions.' This wider expression will cover the adoption of Hinduism, as well as that of Muhammadanism. If the declaration were restricted to persons becoming Muhammadans, for this fraudulent purpose, unprincipled Europeans would probably be tempted to try whether the pretended adoption of Hinduism, or some religion other than Muhammadanism, which permits, or is supposed to permit polygamy, might not suit their purpose. It is by no means clear to me that a European could not become a Hindu by religion. It is a well known fact that Native Christians have pretended to become Hindus, by the performance of certain ceremonies, for the purpose of acquiring the liberty of marrying a second Hindu wife, the first Christian wife being still alive. I fear East Indians who do not happen to be European British subjects might find it possible for them to acquire the same liberty, and I am acquainted with a case in which a wealthy East Indian brought up his children as Rajput Hindus. The children secured a place in their caste through their wealth, and one of them became manager of the principal Hindu temple in Tinnevelly. I hope, therefore, it will be distinctly declared that no right of practising polygamy will be acquired by any European through his real or pretended conversion to any other religion whatever."

MR. HOBHOUSE thought it would be hard to tell a person in the position of the priest of Tinnevelly, that because his father happened to be an Englishman, he was committing a crime when he married according to the usages of the society to which he belonged.

What he had said was sufficient to show the delicacy and difficulty of interfering with the law, and he believed they ought to wait and see whether it was sufficient to meet the evils apprehended, and at all events ought to invite more discussion before they set themselves to express it better than it was now understood to be.

So much for what the Committee had done. There were one or two things they had refused to do which perhaps deserved mention. One suggestion was made by the Rev. Dr. Caldwell, a missionary of much zeal, experience, and learning. He found fault with the penal clauses awarding punishment for solemnizing marriage without due authority. He said that—

"To 'solemnize' a marriage without authority might be supposed to denote the performance of a marriage in due form and order in all particulars, except only the absence of authority on the part of the person performing it."

That was exactly the meaning of the clause.

Dr. Caldwell, however, was desirous to make punishable a certain irregular form of marriage which was much in use. He said:—

"The irregular illegal marriages that sometimes take place among Native Christians, especially amongst converts of the lower classes in the rural districts, bear so little resemblance to the marriages solemnized in churches, that the performance of them might naturally be regarded by a Magistrate as not amounting to a solemnization of marriage in the meaning of the Act, and therefore as not punishable. Suppose the only marriage ceremony is the recitation of the Lord's Prayer by a relative and the tying of the symbol of marriage round the bride's neck by the bridegroom; can this marriage be said to be solemnized? And if so, who solemnizes it; the relative or the bridegroom himself? Yet such, and such alone, are the solemnizations of marriage without authority that take place amongst the Native Christians in the rural districts in Southern India. The marriage is of course illegal, but it is regarded by the poor country people as legal enough for their purposes; and as questions respecting inheritance are not likely to come up for another generation, if ever, there seems no possibility of teaching them practically that such marriages are illegal, except by the infliction of some penalty on the parties who are supposed to be most to blame. I beg to suggest, therefore, that after the words 'knowingly and wilfully solemnizes a marriage,' such words as the following be added, 'or knowingly or wilfully performs any ceremonial act purporting to constitute a marriage.'"

It seemed to MR. HOBHOUSE that this Council would be doing a great evil if they punished the solemnizing of these simple marriages, which were probably very much better than no marriages; and the alternative would probably be no marriage at all. Now the people performed a ceremony, and it must have the effect of rendering marriage more serious and solemn to them; make it illegal, and you would lead either husband or wife to think that they were at liberty to desert one another, and demoralization would be sure to result.

The only other point which MR. HOBHOUSE would mention was an application from certain Ministers of Religion, who would be called in England Dissenting Ministers, and who belonged to various communities. Their complaint of the Bill was this: The Bill provided that Ministers of the Church of England, of the Church of Rome, and of the established Church of Scotland, should perform marriages according to the rites and ceremonies of their own churches. There were other classes of persons who were authorized to perform marriages, such as other Ministers of Religion specially licensed for the purpose. On a marriage being performed, certain notices were to be given, and also a certificate by the Minister, Registrar, or officiating person, as the case might be, and four days were to intervene between the original application and the issue of the certificate. If, however, one of the parties was a minor, certain consents were required, and if the Minister or officiating person was not satisfied that these consents had been properly given, fourteen days must elapse before a certificate was given. These gentlemen said that Ministers of the Church of England, Rome, and Scotland, could always get rid of that extra period in the case of minors marrying without proved consent, by means of licenses, and they said that young people who wanted to marry in a great hurry, and who had not got consent, would not go to the licensed Ministers, or to the Registrars, but went by preference to one of the three established Churches and thereby were enable to get married quicker, so that these gentlemen lost the privilege of performing these marriages, while others obtained it. This was their grievance.

They did not appear to complain of any hardship or inconvenience upon those for whom the Act was passed, viz. the persons desiring to marry. Their case was summed up at the end of paragraph three of their petition, where they said—"Your petitioners act as Ministers of religion, or as Marriage Registrars, and they find themselves unjustly placed in a humiliating position before members of their own churches by labouring under a disability which attaches to none of the Churches of England, Scotland, or Rome."

Of course the Members of this Council would be the last to desire to humiliate a Minister of any religion; but the Committee had to consider whether it was possible to put all classes on the same footing, and thought it was not. It would be inexpedient to open now a question which had been settled by law for some years without any inconvenience being felt by the persons for whose benefit the law was intended. No doubt the principal reason for these distinctions was simply an historical one. Established Churches having from their establishment to the present day held a certain exceptional position, that position they retained in a great many cases. The Committee found the law in that state according to the Act of 1865, and the prior Acts which governed that subject, and so they left it. There was also another reason of a somewhat more substantial kind, though it might not be a true explanation of the fact, which was that all established Churches possessed codes of law which provided better for the regular transaction of business than those religious communities which were not established, and of which a new one might start up at any moment. If they were to try and put every Minister of Religion upon the same footing as the established Ministers of England and Scotland, they would find it difficult to define the character of the person, or to ascertain the rites and ceremonies according to which marriages should be performed. Without pretending, therefore, to rest the distinction on any very solid principle, the Committee thought there were practical reasons why they should not attempt, at this stage, to alter the Bill in a matter causing difficulty, likely to excite controversy, and by no means essential.

The Hon'ble MR. EGERTON said that, with reference to the motion in regard to sections seventy-six and seventy-seven of the Bill, as now amended, after the explanation which had been given by the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse on the subject, there was no doubt that the sections as originally drafted were too large in their scope, and affected persons other than those to whom the Christian Marriage Act applied. But with regard to the general omission of the prohibition of persons who had contracted marriages under the intended Act from contracting another marriage during the subsistence of the first, MR. EGERTON thought it would be advisable to leave the provisions of the Bill as they were. It was shown that a case of this kind had arisen in Madras, and MR. EGERTON understood that the person who offended in that manner had not been indicted for bigamy. The sections seventy-six and seventy-seven as drawn provided that the person who went through the form of marriage under this Act should not be allowed to marry again during the continuance of that marriage, and MR. EGERTON thought that it would be most advisable that some such restriction should form part of the Act. He remarked that in the Bráhmist Marriage Act, III of 1872, there was such a provision against a person married under that Act who during the lifetime of his or her wife or husband contracted any other marriage, and it seemed anomalous to make such a provision for the Bráhmists while they purposely omitted a similar provision from the Christian Marriage Act.

The Hon'ble MR. BAYLEY said that, while he agreed in the propriety of omitting clauses seventy-six and seventy-seven in the present Bill, for which, he thought, the reasons given by the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse were quite sufficient, yet at the same time he thought that the general question of the Marriage Law in India, in regard to connections between persons of classes differing as to their law of marriage, was in many respects in an unsatisfactory condition; and, although, perhaps, decisions of law might in time clear up the present condition of things, and eventually put them in a satisfactory state, yet, he thought, that, as it had failed to do so for the long series of years during which the practice of contracting these connections had existed, there was room for legislation. MR. BAYLEY thought that an early opportunity should be taken of considering the whole subject. He would not confine himself to a particular case, such as that which occurred at Madras; for he was aware of many others; such, for example, as Europeans, in some cases even officers, proceeding to a Muhammadan country, and perhaps there professing the Muhammadan religion, contracting marriages according to the Muhammadan law. MR. BAYLEY believed that such were bonâ fide marriages, and in some instances they had been ignored by the Europeans, who had re-married and re-marrying as Christians, European ladies. Regarding the gross character of this proceeding, there could be no doubt. There were many other similar cases which had actually occurred, and which altogether placed the law in so unsatisfactory a position that MR. BAYLEY hoped an early opportunity would be taken of going through the whole subject, which he admitted was very difficult and delicate.

Major-General the Hon'ble H. W. NORMAN said that, though he was doubtful as to the propriety of admitting, even by implication, any show of legal authority for polygamy among British-born subjects who might belong to a religion admitting of such a practice, yet he quite agreed that the course proposed to be taken of not referring to the matter at all in this Bill was correct.

With respect to the alleged grievance of Non-conformist Ministers, he would state that, whilst he should be most anxious to remove the slightest cause for dissatisfaction on the part of a class who were deserving of so much respect, he agreed with the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse that it would be impossible to conveniently drop the distinction drawn in this Bill between Ministers who have received episcopal ordination, or who belong to the established Church of Scotland, and the Ministers of the various other denominations.

The Hon'ble SIR RICHARD TEMPLE was of opinion that there should be some clause in the Bill to prevent the recurrence of such a scandal as that which took place in Madras. The Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse seemed to consider that the law, as it stood, was sufficient to prevent the repetition of such scandals, but he (SIR R. TEMPLE) did not hold that opinion. His belief was that the parties to that scandal acted under the impression that they could not be convicted. If he remembered rightly, the gentleman connected with this disgraceful affair was a member of the legal profession; and if the Advocate General of Madras was clear that this gentleman could be punished under the law as it stood, or the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse thought that the consequences of his fraud could be visited upon him, he (SIR TEMPLE) would like to know why the law had not been put in force, or why it was that this wrong had been committed without the slightest intervention on the part of the authorities? It seemed to him that this state of things showed the law to be in a very uncertain condition, and he entirely agreed with the Hon'ble Mr. Egerton that a section ought to be inserted in the Bill to obviate this difficulty.

The Hon'ble SIR JOHN STRACHEY said that, having been a member of the Select Committee by which the omission of clauses seventy-six and seventy-seven was recommended, he wished to say that, while, in deference to the opinion of the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse, he agreed to that course being adopted, it was with considerable hesitation he did so, and chiefly because, to use the words of the Report of the Committee, "it seemed to them more prudent to postpone the matter for further consideration, and to make it the subject of a separate Act." SIR JOHN STRACHEY was of opinion with his hon'ble friend Mr. Bayley that the matter demanded serious consideration, and he thought that the consideration which the Select Committee had recommended should at once be given to the subject. If the conclusion arrived at should be, that the law, as it now stood, was not sufficient to prevent the abominable evil against which the clauses in question were directed, he thought it would be the bounden duty of the Government to lose no time in bringing in a separate Bill which should effectually deal with the whole subject. He quite agreed with the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse that this was not the proper occasion for discussing the substantive law of Marriage, but to some remarks which the Hon'ble Mr. Hobhouse had made, if he understood them rightly, he could not agree. His hon'ble friend seemed to consider that, under certain circumstances, a European might properly be allowed by the law to practise polygamy after changing his religion. SIR JOHN STRACHEY wished to take this opportunity of saying that, as regarded himself, he accepted, in the broadest sense, the proposition that under no circumstances whatever could it be right that a European British subject should be allowed by the law to acquire the right to practise polygamy by a change of his religious faith.

His Excellency the COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF thought that his hon'ble friend Mr. Hobhouse had made it very clear that the Bill before them was simply a Bill to legalise the celebration of marriage, and that the introduction into the measure of criminal law was out of place. His Excellency, therefore, would not have objected to the entire exclusion of the clause relating to the prohibited degrees of marriage, which had been put in a much better position than it held in the original part of the Bill. The conduct of the person alluded to as having changed his religion for the purpose of practising polygamy was one solitary act. His Excellency did not think that a second instance could be adduced. He had no hesitation whatever in agreeing with his hon'ble friend Sir John Strachey that such a practice should be taken notice of and made a subject for separate legislation. In regard to the remarks which had fallen from his hon'ble friend Mr. Bayley, with reference to the practice of officers contracting Muhammadan marriages, His Excellency could only say that during a service of forty years in India he had not heard of a single instance of a military officer committing such an offence as regularly going through the ceremony of a Muhammadan marriage, and afterwards repudiating that marriage. His Excellency did not know whether his hon'ble friend alluded to all officers of the service generally, or only to officers of the army. Such a practice might have obtained many years ago.

[The Hon'ble MR. BAYLEY said that he recollected cases of such marriage having occurred within his own knowledge.]

His Excellency continued—I thought it was rather anomalous that a penal enactment should be passed to deal with a practice which had ceased forty years ago. He thought that the use of such expressions was injurious to the army and required qualification, and he apprehended that he was not wrong in stating that within the last forty years no authenticated instances of such a practice, as connected with the army in India, could be brought forward.

The Hon'ble MR. BAYLEY said that he could bring forward a case which had occurred within the last fifteen years, but he did not hold that the practice was now in force.

His Excellency understood his hon'ble friend in his former remarks to say that he alluded to the practice as being now in existence and "frequent if not common."

His Excellency THE PRESIDENT remarked that there seemed to be a general agreement of opinion among the Members of the Council that the Committee were right in their recommendations that the clauses under consideration, which were inserted in the original Bill for the purpose of preventing monogamists from acquiring the right to practise polygamy by changing their religion, did not properly form part of this Bill, and that it would be advisable to consider them separately. The discussion which had taken place showed the importance and difficulty of the subject, and His Excellency thought that the suggestions of the Committee should be sent to the Home Department for further consideration.

As the Bill had been amended, the PRESIDENT proposed that it should not be passed until the next meeting of the Council.

The Hon'ble Mr. HOBHOUSE wished to make a few remarks as to what had fallen from his colleagues, before the question was put for the postponement of the Bill.

With regard to the particular case at Madras, he did not know why the gentleman concerned in the transaction was not indicted; but he could recollect cases in which crimes of various sorts had been committed, and no one thought of indicting the persons concerned, nor was it thought necessary to declare or alter the law on that account. There was a case in point which had occurred not long since, in which a man contracted a marriage within the prohibited degrees. He got tired of his wife and married another woman; taking advantage of the illegality of his first marriage to contract a second. Many cases of the kind occurred in which no one thought it worth while to take the trouble to indict, but this person was indicted, and the law was then found quite sufficient to deal with the case, for he was convicted.

In regard to the more general question referred to by Sir John Strachey in reference to the subsistence of the Marriage Law, it was doubtless his (MR. HOBHOUSE'S) fault that Sir John Strachey did not understand him aright. He said nothing in favor of a man acquiring a right to contract a polygamous marriage merely by a change of religion. It was change of domicile and of life that he spoke of, and such cases as the one mentioned by Dr. Caldwell, where persons, though they might fall under the description of European British subjects, were tied up with Indian associations, and in a religious, moral and social atmosphere wholly Indian.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bayley took a much wider range and proposed to inquire into the relations of Englishmen with the women of the countries they occupied. It was a subject on which MR. HOBHOUSE was very ignorant; but whether forms of marriage were gone through or not with these women, the subject was an extremely difficult one. One person would think that men who had induced women to live with them under a form of marriage should be held to their contract, another, that such irregular marriages were evil and should be made illegal altogether. The subject required a great deal of information and a great deal of consideration, to be properly dealt with; but if it was the opinion of the Executive Council that they should legislate on the matter, of course it must be done.

The Hon'ble MR. HOBHOUSE also asked leave to postpone his Motion for a fortnight, that the Bill as amended be passed Leave was granted.

EDUCATIONAL AND CHARITABLE ENDOWMENTS.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bernard presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill "to provide for the due appropriation of certain educational and charitable endowments."

His Honor the President directed the Report and amended Bill to be published in the Gazette.

BENGAL MUNICIPALITIES BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to municipalities be taken into consideration in order to the settlement of the clauses of the Bill, and that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee. In doing so he said he begged the Council would understand that he had undertaken charge of the Bill at a comparatively late date at the special request of his hon'ble friend Mr. Bernard. The Council would remember that the hon'ble member had introduced this measure at the beginning of the year, when it was referred to a Select Committee. Since then other onerous duties had been imposed upon the hon'ble member, and he had not had so much time to devote to the further consideration of the Bill as he had desired. He had therefore requested Mr. Beaufort to take charge of the measure. The hon'ble member had taken a sedulous interest in this Bill, and Mr. Beaufort's connection with it had been very subordinate. If he might use the figure, Mr. Bernard had built the vessel, and he (Mr. Beaufort) had only assisted in setting up the rigging. He might also state that all the other hon'ble members of the Committee had taken great interest in the measure, and had worked very laboriously in putting it into shape. The whole Committee had twice been through the clauses of the Bill, and intermediately a Sub-Committee had, with the assistance of the learned Secretary, examined all the details and gone through them very carefully.

In the consideration of the Bill the Committee had been assisted by a large number of communications from various municipal bodies all over the country and from various gentlemen of practical experience. The papers which he held in his hand, filling 150 pages of small type, comprised a great deal of exceedingly useful matter, and the Committee had obtained from the practical wisdom contained in them many valuable suggestions. Every line of them had been carefully read and respectfully considered. He had no doubt in his own mind that this Bill would be of great practical use to the country, and would promote the happiness and welfare of the communities to which it would apply. Amongst the papers there were a large number of petitions, from which it appeared that the people were afraid of the introduction of this Bill: they feared the pressure of taxation, and the oppression which they alleged would arise from the operation of this law. It would be clear to anybody reading those petitions that the authors of them had been greatly actuated by private motives, and that the great body of those who had signed them had been very ignorant of the intentions and provisions of the Bill. In a former debate it was explained at considerable length that it was never intended that all the taxes specified in the Bill should be imposed on any one community, and that the Bill contained provisions for the imposition of several taxes in order to enable every community to select and choose from amongst these taxes those which under the circumstances were most applicable and most easily collected with the least burthen on those on whom they fell. But they were afraid of all the taxes being imposed one upon another. Only two days ago the Committee received a petition of considerable length from the inhabitants of Jessore, with the very large number of 8,363 signatures: and these men had been induced to believe that all these taxes were to be imposed one after another, so that they would be reduced to the extremity of distress. They had so misunderstood the provisions of the Bill that one of the sections, the special object of which was to prevent a double tax by means of a composition between the landlord and the tenant when the tax was imposed on a building and on the land on which it stood, had been interpreted to mean that a double taxation, first upon the house and then upon the land on which it stood, was to be imposed on one individual. He merely mentioned this as an instance to show the way in which these bodies of men, who in large numbers had come forward with petitions, had misunderstood the provisions of the Bill.

He thought it would be waste of time were he to ask the Council to go with him through all the changes which the Select Committee had introduced into the Bill; and considering the large amount of business which was to be placed before the Council that day, he thought the best thing he could do was to pass on at once to those objections which had been appended to the report of the Committee by two hon'ble members. The first objection which the hon'ble member on his right had raised regarded the elective system. The hon'ble member's objection apparently was not so much to the system as a system, but to the way in which it was proposed to be introduced here. He thought that it was bad, because it was not introduced wholly and without restrictions.

His Honor the President said that he would suggest to the hon'ble member that as regards those points upon which specific amendments had been proposed it would be best to discuss them at the time when they were brought forward; otherwise the Council would have to discuss them twice over.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort observed that in that case he thought he need not make any further remarks at present.

His Honor the President said, he should be sorry to put the motion to the Council without expressing on his own part, and on the part of the members of the Council who had not taken part in the labours of the Committee, their great sense of the obligations under which they found themselves to the Committee for their labours in respect of this Bill. The Council for several months past had not been much before the public, but it had nevertheless been engaged on various Committees and had been doing extremely good work. The lion's share of the work had fallen upon the Committee on this Bill, who had manipulated its provisions with much care. The Council would see that they had done so to a very great extent; they had made great changes in the form and substance of the Bill as it had been introduced by the Government. He should be the first to acknowledge that those changes were very beneficial changes and had effected a very great improvement in the Bill; and the Council were greatly indebted to the Committee for their most laborious and useful efforts. The hon'ble member now in charge of the Bill had modestly disclaimed the important part he had taken in perfecting the Bill, and had compared his work to the superficial rigging of a ship. His Honor thought that the hon'ble member had unfairly diminished the merit due to him. Although the Bill in its rough lines was cast when it came into the hands of the hon'ble member now in charge of the Bill, although thoroughly acknowledging the services in regard to this Bill of another hon'ble member, still His Honor thought it right to say that he believed that in the drawing and composition of the Bill as it now stood, the Council were under the very greatest obligations to the hon'ble member now in charge.

His Honor would now say one word with regard to the numerous petitions on the subject of this Bill which had been laid before the Council. He acknowledged most thoroughly and heartily that there was a great deal of honest good sense in those petitions; that there was much in them, as the hon'ble member had himself acknowledged, which had been of use, and many of the suggestions contained in them had been adopted by the Committee. On the other hand the petitions contained many errors, but they were to a greater or less extent natural errors, and he was not disposed harshly to criticize them. Under the circumstances it was but natural that these people should view with a somewhat jealous eye any proposal for new taxation. To one thing only he must more particularly advert, viz. the tone of distrust and suspicion of the Government which seemed to run through these petitions. He thought that in Bengal in particular where the people were much advanced under the influence of education, there was too great a disposition to affect a belief that the Government was a kind of evil spirit always seeking to take every possible advantage of every loop-hole which the law gave them to impose taxes and hardships and grievances upon the people. Now where there was a civilized Government you must trust that Government to some extent. His Honor did not think that the Government could be accused of systematically seeking to abuse their powers. The Indian Government had no doubt made mistakes, as all Governments must do; but he did claim for the Government of India, foreigners to the country, who had gone into it without personal prejudices or connections, that it was one of the fairest Governments in the world. He said it was unjust and unfair that it should be assumed by the people of Bengal that the powers entrusted to the Government would necessarily be abused. He did hope that they should see that the powers which the Council might entrust to the Government would only be used to the best of our means for the benefit of the people and the country, and that the objectors would not have ground to suppose that the powers given to the Government would be used to their disadvantage.

The motion was put and agreed to.

His Honor the President said it had hitherto been the custom to go through a Bill clause by clause; but on looking over the Rules of the Council he found that there was no necessity for the Council to do so; and inasmuch as this was a Bill of many clauses, and the members had put their amendments upon the paper, he thought that the best course would be, following the example of the Legislative Council of India and the other Councils in India, that he should put the amendments placed upon the paper and then consider the Bill as a whole. He would therefore put the amendments section by section in the order in which they stood.

The definition of "moveable property" in section 3 included amongst other things thatched and tiled houses, unless the outer walls were chiefly or wholly made of bricks.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort the words "or stones" were added to the definition, to meet the case of such walls being made of stones.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort also moved that the following definition of "chakaran land" be added to the definitions in section 3. Those words, he observed, were used frequently in the latter portion of the Bill relating to third class municipalities: it was thought necessary that there should be some definition of the term, and he accordingly proposed to put in the words:—

"'Chakaran land' means land which has been assigned for the maintenance of a person bound to keep watch and ward in any place; but does not include thanadari land or land similarly assigned for the maintenance of a ghatwal or other person bound to perform duties anywhere beyond the limits of such place."

He said that the definition was so framed for the purpose of distinguishing lands known as gram-sarinjami from those called thanadari and ghatwali.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore observed that he thought that the word "similarly" in the latter part of the definition seemed to be somewhat improperly used; for chakaran lands were assigned by the zemindar, but ghatwali lands might have been given by the Government at the time of the settlement.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort remarked that he did not think the word "similarly" altered the sense of the definition in any way, but he would not object to its omission.

The motion as amended was then agreed to.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore said he did not think that all the municipalities to which the provisions of the District Municipal Improvement Act had been extended should necessarily be first class municipalities. There might be places in which that Act had been introduced, but which were nevertheless too small or too poor to be classed as first class municipalities under the Bill, and the people of such places might consider it a hardship that they should be subjected to the provisions relating to that class of municipalities. Next, he did not see that there was in the Bill any limitation as to second class municipalities, as there was in relation to first and third class municipalities. He would, therefore, move in section 6, lines 7 to 9, to omit the words "unless the provisions of the District Municipal Improvement Act of 1864 have already been extended thereto," and to substitute the following:

"And no place where the average number of inhabitants is less than one thousand to the square mile of the area thereof shall be declared to be a second class municipality."

His Honor the President said that as regards the most important part of this amendment, namely the definition of second class municipalities, the Government were prepared to accept the motion, and he hoped that that would induce the hon'ble member to withdraw the rest of the amendment. On that point His Honor thought the hon'ble member had reason to ask that second class municipalities should be limited in the same manner as first class municipalities had been limited; for although the Government were not likely to be unmindful of reasonable considerations in determining what should be second class municipalities, still to quiet the apprehensions of the people it was well that they should be limited, and that it should be understood that they were to be confined to places that were towns, and that the provisions relating to second class municipalities were not to be extended to villages and tracts of country. With regard to the first part of the amendment relating to first class municipalities, to places in which the District Municipal Improvement Act had been introduced, the hon'ble member should observe that the provision was not imperative. The Government were not bound to declare all those places first class municipalities: an option would rest with the Government; but His Honor believed that the members who had taken part in this matter were guided by this consideration, that there might be (in one instance there was) small municipalities which were in the hands of people of advanced position and advanced intelligence, who had thought it advisable to introduce into those places the larger Municipal Act. The town of "Ooterpara" for instance, which was in the hands of an enlightened class of people, was now subject to the provisions of the District Municipal Act, and His Honor thought it would be a pity that the Council should go back and limit the taxes which were voluntarily imposed at a higher rate than the rate of taxation in second class municipalities would admit. Therefore he hoped that in declaring that the Government would accept the major part of the amendment the hon'ble member would not think it necessary to press the first part.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore said that after the remarks that had fallen from His Honor the President, he would withdraw the first portion of his amendment.

The latter part of the amendment was then agreed to.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore moved in section 7, lines 1 and 2, the omission of the words "containing not less than 300 inhabitants," and the substitution for them of the words "where the average number of inhabitants is less than 300 to the square mile of the area of such place." He said that it would be seen from the notice of amendments that he intended to move the omission of Chapter XII of the Bill relating to third class municipalities; therefore he reserved his right to move the omission of the entire section if the amendment which he proposed to move in respect of Chapter XII should be adopted. With reference to the section under consideration, it appeared to him that to limit the number of inhabitants without limiting the area of the municipality was very vague. The word "place" had been defined in the Bill to mean a tract of country. Now under this section any tract of country might be included in a third class municipality if 60 houses, however sparsely situated, could be got together to complete the number of inhabitants. That, he imagined, was not the intention of the legislature.

His Honor the President said that they had not limited municipalities in the sense the hon'ble member proposed, for this reason that the provisions relative to third class municipalities were intended to apply to rural villages only. It might happen that 60 or 100 houses formed a village, the lands of which extended over a large area of jungle and would not contain an average of 300 inhabitants to the square mile, if you spread the area over the whole village area. Were you on that account to have no chokidar? On the contrary it appeared to His Honor that such a place was more exposed to the depredation of thieves and robbers, and more especially needed chokidars. It thus seemed to him that the amendment went entirely against the whole principle on which third class municipalities were founded, the provisions relating to which were taken from the Act of 1870. On these grounds His Honor was opposed to the amendment.

The motion was put and negatived.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore moved the omission of the words "or cause to be elected" in lines 2 and 3 of section 12, and also the omission of Section 15, which related to the election of Commissioners by the tax-payers. In doing so he said he found in the Bill no procedure laid down for introducing the elective system in certain municipalities, as originally proposed in the statement of objects and reasons: on the contrary, there were sections introduced in the Bill which were opposed to the system of municipal self-government. For instance in section 15 it was left to the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor, when he thought it advisable, to permit the election of a "certain number" of the Commissioners in any municipality. Then again by section 14 he would have the power of nominating a certain number of official Commissioners besides the Magistrate of the district, or the Magistrate of the division of a district, who would be ex-officio Commissioners. Next by section 17 the Magistrate of the district was constituted the Chairman of the municipality if it was the sudder station of a district, or the Magistrate of the division if the municipality was situated in a division of a district. Then again by section 285 the control over the proceedings of the Commissioners in all municipal matters was vested in the Commissioner of division. It seemed to him (Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore) that these sections were not at all consistent with the principle of real self-government. He would here take leave, however, to say that it was on the assumption that the people through their representatives were to have the full control of municipal matters, that provisions for several new taxes and responsibilities were introduced in this Bill. Now, he did not for a moment contend that the majority of municipalities were advanced enough to receive the principle of self-government: on the contrary, he thought there were very few municipalities in which the system of self-government could be safely introduced. What he would say was that if the experiment was worth trying, it ought to be tried fairly or not at all. If the Council was disposed to give a fair trial to the elective system, he thought the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill should be requested to frame a procedure as to the details, and after it had been approved by the Council, it might be made a part of the Bill. If on the other hand the Council in its wisdom considered that it was not advisable to give such independent authority to municipalities, he thought that any mention of the elective system should be altogether omitted from the Bill, for he would not hold out to the people hopes that were not destined to be realized.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said that it appeared to him that no reason for omitting from the Bill the power to cause Commissioners to be elected could be found in the fact that the Bill did not go so far as the hon'ble member desired: it might answer well in one place and fail in another, and it appeared better to leave a discretion to the Government to frame rules which would suit the various communities in which the system might be introduced. For his own part he did not see why the fact that the Magistrate was to be the Chairman, or that the Commissioner of division should have a general control over the proceedings of municipal bodies, should interfere with the advantages which were expected to be derived from the elective system. It appeared to him that there was no doubt that the Chairman of a municipality should be the foremost person in the place, a man who was able to advise and lead the other Commissioners to adopt measures of the greatest benefit to the community at large, and the Magistrate probably in the great majority of places would be the person most fitted to undertake that duty. The elective system altogether would be so entirely novel to municipal bodies in this country, that he might say it was quite uncertain what would be the result and who would be elected,—whether the electors would choose the best men in the place, the most respectable or the richest, or whether they would choose men from the lower classes. It had been said by some gentlemen of great respectability that they could not go round and canvass for votes as was done in other countries, and therefore that they would not be elected; that the rural classes would elect people from amongst themselves; and that the experiment would prove a failure. He did not think that it would be so; he believed that the people would be ready to elect respectable men if they put themselves forward for election.

As regards the control of the Commissioner of division and the Government, he thought that it would be a very mistaken policy if we now introduced the system of election without at the same time providing the means of checking possible errors and mistakes and misplaced enthusiasm, and that there ought to be rules, such as were introduced, to afford the means of checking and regulating the action of all these municipalities. He therefore disagreed with the objections that had been raised by the hon'ble member.

The Hon'ble MR. WYMAN said it appeared to him that the amendment was really opposed to one of the very principles of the Bill. It was never intended or supposed that this Bill was to provide a pure system of election: it was simply an experimental measure, and because it did not give to the people in this country the free institution which existed in England, it was not fair to charge the Bill with being a farce, because it was an attempt to grow up by gradual means the confidence which would permit a more thorough adaptation of the system of election which the Government seemed to have (and he thought most justly) so much at heart. To take away from the Lieutenant-Governor the power of selecting the municipalities to which the system should be applied would be to probably permit of the general application of a principle which would be very undesirable; but to place the power of applying the system as the Lieutenant-Governor found it desirable, was to give him the power who had the best opportunities of knowing the circumstances of the people of the country. Mr. Wyman thought that the Bill taken as a whole, though doubtless it was imperfect in respect to the partiality of the system of election, was the most liberal measure which could be given to the people, and if it was found that it did not go far enough, it was quite within the province of this Council to amend and improve it; because it was not perfect, was no reason that it was not an improvement on what had gone before. He looked at the partial application of the system of election as an advance in the right direction, for which the people, he was sure, would hereafter be grateful to the Government.

The Hon'ble THE ACTING ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he desired to offer a few remarks upon the motion before the Council. It appeared to him that the hon'ble member had put the amendment in an alternative form. He said it was intended by the Bill that the system of appointing Municipal Commissioners should be elective, and that that system had not been carried out. With reference to that the hon'ble gentleman had himself given a satisfactory answer, which furnished a reason why a purely elective system had not been carried out in the Bill; because he admitted that municipalities had not sufficiently advanced to be able to undertake the task of self-government by election. It followed that the first branch of the objection altogether failed.

Then the hon'ble member contended that if we were not to have a purely elective system, it should not be brought into the Bill at all and should be altogether excluded; otherwise, he said, that he and those who agreed with him would have reason to regard the power given to the Lieutenant-Governor under section 15 as merely illusory and delusive. Now he took it, as explained by the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill, that there might be places in which, notwithstanding the experience of the hon'ble member, there might exist the capacity and power of conducting municipalities under this principle of election. It appeared to the Advocate-General that it would be unfair to deprive such a municipality (should the Lieutenant-Governor be satisfied that such a municipality could be governed upon the elective principle) of that principle of self-government upon which the hon'ble member himself admitted that this Bill ought rightly to be founded. It was impossible to say a priori that the sanction which the governing body would be entitled to give would ultimately turn out to be illusory and delusive, and it appeared to him that that was an argument which carried with it no weight at all. In legislating in this matter we must not believe, as His Honor the President had very properly observed, that the Government of this country was so singularly prejudiced against the people as to be disposed to do everything that it could to the injury and wrong of the people. No such assumption should be made. The Advocate-General said on the contrary that fairness and honesty of conduct should be attributed to those to whom power was intrusted, and on that assumption there could be no possible objection to the provisions of Section 15, which allowed the governor of the province to say what were the places in which the elective system should be adopted.

It further appeared to him that the objection that the municipality was to be under the Magistrate entirely seemed not to have much foundation, because by Section 18 it was provided that the Commissioners should elect their own Vice-Chairman, subject to the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor, and it should be lawful for the Chairman to delegate all his duties to the Vice-Chairman, who might not be a Government official.

With regard to the control of the Commissioner of the division, it appeared to him to be a very salutary provision. It would perhaps be out of place for him here to refer to the dissent appended to the report of the Committee by one of its members, Baboo Digumber Mitter; but if one could refer to the principle upon which that dissent was framed, it would furnish sufficient reason for giving such a power of control. For instance, a tank could not be dug without the consent of the Municipal Commissioners, and if the Commissioners refused their consent without sufficient grounds, how was the person aggrieved to obtain redress? It was with the object of preventing the capricious exercise of power by the Commissioners that this right of control was vested in the Commissioner of the Division. It appeared necessary and proper to control discretion, which might at times be capriciously exercised; and therefore to put a check upon the proceedings of the Commissioners in the hands of a person who must be presumed to have some knowledge of the locality, seemed to be a salutary provision.

On these grounds he submitted that the amendment before the Council should be negatived.

His Honor the President said that the arguments of the hon'ble member who had moved this amendment had been so ably and well met by the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Wyman) and by the learned Advocate-General, that it would not be necessary for him to say much. But this part of the Bill was so important, and the discretion given by section 15 to the Lieutenant-Governor was so great, that he thought it right that he should say a word or two upon the subject. The speech of the hon'ble mover of the amendment appeared to His Honor to be two-edged; for he could not make out whether he would have a more complete and compulsory provision upon the subject of election, or whether he would have none at all. His Honor would have been much better pleased if, instead of moving the omission of this clause, the hon'ble member had thought fit to propose a clause which should provide for election in a manner more satisfactory to himself and more likely to carry into effect the points in regard to which a discretionary power was vested in the Government. For his own part he would say that if the hon'ble member had proposed an amendment of that character, he should be inclined rather to err on the side of too great liberty than on the side of too great caution: he would rather try the experiment of throwing the young municipalities into the water and telling them, "you may swim if you can," than tell them to wait until they learned to swim. But the case put by the hon'ble member was simply this, whether the elective system should be tried at all or not. His Honor thought that the hon'ble members who had spoken before him had shown clearly why it would not be possible to introduce into the Bill more definite provisions regarding the elective system. It would not be possible in the present stage of affairs in the country to lay down a definite rule that municipalities should be elective under certain conditions and under certain fixed rules. The matter was to a great degree experimental. In some municipalities he hoped the system of election could be completely introduced; in others only partially; and there might be some in which it would not work at all. It appeared, therefore, that the only way of getting out of the difficulty was to entrust a discretionary power to the Government. He could only say for himself that so long as the administration remained in his hands, he would pledge the Government most completely and thoroughly to give these clauses the widest possible scope and effect. As he had more than once said, he thought that in a country where political freedom was impossible, municipal freedom was most desirable. Although there were many places in which the elective system might be attended with some inconvenience and drawbacks, he believed that on the whole its advantages would be very great, and that it would be attended with good results. He had been very much influenced by the consideration that although municipal institutions had died out in Bengal, still self-governing municipalities had been for thousands of years the very basis of Indian society. He was therefore most desirous that the principle of self-government should be tried, and he should not hold back in trying it: he should not make it a farce, but should see that in the municipalities in which it was introduced, it should, as far as possible, be made a reality and not a sham.

He would say one word more as regards the further points which had been alluded to. The Advocate-General had very truly pointed out that power was given to the Chairman to delegate his duties to the Vice-Chairman. His Honor hoped that in many cases, although the Chairman might be present, he would delegate his powers to a competent Vice-Chairman. As soon as municipalities were established, and as soon as they could stand alone, he thought that the responsibilities of the Magistrate should be delegated to an elective Vice-Chairman. But very much more than that remained. The Council would remember that the municipalities where the Magistrate was resident were comparatively few. In many places all over the country there was no resident Magistrate. If the Council would look to the provisions of the Bill they would find that not only on the delegation of the Magistrate, but also in his absence, the Vice-Chairman would exercise the full powers of the Chairman. The consequence would be that in many municipalities where there was no resident Chairman, the Vice-Chairman would be for most purposes the Chairman; and the most ample opportunities for self-government would be left to the people in those municipalities.

As regards the control of the Commissioner of division, he believed that the hon'ble mover of the amendment would acknowledge that the Commissioner was a very high officer, whose authority extended over a vast tract of country, and that it was hardly possible, and not at all probable, that his interference would be carried into minute matters. His Honor believed that that control would in no practical degree interfere with real self-government, and that it was only a necessary provision to guard against possible abuses of the powers of municipalities.

Under these circumstances His Honor hoped that the Council would see fit to accept the provision in the Bill and not accept the amendment by which the hon'ble member proposed to strike out the whole elective principle.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore said he did not object to give a discretionary power to the Lieutenant-Governor as to introducing the elective principle into any place; of course that was a discretion which the Lieutenant-Governor should properly exercise. What he contended for was, that when the system of election was introduced into any place, to give the system a fair trial the people should have sufficient scope to act independently, and that their action should not be qualified in the manner proposed in the Bill. Under such circumstances the elective system might be well conceded; otherwise it would not be a system of self-government.

His Honor the President said it was certainly true that in addition to the power reserved to the Government of introducing the elective system or not, as it thought fit, a very wide power indeed was given in regard to the mode in which the elective franchise was to be exercised. It would be left to the Lieutenant-Governor to decide what was to be the franchise, who was to vote, and how he was to vote. In regard to these matters His Honor would pledge himself to make the election as free and wide as possible. The hon'ble member need not fear that the Lieutenant-Governor would too much restrict the franchise,—that he would make it too aristocratic; on the contrary he would make it as wide as was compatible with safety and the well-being of municipalities.

The motion was then negatived.

Section 13 provided that the Municipal Commissioners appointed or elected should continue in office for "three" years.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore moved the substitution of the word "five" for "three." He thought that three years was too short a period, especially when taken in conjunction with the provisions of section 16, under the operation of which one-third of the Commissioners were to retire after the expiration of the first year of their appointment or election. It was true that the retiring Commissioners might be re-elected, but still he thought it would not be worth a person's while to undertake the duties of a Commissioner for so short a period as three years.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort said it appeared to him better to fix the period of three years for the tour of office, because that period would allow sufficient time to the electors to ascertain whether the person elected was an efficient Commissioner, and there would be no difficulty in re-electing the retiring Commissioners. The object of section 16 was simply to introduce the system of rotation of members; in all other cases the Commissioners appointed or elected would continue in office for three years, and he thought that that was a sufficiently long period, especially when taken in conjunction with the optional power of re-election.

His Honor the President said he must say that it appeared to him that three years was a quite sufficient period of time and long enough to act as a test of the popular favor. It seemed right that after that period an elected Commissioner should again go to his constituents for re-election.

The motion was then negatived.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort the following words were added to section 15 to provide for the time that must elapse between the introduction of the Act and the appointment or election of the Vice-Chairman and Commissioners :—

"It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor to appoint the Vice-Chairman and Commissioners holding office in any place under the District Municipal Improvement Act, 1864, or the District Towns' Act, 1868, at the time of the extension of this Act to such place, or any other persons, to be ad interim Vice-Chairman and Commissioners pending the election of Commissioners under this section."

The motion was agreed to.

Section 18 related to the appointment of Vice-Chairman.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort moved the insertion in this section after the word "Commissioners," in line 11, of the following words :—

"Provided also that the present salaried Vice-Chairman of any municipality, who has been appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor under the provision of section 8 of the District Municipal Improvement Act, 1864, shall continue to hold the office till he resigns or is removed with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor."

The object of this amendment, he said, was merely to meet the case of the Vice Chairman of the Suburban Municipality and of any other Vice-Chairman who might have been appointed under similar circumstances. Under the terms of his appointment the gentleman so appointed would enjoy office during the pleasure of Government, but if this section were passed as it stood, it would be open to the Commissioners to elect some other person to be their Vice-Chairman.

The Hon'ble Rajah Jotendro Mohun Tagore said he believed that as the Bill stood the only power which the Commissioners possessed was the power of electing their own Vice-Chairman, as the Chairman would be either the Magistrate of the district or the Magistrate of a division of a district. And if under any circumstances that power was to be taken away from the Commissioners, he thought it would be rather hard.

His Honor the President said that this was not a matter before the Government when the Bill was drawn. The wording of the present amendment was distinctly confined to a salaried Vice-Chairman, and would not affect an honorary officer. As far as he was aware, the amendment would only affect the single case of the Suburban Municipality. It had been submitted to the Government that under the existing law the Government had exercised the power of appointing a Vice-Chairman holding office during the pleasure of Government. The man so appointed had no doubt given up other prospects in life and other pursuits; and His Honor was inclined to think that it would be rather hard if a gentleman holding a salaried office under the appointment and subject to the pleasure of Government only, should find himself thrown out of employment if he should not happen to be elected. It was a saving of vested rights. His Honor was not generally well disposed towards what were called vested rights; but in some cases when the disallowance of such rights would operate harshly, he thought that those rights might be respected. He believed that as regards the present question the case to be provided for was that of a gentleman who had given satisfaction in the discharge of his duties; and he was given to understand that the only change that the Commissioners had made in the office since the appointment of that officer had been to raise his salary. It did not therefore seem probable that the Municipal Commissioners of the suburbs would, under the operation of this Bill, have displaced their Vice-Chairman. At the same time the position of that officer would be very materially changed, for instead of being a permanent officer he would find himself subject to election from time to time and liable to be turned out. However, he desired to leave the question entirely in the hands of the Council.

The motion was then agreed to.

Section 31 related to the appointment of overseers, clerks, and subordinate officers.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said he had two amendments to move in this section. The first was to insert the words "at a meeting" after "Commissioners" in line 18. The object of this section was to provide for the appointment and removal of subordinate officers of the municipality, and power was given to the Chairman to appoint and remove such officers subject to the rules made by the Commissioners at a meeting. The section went on to provide that the order of the Chairman for the appointment or removal of any such officer whose salary exceeded fifty Rupees should be subject to the order of the Commissioners, which obviously meant the Commissioners at a meeting; for otherwise, as the words stood, the order of the Chairman would be referred to himself as representing the Commissioners. The Bill gave certain powers to the Commissioners, and other powers to the Commissioners at a meeting; the former might be exercised by the Chairman as representing the Commissioners; but the latter could not be exercised by the Chairman except for the purpose of carrying into effect the orders passed at a meeting.

The motion was agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT then moved the addition to the section of the following words:—

"All officers and servants who may, at the time of the extension of this Act to any place, hold office therein under the provisions of the District Municipal Improvement Act, 1864, or of the District Towns' Act, 1868, shall be deemed to have been duly appointed under this Act, and shall continue to hold office subject to any action which may be taken under this section."

The motion was agreed to.

Section 38, clause (a), provided for the imposition of a tax on persons according to their means and property.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said that with regard to this tax he thought it very necessary that a limit should be put to the incidence of the tax no individual holders. He was aware that at the end of the chapter there was a section which put a limit on the maximum tax on each individual on the average of the whole population in the municipality. But he thought that that was not quite enough. Under that clause half the estimated cost of the municipality might be put upon one individual, and the other half on the remainder of the population, and still the average rate might be preserved; but that certainly would not be a just distribution of the incidence of taxation. He would therefore move to add the following words to clause (a):—

"Provided also that the amount assessed in respect of any one holding in a first class municipality shall not be more than ten rupees per mensem, and in a second class municipality shall not be more than five rupees per mensem."

He might add that the principle for which he contended was not new, as a similar provision had been adopted in Acts VI of 1868 and VI of 1870.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said it seemed to him that if a man was fortunate enough and rich enough to hold half the municipality, it was quite right that he should pay half the tax imposed upon that municipality. He did not see why they should limit the taxation in the way proposed.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE observed that there would be no objection if the tax was a tax upon the holding; but this was a tax upon persons according to their property and means. If a man was in very good circumstances and had only a small holding in the municipality, he should not be liable to an unlimited amount of tax simply because he was rich.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that a man could be charged on his means only in one municipality, in which he resided. If he had property in any other municipality he could only be charged on that property as provided in the latter part of clause (a.)

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said that Baboo Digumber Mitter, who was a member of the Committee upon this Bill, had put upon record some other objections to the tax upon persons. His objection was somewhat opposed to that made by the hon'ble member. He objected that there was no minimum: the hon'ble member objected that there was no maximum. It was said that a tax upon persons was a kind of income tax, and, as Baboo Digumber Mitter observed, that it would assume the character of the worst form of an income tax. To this Mr. Beaufort would remark that although the observation contained some truth, yet an essential difference might be found, first in the absence of all inquisitorial statements of which such complaints had been made; and secondly, in the lightness with which the tax must fall on any one individual; and also that the introduction of the maximum and minimum would tend to introduce the unequal incidence of which so much complaint had been made. You could not say that a tax was equal in its incidence if you prevented a man from paying a proportional rate upon all his property, - if you said that a person should not be assessed upon the whole of his means, but only on a portion, although other persons were assessed upon the whole of their means. He would further observe that there was a minimum provided; for the poor were exempted. It appeared to him therefore that there was no real objection to the clause as it stood.

The motion was then put and negatived.

Section 38, clause (f) was as follows:—

"In any municipality duties on articles entering the limits thereof or brought into markets within the said limits."

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE moved the omission of the words "or brought into markets within the said limits." He said that the levying of a tax upon the sale of goods in a market would operate hardly upon the vendors of articles. Sometimes articles were brought into a market for three or four days without a sale being effected, and those articles would be taxed three or four times over. Then again the collection of this tax would be in the hands of the underlings of the municipality, and would give them the means of practising oppression over the poor vendors. Besides it would be a direct interference with private rights, for to avoid the tax the vendors would not resort to the haths, but would prefer to expose their goods for sale on some roadside as was the practice now in places where haths did not exist, and as a consequence the income of the owner of the haths, in the shape of rents which he received from the vendors, would necessarily suffer.

The Hon'ble MR. ROBINSON said it appeared to him that the clause as worded would make articles liable to a double duty, because the duty was a duty on articles entering the limits of municipalities or brought into markets within those limits. Who was to trace particular articles? they might be brought into the municipality on one day and taken into a market on another.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said certainly the intention of the Government and the Committee was that this should be an alternative tax. HIS HONOR himself preferred a free market; but the Committee had accepted this tax, and he thought rightly, on the principle that under certain circumstances if a municipality preferred indirect taxation they might have it in the form of an octroi. But it was represented that the towns in Bengal were so straggling, that to put a chain of custom-house officers round a town would be very vexatious, and it was suggested that it would be sufficient to tax the articles coming to the market. HIS HONOR would leave the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill to explain whether the words of the clause carried out that object. Then as to the argument that articles brought into a market might not be sold, HIS HONOR believed that as the Bill was originally drawn the tax was to be imposed on articles sold; but the Committee differed from that opinion, and after full discussion they considered it more satisfactory to adopt the clause in the form in which it now stood.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said Section 38 was merely an enumeration of all the taxes that might be imposed under the Bill. It did not profess to provide rules for the imposition of those taxes. It merely said that the Commissioners might impose one or more of such taxes. He thought it might be presumed that no municipality would elect to impose first an Octroi tax and then a tax for bringing the same articles into a market. The rules for the different classes of taxes were detailed in the Bill. Then as to the general principle of this tax. Such taxes, he believed, were collected in every village in the country, and very often in two or more rival haths in the same village, which led to the feuds which were so common in some parts of the country. Whether the imposition of such taxes was legal or not was a question into which the Council could not enter at present; but it seemed to him absurd to say that the municipality could not realize without oppression the dues which every landholder was collecting week by week all over the country without complaint. As to interfering with private rights, it appeared to him that market-dues might be as much the right of a municipality as of any body else: but about the general principle of the clause he thought there could be no doubt whatever.

The Hon'ble MR. WYMAN said it was never the intention of the Select Committee that this clause should bear any other interpretation than an alternative one; and as to the working of the tax it seemed to him that that was a matter which would be regulated by the bye-laws to be passed under the Act. He thought it perfectly plain that the tax under this clause was to be either a tax on articles entering municipal limits or on articles brought into markets.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE had a few words to offer in explanation; he did not mean to say that the proprietors of haths had any right to market-dues, but he thought they had certainly a right to collect rents from the vendors for the use of the grounds.

The motion was then put and negatived.

Section 38, clause (h), provided for the imposition of duties on boats moored within the limits of municipalities.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE moved the omission of this clause. He said it was not unknown that boats were generally moored along land said was that if a man brought his boat and moored it in public water which lay within the limits of a municipality, then the boat should be liable to pay a tax to the municipality which constructed wharves and roads and afforded facilities for boats and trade. His Honor thought that this was a reasonable provision for taxing the floating part of the community in the same manner as you taxed the people on the land.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort said he would add one word, and that was that there was no possible reason why municipalities should not take dues for the use of land belonging to them; but unless it were provided in the law that they might impose mooring duties they would not be able to do so.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore said he thought it should be laid down that the levying of these dues should in no case interfere with the right of private parties to levy fees for the use of their own land.

The Hon'ble Mr. Robinson enquired whether boats mooring, say for one night, within the limits of a municipality, were to be liable to the tax.

His Honor the President said that boats coming within the limits of a municipality and mooring for the night enjoyed the protection and advantages of the town: they obtained the protection of the town police instead of being liable to plunder outside, and might reasonably be asked to pay for the protection they enjoyed. His Honor had no doubt that the rules would provide for this. It might not be thought desirable to tax at all boats that did not moor for more than a day, although theoretically no doubt they were taxable.

The Hon'ble Mr. Robinson said that it would be a serious thing if the provisions of this clause were to apply to the whole of the traffic upon the river in this way. It would be a serious impost and a serious bar to traffic if a boat which was moored for half an hour was made liable to be taxed. He quite agreed that boats moored for the night should be liable to the tax; but it would be a serious tax if every boat mooring for an hour were made so liable.

The Hon'ble Mr. Wyman said that this clause met the difficulty which he had expressed in Committee. Boat traffic receiving the protection of the municipal police, and remaining within the limits of a municipality for the purposes of trade, should pay something for the protection and advantages they enjoyed. The persons living upon the land should not have to pay every thing. The matter had been evry carefully discussed by the Committee, and he thought it was generally felt that persons obtaining their livelihood on the river should share the municipal burden with those on the land, seeing that it was for the protection equally of the one as the other that those burdens were imposed. If the zemindar had a right to levy a tax upon boats mooring upon his land, the present Bill would not interfere with those rights; but surely the municipality had an equal claim in respect of trade within their limits. He thought this tax would be a large and just source of income to towns. As to the difficulty stated by the hon'ble member opposite (Mr. Robinson), since it was never intended to impose the tax upon boats moored only for an hour, for the purpose of obtaining food, Mr. Wyman thought the objection raised was hardly a practical one. It was not possible to legislate for details such as these, but sufficient protection would doubtless be provided in the Municipal Bye-laws to meet any such difficulty.

His Honor the President said he thought the hon'ble member on the right (Mr. Robinson) had hit upon a difficulty. His Honor quite agreed that it would not do to allow a municipality to turn this tax into a transit duty. Nothing must be more carefully guarded against than that. But this was one of those points the regulation of which was to be entrusted to the Local Government. The rules which would be framed by the Municipal Commissioners would not be valid unless they were sanctioned by the Lieutenant-Governor, and the Lieutenant-Governor would not be a person who would have any concern in local interests: he would look to the good of the country in general, that was to say he would take care that these duties should not be turned into a transit duty. He would see that the tax was confined to the raising of a small rate for which a quid pro quo was furnished. His Honor thought that the regulation of this matter must be left to the Government, who would see that the abuse of turning this tax into a transit duty was not permitted.

The Hon'ble MOULVIE ABDOOL LUTEEF said it appeared to him that there was one difficulty in connection with this section, viz. the detention to which boats would be subjected for the purpose of collecting the tax. Sometimes boats moored at towns merely for the purpose of making small purchases. If they were detained there for an hour or two for their own purposes, they might be further detained for six or eight hours for the collection of the tax. He thought therefore that in framing the rules for the collection of this tax the hardship which such mere callers might suffer should be taken into consideration.

The Hon'ble THE ACTING ADVOCATE-GENERAL said he thought the sections under which this tax would be levied sufficiently provided for the difficulty raised by the hon'ble member on the right (Mr. Robinson); they provided for the levy of rates according to the time during which the boats were moored.

The Hon'ble MR. ROBINSON said he would assure the Council that his objection was not a fanciful one. He had no objection to this tax in itself; but if its operation was not most carefully guarded, it would become a most intolerable tax upon the trade of the country.

The Hon'ble MR. BERNARD said, to show that the Select Committee did not intend to tax boats unfairly, by section 81 it was provided that all through traffic should be exempted from the Octroi duties; and they expected that the same principle would be carried out in regard to the tax upon boats, but they saw no way of providing for this difficulty in the Bill.

The amendment was then negatived.

Section 43 provided for the assessment of persons who were without authority omitted from the assessment list, or whose liability to assessment accrued after the preparation of the list, and directed that notice of such "increased" assessment should be given to the person assessed.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort the word "increased" was struck out, as the section applied to new assessments and not to increased assessments.

Section 45 related to the tax upon buildings, and exempted buildings used exclusively as places of public worship or applied solely to charitable purposes.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort a verbal amendment was made by substituting the word "houses" for the word "buildings." He pointed out that the "house" under the definition in section 3 included the "building."

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE moved the insertion of the words "and arable lands" after "purposes," so as to exempt arable lands from the tax.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said he would move as a counter-amendment that the following words be added to the section:—

"Provided that the annual value of any arable land shall be deemed to be one-half of the annual rent at which such land may be reasonably expected to be let."

The Hon'ble MR. BERNARD said it might be explained that lands taxed by municipalities were exempted from Road Cess under Act X of 1871 of this Council, and if arable lands within municipal limits were exempted from taxation under this Bill they would escape taxation altogether. The amendment which the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had proposed would reduce the rate on arable lands in municipalities very nearly to what they were assessed for Road Cess outside municipalities.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said roads outside municipalities were to be made by those taxed outside by the District Road Cess, and inside municipalities by municipalities; and it was only fair that arable lands within municipalities which were exempted from the District Road Cess should pay a tax such as the same lands outside municipalities paid under the Road Cess. He quite thought with the hon'ble member that it would be hard that arable lands within municipalities should pay a tax as high as that paid by houses and shops; and therefore it appeared to His Honor that the half rate which the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had proposed would meet the difficulty.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said that after the explanation that had been given he would withdraw his amendment.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT's amendment was then agreed to.

Section 58 exempted hackney carriages in the suburbs of Calcutta from the operation of the tax upon carriages and animals.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT observed that this section had been inserted by him under a mistake, in order to provide against a double tax upon certain carriages. He had since discovered that these carriages in Calcutta not only paid the registration fee under the Hackney Carriage Act, but also the license tax under the Municipal Acts. Therefore there was no reason why they should not pay a tax upon thesame footing in the suburbs as they paid in the town of Calcutta. He moved that this section be omitted.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 62 provided as a penalty a fine not exceeding three times the tax on all carriages and animals for which a license should not have been taken out.

The Hon'ble Mr. BEAUFORT said that this section provided a penalty for keeping a carriage without a license; but it did not say whether the payment of the fine was "in lieu of the license fee," or in addition to it. As there might be some doubt upon this point he would move the insertion of those words after "fine" in the 4th line of the section.

The motion was agreed to.

Similar amendments were made, on the motion of Mr. Beaufort, in sections 69 and 76.

Section 97 provided that the Lieutenant-Governor "may" make over to the Commissioners any existing toll-bar or gate within the limits of the municipality.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said that it would be imperative upon municipalities to maintain all the roads within their municipalities, and he thought it would be but fair to them that any tolls which were imposed upon those roads should be made over to them. He would therefore move the substitution of "shall" for "may."

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said that he was quite ready to pledge himself that the Government would not for their own purposes maintain any toll within the limits of a municipality, unless it were upon a road maintained by Government as a Provincial or Imperial Road. It was however necessary to give a discretion to the Government, as they might wish to abolish tolls altogether.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said as it was stated that there was no intention to maintain tolls within municipalities for any other than municipal purposes, he was quite willing to withdraw his amendment. But he thought that if tolls were so maintained they should be made over to the municipality.

The motion was then by leave withdrawn.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort a verbal amendment was made in section 124.

Section 131 declared what should constitute the Municipal Fund; and provided, amongst other things, that the fund applicable to police purposes mentioned in "section 57, Act XXI of 1857 (to make better provision for the order and good government of the suburbs of Calcutta and the station of Howrah)" should be deemed to be the Municipal Fund.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said he proposed to omit the words above quoted. Act XXI of 1857 was one of the Acts to be repealed by this Act, and therefore it was unnecessary to retain those words.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 133 declared the purposes to which the Municipal Fund might be applied, amongst which were the construction, repair, and maintenance of roads, wharves, embankments, channels, drains, and bridges.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said he believed it was not unknown that in some stations large embankments were maintained by the Government; they were works of such great magnitude that they could not possibly be maintained by municipalities; and if there was no provision in the Bill to the contrary, the Government might withdraw from the duty of maintaining those embankments, and expect the municipalities to undertake the work. The same remarks applied to the maintenance of bridges. Take for instance the Kidderpore and Bally Khal bridges. If the Government were to withdraw from the duty of maintaining those bridges, the responsibility would be thrown on the municipalities within whose limits they were situated. But it would be admitted that those municipalities, especially the latter, were too poor to maintain such great bridges. He would therefore move to insert after "embankments" the words "except such as have been maintained by Government," and to substitute "culverts" for "bridges."

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said he thought the hon'ble member had misunderstood the object of the section, which was to declare upon what objects the Municipal Commissioners might expend the Municipal Funds, subject to certain rules. It was necessary to insert in this section all the objects upon which the Municipal Funds might be expended, for otherwise the Commissioners would be debarred from expending their money upon some work which they might be prepared and willing to undertake. Take the case of the station of Berhampore which was protected by small embankments along the face of the river now maintained by the Government. If that place became a municipality, it appeared to him that there was no possible reason why the Municipal Fund should not be expended in the repairs of the embankment. If the amendment was adopted, the municipality would be prevented from expending money for that purpose. Mr. Beaufort would also object to the substitution of "culvert" for "bridges." Culvert was a vague term: a bridge included a culvert.

The Hon'ble MR. SCHALCH said he had a decided objection to the words of the amendment. It included all embankments. If that were intended, it would follow that although the Government had maintained many embankments which they were not bound to maintain, they would henceforth be bound to continue to maintain them. If any such amendment was to be introduced, he thought it should be so framed as to include only those embankments which the Government were bound to maintain. He himself did not see the necessity of the amendment; but if any amendment were introduced, he thought it should be carefully guarded in the way he had specified: the phraseology as the amendment at present stood, was to bind the Government to keep up embankments which they were not bound to maintain.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said it appeared to him that this was importing a discussion which properly belonged to another Bill. The clause under consideration was simply a clause to enable municipalities to maintain embankments. The passing of such a clause as was proposed would not interfere with any obligation which might be imposed on the Government by the Embankment Bill. It was proposed in that Bill to say that the Government should maintain certain embankments, and HIS HONOR had no doubt that the hon'ble member would look after the interests of municipalities when that Bill came up for consideration. Perhaps, therefore, the hon'ble member would allow the matter to stand over till the Embankment Bill came before the Council.

The motion was then by leave withdrawn.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort the following clause was added to the section:—

(6). "Any outlay that may be necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act."

Section 134 enabled a municipality, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to make contributions to other municipalities for certain purposes.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said he did not understand by what kinds of work a municipality in one district could benefit a municipality in another district. He could quite understand municipalities adjoining one another undertaking works in common, and he thought the granting of contributions for such purposes should be decided according to the benefit the municipality would derive from the contributions which they made. But under this section a municipality might contribute its funds to any municipality in any other district, however distant. That seemed to him to be wrong in principle especially considering that the control over the expenditure of its funds should be in the hands of the municipality. A municipality contributing to another municipality could have no control over the municipality to which they contributed. He therefore took exception to this section, and moved that it be omitted.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said it appeared to him that the object of this section was sufficiently clear. He would illustrate it by giving an example. The example nearest to them was that of the Suburban Municipality, who wished to introduce into the suburbs the water which was brought down to Calcutta. The cost of pipes to carry the water into the suburbs would certainly not be paid by the Calcutta Municipality, and must be paid by the people of the suburbs who were to make use of the water. The same remarks would apply to a railway, which a municipality wanted to connect with their town by a short feeder road. If a municipality was not allowed to contribute for the making of such roads, there would be nobody to do it, and he saw no reason why municipalities should not so contribute.

The Hon'ble MR. BERNARD said the Select Committee had very carefully considered this provision, many representations having been received taking exception to it; some of the members of the Committee had also taken exception to it. As the section was originally drawn, it was more open to objection than it was now. At first it was provided that the Lieutenant-Governor might transfer a portion of the funds of one municipality to any other municipality. As the section now stood it lay with the Commissioners themselves to propose the transfer, and then to obtain the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor to such transfer. The hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had given one instance exemplifying the operation of this section. Others might be adduced. A municipality might be situated two or three miles from a line of railway, between which and the municipality there might be jungle or field land. Surely a municipality ought to be allowed to expend money in connecting itself with a railway station; but unless power was given in the Bill to expend money for such purposes, the municipality could not expend the money. It was only for certain objects that municipalities were allowed to contribute money to other municipalities, and those purposes were merely such as the construction and maintenance of roads, bringing water into a town, and the lighting of roads.

The Hon'ble MR. WYMAN said he thought he was one of the members of the Committee who objected to this clause as it stood in the original Bill; but as the clause was now limited, he could see no objection to it. It left the suggestion for such contributions in the hands of the Commissioners, and the power was qualified by the provision that the works for which such contributions were made must be calculated to benefit the inhabitants of the contributing municipality. It was quite competent to the Commissioners not to propose to make such contributions, and if they did make such contributions, it could only be with the object of benefiting themselves.

The motion was then negatived.

Section 135 provided for the appointment of officers to inspect the affairs of municipalities.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT moved that this section be omitted. But he proposed to transfer to section 142 the latter portion of it, and also to provide for the expense of auditing the municipal accounts which had been omitted. He thought it was reasonable that the additional establishment which the Magistrate of the district, who was bound to supervise the municipalities in his district, or the Commissioner of division, who had a control over the municipalities in his division, might be obliged to keep for that purpose, should be paid rateably by the municipalities concerned. He would first move that section 135 be omitted.

HIS HONOR the PRESIDENT said that the effect of accepting the amendment to omit section 135, which the hon'ble member on the right (Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore) had put upon the paper, and the amendment of the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill as to section 142, would be that the Government surrendered the power of appointing a salaried inspector at the expense of municipalities.

But it was quite necessary that the accounts should be audited, and that the cost of the correspondence which municipalities necessarily entailed should be contributed by the several municipalities in each division or district.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of MR. BEAUFORT the following words were inserted in section 142 after "direct" in line 10:—

"The expense of such audit shall be paid from the Municipal Fund. The Lieutenant-Governor may direct that the cost of maintaining clerks or other establishments in the offices of the Magistrate of the district and of the Commissioner of division for the audit of accounts, and the requisite correspondence connected with the purposes of this Act, shall be defrayed in rateable proportion from the funds of the several municipalities which may be constituted under this Act in such district or division."

Section 153 provided a penalty on a registrar of births and deaths refusing or neglecting to register births, &c.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort the words "or shall demand or accept any fee or reward or other gratification as a consideration for making such entry" were omitted as unnecessary, the registrars to be appointed under the Act having been declared, by a clause subsequently introduced, to be "public servants" within the meaning of the Penal Code.

Section 172 provided that none of the provisions of Part X relating to the municipal regulations should apply to any municipality until extended thereto by the Lieutenant-Governor.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said that he did not think that the state of society in second class municipalities was such as to render necessary the stringent rules of sanitation provided by Part X of the Bill, and he considered that it would be great hardship if they were introduced in second class municipalities. He believed it was not the intention of the Government, seeing that the Government had a discretion in extending these rules, to introduce them into any second or third class municipality. But he thought it would be better if such a limitation were introduced in the Bill. It would be seen also that these municipal regulations, with the exception of that contained in section 191, were not introduced in the Acts of 1868 and 1870, and none of these provisions were at present in operation in second or third class municipalities. He would therefore move the addition to section 172 of the words—

"The Lieutenant-Governor shall not extend the provisions of chapter 1 of this part to any second or third class municipality."

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said that the general object of Part X was to provide all the rules necessary for the conservancy and sanitation and general well-being of municipalities. By section 172 it was provided that no single section throughout this Part should be extended to any municipality without the special sanction of the Government Under these circumstances he thought it was not necessary to make any exception to the general rule. The Lieutenant-Governor would apply these sections to municipalities on the reports of the municipalities themselves, and those only would be selected which were wanted in each particular place. Some people objected to the introduction of these sections, because the lower classes were used to a certain degree of discomfort in their houses, and therefore did not care to be compelled to get rid of it; but the general principle of them was applicable to all. He thought it would be better to leave the power to the Government to apply these sections as they were required; but as it was quite clear that the sections contained in the first chapter of the Part would never be applied to third class municipalities, which would be established only in rural villages, he was quite prepared to exclude them from third class municipalities, and would suggest the omission from the motion of the words "or second." With regard to second class municipalities, he believed that a second class municipality would often be found in a small but populous town, and that was just the place in which such rules would be required. Therefore he would retain the provision enabling the Government to extend these rules to such places.

HIS HONOR the PRESIDENT said that the Government were prepared to accept the proposal that third class municipalities should be exempted from the operation of this Part; he would therefore first put the suggestion of the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill as an amendment upon the motion.

The amendment having been carried, the motion as amended was agreed to.

Section 196 provided a penalty for bathing or washing animals or clothes in a public stream, &c.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT moved the omission of the word "public," as the retention of that word would interfere with the provision in the Penal Code with regard to fouling the water of a public spring or reservoir. This section went further, as it applied to water set apart for particular purposes; whereas the Penal Code dealt with the ordinary use of the water. If the word "public" were left out, it would prevent any clashing with the Penal Code. He was indebted for this amendment to his hon'ble friend the learned Advocate-General.

The motion was agreed to.

Section 199 provided a penalty for making unauthorized excavations.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said he believed there would not be found a single house-holder, particularly in a second class municipality, who would not require to make an excavation in his own compound, and this section would therefore work very harshly on the people who built their houses from earth taken from their own land. These excavations occasionally caused a nuisance; but he thought the chapter of the Penal Code relating to nuisances, and the rules in this Bill against causing nuisances within premises, were sufficient. He did not think there was any necessity for preventing people from taking earth from their own land for building purposes and he would therefore move that this section be omitted.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said he thought it would be well to put the Council in possession of the history of this section. It arose out of his own personal experience of the effects of excavations within towns. It was quite true that every man, when he wanted to raise the flooring of his house, dug a hole alongside of it; and no one would object to a method of obtaining earth so convenient to the individual if it did not affect the health of the community. But into this hole all the dirt and refuse of the house was thrown; the rain fell; the contents of the excavation rotted in the stagnant water, and a great deal of malaria was generated. When he was Magistrate of Jessore at a time when no one was willing to reside in it on account of the unhealthiness of the place, he made use of the prisoners (who were then allowed to work out of the jail walls) in filling up every excavation throughout the town; and the consequence was that the healthiness of the place was materially improved. Even without that experience, he thought that no man had a right for his own convenience to make an excavation which would be a nuisance to his neighbours. He admitted that the section as introduced in the Bill might be considered rather too stringent, and that it would be well to modify it, and he proposed to do so by substituting for it the section of which he had given notice and which stood as follows:—

"The Commissioners may cause to be filled up any excavation which is likely in their opinion to be injurious to the health of the neighbourhood. If such excavation shall have been made in any place after the extension thereto of this section within any private premises without the consent of the Commissioners, the cost of refilling it may be recovered from the occupier or owner of such premises."

The latter part of this amended section would not apply to existing excavations or those made with the consent of the Commissioners, and they would have no power to interfere unless the excavation would be likely to injure the neighbourhood. Any man who really had a necessity to make an excavation might apply to the Commissioners for permission to make it. Then as regards the penalty, it was reduced simply to the excavator paying for the cost of refilling it. It was said that in some places there was great difficulty in getting earth to supply the place of the earth that was taken out of the excavation, but in his experience there was always some tank at no great distance which might be enlarged. In Jessore tanks were deepened and enlarged by supplying the ryots with the earth which they required.

The Hon'ble MR. WYMAN said there was an objection to the amendment proposed. It seemed a direct interference with private rights. It appeared to him that section 191 gave ample power to prevent these excavations from becoming dangerous to health. But to say that a man should not dig upon his own land might lead to much hardship and oppression. There might be cases in which the digging of a hole might possibly not improve the health of a town, but might not be so injurious to the health of the neighbourhood as to make it desirable to fill it up. In such cases to make the man fill it up seemed very hard indeed. Where so much suspicion was already existing, to impose by law any thing tending to create additional alarm, should be a matter for careful consideration. Therefore, as Mr. Wyman thought that section 191 met all sanitary difficulties, he submitted that there was no necessity for any provision regarding excavations.

His Honor the President said, he was extremely glad that the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had proposed to do away with the penal clause in this section. As the provision stood in the Bill it was a very severe one, and His Honor thought the hon'ble member had exercised a wise discretion in modifying it. Possibly the observations that had been made with regard to the vexatious character of the section as it stood in the Bill were not unfounded; but as the clause was now proposed, it was a very innocent clause. It was devoid of all penal character, as the person who made the excavation would at the worst only have to fill it up again; he could not be subjected to any thing beyond that. Section 191 might provide for this, but these noxious holes being so common, he hoped the Council would support the amendment.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore said, that if the cost of re-filling the excavation was to be borne by the person making it, it might cost him so much that it might be impossible for him to meet it. Earth could not always be obtained: it might have to be brought from a distance of several miles; and if a poor man had to re-fill a hole, he might be made to pay for bringing the earth from a distance of four or five miles. The effect would be the same whether he was allowed to make the excavation or not.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort's amendment, to substitute a new section for section 199, was agreed to.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore's motion to omit the section having been put, the Council divided:—

Ayes—2.	Noes—8.
Rajah Jotcendro Mohun Tagore, Bahadoor.	Mr. Robinson.
Mr. Wyman.	Mr. Colvin.
	Moulvie Abdool Luteef Khan.
	Lord Ulick Browne.
	Mr. Schalch.
	Mr. Beaufort.
	The Advocate-General.
	The President.

So the motion was negatived.

Section 208 gave power to trim hedges and trees bordering roads.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort said that the amendments which he had put on the paper were proposed in consequence of a report of the Commissioner of Chittagong that the inhabitants of that town surrounded their compounds with fences of a height which greatly prevented the free circulation of air, and he believed the hon'ble member opposite (Lord Ulick Browne) would be able to say from his own experience whether that was the case. The amendments would give the same power of reducing the height of fences, as the section in its present state gave in regard to hedges. He moved—

In line 3, after "trim" to insert "or reduce the height of";

In lines 4 and 10, after "hedges" to insert "fences";

And in line 11, after "trimmed" to insert "or reduced."

The Hon'ble Lord Ulick Browne said, he entirely confirmed what had been said as regards the obstructions to ventilation in the town of Chittagong. Almost every house was surrounded by an enclosure of matting about seven feet high, and they certainly had an injurious effect on the health of the town.

The Hon'ble Moulvie Abdool Luteef said if these fences or mat walls were intended for the zenana, or female apartments of the occupants, it would be a great hardship if the municipality were permitted to interfere in reducing them. He thought this point ought to be taken into consideration, or otherwise we might be interfering with the convenience of the people, and especially of the Mahomedan community.

His Honor the President said he thought the vast majority of the Commissioners would have an interest in keeping female apartments private.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort remarked that probably there were very few places in which a provision of this nature would be applicable.

The Hon'ble Moulvie Abdool Luteef said, where there were two or three-storied houses and the neighbours had lower-roomed houses, they were compelled to erect high mat walls to prevent overlooking.

The Hon'ble Mr. Schalch observed that the Commissioners would not have the power to interfere with a wall of ten or twelve feet in height, and therefore it would be a hardship to interfere with mat walls of seven feet, especially in the case of zenanas. He thought the section as it stood was sufficient.

The Hon'ble Moulvie Abdool Luteeo said, he had seen it remarked in the papers that the high walls in the King of Oudh's premises at Garden Reach prevented ventilation, but it appeared to him that that could not be helped where there were zenanas.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort's first and fourth amendments were agreed to.

On the second and third amendments the Council divided :—

Ayes—3.	Noes—8.
Lord Ulick Browne.	Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore.
Mr. Beaufort.	Mr. Wyman.
The Advocate-General.	Mr. Robinson.
	Mr. Colvin.
	Moulvie Abdool Luteef.
	Mr. Bernrad.
	Mr. Schalch.
	The President.

These amendments were therefore negatived.

Section 217 provided a penalty for, amongst other things, beating drums or tom-toms, &c., at times and places prohibited by the Commissioners.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore moved to insert the words "not being private residences" after "places" in line 5 of clause 2. He said that in most Hindu families there were household deities, and it was necessary at times of worship to beat cymbals and gongs. It would be giving the Commissioners too arbitrary power if they were allowed to prohibit the sounding of such instruments at any time and any place they liked. Some consideration, he thought, ought to be shown to the religious feelings of the people.

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort said the object of this section, which was taken from the Acts now in force in Calcutta and Howrah and other places, was simply to prevent people making a noise in their own houses so loud as to be a nuisance to the neighbours. He did not see why, if a Hindu desired to worship in his own house, he should be permitted to cause discomfort to others.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore said that a Hindu could not help doing what he was bid by his religion to do. If religious liberty was to be enjoyed by every one alike there must be a certain degree of toleration among all sects. He thought that the freedom of worship ought to be respected.

The Hon'ble Mr. Bernard remarked that the late census had shown that in many districts of Bengal the majority of the population consisted of Mahomedans, and their convenience should be consulted. The hon'ble member in charge of the Bill had said that this clause was taken from the Howrah Act. But he might have added that it was a very much milder provision than that contained in the Howrah Act; for by this clause every body might beat drums and tom-toms unless the Commissioners at a meeting prohibited their so doing; but under the Howrah Act no body could do so without the permission of the Commissioners, which was a very different thing.

His Honor the President said he knew that there was no cause which had given rise to more serious riots and bloodshed than the blowing of horns and beating of tom-toms in the neighbourhood of mosques. It was now ascertained that more than half the villages in Bengal were Mahomedan, and the clause merely prohibited the blowing of horns and such like when specially prohibited. It appeared to His Honor that there ought to be a power to prevent this becoming a nuisance to the people.

The motion was then negatived.

On the motion of MR. BEAUFORT verbal amendments was made in sections 224 and 225.

Section 230 provided that the provisions of Part XI relating to Municipal markets should not apply to any municipality until they should have been expressly extended to it by the Lieutenant-Governor.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE observed that he thought Part XI should not apply to second or third class municipalities, and should only apply to first class municipalities when extended thereto by the Lieutenant-Governor, he would therefore move to insert after "apply" in line 1 of section 130 the words "second or third class municipality. And it shall not apply to any first class."

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said that if this section was intended to apply to grand markets like that which was being constructed in Calcutta, he should be willing to agree to the amendment proposed, but as the object of the section was to enable municipalities to set aside pieces of land for the purposes of haths and the like, he thought it should be applicable to other municipalities as well as those of the first class.

The Hon'ble MR. BERNARD moved by way of amendment that the following words be inserted in lieu of the words proposed by the hon'ble member:—

"Third class municipality. And it shall not apply to any first or second."

The effect of this amendment would be to restrict the provisions of Part XI to first and second class municipalities, and exempt third class municipalities altogether from the operation of that Part.

The motion as amended was agreed to.

Section 231 empowered the Commissioners, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to construct markets.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE moved the omission of this section, as he thought municipalities should not apply their funds to such speculations as the construction of markets and enter into competition with private enterprize, armed as they would be with such exceptional powers as the Bill proposed to give them.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said the arguments which he had used with regard to the former amendment on this point applied equally to this section, which would enable municipilities to set aside small places as markets. He thought that municipalities ought to be allowed to compete with private individuals in establishing public markets which should either not be taxed, or, if taxed, be taxed for the benefit of no private individual but of the community in general.

The motion was then negatived.

Part XII related to third class municipalities.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE moved the omission of this Part. He said that third class municipalities were generally composed of agricultural villages, and they ought to have for their administration a separate Act complete in itself and apart from the elaborate provisions relating to first and second class municipalities. He thought that Act VI of 1870 which related to what would under this Bill be called third class municipalities, had not had a sufficient trial given to it. If after sufficient trial it was found that any amendment was required in that Act, a Bill could be introduced for regulating third class municipalities. This Bill would impose upon these municipalities responsibilities to which they were not now subject, such as the provision of water for drinking purposes and the matter of conservancy; and there were certain references made to other parts of the Bill which made these provisions too cumbersome and complicated for the comprehension of agricultural populations. It was said that these provisions embraced the question of education, and if they were omitted from the Bill the people of agricultural villages would go without education altogether. To provide for this and the maintenance of chokidars, he would, if his motion were agreed to, move the introduction of the following section at the beginning of Part XIII:—

"The proceeds of the tax, together with any fines and other moneys realized under the Village Chokidarce Act, 1870, shall, in the first instance, be applicable to the payment of chokidars and any surplus thereof to the supply of drinking water for the residents or for their cattle, and to the support of patshalas or village schools in such places where the said Act may be in force."

His Honor the President said he was quite willing to admit that it was a subject of fair consideration whether the supply of water for drinking purposes, and conservancy, should be included in the objects to which the funds of third class municipalities should be devoted. But it was decided by those in charge of the Bill that the provisions of Act VI of 1870 should be incorporated in this Bill, so that the whole municipal law of Bengal might be codified in one Bill. That duty had been performed with great care and labor by the Committee who had incorporated in the Bill all the provisions of Act VI of 1870 which seemed appropriate, and His Honor should be extremely sorry that Part XII relating to third class municipalities should now be rejected. His sole wish was to work these provisions for the benefit of these village municipalities. They proposed a very small and moderate tax indeed, and a narrow limit was fixed to the sum that might be expended. He hoped it would be accepted by the Council. With regard to the question of complication, he might observe that great care had been taken to exclude third class municipalities from the operation of the greater part of the Bill; and when the Bill was passed we should be able to extract this chapter and the other parts of the Bill which related to third class municipalities, and print them separately as a small pamphlet for the use of punchayets.

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore said it was altogether a new burden to require third class municipalities to provide for conservancy; and when it was seen that all the provisions of Part X, except chapter I, would be applicable to these municipalities, and that the operation of other chapters of the Bill might be extended to them, hon'ble members could well understand what hardships might be entailed upon the agricultural population.

His Honor the President said the hon'ble member might propose to extend further the exemption from Part X. He should be ready favorably to consider that.

The motion was negatived.

Section 244 stood as follows:—

"The punchayet "shall" impose the tax described at section 138 clause (a) of this Act, provided that the tax for any one year shall not exceed twenty-five rupees for every hundred inhabitants."

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort "may" was substituted for "shall".

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore moved the addition to the section of the following words:—

"And provided that no one shall pay more than one rupee per mensem."

His Honor the President observed that the arguments which he had used against limiting the amount of tax on any one individual in first and second class municipalities, would apply with greater force to small municipalities. It would be very hard that a rich man should not pay more than a common bunia.

The amendment was put and negatived.

Section 256 provided that the surplus of the tax in third class municipalities, after paying for chokidars, might be applied to the supply of drinking water, to the support of patshalas, "and to conservancy purposes".

The Hon'ble Rajah Joteendro Mohun Tagore moved to omit the words "and to conservancy purposes."

The Hon'ble Mr. Beaufort observed that, as had been pointed out by His Honor the President, it was entirely optional with the municipality to expend their money for these purposes; he did not see any reason for excluding "conservancy" from amongst the purposes to which the funds of third class municipalities might be applied.

The motion was put and negatived.

On the motion of Mr. Beaufort the following new section was introduced after section 256, to provide for the continuation of the services of the present chokidars after the extension of this Bill to any third class municipality:—

"Every person who, at the time of the extension of this Part to any place, is the chokidar thereof, or whose duty it is under any other designation to keep watch and ward therein, shall continue to perform such duty until the day fixed by the Magistrate as the date on which the first instalment of any tax imposed under the provisions of this Act shall become payable, and shall be remunerated for such services according to the usage which may prevail at that time in such place."

The motion was agreed to.

Section 258 provided for the retention in office of present chokidars, if in the opinion of the Magistrate they were competent to perform their duties.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT moved to add to the section the following words:—

"Provided also that if the number of such persons in any place is greater than the maximum number fixed by the last preceding section, the Magistrate of the district may select from the whole number and may relieve from the duty of watch and ward so many as are in excess of the fixed number, and the persons so relieved shall be deemed to have ceased to hold such office."

In the previous section, he said, it was laid down that the punchayet should appoint persons whom they deemed fit to be chokidars, and that the number of such chokidars should not exceed on the average one to every 300 inhabitants. It might occur that the number of chokidars found in a place to which the Act was extended would be in excess of the number laid down in section 257, and it was necessary to provide for the excess number. The latter portion of the words which he proposed to introduce had reference to a subsequent section for the disposal of chakaran land.

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE said that some of the questions dealt with in these amendments should have been before the members at an earlier date: the supplementary list of amendments had reached him only that morning while in Council, and he had hardly had time to consider these amendments.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said the object of the amendment now before the Council was only to prevent there being too many chokidars in any third class municipality. Under the provisions of the Bill the pay of every chokidar must be made up to at least three rupees a month: if the chakaran land was worth six rupees a year the punchayet must supplement it so as to make up the chokidar's pay to three rupees a month: therefore it appeared to His Honor that you must limit the number of chokidars to be appointed.

The motion was then agreed to.

Section 261 laid down the mode of disposing of chakaran land when a chokidar holding such land was dismissed.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said, the section as it stood provided for the disposal of chakaran land either by leaving it in the hands of the chokidar who had ceased to hold office subject to th payment by him of half the annual letting value of the land; or by making it over to the zemindar subject to a similar payment by him to the punchayet. But the Committee had omitted to put in a third mode of disposing of the land, recourse to which might often be expedient, namely to make it over to the man to be appointed in the room of the dismissed chokidar. Mr. Beaufort would therefore move, in line 7, to omit the words "dispose of such chakaran land," and to susbstitute for them the words "place the chokidar who is appointed in the room of such person in possession of such chakaran land, or shall dispose of it."

The Hon'ble RAJAH JOTEENDRO MOHUN TAGORE wished to be informed what would be the consequence if the zemindar objected to the dismissal of the chokidar, or to the nomination of his successor, for in most places the appointment and dismissal rested with the zemindar.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT observed that the question now was whether a provision should be inserted to authorize the leaving of the chakaran land in the hands of the new chokidar instead of in the hands of the man who had been dismissed. The question as to who had the right of appointment and dismissal was quite a different thing, for which the section did not provide. HIS HONOR thought the section might be passed subject to the right of the hon'ble member to propose an amendment on that point in section 259, and to bring forward amendments in section 261.

The motion was then agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT said, that in proceedings taken under section 261 there might be a question regarding the limits of the chakaran land; and the amount of the annual letting value of the land might be disputed. He would move the introduction of the following section after section 261:—

"The Magistrate of the district may cause a survey to be made of such chakaran land, and shall find, after inquiry made by himself, or by any Magistrate whom he may depute for such purpose, the amount from time to time of the annual letting value of such land. An appeal shall lie from such finding, if preferred within thirty days to the Commissioner of division, whose decision shall be final."

The object of the amendment, he said, was to empower the Magistrate to survey the land but not to decide on the title, and to find judicially the amount of the annual letting value, with an appeal as regards the latter to the Commissioner. This would save the parties, in cases of dispute, from the expense and trouble of resorting to the civil court.

The section was agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT moved the introduction of the following new section after section 262:—

"Whenever by the usage existing in any place before the extension thereto of this Act the chokidar or other person appointed to keep watch and ward therein is remunerated by contributions of money or grain realized by himself or other person from the inhabitants, or in any other way whatsoever, it shall be lawful for the punchayet, with the sanction of the Magistrate of the district, to maintain such usage or at any time to discontinue it.

"If it shall be determined to maintain such usage, the punchayet shall ascertain and record subject to the supervision of the Magistrate of the district, the classes of the inhabitants by whom such remuneration is contributed, and the nature and amount or estimated value of the contribution for which each of such inhabitants is liable, and may from time to time recover any arrears of such contributions under the rules contained in this part for the recovery of arrears of tax, and shall be responsible for the punctual payment of such remuneration to the chokidar. In any such case a sum equivalent to the contribution recorded as payable by any such inhabitant shall be deducted from any assessment imposed on him under section 244.

"Provided that whenever such usage is maintained, the punchayet shall pay to such chokidar by equal monthly instalments the difference between the total amount or estimated value of the contributions and the fixed amount of the salary, if the amount or value of the contributions is less than the amount of the salary."

He observed that the object of this section was simply to provide that if in any village there was found to exist a system of paying the chokidar by general contributions, and if the punchayet desired to continue that system, it should be open to them to do so. The remainder of the section was simply to provide for the payment of the full amount of the chokidar's salary.

HIS HONOR THE PRESIDENT said this was an important provision which was introduced with the object of avoiding taxation as much as possible. The Council were aware that in many parts of the country village chokidars were paid sometimes by contributions in money and sometimes in kind. By this section we said "we don't wish to impose upon you our new fangled notions of taxation, but we will allow you to maintain that system which prescription has rendered acceptable to you."

The Hon'ble MR. SCHALCH moved by way of amendment the insertion of the words "or the value thereof" after the word "contributions" in the second paragraph of the section.

The section as amended was agreed to.

On the motion of the Hon'ble MR. BEAUFORT the words "per annum" were inserted after "rupees" in line 16 of paragraph 2 of section 263.

Some verbal amendments were then made in the Schedules on the motion of Mr. Beaufort.

The Hon'ble MR. SCHALCH said, the sections of which he had given notice were taken from the Chokidari Act of 1870. The provisions of the existing Act were with one exception verbally the same as those in the Part of the Bill before the Council. The exception was the exclusion of the clause relating to the appointment of a commission for the decision of questions relating to chakaran land. When that Act was passed the question was most carefully considered, and it was decided that it would be most injurious to have recourse to the vexatious process of the civil court, and it was therefore determined that a commission should be appointed for the determination of such questions. Consequently he had prepared an amendment to bodily incorporate in this Bill the sections of the present Act on the subject. He found subsequently that the wording of those sections was not suited to the wording of the new Bill. He had therefore prepared and brought forward the section in an amended form in such phraseology as with the approval of the hon'ble member in charge of the Bill was considered proper. There was one important alteration in the amendment now proposed: it was in the latter part of the section marked (e). By it a power of appeal was given from the decision of the Commissioners to the Judge of the district, whose decision should be final, and his proceedings would be in accordance with the rules of procedure for regular suits. Formerly the question was, whether the decision of the Commissioners should be final, or open to appeal. It was then carried that the decision of the Commissioners should be final. With deference to the strong opinion which the minority had on that occasion expressed, he (Mr. Schalch) had altered his original opinion, because there was no doubt that questions of title might be involved in these investigations, and he thought that they should be open to the decision of a judicial officer. He therefore proposed that there should be an appeal to the Judge, whose decision should be final, and that such appeal should be permitted to be made not only by the zemindar but by the Magistrate on behalf of the punchayet. With these remarks he would move to insert after section 262 the following section:—

"262(a) It shall be lawful for the Lieutenant-Governor, by an order to be published in the Calcutta Gazette, to appoint a commission, consisting of one or more persons, to ascertain and determine the chakaran and other service lands which may be found in any place to which this Act shall have been extended.

"(b.) Whenever in any place in which such commission shall have been appointed, any question shall rise whether any or what lands are chakaran or other service lands, it shall be lawful for such commission to inquire into such question.

"(c) In inquiring into such question the commission shall, as far as may be necessary for the purposes of this Act, exercise all such and the same powers as are conferred by Regulation VII of 1822 and the Regulations and Acts amending the same upon a Collector making a settlement of land revenue.

"(d.) Such commission shall demarcate the boundaries of any lands which they may determine to be chakaran or other service lands, and shall make orders setting forth such lands and the boundaries thereof, and the name of the village for the benefit of which such lands are assigned.

"(e.) The zemindar or other person interested, or the Magistrate of the district, may appeal from any such order to the court of the District Judge, whose decision thereon shall be final. Every appeal under this section shall be presented within the time and in the manner, and subject, as far as may be, to the rules provided by the Code of Civil Procedure for regular appeals in suits."

His Honor the President said that the Council would observe that the section proposed to be introduced was in all essentials, except in the matter of appeal, the same as that which found a place in the former Act VI of 1870. A material change had been made in the direction of giving an appeal to the Judge of the district from the decision of the Commissioners appointed under the Act. That was a concession which he believed several hon'ble members would think right, and would remove the objections which they otherwise might have had. Under these circumstances His Honor hoped the Council would accept the amendment now proposed.

The motion was agreed to.

His Honor the President said that it would be an instruction to the Secretary to adjust the numbering of the sections in the Bill, after which the Bill would be reprinted and further considered at the next meeting of the Council.

The Council was adiourned to Saturday, the 27th instant.

RESOLUTION.

The 23rd July 1872.—The Government of India has sanctioned, subject to the approval of His Grace the Secretary of State for India, the Lieutenant-Governor's proposal to appoint to the vacant Judgeship of Beerbhoom a Judge on a diminished salary, equal to that of a first grade Magistrate and Collector, and to appropriate the saving of Rs. 7,000 per annum thus effected to raise the pay of the Magistrates and Collectors of two of the chief districts in Bengal by an extra allowance of Rs. 3,500 a year each.

2. Mr. E. C. Craster, now officiating Judge of Beerbhoom, being a permanent Judge, will revert to his substantive appointment at Gya, and the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following arrangements under the provisional sanction accorded by the Government of India:—

Mr. S. H. C. Tayler, at present officiating Judge of Gya, is appointed to be Judge of Beerbhoom in the second grade, and to be also Additional Judge of Burdwan. He will draw pay equal to that of a Magistrate and Collector of the first grade, or Rs. 23,000 per annum.

Mr. Tayler is not, however, to leave Gya till relieved by Mr. Craster, and Mr. A. B. Falcon is appointed to officiate as Judge of Beerbhoom, second grade, and Additional Judge of Burdwan, till the arrival of Mr. Tayler at Beerbhoom.

Messrs. W. LeF. Robinson and A. V. Palmer, the two senior Magistrates and Collectors employed in the executive branch of the service, who are also Magistrates and Collectors of large and important districts, will receive the extra allowance of Rs. 3,500 per annum each, saved from the pay of the Judgeship of Beerbhoom. This allowance will cease if these officers are employed in the Judicial line, and is for the present altogether provisional and liable to be withdrawn, if the Government may deem such a measure for any reason advisable in the interests of the public service.

Mr. E. E. Lowis is promoted to the first grade of Magistrates and Collectors in succession to Mr. Tayler.

All these appointments and allowances will take effect from the date on which Mr. Craster reverts to his permanent appointment.

3. It is to be clearly understood that Mr. Tayler's appointment to Beerbhoom, the extra allowance to Messrs. Robinson and Palmer, and the promotion of Mr. E. Lowis, are wholly conditional on the approval of the Secretary of State, and that any increase drawn by the three last-named officers must be refunded if that approval be withheld.

2. The following rules apply to all villages and tracts subject to British jurisdiction.

II.—POLICE.

(b.)—Rural police, consisting of sirdars, dollois, pattors, lungdohs, and other village authorities recognized as such by the Deputy Commissioner with their subordinate village authorities.

4. The control of the police in the Khasi and Jynteah Hills is vested in the Deputy Commissioner, acting under the orders of the Commissioner of Assam, or such other officers as the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may from time to time appoint. Misconduct on the part of regular police shall be punished in accordance with Act V of 1861 and the Penal Code, or any special law which may hereafter be extended to the Khasi and Jynteah Hills. Misconduct on the part of rural police is punishable by fine, which may extend to Rs. 500, or by imprisonment to an extent which would be awardable under the Penal Code for a like offence. Imprisonment may be awarded in lieu of fine, but only by the Deputy Commissioner or other officers duly authorized.

5. An appeal lies from all orders of sirdars, dollois, and other chief village authorities in police matters to the Deputy Commissioner, whose orders are final. But the Commissioner may call for the proceedings and modify or reverse any order should he think fit.

6. The ordinary rules of the Bengal police shall, as far as they are applicable, be observed by the regular police; and all returns in matters of account, and all registers required to be kept by the Bengal police, as far as they are applicable, shall be made and kept up.

The Commissioner shall exercise the powers of an Inspector-General of Police as defined by section 3, Act VII (B. C.) of 1869: the Deputy Commissioner shall exercise the powers of District Superintendent of Police: the Assistant or Extra Assistant Commissioner the power of Assistant Superintendent of Police.

7. The regular police shall only act, when required to do so, by general or special order of the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, or other officer duly authorized, who may assign to the force any portion of the duties of police, under Act V of 1861, in any locality.

8. The ordinary duties of police shall be discharged by the sirdars and dollois, and other village authorities duly authorized by the Deputy Commissioner. They shall arrest all criminals, and repress all disorders within their respective jurisdictions

9. If a crime beyond his cognizance has been committed, he will immediately report it to the Deputy Commissioner or other duly authorized officer, whether the offender has been apprehended or not.

apprehend an offender fleeing beyond their jurisdiction, and arrest him; but ordinarily no sirdar, dolloi, or village authority shall attempt to arrest an offender beyond his own jurisdiction without the cognizance and co-operation of the sirdar, dolloi, or chief village authority of the village to which the offender has fled. When an offender is traced from one village to another, it will be sufficient to point him out to the sirdar, dolloi, or other competent authority of the village to which the offender has fled, and request him to make the arrest.

13. When the sirdars, dollois, or other chief village authorities feel unable to arrest an offender, they must apply to the Deputy Commissioner, or any officer duly authorized, to grant them the aid of the regular police

14. The sirdars, dollois, and other chief village authorities are empowered to arrest or cause to be arrested, and may also fine, all drunkards and other disorderly persons found brawling out of their houses, and all persons found gambling; the fine not to exceed that awardable under their powers in criminal matters as hereinafter defined.

15. All the inhabitants of the Khasi and Jynteah Hills are bound to aid the regular police and village authorities, when required to do so, in the maintenance of order or the apprehension of offenders. Any person failing to do so is liable to fine; the fine to be adjudged by the sirdar, dolloi, or other chief village authority, to the extent he is empowered to award in criminal cases, or by the Deputy Commissioner, if fine beyond the amount the village authorities are authorized to impose is considered necessary. When the particular persons blameable for failure to aid in any community cannot be ascertained, the sirdar, dolloi, or chief village authority shall be considered responsible; and if it appears that the community is to blame, and that particular offenders cannot be discovered, a fine may be imposed upon the community, but by the Deputy Commissioner only.

III.—CRIMINAL JUSTICE.

16. Criminal justice shall be ordinarily administered by the Deputy Commissioner, his assistants, and by the sirdars, dollois, and other chief village authorities of the different communities.

Assistant Commissioners shall exercise such powers as they may be invested with by the Commissioner, not exceeding those of a Magistrate of the first class as defined in Act X of 1872.

18. Any sirdar, dolloi, or other chief village authority may be empowered by the Deputy Commissioner to dispose of cases of persons charged with any of the following offences:—

Injury to property not exceeding Rs. 50.
Injury to person not affecting life or limb.

They may impose a fine for any offence they are competent to try to the extent of Rs. 50. 19 Sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognized village authorities may carry out their decision, or order attachment of property as soon as judgment is pronounced; but in no case is property so attached to be sold, if the party convicted claim to appeal within eight days, without the orders of Deputy Commissioner.

(a.) Sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognized village authorities may not decide in cases where their father, mother, son, daughter, wife, or the children, husbands, or wives, of any of these are concerned; or

(b.)—Where the defendant is not a native of the Khasi and Jynteah Hills, or is not resident within their jurisdiction; or

(c.)—When the offence is one against the State, or has caused death or danger of life, or amounts to robbery or theft, or concerns counterfeiting of coin or the making of fraudulent documents, or the like.

20. The sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities shall not decide any cases save in open durbar in presence of at least three witnesses and the complainant and accused, whose attendance they are empowered to compel. Either party may appeal from the decision at the time decision is pronounced, or within eight days thereof, to the Deputy Commissioner or his assistant, in which case the sirdar or dolloi, or other duly recognised authority, shall take the parties, or cause them to be sent, before the Deputy Commissioner or his assistant, with one of the persons required to attend as a court witness. The case shall then be tried de novo.

21. An appeal lies from the Assistant Commissioner to the Deputy Commissioner if preferred within sixteen days.

22 No appeal shall lie as a matter of right from the sentence of the Deputy Commissioner involving sentence of less than three years' imprisonment; but it is competent to the Commissioner to call for the record of any case whatever, and to modify or reverse the decision passed. All sentences of three years' imprisonment and upwards are appealable to the Commissioner. Appeals to the Commissioner must be preferred within thirty-two days. All sentences above seven years must be confirmed by the Commissioner, whose decision is final; but the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor reserves to himself the prerogative of reviewing the proceedings of the Commissioner and his subordinates, and passing such orders on them as he may deem fit.

23. The procedure of the Deputy Commissioner and his assistant shall be in the spirit of the Code of Criminal Procedure, as far as it is applicable to the circumstances of the district and consistent with these rules. The chief exceptions are—

(a.)—Only verbal order or notice of summons, &c, shall be requisite, except when the regular police are employed, or the person concerned is not resident or in the district at the time, or if in the district but resident beyond it, where his place of abode is not known. But orders of summons shall be for a fixed day, not exceeding sixteen days from that upon which the order is issued, and the order shall be made known to the person affected, or to some adult member of his family, or proclaimed at the place he was last known to be at in sufficient time to allow him if he see fit to appear.

(b.)—A note of the substance of all the proceedings in cases tried before them must be kept by the Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioners in the form prescribed by section 228, Act X of 1872. In cases requiring a sentence of three years or upwards a full note of the evidence and proceedings must be kept. Examinations and proceedings shall generally be recorded in English only.

(c.)—The proceedings of sirdars and dollois or other recognized village authorities need not be in writing. But if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

(d.)—All fines levied by the sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner, or other officer empowered to receive them, within eight days from the date of realization. The Deputy Commissioner is authorized to pay to those village authorities who give him satisfaction such small stipends as he may think desirable, provided that the total amount so disbursed shall not exceed the sum of the fines realized by all village authorities during the year.

(e.)—It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

24. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall keep the registers hereafter specified, and make returns of copies of the entries therein monthly to the Commissioner.

Register of crimes committed.

Register of criminal cases decided by Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner.

Register of fines levied by Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner, and sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities.

IV.—CIVIL RULES.

25. The administration of civil justice in the Khasi and Jynteah Hills is entrusted to the Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner, his assistants, sirdars, and dollois, and other chief village authorities.

26. Sirdars and dollois and other chief village authorities may be recognised by the Deputy Commissioner by sunnud under his signature as competent to try cases without limit as to amount, but with the following reservations :—

(a.)—They may not try suits in which their fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, uncles, aunts, sisters, brothers, the children of the foregoing, their wives or persons in the above relation to a wife, or any near relative are parties, nor suits in which a native of the plains or native of another sirdarship or dolloiship not resident in their jurisdiction are parties.

(b.)—All suits must be decided in open durbar in the presence of the parties and at least three respectable witnesses.

27. Sirdars and dollois and other duly recognised village authorities have power to compel attendance of parties to any suit and their witnesses, all such persons being resident within their own jurisdiction, and to fine within the limit of Rs. 50 persons wilfully failing to attend. They have power to award all costs, also compensation to defendants for unfounded or vexatious suits brought against them.

28. All proceedings shall be vivâ voce, and the sirdars and dollois or other duly recognised village authorities shall not be called upon to make either record or registry of their decision. After hearing both parties and their witnesses, if any, they shall with or without the opinion of assessors, as they think fit, pronounce a decision forthwith. But if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

29. Sirdars or dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities may carry out their decisions at once, and order attachment of property to be made; but in no case is property so attached to be sold if the party cast claim to appeal within eight days. On such appeal being made, they shall send the parties and their witnesses to the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner forthwith, or as soon as may be, and either accompany them or send one respectable person who has been present at the trial with them.

30. All notices given by sirdars and dollois or other duly recognised village authorities to parties or witnesses shall be verbal, and for a fixed day not exceeding eight days from the day it is given. If a case be postponed it shall be fixed for a day not exceeding eight days from the order, and the case may be subsequently adjourned for periods not exceeding eight days on good cause shown.

31. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall not ordinarily hear suits triable by sirdars and dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities; but they have a discretion to do so when they think right; and suits which under these rules the village authorities cannot try, must be tried by the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner. A register of all suits tried by the Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall be kept in such form as the Commissioner shall direct.

32. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall, in all cases in which the parties are indigenous inhabitants of the hills, endeavour to induce them to submit their case to a punchayet. If they agree to this, each party shall name an equal number of arbitrators, and shall choose, or leave the arbitrators to choose, an umpire. The name and residence of arbitrators and umpire, and the matter in dispute, must be recorded before the proceedings commence, and the court will direct the sirdar or dolloi or other recognised authority to assemble the punchayet and witnesses within eight days. When the case has been decided, the umpire shall appear with the parties before the court, which shall proceed to record the decision and enforce it as its own. From such decision there shall be no appeal.

33. An appeal shall lie from the decision of the sirdar or dolloi or other duly recognised village authority to the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commssioner. A record will be made of the matter in dispute and the decision of the village authority. If necessary, the court shall examine the parties; and if the decision appears to be just, will affirm and enforce it as one of its own. If the court sees reason to doubt the justice of the decision, it will try the case de novo or refer it to a punchayet as above.

34. Houses, needful clothing, cooking utensils, or implements whereby the owner subsists, shall not be attached, sold, or transferred in execution of decree, unless themselves the subject of the suit.

35. There shall be no imprisonment for debt, excepting in cases where the Deputy Commissioner is satisfied that fraudulent disposal or concealment of property has taken place; in such cases the debtor may be detained for a period not exceeding six months.

36. No appeal shall lie as of right from decisions of an Assistant Commissioner to the Deputy Commissioner, except as hereinafter provided; but the Deputy Commissioner if he see fit may call for the proceedings of any case decided by his assistant, and the Commissioner may, upon application made or otherwise, call for the proceedings of either of the lower courts and revise them; provided that persons resident beyond the Khasi and Jynteah Hills may appeal to the Commissioner within thirty-two days from the date of decision. The appeal shall be accompanied by a copy of the judgment appealed against and a clear statement of the grounds of appeal. The appeal may be presented to the Deputy Commissioner, who shall, if it be in order and presented in due time, endorse upon it the date of receipt, and transmit it with the proceedings in the suit to the Commissioner, who, after perusal of the petition of appeal and judgment, and after hearing the agent of the appellant, if any, may dismiss the appeal, or may remit the case to the lower court for the record of further evidence, or for re-trial on fresh issues, or receive the case for hearing before his own court to be held in the Khasi Hills, and shall confirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the lower court, passing such orders as to costs as may appear just. The decree of the appellate court shall be transferred to the court of the Deputy Commissioner for execution as a decree of its own.

37. The Courts of the Commissioner, Deputy and Assistant Commissioners, shall be guided by the spirit, but not bound by the letter, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

38. No professional pleader or mooktear shall be allowed to appear in any case, except in cases before the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioners, with the special permission of the judge trying the case, or if the defendant reside beyond the jurisdiction of the court; but relations may appear for persons incapacitated by age, sex, or sickness.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th July 1872, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon in a month :—

No. 13 OF 1872.

A Bill to facilitate the admission of Native Military Lunatics into Asylums.

WHEREAS it is expedient to facilitate the admission of Native Military Lunatics into Asylums; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Preamble.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Sepoy Lunatics Act, 1872 :"

Local extent.

It extends to the whole of British India;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Report of insanity of Native officer or soldier.

2. Whenever any Native officer, non-commissioned officer or soldier appears to be insane, the officer commanding the regiment or detachment to which he belongs shall report the case to the general officer commanding the division or district.

Examination of Native.

3. Such general officer shall thereupon cause the said Native to be examined by a committee composed of at least two medical officers, or (if this be impracticable) by a regimental committee of which the officer commanding the wing or squadron to which the Native belongs, and the medical officer in charge of the corps or detachment, shall be members.

Order for reception in Asylum.

4. If the said committee or regimental committee (as the case may be) are satisfied that the Native is insane, the officer commanding the division or district may make an order under his hand, for the reception of the said Native into a Lunatic Asylum, and shall send him thither under military escort; and the officer in charge of such Asylum shall receive the Native into the Asylum and detain him therein until he is discharged therefrom in accordance with the local military regulations in force for the time being.

Reception and detention in Asylum.

Expenses of lunatic.

5. The pay-master of the military circle within which any such Asylum is situate shall pay to the officer in charge of such Asylum the expense of the lodging, maintenance, clothing and medicine of every Native so received and detained.

Legalization of past admissions of Native lunatic officers and soldiers.

6. All Native officers, non-commissioned officers or soldiers heretofore received into Lunatic Asylums shall be deemed to have been so received in accordance with law.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE primary object of this Bill is to facilitate the admission of Native Military Lunatics into Asylums.

Some time ago it was brought to notice that the provisions of clauses 7 to 10 in section forty-one of the Bengal Military Regulations were not in accordance with Act XXXVI of 1858 (relating to Lunatic Asylums).

By the Military Regulations, which had been in force for very many years, Native soldiers, on being declared insane by a Medical Committee, are sent by order of the General Officer commanding the Division to the Lunatic Asylum nearest to their homes; but by section eight of the Act of 1858 Superintendents of Lunatic Asylums are prohibited from receiving any patient except under an order from the Civil Court.

In consequence of this conflict between the Military Regulations and the law, great inconvenience has arisen, and, after reference to the Home Department and to His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, it has been deemed desirable to authorise the Superintendents or Officers in charge of Lunatic Asylums to receive for treatment any Native soldier sent by competent military authority acting on the opinion of a Board of Medical Officers. Much difficulty will thus be avoided, and it will be possible to continue to send an insane Native soldier to the Asylum nearest to his home—a course which is usually agreeable to his relatives, and probably beneficial to his own health.

The Bill gives effect to these views, and further provides that the expenses of the lunatic in the Asylum may be recovered from the pay-master of the military circle within which it is situated.

[First Publication.]

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 18th July 1872, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon in a month:—

No. 14 OF 1872.

A Bill to amend the definition of 'Coin' contained in the Indian Penal Code.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the definition of 'coin' contained in the Indian Penal Code, section two hundred and thirty; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

1. For the first paragraph of the said section the following shall be substituted:

Amendment of section 230, Act XLV of 1860.

"230. Coin is metal used for the time being as money, and stamped and issued by the authority of some State or Sovereign Power in order to be so used."

'Coin' defined.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE primary object of this Bill is to check the practice of counterfeiting the copper coin of Native States. These counterfeits are freely circulated in parts of British India, and the result is stated to be injurious to our currency. The Penal Code prohibits the counterfeiting of coin. But 'coin' is defined as 'metal stamped and issued by the authority of some Government,' and 'Government,' by section 17, denotes "the person or persons authorized by law to administer executive Government in any part of British India." It has thus happened, accidentally no doubt, that the coin of Native States is not coin within the meaning of the Act. This defect it is desired to amend.

The opportunity has been taken to make another amendment. Section 230 of the Code defines coin as metal 'used' as money. It has been suggested that the definition may possibly be held to include old coin, such as a Græco-Bactrian stater, formerly used as money, but now regarded only as a curiosity. The Bill, therefore, proposes to introduce before 'used' the words 'for the time being.'

Fever Relief Operations in the Hooghly District.

No. 395, dated Burdwan, the 18th July 1872.

From—A. ABERCROMBIE, ESQ., Officiating Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.
To—The Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Judicial Department.

IN continuation of this office letter No. 367, dated the 6th instant, I have the honor to submit copies of reports No. 284, dated the 8th ultimo, and No. 342, dated the 11th current, from the Magistrate of Hooghly, reporting on the fever relief operations in his district. The epidemic fever first broke out in this district in the sub-division of Jehanabad, in which it prevailed with more or less violence since 1869. In the early part of 1871, when the relief operations in the districts of Burdwan and Hooghly were closed, the fever in the sub-division of Jehanabad had much abated, though at Jehanabad itself it still prevailed and necessitated the continuance of the itinerant dispensary and the employment of an extra native doctor at the station,—vide report from this office, No. 89, dated the 10th April 1871.

2. Towards the end of July the Magistrate reported that the fever in the sub-division had increased, and on the 14th August the entertainment of a compounder at Rs. 10 per mensem was sanctioned from this office for deputation to the village of Boigoo The Magistrate was also requested by Mr. Buckland to desire the Civil Surgeon to send the report which he had promised to submit after visiting the worst parts of the sub-division. In September the disease had apparently much decreased, and no special medical establishment was entertained during that month; but in November last the fever appears to have broken out with great violence in this sub-division as well as in other parts of the district. The disease appears to have prevailed with the greatest virulence during the months of December and January.

The operations in connection with the distribution of food, stimulants, and clothing to the sick poor, were commenced in December after the receipt of the cheque for Rs. 500 applied for in this office No. 363, dated the 14th December last. The statistics of mortality submitted to Government shew that the total number of deaths from fever in this district up to the 31st March last was estimated at 11,020, and that the mortality in the district was heaviest in December. The total amount expended on the special dispensaries is Rs. 2,948-12-4 up to May last, but as statements showing the expenditure in both the districts of Burdwan and Hooghly have already been separately submitted to Government with this office letters marginally quoted, I need not here repeat the particulars in connection with the expenditure on account of food and medical relief in this district.

3. The Magistrate, in his account of the dispensaries, has omitted to notice the dispensaries at Singhoor and Kishtonuggur, two dispensaries which were opened from the epidemic relief fund in the sub division of Serampore. The native doctors attached to these dispensaries were deputed with medicines in December last, when the first outbreak of sickness was reported in the sub-division. The dispensary at Singhoor was closed some time ago, that at Kishtonuggur is still kept on.

4 The dispensary at Chandoor was opened in consequence of the people in its neighbourhood having had to resort to the dispensary at Eklokee, which is in the district of Burdwan. The conduct of the native doctors and others in charge of the special dispensaries seems generally to have been satisfactory, but the man in charge of this dispensary, Raj Coomar Bose, was relieved by native doctor Bhuggobutty Churn Doss, in consequence of its having been discovered that the former kept no register of the attendance of patients at the Chandoor dispensary, and that the returns submitted by him were filled up by guess. I have requested the Magistrate to report if any improvement has taken place in the management of the dispensary since the arrival of the new native doctor.

5 It will be seen that the reports submitted by the Magistrate contain the suggestions which he has to offer for the conduct of operations for the relief of the sick and needy during the coming season. Before offering any remarks on the proposals of the Magistrate, I have thought fit to consult the Magistrate of Burdwan, as it is in the present jurisdiction of that officer that the majority of the proposed new dispensaries are situated. On receipt of the reply from Burdwan I shall again address the Government on the subject.

No. 284, dated Hooghly, the 8th June 1872.
From—F H. Pellew, Esq., Offg. Magistrate of Hooghly.
To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

In reply to your letter No. 268, dated the 21st instant, forwarding copy of Government order No. 2039, dated the 13th June, I have the honor to submit a concise report on fever in the district of Hooghly from the time of its outbreak at the close of the rainy season of 1871 up to date.

2. In the beginning of November 1871 fever was reported as having broken out in thannahs Hooghly, Bansbariah, Bullagur, Dhaneakhally, Hurripal, Kishtonuggur, Bydebatty, Jehanabad, and Goghat. It also appeared but less violently in thannahs Pandooah, Ghattal, and Chundercona; particularly in the neighbourhood of Khirpoy. At that time the following dispensaries were in existence in the district:—

1.	Jehanabad	In Jehanabad sub-division.
2.	Ghattal
3.	Ooterpaiah	In Serampore sub-division.
4.	Serampore
5.	Bassooree
6.	Bydebatty
7.	Hooghly	In the Sudder sub-division.
8.	Sootangacha
9	Dwarbasine

3. The following special dispensaries were at once established at a monthly cost as noted opposite to each:—

Bullagur ...	Rs. 65	In the Sudder sub-division.
Dhaneakhally ..	„ 65
British Chundernagor	„ 65
Bally	„ 65	In the Jehanabad sub-division.
Chunderconah ...	„ 65
Singhoor ...	„ 28	In the Serampore sub-division.
Kishtonuggur ...	„ 28

4. The sums placed opposite to each are the amounts originally submitted for sanction by the Civil Surgeon of Hooghly for the dispensaries in the Jehanabad and Sudder sub-divisions, and by the medical officer at Serampore for those in the Serampore sub-division respectively. Subsequently, by reducing the travelling allowance of the native doctors in the former sub-divisions from Rs. 20 to Rs. 10 per mensem, the cost of those dispensaries has been reduced to Rs. 55 per mensem, and by adding a sum of Rs. 10 for contingencies and Rs. 10 for travelling allowance in the Serampore sub-division (inadvertently omitted from his estimate by the medical officer at Serampore) a monthly expenditure of Rs. 48 for those dispensaries has been submitted for sanction.

5. As a temporary measure also, in consideration of the urgency of the case, the Sub-Assistant Surgeon of the Jehanabad dispensary made over charge of that institution to the lock-up native doctor, and with a compounder on Rs. 10 per mensem established an itinerant dispensary for the relief of people in the villages round Jehanabad station.

6. In the month of December 1871 fever was still raging in thannah Kishtonuggur, part of thannahs Bydebatty and Hurripal in Serampore sub-division, and in thannahs Jehanabad and Goghat of the Jehanabad sub-division, also in thannah Dhaneakhally of the Sudder sub-division. It had, however, been somewhat reduced in violence, and in the remaining thannahs of the district had almost ceased.

7. Since the month of December, the fever, whilst ceasing everywhere else, has tenaciously held its ground in two principal localities: one, the centre of the tract which lies between the Hooghly and Damoodar rivers, extending from Dhaneakhally and Hasnan to Kishtonuggur and Juggutbullubpore, and the other the tract of country on both sides of the Darkessur river, which borders on Burdwan.

8. The dispensaries at Chundernagor and Bullagur were consequently abolished under Government orders No 978 of the 9th March, copy of which was forwarded with your No. 133 of the 16th idem, and at the same time the Sub-Assistant Surgeon of Jehanabad resumed charge of the dispensary there, closing the itinerant dispensary; but on the other hand it was found necessary to open a dispensary at Hasnan, in Dhaneakhally, under orders conveyed in your No. 234, dated 30th April 1872, and at Khanacool, in Jehanabad, under orders contained in your No. 978, dated 9th March, and this dispensary was afterwards transferred to Myapore, as reported in my No 159, dated 2nd April 1872.

9. Subsequently, in consequence of the closing of the itenerant dispensary, it was found that the people to the north of the Jehanabad and Goghat thannahs had not sufficient medical assistance, and under orders conveyed in your No. 264, dated 17th instant, a dispensary was opened at Chundoor. Subsequently also by the liberality of Baboo Nilcomul Mitter of Allahabad a dispensary has been opened at Bundipore, in thannah Hurripal, as per Government orders No. 1632, dated 18th April 1872.

10. Lately fever has broken out at Badinan, in pergunnah Chowmoha, in thannah Hooghly. A native doctor has been deputed there with a sufficient supply of medicines. The establishment will cost Rs. 55, as shown below:—

	Rs.
1 Native Doctor	25
1 Compounder	10
Contingencies	10
Travelling allowance	10
Total ...	55

This special dispensary is under the management of Dr. Thompson.

11. At the same time a careful inquiry was made into the account of sickness still existing in the more out-of-the-way villages in Jehanabad and Goghat, the results of which are now before me, and the proposals based on these inquiries I shall give at the end of this report

12. For relief purposes the following sums were disbursed:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
The Civil Surgeon of Hooghly was paid	628	7	6
Medical Officer of Serampore	250	0	0
Deputy Magistrate of Jehanabad	50	0	0
Sub-Assistant Surgeon of Jehanabad	100	0	0
Miscellaneous charges	27	10	9

	Rs.	As.	P.
Civil Surgeon of Hooghly	428	7	6
Miscellaneous	27	10	9

13. I now proceed to state what measures I think necessary for the conduct of operations for the relief of the sick and needy during the coming season.

14. In the first place, I wish to open four new dispensaries, one at Bakurpore, 8 miles north-east of Myapore in the north-east of Jehanabad; one at Koergunge in the north of Goghat; one at Goghat itself; and one at Ramjibunpore in the north of Chunderconah on the borders of Goghat. The sick from the neighbourhood of these places are compelled at present to resort to Bally, Jehanabad or Eklokee for treatment, and these places are somewhat distant. The Police, the Civil Surgeon, and the Deputy Magistrate all agree as to the advisability of establishing these dispenaries.

15. Next, I wish that a Sub-Assistant Surgeon may be placed in charge of all the dispensaries beyond the Damoodar to supervise the native doctors and superintend relief operations for the submission of accounts of which he should be responsible.

16. I do not now propose that another Sub-Assistant Surgeon should be appointed for the country on this side of the Damoodar, as at present the number of special dispensaries is not so great; but I think it may become necessary to propose this hereafter if fever increases.

17. The Civil Surgeon and Sub-divisional Officer both recommend the appointment of a Sub-Assistant Surgeon in the Jehanabad sub-division, as above proposed.

18. I also beg to propose that all the dispensaries in the district be placed under the charge of the Civil Surgeon of the district, Dr Thompson. At present two of them are in charge of the medical officer at Serampore, who from want of local experience and local influence has found difficulties in procuring native doctors of good character. Dr. Thompson, from his long experience in this district, his acquaintance with the character of the resident native practitioners, his thorough knowledge of the geography and physical characteristics of the district, and the confidence reposed in him by the native zemindars and others, has peculiar advantages of which he makes the most. He is willing to undertake the extra responsibility, and I trust this proposal may be sanctioned.

19. I wish here to record my sense of the services rendered by the Civil Surgeons at Hooghly and Serampore, especially the former in superintending dispensaries and personally visiting sick localities Dr. Thompson has already received the thanks of Government on several occasions; but I can hardly state here adequately the advantage I receive from having an officer by me on whose judgment I can implicitly rely.

F. H. PELLEW,
Offg. Magistrate.

No. 342, dated Hooghly, the 11th July 1872.

From—F. H. PELLEW, Esq., Officiating Magistrate of Hooghly.

To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

IN reply to your letter No. 298 of the 14th ultimo, calling for further particulars in regard to the special dispensaries established in the fever-stricken villages in this district, I have the honor to submit herewith an abstract of the operations of each dispensary and other particulars required by you.

2. Bullagur Dispensary.—This dispensary was opened on the 8th November 1871, and was placed in charge of Native Doctor Abdool Abad, who worked as a native doctor attached to the Chinsurah Lock-Hospital. This dispensary worked in a satisfactory manner. The native doctor's conduct was good. On the decrease of sickness the dispensary was closed on the 29th February 1872.

3. British Chundernagor Dispensary.—This dispensary was opened on the 8th November 1871, and was placed in charge of Native Doctor Protab Chunder Dass. He is a locally-entertained man, brought up by private tuition, can read and write English fairly, and had served as native doctor at the Chinsurah Anno Chattra Dispensary in 1866, and at Dhaneakhally special dispensary in 1869-70. The Civil Surgeon had frequent opportunities of visiting this institution, and he had every reason to be satisfied with his conduct and qualifications. The dispensary was closed, as the fever abated, on the 19th February 1872.

4. The Sub-Assistant Surgeon and Native Doctor attended to the Hooghly Imambarrah Hospital; were also actively employed in visiting villages in and around the sudder station, giving medicines and medical comforts to the sick at their homes.

5. Dr. Thompson personally visited not only villages, but went into the homesteads of the people of all classes, and encouraged them to show their sick, enquired into their wants, and gave them clothing and nourishment with his own hand. The Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, and the Sanitary Commissioner, Dr. Payne, who visited this station, accompanied him on his rounds, inquiring into the cause of the fever; the people expressed themselves quite satisfied, and felt grateful for the benefit they enjoyed.

6. Dhaneakhally Dispensary.—This dispensary was opened on the 7th November 1871, in charge of Kristo Kissore Gangooly, a locally-entertained native doctor, who has certificates of previous good service in an epidemic hospital under Dr. Macnamara, and had charge of the Khanacool dispensary in this district during 1869-70. The native doctor is an intelligent young man and understands his work well.

7. Bally Dispensary.—This dispensary was opened in December 1871, and placed in charge of Native Doctor Bhola Nath Chatterjee, who has served with credit for many years as head compounder attached to the Hooghly Imambarrah Hospital. The native doctor is a painstaking young man, and has served with great zeal and energy so as to merit the approbation of the Civil Surgeon and myself. The dispensary is still in existence.

8. This dispensary was opened on the 5th January 1872. Native Doctor Juggut Chunder Goopto had charge of it. He was brought up in the Bengalee class of the Calcutta Medical College, and was a private practitioner at Barrackpore. The sickness around this locality having greatly decreased the dispensary was transferred to Khanacool and subsequently to Myapore. The native doctor fell dangerously ill and was obliged to come away, leaving the dispensary in charge of the compounder in the middle of May last; the compounder conducted the duties during a short period satisfactorily. Native Doctor Essan Chunder Banerjee was sent out to take charge of the dispensary in June last.

Chundercouah Dispensary.
Khanacool ditto.
Myapore ditto.

9. The Jehanabad itinerant dispensary was in charge of the Sub-Assistant Surgeon of Jehanabad, Proumber Nath Mitter, who moved from village to village with medicines and distributed to the sick who could not move from their houses at villages around Jehanabad subdivision. The Sub-Assistant Surgeon conducted his duties to the satisfaction of the Civil Surgeon. This itinerant dispensary was closed on the 14th March 1872 on the sickness abating.

10. This dispensary was opened on the 8th April 1872 and placed in charge of Native Doctor Raj Coomar Bose. The working of this dispensary, I regret to say, has not at all been satisfactory, and the returns submitted by the native doctor are far from trustworthy. Locally-entertained Native Doctor Bhuggobutty Churn Doss was sent out to relieve Native Doctor Raj Coomar Bose.

Chandoor Dispensary.

11. This dispensary was opened on the 15th April 1872 in charge of locally-entertained Native Doctor Aughore Nath Bose. He was formerly attached to the Hooghly Imambarrah Hospital, and served as a native doctor on special duty. He is a hardworking man and well-up to his work. The sickness in the locality has not as yet decreased; it is therefore proposed to continue it.

Hasnan Dispensary.

12. This dispensary was opened on the 1st June 1872 in charge of Native Doctor Protab Chunder Doss, lately attached to the British Chundernagor Dispensary. The native doctor reported that large number of people had enlargement of the spleen, others had dropsical extremities.

Badinan Dispensary.

13. A native doctor was also attached to my camp on tour of inspection through the district on two occasions. He was well supplied with medicines, and many patients took their medicines from the native doctors in the immediate vicinity of my tent, as reported in my letter No. 342, dated the 16th December 1871.

Extract from the Commissioner's General Report for 1871.

Para. 17. Hooghly.—In Hooghly the state of the public health was very unsatisfactory. When the epidemic fever first visited this district, it attacked many large villages in the east of the district with excessive violence, which gradually abated, and after several years those villages were left with their population much reduced, and many of the survivors a prey to chronic attack; but the mortality had almost ceased. The epidemic gradually spread westward, but still preserved the same characteristics.

18. In 1869 and 1870 Myapore, Jehanabad, Hat Bussuntpore, and a few other large villages in the north-west, were attacked by the fever. The mortality in these places was very great. It was hoped, however, that the fever having crossed the district from east to west, would leave this part of the country and die out.

19. Last year the fever appeared in a slightly milder form, but still of a wasting and mortal character. At the end of September it spread all over the district, and though it speedily diminished after the setting in of the cold weather in many parts, it has tenaciously held its ground in two principal localities,—one, the centre of the tract which lies between the Hooghly and Damoodar rivers, extending from Dhaneakhally to Kishtonuggur and Juggutbullubpore, and the other, the tract of country on both sides of the Dwarkessur river, which borders on Burdwan.

20. These two tracts differ much from each other in their physical characteristics: the former is a somewhat low country, traversed by sluggish and partially closed rivers affording very bad water; the latter is an open sandy tract, traversed by a fine river of good water running in a sandy bed. Throughout these two tracts every village has a few cases (from 5 to 20) of fever; the deaths are few in each village, but very numerous over the whole affected tract: and owing to the scattered nature of the visitation, and its mild character, compared with the very deadly character of the fever in former years, it is difficult to provide medical aid to the sufferers without incurring an almost inpracticable expenditure. This difficulty has partly been met by making the native doctors in charge of dispensaries more or less peripatetic. At the same time great care is taken that the dispensaries are located as much as possible in the centre of the affected tracts.

21. The Magistrate remarks that the labouring classes have chiefly suffered of late years. In many villages the survivors are almost destitute; old men and old women, whose families have all died, have been met with on several occasions by him. As a rule, however, there is nothing like starvation, and the funds provided for relief purposes have been ample to meet all the cases which have come to notice. Private charity is largely practised, and no man need die for want of food who has strength to go and ask for it, or who has relations whom he can send for the purpose. The sickness has told on the excise revenue, and is also shown in relinquishments of land by cultivators. Zemindars in Jehanabad have assured the Magistrate that they have paid more money as Government revenue than they have collected from their ryots, and he has noticed many fields of rice lying ungathered because there were no reapers.

Resolution by the Government of Bengal, dated Calcutta, the 30th July 1872.

READ—

Letter No. 395, dated 18th July 1872, from the Officiating Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, submitting, with remarks, reports on the fever relief operations in the Hooghly District.

Also—

Extract (paragraphs 17 to 21) of letter No 350, dated 2nd July 1872, from the Commissioner of Burdwan, forwarding the Annual General Report of the Burdwan Division for 1871.

The ravages of the fever in Hooghly have never been so wide spread as in Burdwan, though the sickness has here also been very serious.

2. It is noticed that the epidemic, at its first visitation, attacked many large villages in the east of the district with excessive violence, but subsided in those parts as it spread onwards to fresh villages to the west. The fact that it raged with equal violence in tracts of perfectly distinct physical characteristics, throws much perplexity over the problem of its real cause and origin. Of the two principal localities in which the disease is said to have held its ground, one is a tract of low country traversed by sluggish and partially closed rivers, affording very bad water; the other is an open sandy tract, traversed by a fine river of good water running in a sandy bed. These facts seem to suggest that the disease is not in the soil or in the water, but in some way unknown marches from place to place, not sparing localities least open to sanitary objections.

3. It is gratifying to learn that private charity is largely practised in this district, and that none need die from want of food. The effect of the fever is, however, manifest in the statement that many rice-fields remain ungathered for want of reapers.

4. As most of the badly affected villages will, under recent changes, be transferred to the Burdwan district, the Lieutenant-Governor will await the Commissioner's further report before passing orders on the proposals of Mr. Pellew, the Magistrate of Hooghly, in regard to the future arrangements for conducting the relief operations in the district.

5. At present the whole burden of supplying medical aid and medicines falls upon the provincial funds, no charges save those for food relief being debited to the charitable funds raised by subscription. The burden upon the local Government is very heavy, and one which cannot probably be much longer sustained; but, as remarked in connection with the Burdwan report, no money considerations will induce the Lieutenant-Governor to withdraw any aid which is shown to be really required.

6. The acknowledgments of Government are again due to Dr. R. F. Thompson, the Civil Surgeon, also to Dr. J. A. Greene, Medical Officer of Serampore, for the very efficient services rendered by them in this district during the late epidemic.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of the report and of the extract referred to, with this resolution, be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, and to the Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Medical Department (with a copy of the papers referred to) for information.

Dengue fever very prevalent. A number of persons in the town of English Bazar and Government offices attacked with it.
	12	Rajshahye ...	„ 27th	1·03	Cloudy and sultry, with local showers and south-east winds. The weather has so far been good for silk-worms, which are thriving.	Mulberry, jute, and sugar-cane, are doing well. The standing paddy plants are showing signs of suffering from want of rain.
	13	Rungpore ...	„ 27th	·79	Rain fell heavily during two days in the week for a short time. At the subdivisional headquarters of Bhowanigunge 1·13 inches of rain fell.	The ous dhan is doing well, but more rain is required for the amun. Indigo is being cut.
	14	Bograh ...	„ 27th	1·12	Frequent small showers of rain, which fell on five days during the week. Weather alternately cloudy and sunny; the latter preponderating.	The rainfall throughout the district has been insufficient, and the rivers are unusually low. The ous crop will not be a large one, and the amun or main crop is beginning to be injured. Jute is also the worse for want of more rain.
	15	Pubna ...	.....	.....	.....	.....	Return not received.
Cooch Behar Division.	16	Darjeeling ...	„ 27th	2·26	Rainfall scanty ...	Satisfactory ...	Cholera still continues in the district. It has appeared in a new quarter in the hills, viz. westward at Singtam and Chungtong.
	17	Julpigoree ...	„ 27th	1·60	Cloudy and comparatively cool. Rainfall most unusually deficient.	The general outturn of bhadoi crop is put at 12 annas. Hymunti dhan not taking root favorably owing to want of rain. So far nothing has happened to this crop, which rain falling soon and in sufficient quantity will not rectify, but the unusual want of rain is causing apprehension, and rice, as usual under such circumstances, is rising in price.	Cholera disappearing, but much fever general over the district.
		Cooch Behar ...	„ 27th	·42	Fine. Not so hot as last week.	Transplanting of dhan in the high grounds is delayed for want of rain. Prospects are quite uncertain at present.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.

	Eastern Districts.	1872.
Dacca Division.
18	Dacca ...	July 30th*	5·50	Rainy and cloudy Heavy rain fell on Sunday.	Good. Rivers, if anything, rather lower.
19	Furreedpore ...	„ 27th	1·62	Drizzling rain four days in the week; continuous sunshine during the remaining days; weather sultry.	There has not as yet been any heavy fall of rain, and the cultivators apprehend a partial failure of the crops.
20	Backergunge ...	„ 20th	2·76	Seasonable, there having been a good deal of rain all over the district.	Favorable; the sowings have been nearly completed.
21	Mymensing ...	„ 20th	1·49	Cloudy, with occasional showers, but no heavy or continuous rain. The river has fallen during the week.	The scanty rainfall has thus far done no harm to the crops, but rain is now much wanted for transplanting the rice seedlings, and a continuance of dry weather will do much injury.
22	Sylhet ..	„ 20th	7·76	Hot but not oppressive. For half the week there has been steady rain every day about 3 A.M., which has lasted till 10 A.M. On Sunday morning, about 2 A.M., there was a severe thunderstorm. Max. temperature of week 90·5° Minimum ditto 75° Range ... 15° Mean of all the highest readings ... 86·9° Ditto lowest ditto ... 76·5° Approximate mean of the week ... 81·7°	More rain wanted in the district for the amun crop. From accounts received, it is believed that the rainfall has not been equally heavy all over the district. Twelve annas of the domashilous crop cut; chengrious just commenced to be cut.
23	Cachar ..	„ 20th	4·02	There were many hot dry days during the week, but a fair amount of rain fell.	Everywhere ploughing is going on for the sail crop. Continued rain is much wanted. Tea doing very well.
Chittagong Division.
24	Chittagong ...	„ 20th	5·10	Showery in the northern division. In the south (Cox's Bazar) less rain appears to have fallen.	Favorable at present, but more rain wanted now, especially on the higher levels.
	Chittagong Hill Tracts	„ 20th	5·06	Cloudy. Heavy rain on the 15th; not much wind.	The paddy is thriving well. The cotton has begun to flower here and there.
25	Noakhally ...	„ 20th	1·98	Weather for the most part fair, with occasional showers.	Ous crop is fit for reaping. Amun crops progressing favorably. One or two heavy showers will do good to the crops.
26	Tipperah ...	„ 20th	2·61	Rainfall not as full as desirable, more especially in the centre of the district. Nearly five inches have however fallen in the north.	The ous crop, where harvested, has yielded a ten to twelve-anna crop. Cutting of the jute crop has been commenced, and a twelve-anna crop is expected. The season is very backward.
	Hill Tipperah ...	„ 20th	3·87	Heavy rain on the 18th; generally cloudy.	The prospects of the paddy crops have been improved by the rainfall. Sowing has fairly commenced.	The health of the district continues to be the same as in last week.

Transplanting of rice is going on.	A good deal of sickness in the city, such as ordinary fever, Dengue, and some cases of cholera, also cholera in different parts of the district, but nowhere has it assumed an epidemic form.
28	Gya ...	„ 27th	0·31	Cloudy, stormy, with little rain; weather excessively hot.	Bhadoi crops are fair. Rice prospects bad. Sowings at a stand-still for want of rain.	Weather unhealthy.
29	Shahabad ...	„ 27th	0·73	Cloudy and variable wind. Passing showers during the week; more rain is much wanted. Thermometer. Maximum ... 95° Minimum ... 74° Barometer. Highest rdng... 29·560 Lowest rdng ... 29·380	The aghani paddy crop is generally backward for want of rain, specially to the south of the district. Bhadoi, sugarcane, and indigo crops promise well.
30	Tirhoot ...	„ 27th	Little rain.	Sultry and cloudy. Little rain fell during the week.	Indigo manufacture is in progress. Rice, marwa, kodo, rahar, and other crops are doing well. Bhadoi crops promising. More rain is wanted in some places for these crops.
31	Sarun ...	„ 27th	1·50	East and west winds. Rain very general except in the west.	The bhadoi crops are coming up well. The manufacture of indigo is going on briskly. The seedlings of "khureef dhan" are being transplanted.
32	Chumparun ...	„ 27th	...	Excessively hot during the whole week.	The bhadoi crops are all thriving well. The transplantation of winter crops has not been commenced for want of rain. The manufacture of indigo is going on steadily.
Bhaugulpore Division. 33	Monghyr ...	„ 27th	2·67	Stormy in the south. Bright fair weather elsewhere, with occasional heavy but partial showers.	In the south, where the weather has been stormy, the crops are in a satisfactory condition. The crops elsewhere are fair, but want more rain.
34	Bhaugulpore ...	„ 30th	1·	Weather very favorable for bhadoi crops. Heavy rain in places south of Ganges.	Bhadoi crops are reported excellent nearly every where. More rain wanted for aghani rice. River unusually low. Mahajuns in north reported keeping back their rice, which is now difficult for poor classes to procure.	Cholera reported in one village. Dengue increasing fast in town.
35	Purneah ...	„ 27th	1·	Rain much wanted.	The transplanting of the aghani crop very backward owing to want of rain.
36	Sonthal Pergunnahs— Rajmehal ...	„ 27th	·92	The weather has been unsettled; threatening dark clouds but only producing showers; no good and seasonable downpour.	The Indian corn is said to be doing well, and the indigo outturn is likely to be good, but from insufficiency of rain planting out of paddy cannot be managed, and much uneasiness is felt. In the north the second dhan seedlings are ready for planting out, the first having been spoiled by insects and drought.
	Deoghur ...	„ 27th	1·92	Cloudy. Rain fell only on Thursday.	There was a good shower on Thursday, which has much benefited the jenera crops. Paddy is being transplanted, but more rain is needed.

BEHAR.—(Contd.)		1872.
Bhaugulpore Division.—(Contd.)	Nya Doomka ..	July 27th	2·5	Unseasonably dry. Rainfall far below the average. Great complaints of drought from all parts.	Dhan is being planted out but only to a partial extent, there having been as yet no heavy rain. Seed dhan reported to be suffering in both north and south, specially in the south; jenera too although very fine, wants rain. The dry weather is said to bring caterpillars in the forward jenera.
	Godda ...	„ 27th	Rained every day.	Favorable for everything.	The jenera, though backward in most places, promises well; the paddy also promises well; but the earlier sowings did not come to any thing for want of rain.	No rain gauge.
ORISSA.
Orissa Division.	37 Cuttack ...	„ 30th*	4·38	Rainy.	Crops not injured by flood are flourishing. Newly sown crop also getting on well. Much of the flooded low land still remains unsown.	Cholera still prevalent.
	38 Pooree ...	„ 20th	·76	Seasonable ...	Cultivation has been resumed on high lands; on low lying lands the crop is still doubtful. The floods have somewhat subsided, but owing to breaches in the embankments, the pergunnahs Rahung, Chowbiskud, and Scraen, are still under water. Prices slightly recovered but still high. Mahajuns have been tightening credit since the loss of the beali or early crop.
	39 Balasore ...	„ 27th	2·11	Cool and cloudy, with moderate rain.	Crops progressing favorably. Some slight damage from sea water to villages on the coast.	Dengue and malarious fever very prevalent.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
	40 Hazareebaugh ...	„ 27th	1·19	Cloudy, with constant light, misty showers.	Some heavy falls of rain wanted badly. No attempt can be made to plant out the rice owing to want of water to make the fields fit to cultivate the plants. The bhadoi crops all doing well. Unless we can have some heavy and continuous rain, the entire rice crop will be a failure.
	41 Lohardaggah ...	.....	.....	.....	.....	Return not received.

Offg. Meteorological Reporter to the Government of Bengal.

ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.		1872.
44	Gowalparah ...	July 20th	0·73	Excessively hot during the whole week. Very slight showers during the early part of the week. A storm of wind and rain passed over from the east this morning.	It is reported in some parts that transplanting of winter crops is somewhat retarded by want of rain. Assoo crops are being reaped. Prospects generally favorable.
45	Kamroop ...	„ 23rd	4·88	Rather still and gloomy, with occasional showers.	Shaloe dhan is being transplanted, and promises well. Prospects of tea, cotton, and sugarcane, favorable. Ous crop is being reaped, and full outturn is expected.
46	Durrung ...	„ 20th	0·92	Unusually bright, dry, hot; little or no breeze.	Weather bad for rice planting. Good yield of tea continues.
47	Nowgong ..	„ 20th	4·50	Very dry, hot, and oppressive. Rain much needed.	Crops doing well. Tea doing well, but will suffer if this dry weather continues, as it is unseasonable.
48	Seebsaugor .	„ 20th	2·22	Weather excessively hot and close, with a few scanty showers of rain.	Planting out the sali dhan crop retarded for want of rain, especially about Jorehat. If heavy rain does not come soon, a failure of the crops may be looked for. Tea doing fairly.
49	Luckimpore ...	„ 20th	1·10	Weather extremely hot throughout the week. Rain much wanted for the rice crop. Thermometer. Max. ... ... 95° Min. ... ... 82°	Rain wanted much for the rice crop; planting out almost at a stand-still. No apprehensions need be entertained. Rain will surely fall in a few days. Rain wanted also for tea.
50	Naga Hills ...	„ 13th	0·99	Most unseasonable, hot, close, and muggy, with little or no rain.	Fair. Rain, however, is much wanted, especially in those parts where sali dhan is cultivated. Indian corn just ripe, and being cut at Samoogoodting
51	Khasi and Jynteah Hills.	„ 20th	5·57	Weather changeable, showery, and at times boisterous.	The crops continue to progress well. Rice, potato, Indian corn, and millet, are healthy in growth, and the Indian corn is coming into the markets.
52	Garo Hills ...	„ 20th	0·63	Changeable; occasional light showers; atmosphere damp, and during day close; scarcely any wind; nights cool and often clear; close during or towards morning.	Indian corn good and plentiful in vicinity of Tura. No reports from distant parts, but hitherto reports have been favorable.

Published for general information.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page by adding the weight of a column of air of the corresponding temperatures given in column 17. For stations of above 500 feet elevation, the reduction is made by Dippe's tables as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level being taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 8 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahr. for every 350 feet.

Wind Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and the comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The latter is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The mean direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 10 and one completely overcast by 0.

The above being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The following Orders issued by the Government of India, in the Financial Department, are re-published for general information :—

No. 1321.—Simla, the 10th July 1872.—Notifications—Accounts.—Extract from a Resolution passed in the Financial Department.

Para. 2. His Excellency in Council is pleased to resolve that the capital value of all permanent annual payments to or from the Government, shall, ordinarily for the present, be taken to be the amount which, invested in four per cent. Government securities at the market rate of the day, will produce interest equal to the payment. For example, four per cent. paper being worth Rs. 101-8 per Rs. 100, the capital value of a permanent annual payment of Rs. 25 will be Rs. 634-6, because that sum would buy four per cent. securities amounting to Rs. 625.

ORDER.—Ordered that the foregoing extract be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

No. 1461.—The 26th July 1872.—Leave and Allowances.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to direct the addition of the words, and officers of higher rank, to the entry against MARINE in the schedule annexed to the Civil Leave Code.

NOTIFICATION.

The 23rd July 1872.—For the encouragement of candidates for the Native Civil Service it is notified that arrangements have been made for employing in the Subordinate Executive Service all the candidates who passed the examinations in February last. It must not be supposed from the above that all future successful candidates are to expect such immediate and high employment. It only shows that as yet the supply does not exceed the demands of the public service. It is hoped that many new appointments of the character described in the Resolution on Local Establishments dated 20th March last, (and published with the Provincial Budget for 1872-73 in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette of the 27th idem), will be available to candidates who pass at the next examination. It is to be understood that qualified candidates accepting appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem will be eligible for promotion to the higher grades on showing their practical efficiency by good service, and on passing any further tests that may be required.

C. BERNARD,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

[Third Publication.]
NOTIFICATION.

The 23rd July 1872.—The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to extend the special privilege allowed by the rule of 2nd July, quoted in the margin, to natives of Hindustan who have not passed an examination in English, but can show that they have received a thoroughly good education in the vernacular, to the following classes :—

4. The following persons will be also admitted as candidates for appointments of less than Rs. 100 per mensem.

(b.)* Natives of Hindustan and of other districts which may be hereafter specially notified, who have served Government with credit and efficiency for not less than three years, and who can show that they have received a thoroughly good education in the vernacular.

Natives of Orissa.
„ of Assam.
„ of Bengal of Mahomedan families.

This privilege is limited to three years from this date, and it must be understood that such persons cannot expect advancement unless they qualify in English, that being the language of official correspondence in Bengal.

RESOLUTION.

The 23rd July 1872.—The Government of India has sanctioned, subject to the approval of His Grace the Secretary of State for India, the Lieutenant-Governor's proposal to appoint to the vacant Judgeship of Beerbhoom a Judge on a diminished salary, equal to that of a first grade Magistrate and Collector, and to appropriate the saving of Rs. 7,000 per annum thus effected to raise the pay of the Magistrates and Collectors of two of the chief districts in Bengal by an extra allowance of Rs. 3,500 a year each.

2. Mr. E. C. Craster, now officiating Judge of Beerbhoom, being a permanent Judge, will revert to his substantive appointment at Gya, and the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to make the following arrangements under the provisional sanction accorded by the Government of India :—

Mr. S. H. C. Tayler, at present officiating Judge of Gya, is appointed to be Judge of Beerbhoom in the second grade, and to be also Additional Judge of Burdwan. He will draw pay equal to that of a Magistrate and Collector of the first grade, or Rs. 23,000 per annum.

Mr. Tayler is not, however, to leave Gya till relieved by Mr. Craster, and Mr. A. B. Falcon is appointed to officiate as Judge of Beerbhoom, second grade, and Additional Judge of Burdwan, till the arrival of Mr. Tayler at Beerbhoom.

Messrs. W. LeF. Robinson and A. V. Palmer, the two senior Magistrates and Collectors employed in the executive branch of the service, who are also Magistrates and Collectors of large and important districts, will receive the extra allowance of Rs. 3,500 per annum each, saved from the pay of the Judgeship of Beerbhoom. This allowance will cease if these officers are employed in the Judicial line, and is for the present altogether provisional and liable to be withdrawn, if the Government may deem such a measure for any reason advisable in the interests of the public service.

Mr. E. E. Lowis is promoted to the first grade of Magistrates and Collectors in succession to Mr. Tayler.

All these appointments and allowances will take effect from the date on which Mr. Craster reverts to his permanent appointment.

3. It is to be clearly understood that Mr. Tayler's appointment to Beerbhoom, the extra allowance to Messrs. Robinson and Palmer, and the promotion of Mr. E. Lowis, are wholly conditional on the approval of the Secretary of State, and that any increase drawn by the three last-named officers must be refunded if that approval be withheld.

C. BERNARD,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATION.

The 6th August 1872.—In continuation of the Notification dated the 14th October 1871, published at page 1911 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 1st November 1871, authorizing the extension of the provisions of Act XXII of 1869 to the Naga Hills, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, under Section 5 of the same Act, to issue the following detailed rules for the administration of civil and criminal justice and police in the said district, which will henceforth be called the "Naga Hills Agency":—

Rules for the Administration of Justice and Police in the Naga Hills Agency.

I.—General.

1. The administration of the country known as the Naga Hills is vested in the Commissioner of Assam, the Political Agent, and his Assistant, the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs,* and Houshas† or head men of khels, or such other classes of officers as the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may see fit from time to time to appoint in that behalf, subject to the exceptions, restrictions, and rules hereinafter recorded.

2. These rules shall, however, be held to be in force only in those villages and communities which are under the direct administrative control of the Political Agent.

II.—Police.

3. The police of the Naga Hills shall consist of—

(a)—Regular police subject to Act V of 1861.

(b)—Rural police, consisting of Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, and other village authorities recognized as such by the Political Agent, with their subordinate village authorities.

4. The control of the police of the Naga Hills is vested in the Political Agent acting under the orders of the Commissioner of Assam, or such other officers as the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may from time to time appoint. Misconduct on the part of regular police shall be punished in accordance with Act V of 1861 and the Penal Code, or any special law which may be extended to the Naga Hills hereafter. Misconduct on the part of the rural police is punishable by fine, which may extend to Rs. 500, or by imprisonment to an extent which would be awardable under the Penal Code for a like offence. Imprisonment may be awarded in lieu of fine, but only by the Political Agent or other officer duly authorized.

5. An appeal lies from all orders of Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, and other chief village authorities in police matters to the Political Agent, whose orders are final. But the Commissioner may call for the proceedings and modify or reverse any order should he think fit.

6. The ordinary rules of the Bengal Police shall, as far as they are applicable, be observed by the regular police, and all returns in matters of accounts, and all registers required to be kept by the Bengal Police, as far as they are applicable, shall be made and kept up.

* Naga Chief.
† Kookie Chief.

The Commissioner shall exercise the powers of an Inspector-General of Police as defined by section 3, Act VII (B. C.) of 1869.

7. The regular police shall only act when required to do so by general or by special order of the Commissioner, Political Agent, or other officer duly authorized, who may assign to the force any portion of the duties of police under Act V of 1861 in any locality.

8. The ordinary duties of police shall be discharged by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or head men of khels or villages, and other village authorities. They shall arrest all criminals and repress all disorders within their respective jurisdictions.

9. It is the duty of the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or other chief village authorities, to report to the Political Agent all crimes, violent deaths, or serious accidents occurring in their districts, and all occurrences, whether within or beyond their jurisdictions, which may come to their knowledge likely to affect the public peace, at the earliest possible moment, and deliver up offenders as soon as may be to the officers authorized to try them.

10. The Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, and village authorities, shall watch, report, and, under the orders of the Political Agent, apprehend and deliver up all vagrants or bad and suspicious characters found in their jurisdictions.

11. On the occurrence of any heinous* crime in his district, any village officer who may be by custom or appointment charged with the duty of arresting criminals shall at once apprehend the offender if able, and in any case at once report to the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, who, if the offender has not been apprehended, will proceed without delay to the place where the crime occurred and inquire into the matter. If a crime beyond his cognizance has been committed, he will immediately report it to the Political Agent or other duly authorized officer, whether the offender has been apprehended or not.

12. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, and all other village authorities, may pursue with hue and cry an offender fleeing beyond their jurisdiction (but not into the possessions of independent Naga tribes) and arrest him, but ordinarily no Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or village authority, shall attempt to arrest an offender beyond his own jurisdiction without the cognizance and co-operation of the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or chief village authority of the jurisdiction to which the offender has fled. When an offender is traced from one jurisdiction to another, it will be sufficient to point him out to the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or other competent authority of the village to which the offender has fled, and request him to make the arrest.

* Heinous Crimes.

Rebellion.	Rape.
Riot	Theft.
Counterfeiting coin or passing counterfeit coin.	Robbery.
	Dacoity.
	Cattle stealing.
Murder.	Arson.
Wounding to the injury of life or limb.	House-breaking.
	Forgery.

13. When the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or other chief village authorities feel unable to arrest an offender, they must apply to the Political Agent or any officer duly authorized to grant them the aid of the regular police.

14. The Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other chief village authorities are empowered to arrest or cause to be arrested, and to fine all drunkards and other disorderly persons found brawling out of their houses, and all persons found gambling, the fine not to exceed that awardable under their powers in criminal matters as hereinafter defined.

15. All the inhabitants of the Naga Hills who are under the administrative control of the Political Agent are bound to aid the regular police and village authorities when required to do so for the maintenance of order or the apprehension of offenders. Any person failing to do so is liable to fine; the fine to be adjudged by the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other chief village authority to the extent he is empowered to award in criminal cases, or by the Political Agent if fine beyond the amount those officers are authorized to impose is considered necessary. When the particular persons blameable for failure to aid in any community cannot be ascertained, the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or chief village authority, shall be considered responsible; and if it appears that the community is to blame, and that particular offenders cannot be discovered, a fine may be imposed upon the community, but by the Political Agent only.

III.—Criminal Justice.

16. Criminal justice shall be ordinarily administered by the Political Agent, his Assistant, and by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or other chief village authorities of the different communities.

17. The Political Agent shall be competent to pass sentence of death or imprisonment for a term unlimited, or of fine up to any amount. Provided that no sentence of death shall be carried into effect without the concurrence of the Commissioner and the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to whom the proceedings shall be submitted by the Commissioner if he concur in the sentence; and no sentence of imprisonment for a term of seven years or upwards shall be carried into effect without the approval of the Commissioner; and provided further that fine shall in no case exceed the value of the offender's existing property. The Commissioner may enhance any sentence passed by his subordinates; but no offence shall be punished by a sentence exceeding that awardable under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code. The assistant to the Political Agent shall exercise such powers as he may be invested with by the Commissioner not exceeding those of a Magistrate of the first class as defined in Act X of 1872.

18. Any Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other chief village authority may be empowered by the Political Agent to dispose of cases of persons charged with any of the following offences:—

Injury to property not exceeding Rs. 50.
Injury to person not endangering life or limb.
House trespass.
Affronts of whatever kind.

They may impose a fine for any offence they are competent to try to the extent of Rs. 50. They may award restitution or compensation to the extent of the injury sustained, and enforce it by distraint of the property of the offender. In cases in which the fine is not paid or realised either in whole or in part, they shall represent the facts and send in the offender to the Political Agent, who may retry the case and impose such other punishment as he is competent to inflict. All Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or other chief village authorities, who may be empowered as above shall receive a sunnud of recognition under the signature of the Political Agent.

19. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas or other duly recognized village authorities, may carry out their decision, or order attachment of property, as soon as judgment is pronounced; but in no case is property so attached to be sold, if the party convicted claim to appeal within eight days, without the orders of the Political Agent.

(a)—Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, may not decide in cases where their father, mother, son, daughter, wife, or the children, husbands, or wives, of any of these are concerned; or

(b)—When the defendant is not a native of the Naga Hills, or is not resident within their jurisdiction; or

(c)—When the offence is one against the state, or has caused death or danger of life, or amounts to robbery or concerns counterfeiting of coin or the making of fraudulent documents or the like.

20. The Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall not decide any cases save in open durbar, in presence of at least three witnesses and the complainant and accused, whose attendance they are empowered to compel. Either party may appeal from the decision at the time decision is pronounced, or within eight days thereof to the Political Agent or his Assistant, in which case the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other duly recognized authority will take the parties or cause them to be sent before the Political Agent or his Assistant, with one of the persons required to attend as a court witness. The case shall then be tried de novo.

21. An appeal lies to the Political Agent from the decisions of his Assistant if preferred within sixteen days.

22. No appeal shall lie as a matter of right from the sentence of the Political Agent involving sentence of less than three years' imprisonment; but it is competent to the Commissioner to call for the record of any case whatever, and to modify or reverse the decision passed. All sentences of over three years' imprisonment are appealable to the Commissioner. Appeals to the Commissioner must be preferred within thirty-two days. All sentences above seven years must be confirmed by Commissioner, whose decision is final; but the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor reserves to himself the prerogative of reviewing the proceedings of the Commissioner and his subordinates, and passing such orders on them as he may deem fit.

23. The procedure of the Political Agent and his Assistant shall be in the spirit of the Code of Criminal Procedure as far as it is applicable to the circumstances of the district and consistent with these rules; the chief exceptions are—

(a)—Only verbal order or notice shall be requisite except when the regular police are employed, or the person concerned is not resident or in the district at the time; or if in the district, but resident beyond it, where his place of abode is not known. But orders of summons shall be for a fixed day not exceeding sixteen days from that upon which the order is issued, and the order shall be made known to the person affected or to some adult member of his family, or proclaimed at the place he was last known to be at, in sufficient time to allow him, if he see fit, to appear.

(b)—A note of the substance of all the proceedings in cases tried before them must be kept by the Political Agent and his Assistant in the form prescribed by section 228, Act X of 1872. In cases requiring a sentence exceeding three years, a full note of the evidence and proceedings must be kept. Examinations and proceedings shall generally be recorded in English only.

(c)—The proceedings of the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, need not be in writing; but if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

(d)—All fines levied by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall be paid to the Political Agent or his Assistant or other officer empowered to receive them within eight days from the date of realization.

(e)—It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

24. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall keep the registers hereafter specified, and make returns of copies of the entries therein monthly to the Commissioner:—

25. The administration of civil justice in the Naga Hills is entrusted to the Commissioner, the Political Agent, his Assistant, and by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas and other chief village authorities.

26. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas and other chief village authorities, may be recognized by the Political Agent by sunnud under his signature as empowered to try cases without limit as to amount, but with the following reservations:—

(a)—They may not try suits in which their fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, uncles, aunts, sisters, brothers, the children of the foregoing, their wives or persons in the above relation to a wife, or any near relative, are parties, nor suits in which a native of the plains or native of another village not resident in their jurisdiction are parties.

(b)—All suits must be decided in open durbar, in the presence of the parties and at least three respectable witnesses.

27. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities, have power to compel attendance of parties to any suit and their witnesses,—all such persons being resident within their own jurisdiction, and to fine, within the limit of Rs. 50, persons wilfully failing to attend. They have power to award all costs, also compensation to defendants for unfounded or vexatious suits brought against them.

28. All proceedings shall be vivâ voce, and the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall not be called upon to make either record or registry of their decision. After hearing both parties and their witnesses, if any, they shall, with or without the opinion of assessors, as they think fit, pronounce a decision forthwith. If at the trial any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

29. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities, may carry out their decision at once and order attachment of property to be made; but in no case is property so attached to be sold if the party cast claim to appeal within eight days. On such appeal being made, they shall send the parties and their witnesses to the Political Agent or his Assistant forthwith, or as soon as may be, and either accompany them or send one respectable person who has been present at the trial with them.

30. All notices given by Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities to parties or witnesses, shall be verbal, and for a fixed day not exceeding eight days from the day it is given. If a case be postponed, it shall be fixed for a day not exceeding eight days from the order, and the case may be subsequently adjourned for periods not exceeding eight days on good cause shown.

31. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall not ordinarily hear suits triable by Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, but they have a discretion to do so when they think right, and suits which under these rules the village authorities cannot try must be tried by the Political Agent or his Assistant. A register of all suits tried by the Political Agent and his Assistant shall be kept in such form as the Commissioner shall direct.

32. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall, in all cases in which the parties are indigenous inhabitants of the hills, endeavour to induce them to submit their case to punchayet. If they agree to this, each party shall name an equal number of arbitrators, and shall choose, or leave the arbitrators to choose, an umpire. The name and residence of arbitrators and umpire, and the matter in dispute, must be recorded before the proceedings commence, and the court will direct the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or some other recognized authority, to assemble the punchayet and witnesses within eight days. When the case has been decided, the umpire shall appear with the parties before the court, which shall proceed to record the decision and enforce it as its own. From such decision there shall be no appeal.

33. An appeal shall lie from the decision of the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or other duly recognized village authority to the Political Agent or his Assistant. A record shall be made of the matter in dispute and the decision of the village authority. If necessary the court shall examine the parties, and if the decision appears to be just, shall affirm and enforce it as one of its own. If the court sees reason to doubt the justice of the decision, it will try the case de novo, or refer it to a punchayet as above.

34. Houses, needful clothing, cooking utensils or implements whereby the owner subsists, may not be attached, sold, or transferred, in execution of decree, unless themselves the subject of the suit.

35. There shall be no imprisonment for debt, excepting in cases where the Political Agent is satisfied that the fraudulent disposal or concealment of property has taken place: in such case the debtor may be detained for a period not exceeding six months.

36. No appeal shall lie as of right to the Political Agent from decisions of his Assistant or from the Political Agent except as hereinafter provided; but the Political Agent, if he see fit, may call for the proceedings of any case decided by his Assistant, and the Commissioner may, upon application made, or otherwise, call for the proceedings of either of the lower courts, and revise them, provided that persons resident beyond the Naga Hills may appeal to the Commissioner within thirty-two days from the date of a decision. The appeal shall be accompanied by a copy of the judgment appealed against and a clear statement of the grounds of appeal. The appeal may be presented to the Political Agent, who shall, if it be in order, and presented in due time, endorse upon it the date of receipt and transmit it, with the proceedings in the suit, to the Commissioner, who, after perusal of the petition of appeal and judgment, and after hearing the agent of the appellant, if any, may dismiss the appeal, or may remit the case to the lower court for the record of further evidence, or for retrial of fresh issues, or reserve the case for hearing before his own court, and shall confirm, modify, or reverse, the decision of the lower court, passing such orders as to costs as may appear just. The decree of the appellate court shall be transferred to the court of the Political Agent for execution as a decree of its own.

37. The courts of the Commissioner, the Political Agent, and his Assistant, shall be guided by the spirit, but not bound by the letter, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

38. No professional pleader or mooktear shall be allowed to appear in any case, except in cases before the Political Agent or his Assistant with the special permission of the Judge trying the case, or if the defendant reside beyond the jurisdiction of the court; but relatives may appear for persons incapacitated by age, sex, or sickness.

39. It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

NOTIFICATION.

The 30th July 1872.—In continuation of the Notification dated the 14th October 1871, published at page 1911 of the Calcutta Gazette of the 1st November 1871, authorizing the extension of the provisions of Act XXII of 1869 to the District of the Khasi and Jynteah Hills, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased, under Section 5, of the same Act, to issue the following detailed rules for the administration of civil and criminal justice and police in the said district:—

Rules for the Administration of Justice and Police in the Jynteah Hills and such portions of the Khasi Hills as have been constituted British Territory.

I.—GENERAL.

1. THE administration of the country known as the Khasi and Jynteah Hills is vested in the Commissioner of Assam, the Deputy Commissioner of the Khasi and Jynteah Hills, his assistants, and the native siems, wahadadars, sirdars, dollois, pattors, and lungdohs, or such other classes of officers as the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may see fit from time to time to appoint in that behalf, subject to the exceptions and restrictions and rules hereinafter recorded.

2. The following rules apply to all villages and tracts subject to British jurisdiction.

II.—POLICE.

3. The police of the Khasi and Jynteah Hills shall consist of—

(a.)—Regular police, subject to Act V of 1861.

(b.)—Rural police, consisting of sirdars, dollois, pattors, lungdohs, and other village authorities recognized as such by the Deputy Commissioner with their subordinate village authorities.

4. The control of the police in the Khasi and Jynteah Hills is vested in the Deputy Commissioner, acting under the orders of the Commissioner of Assam, or such other officers as the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal may from time to time appoint. Misconduct on the part of regular police shall be punished in accordance with Act V of 1861 and the Penal Code, or any special law which may hereafter be extended to the Khasi and Jynteah Hills. Misconduct on the part of rural police is punishable by fine, which may extend to Rs. 500, or by imprisonment to an extent which would be awardable under the Penal Code for a like offence. Imprisonment may be awarded in lieu of fine, but only by the Deputy Commissioner or other officers duly authorized.

5. An appeal lies from all orders of sirdars, dollois, and other chief village authorities in police matters to the Deputy Commissioner, whose orders are final. But the Commissioner may call for the proceedings and modify or reverse any order should he think fit.

6. The ordinary rules of the Bengal police shall, as far as they are applicable, be observed by the regular police; and all returns in matters of account, and all registers required to be kept by the Bengal police, as far as they are applicable, shall be made and kept up.

The Commissioner shall exercise the powers of an Inspector-General of Police as defined by section 3, Act VII (B. C.) of 1869: the Deputy Commissioner shall exercise the powers of District Superintendent of Police: the Assistant or Extra Assistant Commissioner the power of Assistant Superintendent of Police.

7. The regular police shall only act, when required to do so, by general or special order of the Commissioner, Deputy Commissioner, or other officer duly authorized, who may assign to the force any portion of the duties of police, under Act V of 1861, in any locality.

8. The ordinary duties of police shall be discharged by the sirdars and dollois, and other village authorities duly authorized by the Deputy Commissioner. They shall arrest all criminals, and repress all disorders within their respective jurisdictions.

9. It is the duty of the sirdars, dollois, and other chief village authorities to report to the Deputy Commissioner all crimes, violent deaths, or serious accidents occurring in their districts, and all occurrences, whether within or beyond their jurisdictions, which may come to their knowledge likely to affect the public peace, at the earliest possible moment, and to deliver up offenders as soon as may be to the officer authorized to try them.

10. The sirdars, dollois, and other village authorities shall watch and report, and in very emergent cases may apprehend and deliver up, vagrants or bad and suspicious characters found in their jurisdictions.

11. On the occurrence of any heinous crime* in his district, any village officer who may be by custom or appointment charged with the duty of arresting criminals shall at once apprehend the offender, if able, and in any case at once report to the sirdar, or dolloi, or other chief village authority, who, if the offender has not been apprehended, will proceed without delay to the place where the crime occurred, and inquire into the matter. If a crime beyond his cognizance has been committed, he will immediately report it to the Deputy Commissioner or other duly authorized officer, whether the offender has been apprehended or not.

12. Sirdars, dollois, and all other village authorities may pursue with hue and cry and apprehend an offender fleeing beyond their jurisdiction, and arrest him; but ordinarily no sirdar, dolloi, or village authority shall attempt to arrest an offender beyond his own jurisdiction without the cognizance and co-operation of the sirdar, dolloi, or chief village authority of the village to which the offender has fled. When an offender is traced from one village to another, it will be sufficient to point him out to the sirdar, dolloi, or other competent authority of the village to which the offender has fled, and request him to make the arrest.

13. When the sirdars, dollois, or other chief village authorities feel unable to arrest an offender, they must apply to the Deputy Commissioner, or any officer duly authorized, to grant them the aid of the regular police.

14. The sirdars, dollois, and other chief village authorities are empowered to arrest or cause to be arrested, and may also fine, all drunkards and other disorderly persons found brawling out of their houses, and all persons found gambling; the fine not to exceed that awardable under their powers in criminal matters as hereinafter defined.

15. All the inhabitants of the Khasi and Jynteah Hills are bound to aid the regular police and village authorities, when required to do so, in the maintenance of order or the apprehension of offenders. Any person failing to do so is liable to fine; the fine to be adjudged by the sirdar, dolloi, or other chief village authority, to the extent he is empowered to award in criminal cases, or by the Deputy Commissioner, if fine beyond the amount the village authorities are authorized to impose is considered necessary. When the particular persons blameable for failure to aid in any community cannot be ascertained, the sirdar, dolloi, or chief village authority shall be considered responsible; and if it appears that the community is to blame, and that particular offenders cannot be discovered, a fine may be imposed upon the community, but by the Deputy Commissioner only.

III.—CRIMINAL JUSTICE.

16. Criminal justice shall be ordinarily administered by the Deputy Commissioner, his assistants, and by the sirdars, dollois, and other chief village authorities of the different communities.

17. The Deputy Commissioner shall be competent to pass sentence of death, or imprisonment for a term unlimited, or of fine up to any amount; provided that no sentence of death shall be carried into effect without the concurrence of the Commissioner and sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to whom the proceedings shall be submitted by the Commissioner if he concurs in the sentence; and no sentence of imprisonment for a term of seven years or upwards shall be carried into effect without the approval of the Commissioner. The Commissioner may enhance any sentence passed by his subordinates; but no offence shall be punished by a sentence exceeding that awardable under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code. Assistant Commissioners shall exercise such powers as they may be invested with by the Commissioner, not exceeding those of a Magistrate of the first class as defined in Act X of 1872.

18. Any sirdar, dolloi, or other chief village authority may be empowered by the Deputy Commissioner to dispose of cases of persons charged with any of the following offences:—

Injury to property not exceeding Rs. 50.

Injury to person not affecting life or limb.

House-trespass.

They may impose a fine for any offence they are competent to try to the extent of Rs. 50. They may award restitution or compensation to the extent of the injury sustained, and enforce it by distraint of the property of the offender. In cases in which the fine is not paid or realized either in whole or in part, they shall represent the facts and send in the offender to the Deputy Commissioner, who may retry the case and impose such other punishment as he is competent to inflict. Each sirdar, dolloi, or other chief village authority who may be empowered as above, shall receive a sunnud of recognition under the signature of the Deputy Commissioner.

19. Sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognized village authorities may carry out their decision, or order attachment of property as soon as judgment is pronounced; but in no case is property so attached to be sold, if the party convicted claim to appeal within eight days, without the orders of Deputy Commissioner.

(a.) Sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognized village authorities may not decide in cases where their father, mother, son, daughter, wife, or the children, husbands, or wives, of any of these are concerned; or

(b.)—Where the defendant is not a native of the Khasi and Jynteah Hills, or is not resident within their jurisdiction; or

(c.)—When the offence is one against the State, or has caused death or danger of life, or amounts to robbery or theft, or concerns counterfeiting of coin or the making of fraudulent documents, or the like.

20. The sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities shall not decide any cases save in open durbar in presence of at least three witnesses and the complainant and accused, whose attendance they are empowered to compel. Either party may appeal from the decision at the time decision is pronounced, or within eight days thereof, to the Deputy Commissioner or his assistant, in which case the sirdar or dolloi, or other duly recognised authority, shall take the parties, or cause them to be sent, before the Deputy Commissioner or his assistant, with one of the persons required to attend as a court witness. The case shall then be tried de novo.

21. An appeal lies from the Assistant Commissioner to the Deputy Commissioner if preferred within sixteen days.

22 No appeal shall lie as a matter of right from the sentence of the Deputy Commissioner involving sentence of less than three years' imprisonment; but it is competent to the Commissioner to call for the record of any case whatever, and to modify or reverse the decision passed. All sentences of three years' imprisonment and upwards are appealable to the Commissioner. Appeals to the Commissioner must be preferred within thirty-two days. All sentences above seven years must be confirmed by the Commissioner, whose decision is final; but the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor reserves to himself the prerogative of reviewing the proceedings of the Commissioner and his subordinates, and passing such orders on them as he may deem fit.

23. The procedure of the Deputy Commissioner and his assistant shall be in the spirit of the Code of Criminal Procedure, as far as it is applicable to the circumstances of the district and consistent with these rules. The chief exceptions are—

(a.)—Only verbal order or notice of summons, &c., shall be requisite, except when the regular police are employed, or the person concerned is not resident or in the district at the time, or if in the district but resident beyond it, where his place of abode is not known. But orders of summons shall be for a fixed day, not exceeding sixteen days from that upon which the order is issued, and the order shall be made known to the person affected, or to some adult member of his family, or proclaimed at the place he was last known to be at in sufficient time to allow him if he see fit to appear.

(b.)—A note of the substance of all the proceedings in cases tried before them must be kept by the Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioners in the form prescribed by section 228,

Bombay three clear days before the assembly of the Medical Board, which meets every Monday and Thursday, in order that the terms on which he is entitled to leave may be known; he must be provided with a statement of his leave and service, prepared by himself, in accordance with the orders marginally noted.

(c.)—The proceedings of sirdars and dollois or other recognized village authorities need not be in writing. But if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

(d)—All fines levied by the sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities shall be paid to the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner, or other officer empowered to receive them, within eight days from the date of realization. The Deputy Commissioner is authorized to pay to those village authorities who give him satisfaction such small stipends as he may think desirable, provided that the total amount so disbursed shall not exceed the sum of the fines realized by all village authorities during the year.

(e.)—It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

24. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall keep the registers hereafter specified, and make returns of copies of the entries therein monthly to the Commissioner.

Register of crimes committed.

Register of criminal cases decided by Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner.

Register of fines levied by Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner, and sirdars, dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities.

IV.—CIVIL RULES.

25. The administration of civil justice in the Khasi and Jynteah Hills is entrusted to the Commissioner, the Deputy Commissioner, his assistants, sirdars, and dollois, and other chief village authorities.

26. Sirdars and dollois and other chief village authorities may be recognised by the Deputy Commissioner by sunnud under his signature as competent to try cases without limit as to amount, but with the following reservations:—

(a.)—They may not try suits in which their fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, uncles, aunts, sisters, brothers, the children of the foregoing, their wives or persons in the above relation to a wife, or any near relative are parties, nor suits in which a native of the plains or native of another sirdarship or dolloiship not resident in their jurisdiction are parties.

(b.)—All suits must be decided in open durbar in the presence of the parties and at least three respectable witnesses.

27. Sirdars and dollois and other duly recognised village authorities have power to compel attendance of parties to any suit and their witnesses, all such persons being resident within their own jurisdiction, and to fine within the limit of Rs. 50 persons wilfully failing to attend. They have power to award all costs, also compensation to defendants for unfounded or vexatious suits brought against them.

28. All proceedings shall be viva voce, and the sirdars and dollois or other duly recognised village authorities shall not be called upon to make either record or registry of their decision. After hearing both parties and their witnesses, if any, they shall with or without the opinion of assessors, as they think fit, pronounce a decision forthwith. But if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

29. Sirdars or dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities may carry out their decisions at once, and order attachment of property to be made; but in no case is property so attached to be sold if the party cast claim to appeal within eight days. On such appeal being made, they shall send the parties and their witnesses to the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner forthwith, or as soon as may be, and either accompany them or send one respectable person who has been present at the trial with them.

30. All notices given by sirdars and dollois or other duly recognised village authorities to parties or witnesses shall be verbal, and for a fixed day not exceeding eight days from the day it is given. If a case be postponed it shall be fixed for a day not exceeding eight days from the order, and the case may be subsequently adjourned for periods not exceeding eight days on good cause shown.

31. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall not ordinarily hear suits triable by sirdars and dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities; but they have a discretion to do so when they think right; and suits which under these rules the village authorities cannot try, must be tried by the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner. A register of all suits tried by the Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall be kept in such form as the Commissioner shall direct.

32. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall, in all cases in which the parties are indigenous inhabitants of the hills, endeavour to induce them to submit their case to a punchayet. If they agree to this, each party shall name an equal number of arbitrators, and shall choose, or leave the arbitrators to choose, an umpire. The name and residence of arbitrators and umpire, and the matter in dispute, must be recorded before the proceedings commence, and the court will direct the sirdar or dolloi or other recognised authority to assemble the punchayet and witnesses within eight days. When the case has been decided, the umpire shall appear with the parties before the court, which shall proceed to record the decision and enforce it as its own. From such decision there shall be no appeal.

33. An appeal shall lie from the decision of the sirdar or dolloi or other duly recognised village authority to the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner. A record will be made of the matter in dispute and the decision of the village authority. If necessary, the court shall examine the parties; and if the decision appears to be just, will affirm and enforce it as one of its own. If the court sees reason to doubt the justice of the decision, it will try the case de novo or refer it to a punchayet as above.

34. Houses, needful clothing, cooking utensils, or implements whereby the owner subsists, shall not be attached, sold, or transferred in execution of decree, unless themselves the subject of the suit.

35. There shall be no imprisonment for debt, excepting in cases where the Deputy Commissioner is satisfied that fraudulent disposal or concealment of property has taken place; in such cases the debtor may be detained for a period not exceeding six months.

36. No appeal shall lie as of right from decisions of an Assistant Commissioner to the Deputy Commissioner, except as hereinafter provided; but the Deputy Commissioner if he see fit may call for the proceedings of any case decided by his assistant, and the Commissioner may, upon application made or otherwise, call for the proceedings of either of the lower courts and revise them; provided that persons resident beyond the Khasi and Jynteah Hills may appeal to the Commissioner within thirty-two days from the date of decision. The appeal shall be accompanied by a copy of the judgment appealed against and a clear statement of the grounds of appeal. The appeal may be presented to the Deputy Commissioner, who shall, if it be in order and presented in due time, endorse upon it the date of receipt, and transmit it with the proceedings in the suit to the Commissioner, who, after perusal of the petition of appeal and judgment, and after hearing the agent of the appellant, if any, may dismiss the appeal, or may remit the case to the lower court for the record of further evidence, or for re-trial on fresh issues, or receive the case for hearing before his own court to be held in the Khasi Hills, and shall confirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the lower court, passing such orders as to costs as may appear just. The decree of the appellate court shall be transferred to the court of the Deputy Commissioner for execution as a decree of its own.

37. The Courts of the Commissioner, Deputy and Assistant Commissioners, shall be guided by the spirit, but not bound by the letter, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

38. No professional pleader or mooktear shall be allowed to appear in any case, except in cases before the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioners, with the special permission of the judge trying the case, or if the defendant reside beyond the jurisdiction of the court; but relations may appear for persons incapacitated by age, sex, or sickness.

39. It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

This lady's original incumbency lasted from 18th October 1845 to 22nd January 1850. CHARLES MILLER, ESQ., Magte. of Police, S. Divn., Calcutta.

CAPTAIN E J. BUTLER, First Assistant Master-Attendant.

Joshua Joudron saith,—I was the Commander of the British barque Champion of 486 register. She was a wooden vessel, classed A1. eleven years, since 1864. The crew were fifteen all told including the mates. We were bound to Bourbon vid Mauritius for orders, and we left Calcutta on the 24th June last. We got out to sea on 27th. Our pilot was Mr. Lindquist, and we had a leadsman on board named Sparling. About fourteen hours after the tug left us, a gale came up from the southward and struck us; the first wind was from the S.S.W. We saw no pilot brig, so Mr. Lindquist kept charge of the ship. We were on the starboard tack heading S E. The barometer was falling a little at a time; I think that it was 29·40 on the 28th June. On that day the weather was squally and heavy, and there was a heavy sea. We shipped one, which carried away our long boat, a hawser that was coiled on the deck, and all the movable things about the deck. This was on the 28th instant. Towards the latter end of the day the wind veered gradually to the southward and eastward. About 7 P.M. we sighted the Mutlah light, bearing about N.E. The pilot told me it was the Mutlah light. We were still on the starboard tack; and at about midnight the Mutlah light was bearing E. The pilot and I decided to anchor. The wind was varying between S.E. and S. The pilot thought that we could not weather the Sandheads on the other tack. We had hardly any sail, and very little headway. We were drifting to leeward. We could not make offing enough after getting out before the breeze took us. We anchored with the Mutlah light bearing S E. three miles off. We sounded and got eleven fathoms. The starboard chain parted after a couple of hours. The port one held on the remainder of the night and all next day up to about midnight, when it parted. During the day we had decided that we would cut away part of the spars to ease her. We cut away the main top-mast, which took away the mizen top-mast with it. This relieved the vessel very much. It was blowing very hard, and when the port chain parted, we could not set any sail, and we were drifting rapidly to the north. We once got into five fathoms. She shipped a heavy sea over the quarter-deck, and it carried away our wheel chain, broke the tiller, smashed the skylight, and damaged the rudder, and stove in our gig into atoms. I was nearly washed overboard myself. The wind veered from S.E. round to N.E. about that time, and drove us into deep water. We had no steering apparatus. We tried to steer by a spare tiller, but she would not steer at all. The main portion of the rudder was split, and next night the rudder carried away altogether. This was on the night of the 30th June. The wind was then awful. The wind veered right round us from S.E. to S.W.

I have a practical knowledge of the law of storms. We put our ship on the port tack when the gale increased. I considered that we were following the wind. During the gale all our best sails with double gaskets on them were blown away in ribbons from the yards. I think that we were very near the centre of the cyclone. I think that the centre passed slightly to the southward of us. On the night of the 30th June as the gale was blowing its hardest, we found that we had sprung a leak, and we concluded that it was caused by the rudder having torn the gudgeons off the stern posts. The ship took a heavy list to the starboard, and we could not keep her clear by the pumps, which were closely attended to. Before this she had been a light ship. That night she made more water than usual. It went over the rod, which was two feet, and we could not tell how much. We began to throw over cargo to lighten her. We were heaving cargo over and pumping the ship when the light-ship hove in sight. This was on the 1st July. I consulted with the pilot, and considering the helpless and apparently sinking state of the ship, we determined to make a signal of distress. She bore down upon us; we had no boats; there was still a strong breeze and a heavy sea, but a good deal moderated. The light-ship had two good boats, and she sent one. We did not get all into the boat at the first trip. One of the boats was smashed to pieces by the side of the ship, and she lowered her second boat to save the remainder of the crew. In the boat was a crew of eight lascars and the second officer. He would not allow us to save any of our effects. I went in the first boat with part of the crew, leaving the mate, pilot, and two men behind. I saved the ship's papers. I was very sick at the time. The people left behind asked us to ask the Captain of the light-ship to allow our own crew to return in the boat, as they would have more courage to remain alongside to remove our effects; but they did not dare to remain alongside. The pilot and leadsman saved their boxes. We were all saved. When we got on the light-ship, she was steering about N.W. for the land. The next afternoon we made the land to the eastward of False Point light-house, where we anchored. This was on the 2nd July. We stayed on board up to Saturday, the 6th instant. On that day the Oriental steamship came down on her way to Calcutta, and I went on board her to ask for a passage for myself and crew. The Oriental took the light-ship in tow, and brought her to her station on Sunday. We cast off the ship there, and we anchored in the Saugor Roads. On the Monday morning we steamed up to Calcutta. The barque was still afloat when I last saw her, but she was lurching very much. Darkness hid her from us. When we left, the carpenter reported five to six feet of water in her hold, but he had no means of judging correctly. We had a rice cargo, and we had no hopes of saving the ship. On the 27th, at Saugor, I believe we had the wind from the east. I was sick below part of the time. The barometer was at 29·50; the appearance of the weather was squally and stormy. There were ships at anchor there, but I can't say how many. I have never been out of her before. I think the pilot did make a remark that it was unusual to have easterly winds in June. There was nothing unusual in the sea. The Captain of a tug steamer came up, and said that there was a heavy swell outside. I think he said "from the southward." I did not notice anything unusual in the appearance of the sky. The ship was well found in gear when I left her as any ship could be. I was told that I should meet with rough weather, and I took particular precautions. We had two bower anchors and a spare one, and two cables with 120 fathoms on each. We had three boats. They were in order. One of the quarter boats was on the skids. That was stove in by the sea, and the other one was carried away in pieces. Before we came out our chains were tested, and our rigging was of wire and was new. The crew behaved very well till they became exhausted. For three days we had no cooking. The pilot and leadsman kept up vigorously and helped us. Every one was sober, even up to the time of leaving the vessel. We were properly treated on board the light-ship, and we were most kindly treated on the Oriental. My barque drew 17 feet 8 inches in the river. Two ships and a steamer went out from Saugor with us. One of them was the Rothesay; I forget the name of the other. The steamer was the Orchis. She put back. I did not anticipate a breeze when we came to Saugor.

Francis LeBoutillier saith,—I was chief officer of the barque Champion. She hailed from Jersey. I remember leaving Saugor on the 27th June last, outward bound. Mr. Lindquist was our pilot. The weather showed no bad appearance. The barometer was low. The wind was from E. to E S.E. It appeared to me that there would be rain, but I did not think that we should have wind. The Rothesay and the Strathblane went out with us. Next day the weather appeared to be improving at day-light; but at 8.A.M. it came on to blow pretty strongly from the same quarter. I can't say what course we were steering till we got out past the Eastern Channel Light-house. After we cast off we steered south till 1 A M next morning, and then we put the ship on the starboard tack, the wind having veered to the S W. We kept on that tack till we came to anchor near the Mutlah light. We anchored there as we could not weather the Mutlah on that tack, and if we had gone on another tack we should have drifted to the sands. We were only carrying the fore-top-mast staysail and the lower topsail. Before we anchored our long-boat and some spars and all things movable about the deck had been washed away. We came to an anchor about 10-30 P M. on 28th June; and we rode it out till 3 A M, 29th June, when the starboard cable parted. The spars were cut away about 6 A.M. to enable the ship to hold by her port chain. We cut her back stays adrift, and the main top-mast went over the side carrying the mizen top-mast with it. We held on until just after midnight, and then the port cable parted. The ship was perfectly light then, and remained so till the evening of Sunday the 1st. We had set the mizen staysail to keep the ship to windward. As soon as she parted, and almost immediately that we had done so, the staysail blew to pieces. We went driving under bare poles over the banks to the northward. We kept our lead going. We kept driving along. The wind veered to the eastward, then to the N.E, then to N and round to N W, then W. and then to S W. We were driven back into deep water. When the wind first veered we shipped a heavy sea that carried away the wheel chains and split the rudder in such a manner as to render it useless. One of the men was washed away from the wheel right forward. About 10 P M. we found that the gudgeons had been torn away from the stern post, and we could see by the motion of the ship that she was making water. All hands were kept at the pumps from that time till we left the ship. The water was gaining on us. When I left the ship the lee rail was under water. About twenty minutes past noon we met the light-ship. We hoisted our ensign with the jack down, and some signal which I forget. The light-ship bore down on us. When she got to windward of us it was considered advisable to abandon our ship. They sent a boat to us. The Captain and all hands went in that boat, except the pilot, leadsman, and the steward. When they got alongside the light-ship the boat got stove in by a heavy sea. They sent another boat for us, and we left the ship about 2 P M. and went on board the light-ship. The log and everything, except the ship's papers, were lost. We kept sounding the well. When the Captain left the ship there I was think five or six feet of water in the hold. I could not take soundings after the Captain left. I tried to do so, but I was washed over board and back again. The pilot was on the poop at that time. He behaved as well as a man could have behaved, so did the leadsman, who never left the deck after we got into the cyclone. We did not see what became of the barque. Darkness set in soon after we got on the light-ship. I am sure that she could not have remained afloat during the night. The crew behaved very well. Several of them were disabled. Every thing that could be done to save the ship was done. We were kindly treated on board the light-ship. We were brought up to Calcutta in the steamer Oriental. All hands went into the Sailors' Home. Some of the men are gone, but some are still in the Home. Everybody on board was sober all through the gale.

Philip Walter Ann saith,—I was 2nd officer on board the Champion. I remember anchoring near the light-ship at Mutlah. We had lost all spare spar and the long-boat, and everything movable on the day before by being swept by a sea. Shortly after we anchored the starboard chain parted. We took the fragment of the starboard chain and fastened it on to the port chain and paid it out. We weathered it out all that day. The decks were continually under water. I was so much occupied with my own work about the deck, that I did not notice how the wind was. About midnight the port chain parted. We had cut away the main top-mast, which in going carried away the mizen top-mast. I do not think that eased the ship a little time. As it was blowing so hard after the port cable parted, we endeavored to set the main staysail, and I think the fore-top-mast staysail. The sails blew away into shreds. The lead was kept going. I could not say what soundings were given. We met the Eastern Channel light-ship on the 1st July. We made signals of distress. The pilot had gone on the Sunday. The light-ship sent us a boat, and most of us went off to the light-ship; the boat was not fit to be put into the water again, so she was hoisted up and another boat was lowered. I took charge with some of our crew and returned to the Champion. I found even more water in her than when I left her. I should say that there were eight feet of water when I left her; but we could get no proper soundings. I have been fourteen years at sea. I hold a second mate's certificate. I think that every thing was done that could have been done to save the ship. Every one was sober on board the whole time.

Horatio Lindquist saith,—I am a licensed master pilot, and I was in pilotage charge of the Champion outward bound. We left the port on 24th June last. We anchored at Saugor on the 27th in tow of the steamer Columbus. I produce a copy of my report as to the subsequent fate of the ship; the original report is in the Master Attendant's office. All that I have written in my report is strictly true to the best of my knowledge and belief. When we left Saugor there was no wind; there was only a little light air from the eastward. Horatio Lindquist saith,—I am a licensed master pilot, and I was in pilotage charge of the Champion outward bound. We left the port on 24th June last. We anchored at Saugor on the 27th in tow of the steamer Columbus. I produce a copy of my report as to the subsequent fate of the ship; the original report is in the Master-Attendant's office. All that I have written in my report is strictly true to the best of my knowledge and belief. When we left Saugor there was no wind; there was only a little light air from the eastward. The barometer was low; it had remained for some days at about 29·46. There was no unusual sea at Saugor Roads, but there was in the Eastern Channel I anticipated a cyclone, and told the Captain so. I discharged the steamer Columbus which towed us down on the morning of the 26th, as I would not go out on that day. I only took the ship out in obedience to the Captain's request, and not in accordance with my own discretion on the 27th June, and I think that I was bound to do so in obedience to the Government order (copy of order attached). We tacked on the early morning of the 28th June, because the wind had veered from the E. to S.S.W. I tacked from the port tack to the starboard tack. I was heading S.E. I remained on that tack till I brought the ship to an anchor about 3 A.M on 29th June. I made a good offing from the time I cast the steamer off, until the wind veered round to S.S.W. I was standing down due south for some time, for about four hours, going eight knots per hour; then the wind backed; the Captain said that he was sick, and he asked me for my assistance. I rendered it to the best of my power. I think that the officers and crew worked well. I think that every thing that could have been done to save the ship was done. We hoisted our ensign, union down, when we saw the light-ship. She replied, and we showed "Want assistance." The light-ship hoisted—"What assistance do you want" The Captain of the Champion replied—"I must abandon the vessel," and the light-ship sent her boats for us. All our boats had been washed away. The light-ship's boat was manned by lascars; it was then blowing strong and there was a heavy sea.

OPINION.

AFTER carefully considering the evidence, it appears that the barque Champion, in pilotage charge of Mr. Licensed Master Pilot H. Lindquist, left Saugor outward bound on the 27th June last, with a low barometer, the wind at E., and a heavy sea running in the Eastern Channel. This, in the opinion of the Committee, was a sufficient warning of an approaching gale, and the Committee consider that it was very imprudent to leave a safe anchorage off Saugor while the weather was unsettled and threatening.

An easterly wind in the month of June with low barometer and heavy sea from S.E. is looked upon as indication of a coming gale.

The Committee are however of opinion that after the vessel went to sea every thing was done that could be accomplished to keep the ship afloat, and had it not been for the Commander of the Planet floating light vessel (which vessel hove in sight just in time) the crew of the Champion would in all probability have perished. The Commander of the Planet floating light vessel on seeing signals of distress flying on board of the barque Champion, very promptly, and at considerable risk, lowered his boat, manned by lascars, and in charge of the second officer, succeeded in taking all the crew except the pilot, chief officer, leadsman, and one seaman, to the Planet. This boat it appears was stove in alongside of the Planet by the heavy sea running at the time, so much so that she was unfit for service. A second boat was lowered and manned by the rescued crew of the Champion, returned to the barque, and succeeded in bringing off the remainder of the men. The Captain it appears was sick and went in the first boat.

The pilot in his evidence states that by the orders of the Master-Attendant conveyed to him in form 15 (blank form annexed) and to every pilot taking pilotage charge of an outward bound vessel, he is compelled to move the vessel when desired to do so by the Commander, and that he did inform the Commander of the Champion that a gale was brewing.

The Committee are of opinion that a general order should be given to the officers of the pilot service warning them against proceeding to sea from Saugor anchorage when the weather is threatening and every indication of a coming gale is brewing.

First Asst. Master-Attendant.

Report made to the Master-Attendant by Licensed Master Pilot Lindquist and J. Landron, Master of Barque "Champion."

Dated H. M.'s Floating Light Vessel Planet, 2nd July 1872.

I REGRET having to report the abandoning of the barque Champion of Jersey, about fifty miles S. E. by S. of False Point Light-house, consequent on injuries received during the cyclone of Sunday, June 30th, 1872, the particulars of which are as follows:—

Thursday, the 27th ultimo, at 8 P.M., cast off steamer Columbus, E. C. F. L. vessel, bearing E. S. E. about 3 miles; wind east, made all sail on port tack and stood down south.

Friday, the 28th, 1 A.M., wind veered to S. S. W., tacked ship, wind falling light and squally. 6 A.M., wind freshening, took in top gallant sails and main top mast staysail. 9 A.M., wind increasing, took in upper topsails, jib, spanker, and mainsail. Noon, shipped a heavy sea, washing away long boat, all spare spars, and moveable things about the decks, also stove in pinnace on the skids, ship labouring heavily, and completely flooded with water fore and aft. 2 P.M., hauled the foresail up, wind still increasing. 7 P.M., sighted Mutlah steam vessel bearing N. E. 8 P.M., blowing a gale from southward, ship headreeking under lower topsails, fore, and mizen staysails. Wind hauling more to eastward and heavy sea, driving ship to northward; midnight, Mutlah steam vessel bearing E. by S.; on finding vessel driving so fast to northward, considered it advisable to bring ship to an anchor. Took in sail, and brought ship up in 11 fathoms, Mutlah steam vessel bearing S. E. about 3 miles, veered to 75 fathoms on both chains, being unable to give her any more owing to decks being flooded with water, and the chain pipes being well aft and low on the deck.

Saturday, the 29th, 3 A.M., parted starboard chain, blowing a hard gale with heavy sea running and hard squalls. 8 A.M., seeing vessel could not hold on much longer, cut away main top mast, taking the mizen top gallant mast with it. Throughout the remainder of the day heavy squalls, mountanous sea, vessel shipping large quantities of water, washing away bulwarks fore and aft.

Sunday, the 30th, 0·30 A.M., port and last chain parted, carrying the windlass away at the time. Set mizen staysail to keep ship to the wind. Blowing too heavily to make sail to work out. Gale increasing to a cyclone, and wind gradually hauling to eastward. 7 A.M., mizen staysail blew away, sent all hands aloft to pass extra gaskets round the sails. 8 A.M., shipped a very heavy sea over the quarter, carrying away wheel chains, splitting the main piece of the rudder, washing the port quarter boat out of the davits, smashing the skylight, and the hatch of the steerage. Called all hands on the poop, and told them to make themselves fast with life lines. Passed a buoy with two baskets on it, appearing to be painted red and black horizontally. All the head sails, foretopsail, and foresail blew away. Wind gradually hauling all round the compass, ship drifting under bare poles, sea continually breaking clean over her and raining in torrents. Observed the iron band of the tiller round the rudder head split. Got spare tiller aft, and shipped it. 2 P.M., both chain covers washed off the chain pipes, and forehead ventilator leading into the hold ripped from its fastening in the deck; large quantities of water going below. Had great difficulty in getting new covers on. On attempting to pump ship several men got severely hurt from the sea; others washed overboard and back again. The crew's house got completely gutted of chests and bunks. 10 P.M., found rudder had completely gone just below the head, having torn the gudgeons clean out of the stern post. Made a tarpaulin fast in weather-mizen rigging to keep ship to the wind. Midnight, cyclone at its height, and heavy seas continually falling aboard and sweeping her fore and aft.

Monday, July 1st, daylight, weather slightly moderating; observed ship to have a quantity of water in her; stationed all hands to the pumps, and heaving cargo overboard from the afterhold. Water gradually gaining on the pumps, and ship settling down to starboard fast, having the lee rail up to the main hatch entirely under water. Noon, observed a sail to windward, made signal of distress, stranger bore up, which turned out to be the F. L. V. Planet adrift from her station. Captain and officers mutually agreed it was advisable to abandon the vessel, and all hands were taken out by the boats of the Planet. I am happy to state that no lives were lost.

CAPTAIN E. J. BUTLER, First Assistant Master-Attendant.

John Roche saith,—I was an A. B. on board of the ship Rothesay. She was a wooden ship. She was over 1,400 tons. She was a British vessel belonging to Glasgow There were 30 of us all told on board. I had come out here from Liverpool. She was well found in gear and ground tackle. We were outward-bound for Bombay with rice, jute, sugar, grain, and gunny. On Saturday, the 29th, we dropped down the river in tow of a steamer. We arrived off Saugor about 5 P.M. the next evening. We went to sea on Saturday. I cannot say how the wind was then. We were then on the starboard tack. It was blowing pretty fresh. We could not see the pilot brigs. We had a pilot on board, his name was Elson. He had a small native boy with him as a servant. We were unable to land the pilot. We lost one of our topsails on Saturday night. On the Sunday it was blowing a cyclone up to midday. We lost all our sails—the mizen top-mast and top-gallant-mast, and the head of the mizen-mast. The Captain gave orders for the fore-top-gallant back stays to be cut to let the top-gallant-mast agoing. It did not go till night. We cleared away the wreck that was hanging over the ship's side. About midday it cleared a good deal. It was nearly a calm with not much of a sea; but what there was was cross. About 2-30 or 3 P.M. the breeze freshened, and as the Captain called it, a second cyclone came on, and the wind went right round the compass. I think that we were in the centre of the second cyclone. All our bulwarks were carried away. Twenty-seven inches were sounded in her well. We were ordered to the pumps, and were at them all night. There was a donkey engine for the pumps; but as there was so much water it could not be used. The water increased to 30 inches. We kept her at that for some length of time by constantly pumping. At 10 P.M. a house on deck, the donkey engine and the boats were washed away. All the boats went. One of the men a boatswain's mate, who was sick, was sleeping in the house and he was killed. The house fell on the top of him. We kept on pumping until about 2-30 A. M., and then we went below to see if we could see any water there. The house had a ventilator which went down to the lower hold. The upper part of this was washed away; a little water got down that. The after hatch was washed away, and we covered it over with canvass. When it got daylight the Captain came on deck and he called on some of us to make a raft. We made it by about 8 A.M. We found ourselves in four fathoms of water at this time, and the pilot ordered the anchors to be let go. We let go the port anchor but it parted, and we let go the starboard anchor with 60 fathoms of chain. The Captain ordered all hands to launch the raft. Our Captain's name was Robert Mayne. The raft was launched, but in the launching the Captain got his leg broken in two places, and the 2nd mate was washed overboard and he sank. He went by the name of Mr. Bury. The ship was laboring very hard then, and the decks were washing up. We lashed the Captain on the raft. There were 12 of us on the raft, and the pilot jumped from the ship and swam to us. When we got under the ship's quarter another man also swam to us. The Captain asked us and the mate, who was his son, to put him back on the ship, as his leg was broken, and he was going to die. He was put back. The mate took him back, but did not rejoin us. He remained on the ship. We drifted out to sea. The pilot said that he did not know where we were. We drifted on with the tide in and out. There was a strong current. The wind had abated by this time; it was about 9-30 A.M. on the 1st instant, that we left the ship. We kept her in sight all day. Sometimes the sea used to turn her round, and at about 5 P.M. of the same day she healed over on her broadside. We were about three or four miles from her then. The pilot stood up on the raft to see if he could see her. That was the last we saw of the ship. All Monday night we were on the raft. On Tuesday we lost one man, whose name I don't know. He got out of his senses and said he was going to lie down on the forecastle. He let go the raft and sank. Another man also shortly after got delirious and he sank. Six altogether got so. Some of the men proposed to make a second raft out of the spars that the drowned men had abandoned, and that was done. These men and the pilot went to make it. Each man had one of the booms, and they lashed them together. One named Fraser said to a man named Butler on the second raft "Good bye, I am going home;" he went away and was drowned. Butler said I cannot stand this any longer, I am going to lie down; he went and was drowned. The pilot went in the same way. He was delirious also. We lost the pilot's boy out of our raft. It was in the same way. We were all dizzy and queer, and on some part of the Tuesday night we got on the Chandpore beach. We lay on the beach that night. In the morning we saw a light-house. We got together by about midday. Some natives came and put us into a house in the cutcherry, and gave us rice to eat. We stayed there for two days, and the police came and the Inspector took us to a Baboo's house. He gave us some fowl, and then we walked sixteen miles to Contai and saw the Magistrate there. The Civil Engineer put us into one of the Government houses there. We waited for four days. We were eventually brought up in Government boats. We left our moorings from the Esplanade on Monday, the 24th June. We anchored at Garden Reach, and weighed anchor on the 25th June. We got to Diamond Harbour on that day and anchored there. We got away from there on the 26th instant, about 8 or 9 A.M. We anchored at Mud Point on that day. Next we anchored somewhere else. It was the 28th June when we anchored at Saugor. We left Saugor next day and went straight on. As we were going out a tug vessel was coming in, and she wrote on a board that there was a heavy sea outside. I did not know that the vessel had been bumping in the four fathoms water. The ship's draft was 21 feet aft. There was much sea on. When we got the four fathoms sounding we were ordered to march off from the pumps to launch the raft. The water was in her hold then. I don't know how much. She was aground then. The pilot was engaged in launching the raft. He was exerting himself. He was sober as far as I could see. All hands were sober. On Sunday night I went into the mate's cabin to ask what the barometer was, and I saw that he had a bottle, and that the mate and the pilot and the boatswain were there. I thought that she was a gone ship when we left her. The Captain thought so too; so did the pilot.

John Zemker, saith,—I was an A. B. on board the Rothesay. I remember that we got under weigh for the last time on a Friday. We went right out on that night. I can't say how the wind was. The wind was ahead. Whilst we were being towed out we set the fore-top-mast staysail. After we were cast off, we set the topsails and the foresail, and I think we set some kind of mainsail. The main-top-gallant-sail. I don't know how the wind was then. There was a stiff breeze and a good sea on. We had to take the top-gallant-sail in again. We went about when we saw the light-ship. It blew hard that night. Next morning we had to shorten sail. We reefed the top sails. The wind freshened up a little on that day. At 6 to 8 that night we furled the mainsail and the upper top sails and reefed the foresail. It commenced to blow harder after that. At 8 P.M. I went to the wheel. I had a conversation with the man that I had relieved, and the Captain said that he could hold it by himself. I tried it and it threw me over and knocked me in between two stanchions. I hurt my knees and my ribs. I lay there ten minutes, the Captain and the pilot came up I took the wheel. The pilot pulled me out. The Captain said, "we must take in sail as the breeze is coming hard up." The pilot said, "all right." I heard it blowing heavily that night. The vessel shipped seas that night. I was down below from my injuries, and on Sunday morning I was told by a shipmate to come out and save my life. I then saw that the house was washed away; every thing that was movable was washed away. We were at the pumps, but when it was light we were ordered to make a raft. The ship was in a sinking state when I went on deck. I heard that four fathoms soundings were given, but I don't believe it, as she did not bump. The Captain got his leg broken when we were getting the raft on board; and we missed the 2nd mate at the same time. I jumped into the sea and reached the raft; the pilot did the same. There were fifteen of us on the raft. We only saw the ship for about two hours after we left her. When I last saw her she was over on her starboard beam ends. We drifted out to sea in the raft. We lost some men from them. We made two rafts out of the one. The men got light headed and dropped off the rafts; the pilot did so. Each raft lost three persons. We got ashore on the next night. I don't know the name of the place. We got ahead of the second raft. Only one man, named Fraser, was saved upon the second raft. I never felt the vessel bump. All the crew that were not disabled worked as hard as they could. No officer has been saved. Every one was sober as far as I know. We all got a glass of grog before we left the vessel.

Aaron Fraser saith,—I was an A. B. on board the ship Rothesay. We left Calcutta on the 25th, in tow of a tug, we got to Diamond Harbour; on the 26th June we got to Saugor, and on the 27th June we were towed out to the Ridge Light, and the tow boat left us. I was heaving the lead from the time that we left the Inner Light till the tow boat cast off. I think that the wind was about north-east, and we stood away to the south-west, with our three lower topsails, foretopmast staysail, spanker, and foresail. We stood that way for about two hours, and then we went about in order to fetch a light-ship. We ran under the light-ship's stern and the pilot hailed her. The pilot and light-ship's captain had a conversation. After we had cleared the light-ship we steered away to the south-west again; this brought us to midnight, and we could not see any pilot brig. We hove to until day-light; day-light was very thick; a heavy sea was running, and there was a stiff breeze. We hove the deep sea lead and got nine fathoms. The pilot said we ought to be just on the Brigs station. About two hours after the wind hauled round and became fair, and then the Captain and pilot agreed to go to sea. We got all our topsails, a reef foresail, and mainsail out, and stood away down the Bay; that was on the 28th June. We went on all that night; the wind was free. On the morning of Saturday the wind increased, and we reefed the foresail and main upper topsails and stowed the mizen upper topsail. At mid-day we took in the mainsail. In the first day watch we took in the foresail and fore and main upper topsail and we went on pretty easy, until midnight; then we got a squall from the north-west, and it carried away the fore topsail and the fore topmast staysail. About an hour after the main topsail went and then the mizen. Next morning, about 8 o'clock, the Captain told the boatswain to cut away the mizen topmast backstay; he did so, and the mizen topmast went over the side. At 10 A.M. the wind lulled; some men were aloft, gathering in the old canvass, and stowing canvass and clearing up the decks, and the Captain called the carpenter and told him to sound the pumps. The ship had then 37 inches of water in her, and all hands were called to pump ship. We pumped from mid-day till 4 P.M. We got a second cyclone; it blew harder than the first. At 7 P.M. the two boats and the skids were washed away, and three water-tanks that were lashed on deck. At mid-night the deck-house was washed away, and there was a square ventilator in the house. Nothing was placed over the ventilator till next morning, and at every sea several tons of water went down it. We could not get to the ventilator in consequence of the wreck from the house on deck. About 4 A.M. I went down the after-hatch to see if the water was visible. No water could be seen there until day-light. At day-light water was up to her 'tween-decks and she was going down fast. We were still all hands at the pumps. The Captain called four of us from the pumps to lend a hand to make a raft from different booms and yards. We made the raft. The water was gaining, and every time the ship rolled you could see the water within about six feet of the upper deck. When the raft was made the pilot heaved the lead, and we got five fathoms. There was a very heavy sea. We let go the starboard anchor with forty-five fathoms of chain. The chain parted. We let go the port anchor with sixty fathoms, and the ship swung head to the sea. As soon as she swung head to the sea she commenced sinking, and the Captain called all hands to launch the raft. We launched it, and whilst launching it a heavy sea came over and broke the Captain's leg in two places. He asked us to take him up in his stall-room. They took him on the poop and laid him there. Fifteen of us got on the raft, and then we found that the raft would not bear any more, for we were up to our chests then. The mate remained on board the ship and cut the raft adrift. When the Captain broke his leg the second mate was washed away. The mate stood at the stern looking at us. I said to him—"Won't you jump Mr. Mayne;" he said—"I cannot leave my father." The pilot jumped and swam to the raft, and we drifted away for about two miles, when we saw the ship give a heavy roll and heel over on her beam ends. We saw no more of her. We drifted two days and two nights on the raft. On Tuesday night we divided the raft and made a smaller one. Myself, the pilot, John Butler, and a man whose name I don't remember, got on the small raft, and about 9 o'clock that night John Butler and the other man went out of their minds and cast themselves adrift, and one tried to drown me. After about two hours the other man swam away from the raft and gave a shout and went down. Shortly after Butler said to me—"Fraser, good-bye, I must go as that other man has gone, for I want to turn in." I shook hands with him, and he let go the raft and went down. I said to the pilot Mr. Elson, "We can make the raft all serene." He said, "Oh Fraser I cannot hold out any longer." I said "You don't mean to give up already;" he said "Yes, Fraser, I cannot help it." I took the piece of line he had round his waist, and I made him fast to the raft, and whilst I was lashing the raft, he cast himself adrift and rolled off the spar and I caught him by the hair and dragged him back, and I was going to make him fast again when he let go his hold and was going down. I caught him by the hair again, and I missed my hold, and he was taking me down with him, so I was forced to let him go. In about two minutes he came up again. I was just stooping over when he came up right behind me and said "Oh my wife" and went down again. About two hours afterwards I found myself on the beach; I lay down there and slept till next morning. Then I found myself down by a place called Balasore. I walked to a house and met eight more of the other raft. We walked to a place called Contai with two native policemen. Then the Magistrate kept us three or four days and gave us a shirt and a pair of trowsers a piece, plenty to eat, and three boats to take us to Calcutta. The canoes brought us to Calcutta. I never felt the vessel bumping, and we must have felt it if she did bump. I am sure that she was not safe enough for any one to have stopped by her. Every one did his best to save her. Four of her crew hurt themselves on Sunday morning. The carpenter was injured. Every one was sober. When I was on the raft I passed a barque with her mizen-mast standing. Where we landed we found much of the wreck of our vessel on shore.

OPINION.

IT appears from the evidence that the ship Rothesay left Saugor on the 27th June 1872 in pilotage charge of Mr. Licensed Master Pilot J. H Elson, with the same indications of an approaching gale as the barque Champion had, viz. a low barometer and the wind E.

The Committee is of opinion that it was imprudent to leave a safe anchorage with the above indication of a coming breeze.

Like the Champion too this vessel was near if not in the centre of the hurricane, and after losing her spars, boats, and having her decks swept, and washing away the deck-house thereby exposing a ventilator which led to the lower hold, and down which said ventilator large quantities of water went with every sea shipped, and it was with considerable difficulty attended with danger to life that the said ventilator was at last covered over. At this time however the vessel was a complete wreck, and the Committee are of opinion that the Commander, officers, pilot, and crew, did their utmost and all that could possibly have been done under the circumstances was done to save the ship.

The committee are also of opinion that vessels should not leave Saugor for sea in the months of June and July with threatening weather, low barometer, and every indication of an approaching gale at hand.

Nos. 2705-05½, dated Calcutta, the 1st August 1872.

To—The Secy. to the Chamber of Commerce and Offg. Master-Attendant.

I AM directed to forward to you a copy of the papers noted on the margin, regarding certain wrecks which occurred during the recent cyclone at the Sandheads.

Proceedings of a Committee of Inquiry into the wrecks of the Champion and Rothesay, dated 11th July 1872.

2. In the cases of the Champion and Rothesay, the Committee of Inquiry found that the barometers of both vessels indicated the approach of a storm, and they were of opinion that in the face of this warning it was imprudent to proceed to sea. They recommend that a general order should be given to the officers of the Pilot Service, warning them against proceeding to sea from Saugor anchorage during the months of June or July when the weather is threatening and there is already wind and a low barometer.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to be favored with the opinion of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Master-Attendant on this recommendation of the Committee. His Honor himself has doubts as to the expediency of issuing such an order, for we do not know for certain which are the worst cyclone months; while we believe that cyclones may occur in April, May, September, and October, as well as during the months named by the Committee. It would manifestly be inexpedient thus to fetter the discretion of masters of vessels during half the year. At the same time there is very much to be said for the Committee's view; and whatever be the result of their recommendation, it will be an advantage that the attention of masters, owners, and shippers, should be directed to the views of the Committee.

The prospects of the rice crop this week, though by no means good, are still less gloomy than they were last week. Some heavy rain has fallen in part of the district, and transplanting is being carried on less successfully. In the higher lands irrigation has become necessary. Rice has fallen in price. Other crops are flourishing.	The general health of the district is good. A few isolated cases of cholera.
3	Beerbhoom ...	„ 3rd	6·73	Rain has been very general in the district during the week.	The state of the crops is still backward for the time of year; but the rain this week will be of great use, and the transplanting of paddy is going on rapidly.
4	Midnapore ...	„ 3rd	3·81	Cloudy, with occasional showers.	Rain much wanted. Transplanting of rice crop backward owing to dryness of all but the lowest lands. Many irrigation leases have been taken. Rainfall in interior much less than at sudder station.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 3rd	1·68	Cloudy and rainy ...	Transplanting of amun in south of the district still delayed for want of rain.
	Howrah ...	„ 3rd	1·21	It has rained almost daily throughout the district in slight showers.	Sugarcane, jute, sun hemp, and aus paddy, are doing well, but heavier rain is required for the transplanting of the amun dhan. In some parts transplanting and ploughing are going on but slowly.	Dengue fever reappearing.

RAJSHAHYE DIVISION. 9	Moorshedabad ..	Aug. 3rd	6·70	Little or no rain throughout the week until Friday, the 2nd instant, when there was a very heavy downpour.	Towards the beginning of the week the prospects of the crops were not so good as they had been, owing to the want of rain; but the late fall of rain has done an immense deal of good, specially to the amun dhan crop, which is being transplanted. The ous dhan and sugarcane crops are promising. The heavy rain has rather injured the mulberry.	Dengue subsiding.
10	Dinagepore ...	„ 3rd	8·77	Rain general throughout the district, except in one or two places; the fall reported sufficient.	The heavy rain of past week has been most opportune. The operations for completing planting out of ropa dhan are being pushed on. Other crops doing well.
11	Maldah ...	„ 2nd	2·91	Rainy	The growing crops—bhadoi, bhutta, kherry, &c., are in a satisfactory state, and a full crop is expected. Hymanti is being sown.
12	Rajshahye ...	„ 3rd	4·64	Cloudy and with more or less rain on five days of the week.	The rain that has fallen this week has improved the prospects of the paddy crops slightly, but the ous paddy is not expected to yield a plentiful harvest this year. The amun is still going on well; but for it and for the ous more rain is still required. The rain this week came on at a most unfortunately critical time for the rearers of silk worms, as many silk-worms, when just ready to spin, have died off in consequence of the change of weather.
13	Rungpore ...	„ 3rd	10·80	Cool; plenty of rain everywhere. At the sub-divisional headquarters of Bhowaneegunge 16·48 inches of rain fell.	At the sudder station there has been plenty of rain, which has been productive of good to the amun crops. More however is wanted in some parts of the district. Jute and sugarcane are doing well near Bhowaneegunge.
14	Bograh ...	„ 3rd	5·66	Occasional heavy showers of rain; alternate cloud and sunshine, the latter preponderating.	The rain has been general in the district, and has been most beneficial.	Fever prevails but not in an unusual degree.
15	Pubna ...	„ 3rd	3·94	Fine, showery, and favorable.	The rain during the last four days has been most beneficial to the rice crops, which have greatly recovered from the late dearth. Indigo and turmeric doing well.

Cooch Behar Division.	16	Darjeeling ...	Aug. 3rd	7·68	Much warmer and less rain than usual at this season of the year.	In the hills much the same as last week. The burra bhutta suffered from very high wind in some places, but not to any great extent. In the Terai the people complain in places of want of rain, and the low-lying rice cannot be planted out in consequence. Rice is dear in the district.	Cholera is abating. The four native doctors arrived last week, and have had portions of the district allotted to each.
	17	Julpigoree ...	„ 3rd	3·02	No heavy rain, but constant showers. Weather cloudy and comparatively cool.	The rain that has fallen this week has been sufficient to prevent the hymanti dhan being damaged, but a great deal more rain is needed to ensure its being a good crop. Rice and other provisions are rising in price owing to short rainfall.	Cholera still hangs about in parts of district.

42	Lohardduggah ...	„ 3rd	3·38	Cool and cloudy, with continual light rain.	The reports of all the high land crops are very favorable; and in Chota Nagpore Proper the prospects of the rice crop are very fair also. The rainfall however is still very short—only some 10¼ inches up to date.

50	Luckimpore ...	„ 27th	8·56	Up to Friday weather oppressively hot, rain occurring only at night. Heavy rainfall to-day which still continues. Fair generally as regards the jhums, but not at all satisfactory as regards the "pathur" crops, for which much more rain is sadly wanted.
52	Khasi and Jynteah Hills.	„ 27th	3·5	Weather seasonable—showers and fine.	Favorable. No changes in the prospects of the crops have taken place during the week.
53	Garo Hills ...	„ 27th	3·47	There has been but little rain during the past week. To-day we have had some heavy showers.	In some places the crops are poor; they want rain. In Dánágirri the Deputy Commissioner noticed the rice crop was scanty, but in other Garo villages visited by him there was good promise.

NOTE.

Barometrics Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page by adding the weight of a column of air of the corresponding temperatures given in column 17. For stations of above 500 feet elevation, the reduction is made by Dippe's tables as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahr. for every 350 feet.

Wind, Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and the comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The latter is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The mean direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 10 and one completely overcast by 0.

The above being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

Réglement applicable à la perception des droits sanitaires.

ART 1.

Les droits sanitaires, dans l'Empire ottoman, sont basés sur le tonnage des navires (art. 2 du tarif). Le tonneau ottoman (égal au tonneau anglais) pèse 792 occues. Une table de conversion, annexée au tarif, indique le rapport entre le tonneau ottoman et les tonneaux des différents pays étrangers dont la mesure est variable. La taxe sanitaire étant payable sur le pied du tonneau ottoman, les agents sanitaires prendront pour règle de la perception des droits, la table de conversion sus-indiquée. Une seconde table, également annexée au tarif, indique le chiffre de la taxe à prélever depuis un tonneau jusqu'à 500, et depuis 501 jusqu'à 1000 et au-dessus.

ART. 2.

Le tonnage des navires étrangers sera constaté par l'exhibition de l'acte de leur nationalité respective qui en donne le chiffre. Quant aux navires ottomans, dans le cas de doute, il sera vérifié avec le concours des autorités du Liman.

ART. 3.

Tous les navires, quelle qu'en soit la nationalité, payeront la taxe sanitaire à leur arrivée dans le premier port ottoman, s'il viennent de l'etranger. Il en est de même des navires qui naviguent d'un port ottoman à un autre port ottoman. Mais le navires à destination de Constantinople, quelle qu'en soit la provenance, et ceux qui traversent les détroits pour se rendre dans la mer Noire, et vice-versa pour aller dans la Méditerranée, payeront la taxe à Constantinople, à l'Office de Galata s'ils viennent de la Méditerranée, à celui de Kavac d'Asie ou de Buyukdéré s'ils viennent de la mer Noire.

ART. 4.

La taxe une fois payée, dans le port de premier arrivée ou à Constantinople, selon les cas, n'est plus exigible pendant le cours du même voyage jusqu'à l'arrivée à destination du navire (art. 3 du tarif).

Le cours du voyage est fixé par la patente de santé qui constate le point de départ du navire et indique le port de sa destination.

En conséquence, la patente de santé ne sera pas changée dans le cours d'un voyage. Elle sera seulement visée dans chaque port ottoman de relâche. La nouvelle patente est livrée lorsqu'un navire a atteint sa destination et qu'il en repart pour faire un autre voyage.

ART. 5.

Les capitaines des navires ayant payé la taxe sanitaire soit dans le premier port d'arrivée, soit à Constantinople, recevront un reçu (teskéré) de l'agent qui l'aura perçue. Le reçu porte un talon que les capitaines devront détacher à leur arrivée dans le premier port ottoman subséquent qu'ils peuvent aborder après avoir payé la taxe réglementaire. Ils le remettront á l'agent sanitaire du lieu, en lui présentant en même temps, sans le lui livrer, le reçu ou teskéré de la perception

ART. 6.

Les capitaines qui ne seront pas posseurs du dit teskéré (à moins qu'ils ne puissent prouver, soit pas la visa de la patente, soit par d'autres moyens valables, d'avoir payé la taxe réglementaire) devront en verser le montant á l'agent sanitaire du lieu. Dans ce cas, il en sera dressé procès-verbal et envoyé à Constantinople.

Régle générale, la libre pratique ne sera accordée à aucun navire sujet à la taxe (en parfaite règle d'ailleurs sous le rapport sanitaire) qu'après l'acquittement des droits fixés par le tarif.

ART. 7.

Au départ des navires qui auront payé la taxe, les agents sanitaries en feront mention dans le visa de la patente de santé en y indiquant la somme perçue en toutes lettres.

ART. 8.

Les capitaines qui refuseraient d'acquitter la taxe réglementaire et qui partiraient en contravention de l'article 2 du tarif, seront légalement poursuivis, et l'agent sanitaire leur refusera, à son tour, le visa de départ. Dans ce cas, les contrevenants seront passibles de l'amende réglementaire de 2 à 12 livres medjidié qu'il devront payer conjointement avec le montant de la taxe dans le port ottoman subséquent, à défaut de quoi ils seront retenus en quarantaine à leurs frais et risques.

ART 9.

Les navires ottomans de cabotage seront munis d'une patente, ou livret, valable pour six mois à un an. Elle sera visée dans tous les ports où ils abordent. Le chiffre du tonnage y sera marqué et servira de règle pour la perception de la taxe.

ART 10.

Les capitaines et patrons des navires ou bateaux faisant des voyages entre une échelle et une autre où il n'y a point d'agent sanitaire, dès qu'ils seront arrivés dans un port où se trouve un agent, sont tenus de déclarer à ce dernier le nombre de voyages qu'il auront faits et de payer les droits pour chaque voyage. Il est entendu qu'il ne s'agit pas ici de relâches accidentelles, mais de cours complets de voyage, ainsi qu'il est dit dans l'article 4 du présent règlement.

ART. 11.

Un registre, conformé au modèle ci-annexé, sera tenu par les agents sanitaires. Ils y inscriront la date de l'arrivée du navire, son nom, le nom du capitaine, le pavillon, le tonnage, la provenance, la destination, le genre de cargaison, les droits payés, la nature et la date de la patente, les numéros de teskéré et de renvoi. Ce registre, formant l'état mensuel du mouvement maritime du port, entrée et sortie, sera transmis à la fin de chaque mois, au plus tard dans les 15 jours suivants, à l'Administration supérieure de Constantinople.

ART. 12.

Les agents dits preposés sanitaires qui occupent des postes subalternes dans une circonscription médicale, enverront l'état mensuel sus-mentionné à la fin de chaque mois à l'Office de santé à médecin dont ils relévent. Comme la plupart de ces préposés ne connaissent que la langue turque, leurs états seront faits en cette langue. Les kiatibs des Offices en tireront copie pour être gardée dans les archives de la circonscription, et l'original sera envoyé à l'Administration à Constantinople. Les kiatibs enverront en même-temps à l'Administration en langue turque, l'état mensuel du port où ils résident. Cependant là où il y a un directeur, cet envoi sera fait, comme de raison, par ce fonctionnaire.

Ce même état mensuel, en y conprenant le relevé des postes secondaires traduit du turc, sera expédié à l'Administration par le médecin sanitaire du chef-lieu de la circonscription. Les médecins en garderont le registre original dans leurs archives à la disposition de l'Administration supérieure de Constantinople.

ART 13.

Dans let postes où il existe un directeur sanitaire, celui-ci devra apposer son propre sceau, ainsi que le sceau de service, sur les états mensuels à transmettre à l'Administration, et le médecin de l'Office y mettra, comme toujours, sa signature. La responsabilité de l'exactitude des états mensuels leur revient également à l'un comme à l'autre.

ART 14.

Les agents subalternes, ou préposés, enverront á l'Office principal de la circonscription, á la fin de chaque mois, conjointement avec les états mensuels, les souches des reçus (teskérés) qu'ils auront été dans le cas de livrer aux capitaines et patrons, contre la perception des droits Elles seront gardées dans les archives des Offices principaux à la disposition de l'Administration.

Les directeurs et les médecins sont responsables de la conservation de ces documents, ainsi que de tout autre document concernant la comptabilité et, en général, le service qu'il dirigent.

ART 15.

Les kiatibs en seront tout aussi responsables en ce qui les concerne, mais plus spécialement encore ceux attachés aux Offices où il n'y a pas de directeur. Dans ce cas, ils remplacent ce dernier, encaissent l'argent et le gardent, sous la direction et la surveillance du médecin. La caisse, à deux serrures différentes, est fermée à double clé dont l'une est entre les mains du directeur ou du kiatib, l'autre du médicin.

ART. 16.

Les fonds provenant de la preception des droits, devant être administrés directement par le Conseil supérieur de Santé, les encaissements doivent être dirigés sur Constantinople. Chaque Office du littoral réunira les fonds de sa circonscription et en transmettra le montant, avec les documents mensuels, à l'Administration supérieure de la Capitale. Ce détail très-important au point de vue de la rentrée des fonds dans la caisse générale, pourra d'ailleurs recevoir telle forme dont l'expérience aura démontré l'utilité pratique.

ART 17.

En conséquence, il ne sera permis de puiser, à quelque titre que ce soit, même pour des besoins les plus urgents, à la caisse des fonds de l'Office, sans une autorisation spéciale de l'Administration. Les préposés enverront à la fin du mois à l'Office dont ils relèvent le montant de la recette. A leur tour, les Offices feront parvenir mensuellement à l'Administration les sommes provenant du prélèvement des droits de toute la circonscription.

ART 18.

Les appointements des employés et les frais de l'Office seront payés par la caisse générale tous les mois. L'Administration trouvera le moyen le plus pratique pour faire cette opération de la manière la plus expéditive et la plus sûre.

ART 19.

La plus stricte responsabilité pèse sur les employés supérieurs, directeurs, médecins, kiatibs et préposés, pour tout ce qui concerne la comptabilité du service qui leur est confiée respectivement.

Ils auront soin de ne pass traiter dans leur rapports mensuels ayant trait à la comptabilité aucun autre sujet étranger à cette question.

Lu au Conseil de Santé et approuvé dans la séance du 11 Décembre 1871.

The following Orders issued by the Government of India, in the Military Department, are republished for general information :—

No. 772.—Simla, the 30*th July* 1872.—Frequent complaints having been received of the idleness and inattention of many of the Native medical pupils who, under the provisions of paragraph 41 of Government General Order No 560 of 1868, are attached to medical schools and colleges for the prescribed course of study, the Right Hon'ble the Governor-General in Council is pleased to authorize the Principals of Schools and Colleges to withhold or to withdraw the increase of pay given after the first year's residence from those medical pupils who, from idleness or other misconduct within their own control, have failed to make due progress in their studies.

Each case in which this authority is exercised is to be reported, through the Local Government, for confirmation by the Government of India in the Military Department.

No. 797, the 1*st August* 1872.—The Government of India having been in communication with the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State in regard to the measures to be adopted towards reducing the number of unemployed officers of the armies of the three Presidencies, the Governor General in Council is pleased to publish, for general information, the following orders containing the final decision of Her Majesty's Government.

2. Her Majesty's Government have decided not to offer any additional inducements for the retirement of unemployed officers, and that all officers of unimpeachable character and sound health, whose rank renders it difficult and, indeed, almost impossible, to find suitable staff employment for them in the present state of the service, shall nevertheless continue in the service, and at the disposal of Government under the existing regulations, so long as they retain their present fitness for active employment, and are prepared to discharge whatever duty the Government may think proper to call upon them to perform. Such of these officers as have attained, or may attain, the substantive rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, should they still continue unemployed, will have the option, as a temporary arrangement, of residing out of India upon British pay until their services are required, with the understanding that the time passed under these circumstances will count towards retiring pension as well as towards the Colonel's allowance, but they must be prepared to return to India for any active duty to which they may be called.

3. Unemployed officers who are ineligible for public employment, by reason either of clear misconduct or proved physical or mental inefficiency, or who have been removed from their appointment for inefficiency, or who have by distinct or undeniable misconduct, rendered themselves ineligible for regimental employment, will be called upon to send in their application to retire upon such pension as they may be entitled to under the regulations, and, if they should fail to do so within three months from the date of their being so called upon, they will be removed to the pension list. Her Majesty's Government do not object to special consideration being shown in the grant of the next higher rate of pension to those officers who have, in the opinion of the Governor-General in Council, deserved well of the State by reason of the length and character of their previous services.

4. The Governor-General in Council is also authorized to grant to such officers as are not yet entitled to full-pay pensions either the half-pay pension of their rank, or such special annuities, short of the pension of a Captain, as may be appropriate in each case.

5. Early communications will be addressed to all unemployed officers with a view to carrying the above orders into effect.

6. Moreover, in order to remove one of the causes through which officers come on the unemployed list, Her Majesty's Government have directed the following change to be made in the present Furlough Regulations as far as they apply to Staff Corps officers :

"All leave of absence granted by competent authority will henceforward involve retention of appointment. No officer will be allowed, on the plea of private affairs, to extend his leave, upon whatever grounds such leave may have been originally granted, beyond two years, except upon satisfactory evidence of very urgent necessity."

"The rule contained in the 2nd clause* of paragraph 13 of the Furlough Rules of 1868 will be in all cases strictly observed."

* "In the event of an officer not being able to return to his duty after an absence of three years, it will rest with the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India in Council to order him to appear before a Medical Board with a view to placing him on the retired list if entitled to pension, or on the half pay list.

"Should the circumstances of the case warrant a further extension of leave, it can only be granted without pay."

The following Order issued by the Government of India, in the Marine Department, is republished for general information :—

No. 9.—Simla, the 31*st July* 1872.—The following notice, received from the Colonial Secretary, Cape of Good Hope, is published for general information :—

Misconduct on the part of regular police shall be punished in accordance with Act V of 1861 and the Penal Code, or any special law which may be extended to the Naga Hills hereafter Misconduct on the part of the rural police is punishable by fine, which may extend to Rs. 500, or by imprisonment to an extent which would be awardable under the Penal Code for a like offence. When the particular persons blameable for failure to aid in any community cannot be ascertained, the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or chief village authority, shall be considered responsible; and if it appears that the community is to blame, and that particular offenders cannot be discovered, a fine may be imposed upon the community, but by the Political Agent only.

III.—Criminal Justice.

16. Criminal justice shall be ordinarily administered by the Political Agent, his Assistant, and by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or other chief village authorities of the different communities.

The assistant to the Political Agent shall exercise such powers as he may be invested with by the Commissioner not exceeding those of a Magistrate of the first class as defined in Act X of 1872.

18. Any Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other chief village authority, may be empowered by the Political Agent to dispose of cases of persons charged with any of the following offences:—

Injury to property not exceeding Rs. 50.

Injury to person not endangering life or limb.

Affronts of whatever kind.

They may impose a fine for any offence they are competent to try to the extent of Rs. 50. They may award restitution or compensation to the extent of the injury sustained, and enforce it by distraint of the property of the offender. In cases in which the fine is not paid or realised either in whole or in part, they shall represent the facts and send in the offender to the Political Agent, who may retry the case and impose such other punishment as he is competent to inflict. All Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or other chief village authorities who may be empowered as above, shall receive a sunnud of recognition under the signature of the Political Agent.

19. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, may carry out their decision, or order attachment of property, as soon as judgment is pronounced; but in no case is property so attached to be sold, if the party convicted claim to appeal within eight days, without the orders of the Political Agent.

(a)—Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, may not decide in cases where their father, mother, son, daughter, wife, or the children, husbands, or wives, of any of these are concerned; or

20. The Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall not decide any cases save in open durbar, in presence of at least three witnesses and the complainant and accused, whose attendance they are empowered to compel. Either party may appeal from the decision at the time decision is pronounced, or within eight days thereof to the Political Agent or his Assistant, in which case the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other duly recognized authority, will take the parties or cause them to be sent before the Political Agent or his Assistant, with one of the persons required to attend as a court witness. The case shall then be tried de novo.

21. An appeal lies to the Political Agent from the decisions of his Assistant if preferred within sixteen days.

22. No appeal shall lie as a matter of right from the sentence of the Political Agent involving sentence of less than three years' imprisonment; but it is competent to the Commissioner to call for the record of any case whatever, and to modify or reverse the decision passed. All sentences of over three years' imprisonment are appealable to the Commissioner. Appeals to the Commissioner must be preferred within thirty-two days. All sentences above seven years must be confirmed by Commissioner, whose decision is final; but the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor reserves to himself the prerogative of reviewing the proceedings of the Commissioner and his subordinates, and passing such orders on them as he may deem fit.

23. The procedure of the Political Agent and his Assistant shall be in the spirit of the Code of Criminal Procedure as far as it is applicable to the circumstances of the district and consistent with these rules; the chief exceptions are—

(a)—Only verbal order or notice shall be requisite except when the regular police are employed, or the person concerned is not resident or in the district at the time; or if in the district, but resident beyond it, where his place of abode is not known. But orders of summons shall be for a fixed day not exceeding sixteen days from that upon which the order is issued, and the order shall be made known to the person affected or to some adult member of his family, or proclaimed at the place he was last known to be at, in sufficient time to allow him, if he see fit, to appear.

(b)—A note of the substance of all the proceedings in cases tried before them must be kept by the Political Agent and his Assistant in the form prescribed by section 228, Act X of 1872. In cases requiring a sentence exceeding three years, a full note of the evidence and proceedings must be kept. Examinations and proceedings shall generally be recorded in English only.

(c)—The proceedings of the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, need not be in writing; but if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

(d)—All fines levied by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall be paid to the Political Agent or his Assistant or other officer empowered to receive them within eight days from the date of realization.

(e)—It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

24. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall keep the registers hereafter specified, and make returns of copies of the entries therein monthly to the Commissioner:—

Register of crimes committed.

Register of criminal cases decided by the Political Agent and his Assistant.

Register of fines levied by the Political Agent and his Assistant and Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities.

Register of licences to carry fire-arms.

IV.—CIVIL RULES.

25. The administration of civil justice in the Naga Hills is entrusted to the Commissioner, the Political Agent, his Assistant, and by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas and other chief village authorities.

26. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas and other chief village authorities, may be recognized by the Political Agent by sunnud under his signature as empowered to try cases without limit as to amount, but with the following reservations:—

(a)—They may not try suits in which their fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, uncles, aunts, sisters, brothers, the children of the foregoing, their wives or persons in the above relation to a wife, or any near relative, are parties, nor suits in which a native of the plains or native of another village not resident in their jurisdiction are parties.

(b)—All suits must be decided in open durbar, in the presence of the parties and at least three respectable witnesses.

27. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities, have power to compel attendance of parties to any suit and their witnesses,—all such persons being resident within their own jurisdiction, and to fine, within the limit of Rs. 50, persons wilfully failing to attend. They have power to award all costs, also compensation to defendants for unfounded or vexatious suits brought against them.

28. All proceedings shall be vivâ voce, and the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall not be called upon to make either record or registry of their decision. After hearing both parties and their witnesses, if any, they shall, with or without the opinion of assessors, as they think fit, pronounce a decision forthwith. If at the trial any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

29. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities, may carry out their decision at once and order attachment of property to be made; but in no case is property so attached to be sold if the party cast claim to appeal within eight days. On such appeal being made, they shall send the parties and their witnesses to the Political Agent or his Assistant forthwith, or as soon as may be, and either accompany them or send one respectable person who has been present at the trial with them.

30. All notices given by Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities to parties or witnesses, shall be verbal, and for a fixed day not exceeding eight days from the day it is given. If a case be postponed, it shall be fixed for a day not exceeding eight days from the order, and the case may be subsequently adjourned for periods not exceeding eight days on good cause shown.

31. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall not ordinarily hear suits triable by Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, but they have a discretion to do so when they think right, and suits which under these rules the village authorities cannot try must be tried by the Political Agent or his Assistant. A register of all suits tried by the Political Agent and his Assistant shall be kept in such form as the Commissioner shall direct.

32. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall, in all cases in which the parties are indigenous inhabitants of the hills, endeavour to induce them to submit their case to punchayet. If they agree to this, each party shall name an equal number of arbitrators, and shall choose, or leave the arbitrators to choose, an umpire. The name and residence of arbitrators and umpire, and the matter in dispute, must be recorded before the proceedings commence, and the court will direct the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or some other recognized authority, to assemble the punchayet and witnesses within eight days. When the case has been decided, the umpire shall appear with the parties before the court, which shall proceed to record the decision and enforce it as its own. From such decision there shall be no appeal.

33. An appeal shall lie from the decision of the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or other duly recognized village authority to the Political Agent or his Assistant. A record shall be made of the matter in dispute and the decision of the village authority. If necessary the court shall examine the parties, and if the decision appears to be just, shall affirm and enforce it as one of its own. If the court sees reason to doubt the justice of the decision, it will try the case de novo, or refer it to a punchayet as above.

34. Houses, needful clothing, cooking utensils or implements whereby the owner subsists, may not be attached, sold, or transferred, in execution of decree, unless themselves the subject of the suit.

35. There shall be no imprisonment for debt, excepting in cases where the Political Agent is satisfied that the fraudulent disposal or concealment of property has taken place: in such case the debtor may be detained for a period not exceeding six months.

36. No appeal shall lie as of right to the Political Agent from decisions of his Assistant or from the Political Agent except as hereinafter provided; but the Political Agent, if he see fit, may call for the proceedings of any case decided by his Assistant, and the Commissioner may, upon application made, or otherwise, call for the proceedings of either of the lower courts, and revise them, provided that persons resident beyond the Naga Hills may appeal to the Commissioner within thirty-two days from the date of a decision. The appeal shall be accompanied by a copy of the judgment appealed against and a clear statement of the grounds of appeal. The appeal may be presented to the Political Agent, who shall, if it be in order, and presented in due time, endorse upon it the date of receipt and transmit it, with the proceedings in the suit, to the Commissioner, who, after perusal of the petition of appeal and judgment, and after hearing the agent of the appellant, if any, may dismiss the appeal, or may remit the case to the lower court for the record of further evidence, or for re-trial of fresh issues, or reserve the case for hearing before his own court, and shall confirm, modify, or reverse, the decision of the lower court, passing such orders as to costs as may appear just. The decree of the appellate court shall be transferred to the court of the Political Agent for execution as a decree of its own.

37. The courts of the Commissioner, the Political Agent, and his Assistant, shall be guided by the spirit, but not bound by the letter, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

38. No professional pleader or mooktear shall be allowed to appear in any case, except in cases before the Political Agent or his Assistant with the special permission of the Judge trying the case, or if the defendant reside beyond the jurisdiction of the court; but relatives may appear for persons incapacitated by age, sex, or sickness.

39. It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

They have power to award all costs, also compensation to defendants for unfounded or vexatious suits brought against them.

28. All proceedings shall be vivâ voce, and the sirdars and dollois or other duly recognised village authorities shall not be called upon to make either record or registry of their decision. After hearing both parties and their witnesses, if any, they shall with or without the opinion of assessors, as they think fit, pronounce a decision forthwith. But if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

29. Sirdars or dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities, may carry out their decisions at once, and order attachment of property to be made; but in no case is property so attached to be sold if the party cast claim to appeal within eight days. 31. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall not ordinarily hear suits triable by sirdars and dollois, or other duly recognised village authorities; but they have a discretion to do so when they think right; and suits which under these rules the village authorities cannot try, must be tried by the Deputy Commissioner or Assistant Commissioner. A register of all suits tried by the Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall be kept in such form as the Commissioner shall direct.

32. The Deputy Commissioner and Assistant Commissioner shall, in all cases in which the parties are indigenous inhabitants of the hills, endeavour to induce them to submit their case to a punchayet. If they agree to this, each party shall name an equal number of arbitrators, and shall choose, or leave the arbitrators to choose, an umpire. The name and residence of arbitrators and umpire, and the matter in dispute, must be recorded before the proceedings commence, and the court will direct the sirdar or dolloi or other recognised authority to assemble the punchayet and witnesses within eight days. When the case has been decided, the umpire shall appear with the parties before the court, which shall proceed to record the decision and enforce it as its own. From such decision there shall be no appeal.

If necessary, the court shall examine the parties; and if the decision appears to be just, will affirm and enforce it as one of its own. If the court sees reason to doubt the justice of the decision, it will try the case de novo or refer it to a punchayet as above.

34. Houses, needful clothing, cooking utensils, or implements whereby the owner subsists, shall not be attached, sold, or transferred in execution of decree, unless themselves the subject of the suit.

36. No appeal shall lie as of right from decisions of an Assistant Commissioner to the Deputy Commissioner, except as hereinafter provided; but the Deputy Commissioner if he see fit may call for the proceedings of any case decided by his assistant, and the Commissioner may, upon application made or otherwise, call for the proceedings of either of the lower courts and revise them; provided that persons resident beyond the Khasi and Jynteah Hills may appeal to the Commissioner within thirty-two days from the date of decision. The appeal shall be accompanied by a copy of the judgment appealed against and a clear statement of the grounds of appeal. The appeal may be presented to the Deputy Commissioner, who shall, if it be in order and presented in due time, endorse upon it the date of receipt, and transmit it with the proceedings in the suit to the Commissioner, who, after perusal of the petition of appeal and judgment, and after hearing the agent of the appellant, if any, may dismiss the appeal, or may remit the case to the lower court for the record of further evidence, or for re-trial on fresh issues, or receive the case for hearing before his own court to be held in the Khasi Hills, and shall confirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the lower court, passing such orders as to costs as may appear just. The decree of the appellate court shall be transferred to the court of the Deputy Commissioner for execution as a decree of its own.

37. The Courts of the Commissioner, Deputy and Assistant Commissioners, shall be guided by the spirit, but not bound by the letter, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

No. 24.

To District Judges, Judicial Commissioners, and Courts of Small Causes,—(dated Calcutta, the 24th July 1872.)

CIRCULAR Order No. 13, dated 4th June 1870, not having been found to answer the purpose for which it was issued, and having been extensively taken advantage of by parties to prefer appeals not warranted by law, the Court is pleased to withdraw it, and it is withdrawn from this date accordingly.

HIGH COURT, &c.,
CIVIL SIDE.
Present:
The Hon'ble Sir R. COUCH, Kt., Chief Justice.
The Hon'ble W. Markby,

By order of the High Court.

No. 25.

To all Civil Courts,—(dated Calcutta, the 15th July 1872.)

THE High Court is very frequently called upon to pass orders upon applications made under Section 12, Code of Civil Procedure, by District and other Judges for leave to proceed with the trial of suits for property situated within the limits of different districts, and also upon applications, chiefly from Courts of Small Causes, for orders to be made under Section 4, Act XXIII of 1861.

HIGH COURT, &c.,
CIVIL SIDE.
Present:
The Hon'ble Sir R. COUCH, Kt., Chief Justice.
The Hon'ble Louis S. Jackson,
" F. A. Glover,
" W. Ainslie,
Judges of the Court.

2. These applications, in a great number of instances, have not been accompanied by any sufficient statement of the facts of the case, and it seems to have been the common belief that such applications, and the orders of the High Court to be made upon them, are mere matters of form. But the controlling power entrusted to the High Court by the Sections above mentioned, is meant to be really exercised, and it cannot be exercised, without sufficient materials.

3. The Court therefore find it necessary to direct that in all applications under Section 12, Code of Civil Procedure, the facts shall be fully set forth, i.e., the names and residences of all the parties, and the nature and value of the different portions of the property in dispute, which are situated in various jurisdictions; and that when any of the defendants reside beyond the local jurisdiction of the Court in which the suit has been commenced, it shall appear that such defendants have had an opportunity of showing cause.

4. When the Court is asked to make an order under Section 4, Act XXIII of 1861, the facts should be similarly stated, and it should appear that, in the opinion of the Judge, it will be just and reasonable as regards defendants as well as plaintiffs, that the trial should take place in a jurisdiction within which one or more of them do not reside.

By order of the High Court.
W. CORNELL,
Offg. Registrar.

Memorandum from Officiating Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, dated 2nd June 1871, with enclosures
From Chairman of the Board of Agency, East Indian Railway, dated 1st September 1871.
From Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division, dated 28th September 1871, and enclosure
From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 16th November 1871.

To Board of Agency, East Indian Railway Company, dated 2nd October 1871
From ditto ditto ditto, dated 15th February 1872.
From Officiating Joint-Secretary, Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, dated 29th July 1872, with notes by the Assistant and Chief Engineers in that department.

We have received and considered the papers noted on the margin.

We have introduced a definition of the word "tenure" and altered that of "proprietor" in accordance therewith.

We have provided by a separate section for power to the engineer to alter railways on the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and also for the recovery of the cost of such alterations.

We have introduced a section defining certain embankments, as shown in a schedule annexed to the Act, and have made the Government alone responsible for the cost and repairs of those embankments.

We have altered the Chapter relating to the apportionment of the cost of the works, proceedings, &c., in view to empower the Collector to determine such apportionment between the proprietors as well as between the zemindars of the estates protected and benefited by such works, so as to avoid the necessity for recourse to the Civil Courts in cases of dispute arising in regard to that apportionment; and have provided for such apportionment being made in certain cases in respect to estates, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively paid for such estates.

We have made the recovery of contributions of zemindars and proprietors from their subordinate proprietors recoverable as arrears of rent due from patni-talookdars.

We have omitted the section of the former Bill giving power to zemindars and proprietors to recover a proportion of their payments from ryots having rights of occupancy.

Forms for certain notices, &c., prescribed by the Bill, have been prepared in the schedules.

Verbal and other alterations have been made which require no special mention.

We recommend that the Bill as now submitted be passed.

Power to remove embankments and obstructions.

5. The Engineer may cause to be removed or altered any permanent or temporary embankment which endangers the stability of a public embankment or any obstruction of any kind which interferes with the general drainage of any tract of land.

Power to change line of embankment.

6. The Enigneer may, when necessary, change the line of or lengthen any public embankment or make a new embankment in the place of or renew any public embankment or make an embankment in any place in which he may deem such embankment required for the protection of any lands.

Power to improve drainage.

7. The Engineer may effect any improvement or alteration in any water-course, channel or line of drainage when such improvement or alteration may be required for the protection of any village or cultivable land, and for that purpose may construct any sluice, weir or water-channel.

Applications for sluices to be made to Engineer.

8. If any landholder, farmer, or cultivator be desirous of having a sluice made in any public embankment for the purpose of drainage or irrigation, he shall make an application in writing to the Engineer of the district in which such embankment is situate. The application shall contain such particulars of the land to be drained or irrigated as may enable the Engineer to judge of the advantage which may be derived from the work.

Power to alter roads and construct water-courses.

9. The Engineer may call upon the person in charge of any road which interferes with the drainage of any tract of land to alter such road or to construct any water-course, culvert, pipe, or channel under or through such road. In the event of such person failing to comply with such requisition in such manner and within such time as the Engineer shall prescribe, the said Engineer may forthwith cause the said road to be altered, or the said water-course, culvert, pipe, or channel to be constructed. The expenses of such alteration or construction shall be borne by the person in charge of the said road.

Proceedings to obtain new embankment or drainage.

12. The Engineer may call upon the manager or other person in charge of any railroad which interferes with the drainage of any tract of land to alter such railroad or to construct any water-course, culvert, pipe, or channel under or through such railroad. In the event of such person failing to comply with such requisition in such manner and within such time as the Engineer shall prescribe, the said Engineer may thereupon, with the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, cause the said rail-road to be altered, or the said water-course, culvert, pipe, or channel to be constructed in such manner as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct. The expenses of such alteration or construction shall be borne by the said manager or other person in charge of the said railroad.

Power to make temporary embankment and dams.

Sluices to be opened under authority of the Engineer.

15. Sluices constructed in any public embankment shall be opened only by or with the general or special permission of the officer in the immediate charge of the embankment, under such orders, either general or special, as he may receive from the Engineer.

Power to appropriate land or earth.

16. In any case where an embanked towpath has heretofore been maintained by Government alongside any canal, river, khal, or channel, the Engineer shall be entitled to appropriate, without payment, as heretofore, land or earth for the maintenance, repair or re-construction of such embanked towpath. PART III.

Reference to the Collector and procedure thereon.

Notice to the Collector.

17. Save as is by this Act otherwise provided, the Engineer, before causing any of the works mentioned in Sections 5 to 10 both inclusive of Part II, or any of them, to be executed, shall give notice in writing to the Collector of the district of his intention so to do, and shall not commence any of such works until final order made in respect thereto. Such notice shall be in the form and state the particulars mentioned in Schedule (A) to this Act annexed. Upon the receipt of such notice the Collector shall cause a proclamation to be issued, which shall be in the form and state the particulars mentioned in Schedule (B.) The Collector shall append to such proclamation a list of the estates and villages mentioned in the said notice and such others as he may consider likely to be affected by the works proposed.

Publication of proclamation.

18. Every such proclamation shall be published by affixing the same at the cutcherry of the Collector, and shall be served under the provisions of Section 59.

Proclamation to be published for thirty days.

19. Every such proclamation shall be published and served not less than thirty days before the day appointed for hearing the parties interested.

Powers on enquiry and appeal.

20. In any enquiry held under this Act, the Collector and the Commissioner shall respectively have the powers conferred on Courts by the Code of Civil Procedure for compelling the attendance of and for examining witnesses, and for the production of evidence in any enquiry or appeal which may be made or entertained under the provisions of this Act.

Hearing of objections to work.

21. The Collector shall, on the day appointed for the hearing, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing shall be adjourned, hear the objections of any parties who may appear, and after recording any evidence which they may adduce, shall communicate the objections that may be made, together with his opinion thereon, to the Engineer, who shall return the same with his opinion to the Collector. If the Engineer agree in opinion with the Collector, the Collector, shall pass an order accordingly in regard to the execution of the aforesaid works, and notice of such order shall be served on the parties appearing in pursuance of the proclamation. If he differ from the Collector, the case shall be referred to the Commissioner of Revenue, who shall pass such orders thereon as he may deem fit.

PART IV.

Procedure in cases of imminent danger to life or property.

Proceedings in emergencies.

22. Whenever the Engineer shall be of opinion that the proceedings commenced by notice under Part III of this Act would cause delay in the exercise of any of the powers by Sections 5, 6, and 7 of Part II, conferred upon him, likely to be attended with grave and imminent danger to life or property, he may forthwith commence to exercise such powers without reference to the Collector. Provided that he shall forthwith inform the Collector thereof and of the nature of the danger, and give notice of his intention to continue to exercise such powers. The Collector, in any case where he shall see fit, may direct the Engineer to suspend further action until after the completion of such proceedings and enquiries. The Engineer as soon as he conveniently may, after giving such notice of his intention, shall give notice in writing to the Collector as provided in section 17, appending thereto a statement that the work mentioned therein has already been commenced, and thereupon such proceedings and enquiries shall be had as in and by Part III of this Act are directed.

Notice to the Collector.

Power to take possession of land.

23. Whenever any land, or earth from any land the property of any person, is required for the purposes of any works commenced in pursuance of the provisions of the last preceding section, the Engineer shall cause public notice in form in Schedule (C) to be given at convenient places in the locality in which such land is situated, and he may at the same time take possession of the same for the said purposes. Provided that he shall, so soon thereafter, as he conveniently may, give notice thereof to the Collector.

Magistrate to enforce surrender.

24. If the Engineer is opposed or impeded in taking possession under this Part of any land, he shall apply to a Magistrate or (within the town of Calcutta) to the Commissioner of Police, and such Magistrate or Commissioner (as the case may be) shall enforce the surrender of the land to the Engineer.

Power to Executive Engineer to act for Engineer.

25. Whenever the Engineer may be absent the Executive Engineer of the District may, in case he shall be of opinion that delay for the purpose of obtaining the orders of the Engineer would be attended with grave and imminent danger to life or property, exercise the powers in and by the three last preceding sections conferred on the Engineer.

Power to re-construct embankments.

26. Whenever, upon an enquiry had under the provisions of this Part it shall be determined in the final and conclusive order to be passed on such enquiry that anything done by the Engineer was unnecessary, the embankments or drainage shall, so far as any alteration thereof shall appear to be unnecessary, be at the expense of the Government restored as nearly as possible to the state in which they were when the Engineer commenced to act under the provisions of this Part; and any person who shall have sustained loss, damage, or injury by the execution of such works, shall receive compensation from the Government to be assessed and imposed according to the provisions contained in Part V of this Act.

PART V.

Acquisition of lands.

Acquisition of land.

27. Whenever in the course of proceedings under Parts II and III of this Act it appears that land is required for any of the purposes thereof, such purpose shall be deemed to be a public purpose within the meaning of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, and such proceedings shall be forthwith taken as are directed by the said Act or by any other law for the time being governing the acquisition of lands for public purposes.

When land taken, notice to be published.

28. Whenever any land shall have been taken or used under the provisions of Part IV, the Collector shall, unless he shall direct the Engineer to suspend further action, cause public notice in form in Schedule (D) to be given at convenient places on or near the land so taken, stating that Government has taken possession of the land, and that claims to compensation for all interests in such land shall be made to him. Thereupon the land shall vest absolutely in the Government free from all incumbrances, subject, however, to the claims for compensation to be ascertained in manner as in this Part is provided.

Contents of notice.

29. Such notice shall state the particulars of the land so taken, and shall require all persons interested in the land to appear personally or by agent before the Collector at a time and place therein mentioned (such time not being earlier than fifteen days after the date of publication of the notice), and to state the nature of their respective interests in the land, and the amount and particulars of their claims to compensation for such interest.

Further notice to be served on certain parties.

30. The Collector shall also serve notice to the same effect on the occupier (if any) of such land and on all such persons known or believed to be interested therein, or to be entitled to act for persons so interested, as reside, or have agents authorized to receive service on their behalf, within the revenue district in which the land is situate.

Proceedings after notice.

31. After service of such notices proceedings shall be had and taken to determine the amount of compensation to be payable in respect of such land, and all the provisions contained in Sections 10 to 15, 18 to 34, 36, 37, 38, 42, 51, 58, and 59 of The Land Acquisition Act, 1870, shall be applicable to such proceedings.

Compensation for consequential damage.

32. Whenever any land other than land required or taken by the Engineer, or any right of fishery, right of drainage, right of the use of water, or other right or property, shall have been injuriously affected by the due exercise of the powers or provisions of this Act, the person in whom such right is vested may prefer a claim by petition to the Collector for compensation.

Application to be made within a year.

33. No claim shall be entertained which shall be made later than one year next after the completion of the work by which such right is injuriously affected.

Procedure for such compensation.

34. Subject to the provisions of the next preceding section, the Collector shall proceed to enquire into each claim made, and to determine the amount of compensation, if any, which should be made, and the person to whom the same should be payable, and the Collector, on the receipt of such claim, shall fix a time and place for hearing such claim, and Sections 9 to 15, 18 to 23, 26 to 34, 36, 37, 38, 51, and 59 of the said Land Acquisition Act, 1870, shall apply to enquiries into such rights as aforesaid, or the exercise of such rights as aforesaid, and to the awards of compensation for injuries to such rights as though they were rights in and awards of compensation for land needed for a public purpose.

Appeal from Judge's decision as to compensation.

35. If the Judge differs from both the assessors as to the amount of compensation, under any of the provisions hereinbefore contained, he shall pronounce his decision, and the Collector or the person interested (as the case may be) may appeal therefrom to the Court of the District Judge.

Every appeal under this section shall be presented within the time and in manner provided by the Code of Civil Procedure for regular appeals in suits.

Determination of proportions.

36. When the amount of compensation has been settled by the Court, and there is any dispute as to the apportionment thereof, or when a reference to the Court has been made, the Judge sitting alone shall decide the proportions in which the persons interested are entitled to share in such amount.

Payment of compensation to whom made.

37. Payment of the compensation shall be made by the Collector according to the award to the persons named therein, or in the case of an appeal according to the decision on such appeal. Provided that nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any person who may receive the whole or any part of any compensation awarded under this Act, to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto.

Land, &c., taken possession of to vest in Secretary of State.

38. All land, earth, pathways, sluices, gates, bermes, hedges, belonging to or forming part of any embankment, water-course, channel, or line of drainage, of which charge has been or may hereafter be taken by the officers of Government, shall vest in the Secretary of State for India, and shall be held by him on behalf of the persons interested in the lands to be protected or benefited by such embankment, water-course, channel, or line of drainage.

PART VI.

COST OF WORKS, PROCEEDINGS, &c.

1. Ascertainment thereof.

Embankments in schedule E.

39. The provisions in this Part contained shall not apply to any of the embankments mentioned in Schedule (E) to this Act annexed, save so far as any works or repairs are executed therein or in relation thereto under the provisions of Sections 10 and 13 of this Act respectively. All sums payable in respect of any works or repairs executed therein or in relation thereto, except under the provisions of the said sections respectively, shall be paid by the local Government. If at any time after the passing of this Act the Collector, on enquiry made by him as far as possible in accordance with the provisions of Part III of this Act, shall find that it is unnecessary for the public interests to retain any embankment mentioned in Schedule (E), the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that the same shall be no longer included in the said Schedule. Provided that the same shall be restored to the said Schedule if on any subsequent enquiry similarly conducted it shall be found necessary so to do.

Alteration of schedule.

41. Specifications of any works or repairs to be executed under the provisions of this Act, and estimates of the expenses to be incurred therein or relating thereto, including such proportion of establishment charges as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct, shall be prepared by the Engineer as soon after the month of October in each year as may be practicable. And whenever it appears that the actual expenses to be incurred will exceed the amount mentioned in the said estimates by one-tenth, the engineer shall forthwith prepare further estimates, and if necessary further specifications. Copies of all specifications and estimates shall be transmitted to the office of the Collector, together with vernacular translations thereof or such abstracts thereof as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time direct, and may be examined by any person interested in such works or repairs. Notice of the receipt of specifications and estimates shall be served for all estates likely to be affected by the said works or repairs; and should any objection be preferred by any such person within a period of one month from the date of such notice, the Collector shall communicate the objection, with his own opinion thereupon, to the Engineer, who shall pass such orders as may appear to him reasonable and proper.

Estimate and specifications to be prepared.

42. The accounts of the actual expense incurred in executing any works or repairs shall be prepared as soon as possible after the completion thereof. The Engineer shall sign a certificate stating the true amount of all such expenses and the names of the estates and villages likely to be affected by the said works and repairs. Copies of the said accounts and certificates shall be forwarded to the office of the Collector, and may be there examined by any person interested. Notice of the receipt thereof shall be served for the said estates and villages and such others as in the opinion of the Collector are liable to contribute to the payment of the said amount; and if, within thirty days from the service of such notice, any interested person shall object to the accounts on the ground either that the work charged for has not been performed, or that the whole sum charged has not been expended, or that the rates of charge are higher than those mentioned in the estimates, the Collector shall enquire into such objection and may pass any order thereon subject in any case to an appeal by the objector or to a reference by the Engineer to the Commissioner of Division, whose decision shall be final.

Preparation and settlement of accounts.

43. The Collector shall add to the amount appearing in the said certificate all sums which have been paid or have become payable in respect of compensation, costs and expenses under and incidental to any proceedings taken or directed to be taken under Part V of this Act, including costs of all surveys and plans. He shall thereupon make an order specifying the total sum found payable, and the persons by whom or the estates in respect of which the same is payable to him. If the order is made in respect of work done under Section 9, 12, or 13, the same shall forthwith be served upon the party or parties liable to pay. Otherwise the Collector shall proceed under the provisions in the next chapter contained. Interest may be charged upon any sum paid as compensation from the date of payment thereof at such rate, not exceeding 5 per cent per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct.

Total sum payable.

44. The said total sum, save so far as is otherwise provided in this Act, shall be paid to the Collector by the zemindars of the estates in which are situated the lands benefited or protected by the repairs or works executed. Provided that where any special payments have been demanded in respect of any estate not included in schedule E, and when the said embankment is at the time of this Act coming into operation being maintained by Government, then such special payments shall after the passing of this Act thenceforth cease and determine.

Parties liable to pay.

2. Apportionment thereof.

45. So soon as the total sum payable as aforesaid has been ascertained, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served for every one of the said estates and villages mentioned in Section 42. Every such notice shall specify the estates and villages aforesaid, and that an enquiry will be held at a day and place therein named for the purpose of apportioning amongst the zemindars and proprietors the said total sum, with interest and the costs of apportionment.

Notice to be given before apportionment.

46. On the day fixed in the said notice, which shall not be less than thirty days later than the date of any service of such notice, the Collector shall proceed to make the said enquiry. In making this enquiry he shall receive such evidence as may be tendered by, or on behalf of, the said zemindars and proprietors, and by, or on behalf of, any other persons who may claim to be interested therein.

Mode of enquiry as to the proportion chargeable to each estate.

47. In any such enquiry the Collector shall take down in writing the names of all persons who may claim, or who may be alleged by any party interested, to be proprietors of tenures within any of the estates mentioned in such notice. In default of appearance of any such person, the Collector shall issue and serve a notice calling on him to appear at a date and place therein mentioned, and to shew cause against being included in the order of apportionment to be made therein, and shall adjourn the enquiry till such date.

Names of proprietors.

48. At such or any subsequently adjourned enquiry the Collector, if there be only one estate liable, shall charge the zemindar thereof with the total amount payable; and if there be two or more estates, he shall apportion the same amongst the zemindars thereof rateably in the proportion of the respective benefits derived by such estates from such works or repairs; or in proportion of the areas of the lands benefited or protected thereby, and comprised within such estates respectively; or with the sanction of the Local Government in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively payable for such estates, if before the passing of this Act such proportion has been usually adopted.

Amongst proprietors.

49. Municipal Taxation in Calcutta.

No. 24C, dated Fort William, the 30th May 1872.

Endorsed by the Government of India, Home Department, Calcutta.

FORWARDED to the Government of Bengal for report. Return of the original petition is requested.

Dated Calcutta, the 5th May 1872.

From—B. MARSHALLA AND OTHERS, residents of the town of Calcutta.

To—HIS EXCELLENCY THE RIGHT HON'BLE LORD NORTHBROOK, Viceroy and Governor-General of India, and also Legislative Council.

WE most respectfully and severally beg leave to state before the Governor-General and the Legislative Council a very particular case which deserves the notice of the Government. Since the Viceroy are come with a supreme power over us from Her Majesty, trusting and hope the Governor-General will reign and administer justice to us poor subjects, that you give us some succour in the way of living in consideration on the following subject.

We respectfully beg to acquaint the time when the Company's Government monopolized as a charter party in India; during the time of Lord Clive, he organized a system in India and was then carried on in a different scale. During their time we were then living with feelings of contentment in their reign. We all were in a body praising them for their welfare that they may continue in the same position. Since it has been taken away from their control and has fallen into the hands of Her Majesty's Government, we supposed that we should be better off. The act has been changed in a different light. Now we are at a loss and subjected by the present rules and the organization; it is a pity the grievances we now complain our sad distresses before the Government and the Council. We trust and hope that the Government and the Council will make some sort of alterations with regard to our embarassment; we are at present suffering and lingering; trust you will relieve us from our present condition. We respectfully beg that we cannot submit to the present orders that have enforced on us poor subject. Gentlemen are taxing us both right and left, and not allowing us to gain an honest livelihood for to support ourselves and family to carry on any sort of business or trade, that are charging us so much licenses and taxes, such as trade license, income taxes profit, water taxes, gas-light, house-rate, police taxes, wheel taxes, horse taxes, refuse taxes, and different others. One person to pay so many sorts of taxes and licenses! Such extremes is unbearable. The market has become so difficult at the present moment; poor people are all dying for food and suffering from wants only on account of the said license and taxes. Charge us according to our means and circumstances. The small mite has been taken away from us; there is no body to hear our case or cries for mercy; we cannot do any sort of business for our families' support through the dread of such imposition. Our families are starving. How we poor British subjects can maintain ourselves, and how in a proper possession we are at a loss and suffering, cursing day and night for our grievances before our Heavenly Father who protects us, and to love one another. You being our present rulers, make some alterations for our views. "Naked we came out of our mother's womb and naked we shall return." Neither the money nor the richness will follow us in the grave, but the honest and poor, those that God approves (before God there is no difference), the crippled as well as old and the young, rich and poor, high and low, are all equally subjected to Him as He is our ruler and principal king and judge, before whom we are crying our grievances.

Further we beg leave to state the new rules and orders are promulgated not to have aged men, that is to say not above than 30 years old, to hold any employment under Government office; there are some elderly people who are capable to work better than any youngsters; the poor unfortunate aged Christians are subject to for their misfortunes.

In conclusion we respectfully beg to the Viceroy and the Members of the Council to consider and please gravely look into the subject and pass such orders that we poor British subjects can live in a state of happiness and can be free from all this trouble.

No. 3668, dated Calcutta, the 15th June 1872.

From—C. BERNARD, Esq., Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Judl. Dept.

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Home Department.

I AM directed to submit a brief report upon the enclosed petition, which was forwarded under cover of your letter No. 24C, dated 30th May 1872.

2. The petition appears to be pseudonymous, and it is therefore difficult to make any specific local inquiry into its allegations. Its writers date from Calcutta, and their complaints appear to be—

(1) That the municipal taxation in Calcutta is too heavy to be borne.

(2) That there are so many municipal taxes of so many kinds that the poor do not know which way to turn.

(3) That the municipal taxation presses with extreme severity on the poor.

(4) That people beyond a certain age are not taken into Government service.

3. On these four complaints I am to submit as follows:—

Complaint I.—It is quite undeniable that the municipal taxation of Calcutta is high. At page 29 of Mr. Hogg's last municipal report* will be found details of the municipal income for Calcutta for the year 1871. Items 1-10, 12, 13, and 15, in the list of sources of income, may be taken to be the proceeds of taxation or quasi-taxation; their aggregate is about 25½ lakhs. This total on a population of 447,601 souls comes as nearly as possible to Rs. 5¾ per head of the population per annum. This rate is undoubtedly high; it is more than four times as high as the incidence of municipal taxation in the suburbs of Calcutta, where the rate is barely Rs. 1¼ a head; it is more than three times as high as the taxation of Howrah, where the rate is about Rs. 1¾ a head; it is six or eight times as high as the municipal taxation of Bengal towns, such as Dacca, Patna, and Moorshedabad. The municipal taxation of Calcutta stands, in comparison with the taxation of the sister presidency town of Bombay, thus:—

* Copy submitted herewith for facility of reference.

Calcutta	...	...	...	Rs. 5¾ per head.
*Bombay	...	...	...	„ 4½ „

4. The municipal taxation of Calcutta is thus high for an Indian* city; but then it must be remembered that the Calcutta Justices are (or soon will be) paying annually nearly 8½ lakhs of rupees a year as interest and sinking fund on their loans, which have been, or are being expended on a very complete water-supply and on drainage; these outlays are being borne by the present generation. The townspeople of Calcutta thus get a good deal for their money, and also they are bearing their own burdens, and are not unduly laying burdens on future generations.

* NOTE.—The Calcutta rate is of course small compared with the incidence of local taxation in the great cities of the west. Thus Mr. Palgrave (page 86 of his Essay on Local Taxation) says that in 1866 the local taxation of New York State came to about 10½ dollars (say Rs. 21) per head of the population. Page 65 of the same Essay makes the local taxation of the English metropolis fall at the rate of about £1-12 (say Rs. 16) on the population. At page 46 it is stated that the whole local taxation of England and Wales in 1868 (excluding money borrowed) amounted to £1-0-3 (or say Rs. 10) per head of the population. But looking to the value of money, the rate in Calcutta is perhaps heavier.

5 As to complaint II, it must be admitted that there are a good many different taxes and rates; there is—

The house-rate.
„ lighting-rate.
„ police-rate.
„ water-rate.
„ license on trades and professions.
„ license for carriages and horses.
„ fee for registration of carts.
„ fees and payments for latrines and latrine service.

The first four rates are on land and house property; they fall at fixed percentages on the assessed annual value of the house and landed property of Calcutta. Last year the Chairman (Mr. Hogg) proposed to the Justices to amalgamate these four rates into one single rate. He did not go so far as the Hon'ble President of the English Poor Law Board did in 1871 when he proposed to amalgamate the local rates; but the local opinion of Calcutta was very strong against Mr. Hogg's proposal, which was withdrawn. The total taxation on the rental of house property stands at present† (1872-73) as follows:—

† NOTE.—The police-rate and the water-rate have each of them been recently reduced by one-half per cent.

House-rate	...	...	...	9 per cent.
Lighting ditto	...	...	...	2 „
Police ditto	...	...	...	2 „
Water ditto	...	...	...	4½ „
		Total	...	17½ „

Of these taxes 10⅛ per cent. is paid by the owner and 7⅜ per cent. by the occupier. The trade and carriage and cart taxes seem a not unreasonable mode of imposing indirect taxation on the population, in proportion to the means each man may have to expend in carriages and in purchasing articles of all kinds. These taxes do perhaps raise a little the price of food and of all commodities; but if people live in large towns, they must be content to pay somewhat higher for necessaries of life than in the country; and on the other hand, they have the advantage of higher wages and a better market for their labour. It would be an advantage to the poor if fees on latrines and fees for the removal of trade refuse could be taken off or lightened;

* NOTE.—This reckons the population of Bombay as 640,000, and the income from taxation at 28¾ lakhs.

and in the General Municipal Bill now before the Bengal Council it is provided that no fee shall be imposed for the use of public latrines; but in the present state of the Justices' finances and of the Calcutta Municipal Law, the Lieutenant-Governor would be very reluctant to attempt interference with the Justices in matters of this kind. Whatever the Calcutta taxation may be, and whatever may be the funded debt of the Justices, it is undeniable that Calcutta has a great deal to show for its expenditure; that the mortality in Calcutta is now (see statement 4 of the Health Officer's report) barely half what it was six years ago; and that provision has been made and is maintained for paying off municipal loans within a reasonable time.

6. As to complaint III, the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to be able to say that Calcutta municipal taxation, so far as he has been able to judge, does not press upon the poor more heavily than it does upon the rich. Some of the taxes enumerated in the petition under notice are paid by the rich and well-to-do only, and do not fall upon the poor at all. The house-rates, moreover, though they may bear a varying proportion to the means or income of different tax-payers, yet they do bear a tolerably equable proportion to a man's expenditure and mode of life. The poor man does not pay house-rate out of proportion to what his rich neighbour pays. An octroi tax, such as would yield a sufficient income and yet not be a transit duty, would, it may be apprehended, add more to the poor man's burdens than the presen thouse-rates do.

7. As to complaint IV, I am merely to submit that the practice complained of is observed under a rule of the Government of India, that ordinarily persons should not be admitted to the uncovenanted service of Government who may be past twenty-five years of age. This rule can be departed from in special cases, and subject to certain restrictions as regards claim to pension. The Lieutenant-Governor would not recommend any re-consideration of this rule, for he believes that ordinarily it is best for Government to draw into its service young men who are entering on life rather than to employ men who have tried and failed in other careers.

8. The petition is herewith returned.

No. 91, dated Simla, the 29th July 1872.

From—A. O. HUME, ESQ., C.B., Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Agriculture, Revenue, and Commerce.

To—The Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Judicial Department.

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 3668, dated the 15th ultimo, communicating the views of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor on certain allegations made in a pseudonymous petition regarding the pressure of municipal taxation in Calcutta and the non-admittance of people beyond a certain age into the Government service.

2. In reply I am directed to say that the Governor-General in Council has read the letter with great interest, and thinks that it might with great advantage be published for general information.

11	Maldah ...	„ 10th	0·93	Cloudy and rather warm. Rain on three days of the week.	The growing crops—bhadoi dhan, Indian corn, &c., are in a satisfactory condition. A little rain is wanted in the jurisdiction of thannah English Bazar and Khurba. About a full crop of each is effected.

In pergunnah Madari want of rain has greatly retarded planting out and a poor crop is anticipated. In some parts of pergunnah Bhattibaree crops are said to be greatly damaged owing to want of rain.	Cholera broke out again in the sudder bazar, and there have been a few deaths. The season is decidedly unhealthy, and this is most probably owing to the fitful way in which rain has fallen and the very great heat between the falls.

The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

VIZIANAGRAM SCHOLARSHIPS.

The following Resolution is published for general information:—

(RESOLUTION.)

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 2nd August 1872.

1. IN April 1872 His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram offered to place at the disposal of this Government a sum of Rs. 150 per mensem, to be spent in scholarships for the encouragement of engineering and surveying amongst the natives of these provinces. His Highness at the same time expressed a wish that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor should fix the number and amount of the scholarships as seemed to be expedient and proper.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor, in thanking His Highness for his very liberal offer, stated that he then proposed to establish the scholarships to be called Vizianagram scholarships, tenable for two years by boys who should attend some recognized survey and engineering class at a Government zillah school or at any aided school of corresponding calibre, but that he would consult the educational authorities on the best mode of administering the endowment.

3. The Officiating Director of Public Instruction on being consulted, suggested that the scholarships should be open to all boys qualified for either the minor or vernacular scholarships; that the candidates who showed the greatest knowledge of surveying should be chosen, provided they were placed in either the first or second divisions of the general list; and that the scholarships should be equally divided among the Commissionerships of the Lower Provinces.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor, after carefully considering the arguments urged in favor of making these scholarships open to candidates ignorant of English, has decided that as the object of the endowment is to bring forward boys capable of being ultimately educated as engineers, at least a knowledge of English should be required in Bengal, and His Honor has been pleased to sanction the following rules for the regulation of the scholarships:—

I.—Ten scholarships in surveying and engineering of the value of Rs. 7-8 per mensem will be granted yearly.

II.—These scholarships will be called the Vizianagram scholarships.

III.—One scholarship will be allotted yearly to each of the following divisions:—Burdwan, the Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, Chittagong, Patna, Bhagulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam (including Goalpara).

IV.—In Burdwan, the Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, and Chittagong divisions, boys eligible for minor scholarships; and in Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam divisions, boys eligible for either minor or vernacular scholarships, will be eligible to compete for the Vizianagram scholarships.

V. The scholarship for each division will be given to the candidate who shows the greatest knowledge of drawing and surveying, provided he also be placed in the 1st or 2nd division of the general list, and provided in the five divisions of Bengal that he has a sufficient knowledge of English to enable him to continue his studies in that language in the higher classes of the zillah schools. The papers for surveying and drawing will be set in the vernacular.

VI.—The Vizianagram scholarship may be held with any other scholarship.

VII.—The scholarships may be held in any Government school where advanced instruction is given in drawing, surveying, &c.

VIII.—The Vizianagram scholars shall be subject to the same rule concerning good conduct and adequate progress as Government scholars.

IX.—Should no candidate be found competent to hold the scholarship allotted to a division for any year, it may be accorded at the discretion of the Director of Public Instruction to the unsuccessful candidate, who in the examinations in the remaining divisions has shown the greatest knowledge of drawing and surveying, and who has at the same time fulfilled the other conditions required in the holders of these scholarships.

5. The object of the Vizianagram scholarship is so useful, the studies which they are meant to encourage are so important, and the liberality of the Maharajah so suggestive, that the Lieutenant-Governor contemplates adding some Government technical scholarships for the encouragement of the above and other arts as soon as a scheme has been prepared for their allotment. He requests the Director, in communication with the Secretary to Government in this department, to prepare a scheme.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above Resolution be published in the Gazette, and copies sent to His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram, the Director of Public Instruction, and the Commissioners of the Burdwan, Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, Chittagong, Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam divisions, for information.

Offg. Jr. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The following Circular is published for general information :—

CIRCULAR No. 46.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

Dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

THE Lieutenant-Governor understands that more than one officer, following an excellent and successful example, has occupied himself in compiling a history of the district in which he is employed, including legends of the old families, the early British connection with the district, &c., &c.

2. His Honor cannot sufficiently commend such efforts, especially when these writers enter into the social history of the last hundred years, and show the progress of the people and the phases of rural life in successive generations. And seeing the existence of this meritorious inclination to go beyond the scope of bare duty, he is anxious to suggest that, to any officer who has a turn that way, there would be an ample field in an attempt to draw a full picture of the present agricultural state of any district; or say the condition and occupations of the people generally, including agriculture, as directly or indirectly the source of livelihood to the great mass of the population, who are either cultivators, or agricultural laborers and small artizans and tradesmen supplying the needs of cultivators. It would be most interesting to know thoroughly for any district the ordinary modes and conditions of agriculture, the usual size of farms, and the sort of farm on which a family can be decently supported; how far the farms are compact, or how the fields are scattered about—and in the latter case, how the boundaries are recognised and maintained; how far the farmer is generally a laborer with his own hands; how far he employs hired labor, and how he pays for it; what are the respective positions and conditions of ryots and sub-tenants of various kinds, of laborers, of rural artizans; which castes or classes of holders are the best and which the worst cultivators; how money is lent and borrowed; what crops are cultivated, and how, and what is the produce; what stock is kept, and how it is fed; whether stock is ever kept for the sake of manure; whether manure is made on system or whether manure which accumulates without system is used or wasted; how harvesting is managed; who takes the produce to market, who sells it, and where, and who buys it: by what hands it eventually reaches the great marts; who prepares the jute for the market, who grows the mulberry, who rears the cocoons, and who makes the silk, and how they all go about it; what is the indigo system of the district; who keep the cattle, who poison them, who take their skins, prepare them and bring them to market; what the cattle feed on; what are the breeds, and what attention is paid to them; in what shape rents are paid, how often and through whom; what is the practical religion (if any) of the cultivators, and who announces the lucky days for ploughing and sowing; what are their social habits; what they eat, and how they are clothed; how far they are thrifty or unthrifty; how they keep their accounts; whether they have large families; how soon boys work; whether girls and women work, or what they do; how long agricultural laborers live, and from what diseases they suffer; &c., &c, &c.

3. In fact, we might have a complete agricultural picture of the various parts of the district, distinguishing high lands from low, large zemindaries from small tenures, and so on. Then we might have an account of such manufacturers as there are; what they manufacture and how, and how they live; of the trade and the traders; of the proprietary classes and their modes of life; of the relations of all to the Government.

4. If any officers will compile good district pictures of this kind, the Government will gladly print and circulate them.

J. WARK EDGAR,

Offg. Jr. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

The following Circular is published for general information :—

CIRCULAR No. 48.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

Dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

THE Lieutenant-Governor has asked and is asking much of district officers in the way of statistical information and other matters, and has required local officers to perform their duties in an active manner, and in a way involving functions which had somewhat fallen into disuse. He has hoped to make up for any excess of work thus caused by the creation of the proposed subordinate establishments, but as some delay may occur before the inferior services can be organized, and meantime the money designed for them is available, he wishes to intimate to district officers that he is quite prepared to sanction any temporary establishments which can be usefully employed in obtaining the statistical information called for, or assisting in any special duties which have been or may be thrown on district or sub-divisional officers. Commissioners of divisions are authorised to sanction against the provincial reserve such demands when really necessary to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate Rs. 200 to 400 per mensem for each district, according as the district is large or small, and as regards temporary appointments, not exceeding Rs. 100 per mensem, reporting all cases in which such sanction is accorded, with detail of the temporary establishment, and the reason for it. Separate application may be made for any larger sum required in special cases.

2. It will be very desirable that the persons employed should be as much as possible those who are possessed of the qualifications which will fit them for admissions to the junior grades of the Native Civil Service, as set forth in the notification of the 2nd July 1872, published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 3rd idem, in case by good service they show themselves deserving of that position. Men who, in addition to a fair knowledge of English and an active physique, can survey, who understand agricultural tenures and accounts, who know something of police and criminal laws, who can make themselves generally useful in looking after petty public works, should be preferred. It was before suggested that good civil court ameens might be useful men.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor also feels that the districts have a fair claim to the replacement of the officers of the Subordinate Executive Service, who are specially employed on road cess and other works. He is, however, unwilling to burden the road cess funds, and he has not at present on his list many qualified candidates for such appointments. He would prefer that they should hereafter be supplied in due course under the system which it is proposed to establish, and that present necessities should be met by the temporary establishments for which provision has been made above. But in case of emergent necessity, if a really competent man can be found, the Lieutenant-Governor may grant the funds necessary for an Acting Deputy Magistrate and Collector to supply the place of one specially employed.

4. With respect to the distribution of Covenanted Civil Servants, the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to arrange matters so that the most efficient assistance may be given to district officers, and the public service be best served. It seems to be both the established practice and for the public interest, and advantageous for the training of young officers, that a certain number of junior Civil Servants should be in charge of certain sub-divisions, but the propriety and advantage of the arrangement should be well considered in each case, it being borne in mind that the supply of Civil Servants to Bengal for the past and present year is very limited.

5. With respect to the charge of the sudder division of the district, it has always been the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion that when the Magistrate of the district is at head-quarters, it is most proper that the general executive control should rest with him, and His Honor has been somewhat unwilling to put any other Magistrate in charge as a regular sub-divisional officer. But it by no means follows that the Magistrate of the district need try many cases or do much work of detail. In fact, the mere circumstance of being in superior charge of the sudder division does not necessary involve the trying of a single case, and in heavy districts the Lieutenant-Governor will not, under present circumstances, expect the District Magistrates to try many cases. The practice of taking all petitions, which seems to be frequently assumed as part of the duty of the Magistrate when in charge of the division, is a purely self-imposed labour undertaken by many District Magistrates. They are at perfect liberty to entrust any part of their criminal duties, including the receiving of petitions, to any Magistrate under them; and any other duties, except the general control over the police and the functions of general superintendence in executive matters, may be similarly disposed of. While, therefore, the Lieutenant-Governor is very willing that it should, if possible, be arranged that the Magistrate of a large and heavy district should have at head-quarters the assistance of a competent officer who may relieve him of most judicial and much other work when he is present, and take his place in the sudder division when he is absent, he does not think a regular sub-divisional officer of the head-quarters division at all a necessity. But he invites any proposals for stationing Civil Servants to the best advantage which Magistrates and Commissioners may wish to submit, and in special cases may even recognise a sub-division at head-quarters if real necessity for it is shown.

13. When the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or other chief village authorities, feel unable to arrest an offender, they must apply to the Political Agent or any officer duly authorized to grant them the aid of the regular police.

14. The Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other chief village authorities, are empowered to arrest or cause to be arrested, and to fine all drunkards and other disorderly persons found brawling out of their houses, and all persons found gambling, the fine not to exceed that awardable under their powers in criminal matters as hereinafter defined.

15. All the inhabitants of the Naga Hills who are under the administrative control of the Political Agent are bound to aid the regular police and village authorities when required to do so for the maintenance of order or the apprehension of offenders. Any person failing to do so is liable to fine; the fine to be adjudged by the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other chief village authority to the extent he is empowered to award in criminal cases, or by the Political Agent if fine beyond the amount those officers are authorized to impose is considered necessary. When the particular persons blameable for failure to aid in any community cannot be ascertained, the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or chief village authority, shall be considered responsible; and if it appears that the community is to blame, and that particular offenders cannot be discovered, a fine may be imposed upon the community, but by the Political Agent only.

III.—Criminal Justice.

16. Criminal justice shall be ordinarily administered by the Political Agent, his Assistant, and by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or other chief village authorities of the different communities.

17. The Political Agent shall be competent to pass sentence of death or imprisonment for a term unlimited, or of fine up to any amount. Provided that no sentence of death shall be carried into effect without the concurrence of the Commissioner and the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to whom the proceedings shall be submitted by the Commissioner if he concur in the sentence; and no sentence of imprisonment for a term of seven years or upwards shall be carried into effect without the approval of the Commissioner; and provided further that fine shall in no case exceed the value of the offender's existing property. The Commissioner may enhance any sentence passed by his subordinates; but no offence shall be punished by a sentence exceeding that awardable under the provisions of the Indian Penal Code. The assistant to the Political Agent shall exercise such powers as he may be invested with by the Commissioner not exceeding those of a Magistrate of the first class as defined in Act X of 1872.

18. Any Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other chief village authority, may be empowered by the Political Agent to dispose of cases of persons charged with any of the following offences:—

Injury to property not exceeding Rs. 50.
Injury to person not endangering life or limb.
House trespass.
Affronts of whatever kind.

They may impose a fine for any offence they are competent to try to the extent of Rs. 50. They may award restitution or compensation to the extent of the injury sustained, and enforce it by distraint of the property of the offender. In cases in which the fine is not paid or realised either in whole or in part, they shall represent the facts and send in the offender to the Political Agent, who may re-try the case and impose such other punishment as he is competent to inflict. All Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, Houshas, or other chief village authorities who may be empowered as above, shall receive a sunnud of recognition under the signature of the Political Agent.

19. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, may carry out their decision, or order attachment of property, as soon as judgment is pronounced; but in no case is property so attached to be sold, if the party convicted claim to appeal within eight days, without the orders of the Political Agent.

(a)—Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, may not decide in cases where their father, mother, son, daughter, wife, or the children, husbands, or wives, of any of these are concerned; or

(b)—When the defendant is not a native of the Naga Hills, or is not resident within their jurisdiction; or

(c)—When the offence is one against the state, or has caused death or danger of life, or amounts to robbery, or concerns counterfeiting of coin or the making of fraudulent documents, or the like.

20. The Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall not decide any cases save in open durbar, in presence of at least three witnesses and the complainant and accused, whose attendance they are empowered to compel. Either party may appeal from the decision at the time decision is pronounced, or within eight days thereof to the Political Agent or his Assistant, in which case the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or other duly recognized authority, will take the parties or cause them to be sent before the Political Agent or his Assistant, with one of the persons required to attend as a court witness. The case shall then be tried de novo.

21. An appeal lies to the Political Agent from the decisions of his Assistant if preferred within sixteen days.

22. No appeal shall lie as a matter of right from the sentence of the Political Agent involving sentence of less than three years' imprisonment; but it is competent to the Commissioner to call for the record of any case whatever, and to modify or reverse the decision passed. All sentences of over three years' imprisonment are appealable to the Commissioner. Appeals to the Commissioner must be preferred within thirty-two days. All sentences above seven years must be confirmed by Commissioner, whose decision is final; but the Hon'ble the Lieutenant-Governor reserves to himself the prerogative of reviewing the proceedings of the Commissioner and his subordinates, and passing such orders on them as he may deem fit.

23. The procedure of the Political Agent and his Assistant shall be in the spirit of the Code of Criminal Procedure as far as it is applicable to the circumstances of the district and consistent with these rules; the chief exceptions are—

(a)—Only verbal order or notice shall be requisite except when the regular police are employed, or the person concerned is not resident in the district at the time; or if in the district, resident beyond it, where his place of abode is not known. But orders of summons shall be for a fixed day not exceeding sixteen days from that upon which the order is issued, and the order shall be made known to the person affected or to some adult member of his family, or proclaimed at the place he was last known to be at, in sufficient time to allow him, if he see fit, to appear.

(b)—A note of the substance of all the proceedings in cases tried before them must be kept by the Political Agent and his Assistant in the form prescribed by section 228, Act X of 1872. In cases requiring a sentence exceeding three years, a full note of the evidence and proceedings must be kept. Examinations and proceedings shall generally be recorded in English only.

(c)—The proceedings of the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, need not be in writing; but if at the trial before the village authorities any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

(d)—All fines levied by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall be paid to the Political Agent or his Assistant or other officer empowered to receive them within eight days from the date of realization.

(e)—It shall be discretionary to examine witnesses on oath in any form, or to warn them that they are liable to the punishment of perjury if they state that which they know to be false.

24. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall keep the registers hereafter specified, and make returns of copies of the entries therein monthly to the Commissioner:—

Register of crimes committed.

Register of criminal cases decided by the Political Agent and his Assistant.

Register of fines levied by the Political Agent and his Assistant and Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities.

Register of licences to carry fire-arms.

IV.—CIVIL RULES.

25. The administration of civil justice in the Naga Hills is entrusted to the Commissioner, the Political Agent, his Assistant, and by the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas and other chief village authorities.

26. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas and other chief village authorities, may be recognized by the Political Agent by sunnud under his signature as empowered to try cases without limit as to amount, but with the following reservations:—

(a)—They may not try suits in which their fathers, mothers, sons, daughters, uncles, aunts, sisters, brothers, the children of the foregoing, their wives or persons in the above relation to a wife, or any near relative, are parties, nor suits in which a native of the plains or native of another village not resident in their jurisdiction are parties.

(b)—All suits must be decided in open durbar, in the presence of the parties and at least three respectable witnesses.

27. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities, have power to compel attendance of parties to any suit and their witnesses,—all such persons being resident within their own jurisdiction, and to fine, within the limit of Rs. 50, persons wilfully failing to attend. They have power to award all costs, also compensation to defendants for unfounded or vexatious suits brought against them.

28. All proceedings shall be ex vâ voce, and the Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, shall not be called upon to make either record or registry of their decision. After hearing both parties and their witnesses, if any, they shall, with or without the opinion of assessors, as they think fit, pronounce a decision forthwith. If at the trial any person who can write can be found, a brief note of the proceedings is to be made.

29. Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, and Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities, may carry out their decision at once and order attachment of property to be made; but in no case is property so attached to be sold if the party cast claim to appeal within eight days. On such appeal being made, they shall send the parties and their witnesses to the Political Agent or his Assistant forthwith, or as soon as may be, and either accompany them or send one respectable person who has been present at the trial with them.

30. All notices given by Mouzadars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, and other duly recognized village authorities to parties or witnesses, shall be verbal, and for a fixed day not exceeding eight days from the day it is given. If a case be postponed, it shall be fixed for a day not exceeding eight days from the order, and the case may be subsequently adjourned for periods not exceeding eight days on good cause shown.

31. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall not ordinarily hear suits triable by Mouza-dars, Gaonburahs, Peumahs, or Houshas, or other duly recognized village authorities, but they have a discretion to do so when they think right, and suits which under these rules the village authorities cannot try must be tried by the Political Agent or his Assistant. A register of all suits tried by the Political Agent and his Assistant shall be kept in such form as the Commissioner shall direct.

32. The Political Agent and his Assistant shall, in all cases in which the parties are indigenous inhabitants of the hills, endeavour to induce them to submit their case to punchayet. If they agree to this, each party shall name an equal number of arbitrators, and shall choose, or leave the arbitrators to choose, an umpire. The name and residence of arbitrators and umpire, and the matter in dispute, must be recorded before the proceedings commence, and the court will direct the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, or Housha, or some other recognized authority, to assemble the punchayet and witnesses within eight days. When the case has been decided, the umpire shall appear with the parties before the court, which shall proceed to record the decision and enforce it as its own. From such decision there shall be no appeal.

33. An appeal shall lie from the decision of the Mouzadar, Gaonburah, Peumah, Housha, or other duly recognized village authority to the Political Agent or his Assistant. A record shall be made of the matter in dispute and the decision of the village authority. If necessary the court shall examine the parties, and if the decision appears to be just, shall affirm and enforce it as one of its own. If the court sees reason to doubt the justice of the decision, it will try the case de novo, or refer it to a punchayet as above.

34. Houses, needful clothing, cooking utensils or implements whereby the owner subsists, may not be attached, sold, or transferred, in execution of decree, unless themselves the subject of the suit.

35. There shall be no imprisonment for debt excepting in cases where the Political Agent is satisfied that the fraudulent disposal or concealment of property has taken place: in such case the debtor may be detained for a period not exceeding six months.

36. No appeal shall lie as of right to the Political Agent from decisions of his Assistant or from the Political Agent except as hereinafter provided; but the Political Agent, if he see fit, may call for the proceedings of any case decided by his Assistant, and the Commissioner may, upon application made, or otherwise, call for the proceedings of either of the lower courts, and revise them, provided that persons resident beyond the Naga Hills may appeal to the Commissioner within thirty-two days from the date of decision. The appeal shall be accompanied by a copy of the judgment appealed against and a clear statement of the grounds of appeal. The appeal may be presented to the Political Agent, who shall, if it be in order, and presented in due time, endorse upon it the date of receipt and transmit it, with the proceedings in the suit, to the Commissioner, who, after perusal of the petition of appeal and judgment, and after hearing the agent of the appellant, if any, may dismiss the appeal, or may remit the case to the lower court for the record of further evidence, or for re-trial of fresh issues, or reserve the case for hearing before his own court, and shall confirm, modify, or reverse, the decision of the lower court, passing such orders as to costs as may appear just. The decree of the appellate court shall be transferred to the court of the Political Agent for execution as a decree of its own.

37. The courts of the Commissioner, the Political Agent, and his Assistant, shall be guided by the spirit, but not bound by the letter, of the Code of Civil Procedure.

38. No professional pleader or mooktear shall be allowed to appear in any case, except in cases before the Political Agent or his Assistant with the special permission of the Judge ...ing the case, or if the defendant reside ...nd the jurisdiction of the court; but relatives ...appear for persons incapacitated by age, sex, ...ness.

ARTICLE VI.

A fugitive criminal shall not be surrendered if the offence in respect of which his surrender is demanded is one of a political character, or if he prove that the requisition for his surrender has in fact been made with a view to try or punish him for an offence of a political character.

ARTICLE VII.

A person surrendered can in no case be kept in prison, or be brought to trial in the State to which the surrender has been made, for any other crime or on account of any other matters than those for which the extradition shall have taken place.

This stipulation does not apply to crimes committed after the extradition.

ARTICLE VIII.

The requisition for extradition shall be made through the Diplomatic Agents of the High Contracting Parties, respectively.

The requisition for the extradition of an accused person must be accompanied by a warrant of arrest issued by the competent authority of the State requiring the extradition, and by such evidence as, according to the laws of the place where the accused is found, would justify his arrest if the crime had been committed there.

If the requisition relates to a person already convicted, it must be accompanied by the sentence of condemnation passed against the convicted person by the competent Court of the State that makes the requisition for extradition.

A requisition for extradition cannot be founded on sentences passed in contumaciam.

ARTICLE IX.

If the requisition for extradition be in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the competent authorities of the State applied to shall proceed to the arrest of the fugitive.

The prisoner is then to be brought before a competent Magistrate, who is to examine him and to conduct the preliminary investigation of the case, just as if the apprehension had taken place for a crime committed in the same country.

ARTICLE X.

The extradition shall not take place before the expiration of fifteen days from the apprehension, and then only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the said State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition.

ARTICLE XI.

In the examinations which they have to make in accordance with the foregoing stipulations, the authorities of the State applied to shall admit as entirely valid evidence the sworn depositions or statements of witnesses taken in the other State, or copies thereof, and likewise the warrants and sentences issued therein, provided such documents are signed or certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or Officer of such State, and are authenticated by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of State.

ARTICLE XII.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, he shall be set at liberty.

ARTIKEL VI.

Ein flüchtiger Verbrecher soll nicht ausgeliefert werden, wenn die strafbare Handlung, wegen deren seine Auslieferung verlangt wird, einen politischen Charakter an sich trägt, oder wenn er beweisen kann, dass der Antrag auf seine Auslieferung in Wirklichkeit mit der Absicht gestellt worden ist, ihn wegen eines Verbrechens oder Vergehens politischer Natur zu verfolgen oder zu bestrafen.

ARTIKEL VII.

Die ausgelieferte Person darf in dem Staate, an welchen die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, keinenfalls wegen einer anderen strafbaren Handlung oder auf Grund anderer Thatsachen, als derjenigen, wegen deren die Auslieferung erfolgt ist, in Haft gehalten oder zur Untersuchung gezogen werden.

Auf strafbare Handlungen, welche nach erfolgter Auslieferung verübt sind, findet diese Bestimmung keine Anwendung.

ARTIKEL VIII.

Die Anträge auf Auslieferung sollen durch die diplomatischen Agenten der hohen vertragenden Theile gestellt werden.

Mit dem Antrage auf Auslieferung eines Beschuldigten müssen ein Haftbefehl, welcher von der zuständigen Behörde des die Auslieferung begehrenden Staates erlassen ist, und solche Beweise beigebracht werden, welche nach den Gesetzen des Ortes, wo der Beschuldigte aufgefunden wird, dessen Verhaftung rechtfertigen würden, wenn die strafbare Handlung dort begangen wäre.

Betrifft der Antrag eine bereits verurtheilte Person, so muss das Straf-Urtheil beigebracht werden, welches von dem zuständigen Gericht des die Auslieferung begehrenden Staates gegen den Verurtheilten erlassen ist.

Auf Straf-Urtheile, welche von Ungehorsams wegen (in contumaciam) erlassen sind, kann der Auslieferungs-Antrag nicht gegründet werden.

ARTIKEL IX.

Wenn das Auslieferungsgesuch nach den vorstehenden Bestimmungen begründet ist, so sollen die zuständigen Behörden des ersuchten Staates zur Festnahme des Flüchtlings schreiten.

Der Ergriffene wird sodann vor den dazu gesetzlich berufenen richterlichen Beamten gebracht, welcher ihn ebenso zu verhören und den Straffall vorläufig zu untersuchen hat, als wenn die Ergreifung wegen einer im Inlande begangenen strafbaren Handlung erfolgt wäre.

ARTIKEL X.

Die Auslieferung erfolgt nicht vor Ablauf von fünfzehn Tagen seit der Ergreifung und nur dann, wenn die Beweise für genügend befunden worden sind, um nach den Gesetzen des ersuchten Staats entweder die Verweisung des Ergriffenen zur Hauptuntersuchung zu rechtfertigen, falls die strafbare Handlung im Gebeit dieses Staats begangen wäre, oder darzuthun, dass der Ergriffene mit der von den Gerichten des ersuchenden Staats verurtheilten Person identisch ist.

ARTIKEL XI.

Die Behörden des ersuchten Staats haben bei der Prüfung, welche ihnen nach den vorstehenden Bestimmungen obliegt, den beeidigten Zeugen-Aussagen, welche in dem anderen Staate zu Protokoll genommen sind, imgleichen den Abschriften solcher Original-Zeugen-Aussagen, und ebenso den Haftbefehlen und Straf-Urtheilen volle Beweiskraft beizulegen, vorausgesetzt, dass diese Schriftstücke durch einen Richter, eine obrigkeitliche Person oder einen anderen Beamten dieses Staates unterzeichnet oder bescheinigt und durch einen beeidigten Zeugen, oder durch Beidrückung des Amtssiegels des Justiz—oder eines anderen Staatsministers beglaubigt sind.

ARTIKEL XII.

Wenn die zur Auslieferung genügenden Beweise nicht binnen zwei Monaten von dem Tage der Ergreifung des Flüchtigen an beigebracht werden, so ist der Ergriffene auf freien Fuss zu setzen.

ARTICLE XIII.

All articles seized, which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension, shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery thereof, be given up when the extradition takes place; and the said delivery shall extend not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XIV.

The High Contracting Parties renounce any claim for the reimbursement of the expenses incurred by them in the arrest and maintenance of the person to be surrendered, and his conveyance till placed on board ship; they reciprocally agree to bear such expenses themselves.

ARTICLE XV.

The stipulations of the present Treaty shall be applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of such Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made to the Governor or Chief Authority of such Colony or possession by the Chief Consular Officer of the German Empire in such Colony or possession.

Such requisitions may be disposed of, subject always, as nearly as may be, to the provisions of this Treaty, by the said Governor or Chief Authority, who, however, shall be at liberty either to grant the surrender, or to refer the matter to his Government.

Her Britannic Majesty shall, however, be at liberty to make special arrangements in the British Colonies and foreign possessions for the surrender of German criminals, who may take refuge within such Colonies and foreign possessions, on the basis, as nearly as may be, of the provisions of the present Treaty.

The requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal from any Colony or foreign possession of Britannic Majesty shall be governed by the rules laid down in the preceding Articles of the present Treaty.

ARTICLE XVI.

The present Treaty shall come into force ten days after its publication in conformity with the forms prescribed by the laws of the High Contracting Parties. It may be terminated by either of the High Contracting Parties, but shall remain in force for six months after notice has been given for its termination.

The Treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications shall be exchanged at London in four weeks, or sooner if possible.

In witness whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the same, and have affixed thereto the seal of their arms.

Done at London, the fourteenth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two.

(L.S.) GRANVILLE.

ARTIKEL XIII.

Alle in Beschlag genommenen Gegenstände, welche sich zur Zeit der Ergreifung im Besitze des Auszuliefernden befinden, sollen, wenn die zuständige Behörde des um die Auslieferung ersuchten Staats die Ausantwortung derselben angeordnet hat, bei Vollziehung der Auslieferung mit übergeben werden, und es soll sich diese Ueberlieferung nicht blos auf die entfremdeten Gegenstände, sondern auf Alles erstrecken, was zum Beweise der strafbaren Handlung dienen kann.

ARTIKEL XIV.

Die hohen vertragenden Theile verzichten darauf, die Erstattung derjenigen Kosten, welche ihnen aus der Festnahme und dem Unterhalt des Auszuliefernden und seinem Transport bis zur Einschiffung erwachsen, in Anspruch zu nehmen, willigen vielmehr gegenseitig darin diese Kosten selbst zu tragen.

ARTIKEL XV.

Die Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages sollen auf die Colonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät Anwendung finden.

Der Antrag auf Auslieferung eines flüchtigen Verbrechers, welcher in einer dieser Colonien oder auswärtigen Besitzungen Zuflucht gefunden hat, soll an den Statthalter oder die oberste Behörde dieser Colonie oder Besitzung durch den obersten Consular-Beamten des Deutschen Reiches in dieser Colonie oder Besitzung gerichtet werden.

Ueber solche Anträge soll der gedachte Statthalter oder die gedachte oberste Behörde so viel als möglich nach den Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages befinden, jedoch soll denselben freistehen, entweder die Auslieferung zu bewilligen oder über den Fall an ihre Regierung zu berichten.

Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät soll es jedoch freistehen, in den Brittischen Colonein und auswärtigen Besitzungen über die Auslieferung Deutscher Verbrecher, welche innerhalb dieser Colonien und auswärtigen Besitzungen Zuflucht gefunden haben, auf möglichst gleicher Grundlage mit den Bestimmungen des gegenwärtigen Vertrages besondere Anordnungen zu treffen.

Anträge betreffend die Auslieferung von Verbrechern, welche aus einer Colonie oder auswärtigen Besitzung Ihrer Grossbritannischen Majestät geflüchtet sind, sollen nach den Bestimmungen der vorstehenden Artikel des gegenwärtigen Vertrags behandelt werden.

ARTIKEL XVI.

Der gegenwärtige Vertrag soll zehn Tage nach seiner, in Gemässheit der durch die Gesetzgebung der hohen vertragenden Theile vorgeschriebenen Formen erfolgten Veröffentlichung in Kraft treten. Der Vertrag kann von jedem der beiden hohen vertragenden Theile aufgekündigt werden, bleibt jedoch nach erfolgter Aufkündigung noch sechs Monate in Kraft.

Der Vertrag wird ratifizirt und die Ratifikationen werden nach vier Wochen, oder wo möglich früher, in London ausgewechselt werden.

Zu Urkund dessen haben die beiderseitigen Bevollmächtigten die gegenwärtige Uebereinkunft unterzeichnet und mit ihren Wappen untersiegelt.

So geschehen zu London am Vierzehnten Mai, im Jahre des Herrn Ein tausend achthundert und zwei und siebenzig.

(L.S.) BERNSTORFF.

And whereas the ratifications of the said Treaty were exchanged at London on the eleventh day of June instant:

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by and with the advice of Her Privy Council, and in virtue of the authority committed to Her by the said recited Act, doth order, and it is hereby ordered, that from and after the eighth day of July, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-two, the said Act shall apply in the case of the said Treaty with the Emperor of Germany.

From F. B. PEACOCK, Esq., Registrar of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, to the Officiating Judge of the 24-Pergunnahs,—(No. 1830, dated Calcutta, the 6th July 1872.)

I AM directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 405, dated the 27th May last, wherein you solicit a re-consideration of the provision of C. O. No. 178, dated 13th May 1861, which prohibits any charge being made for copies of decrees or judgments required by parties to a suit.

HIGH COURT. CIVIL SIDE.
Present:
The Hon'ble Sir R. COUCH, Kt., Chief Justice.
The Hon'ble W. Markby,
" F. A. Glover,
" W. Ainslie,
Judges.

2. I am to inform you in reply that the Court have no power to declare that copies of judgments shall, as far as the parties to the suit are concerned, be charged for. The law (Section 198, Act VIII of 1859.) requires certified copies of decrees and judgments to be furnished to parties on the production of the necessary stamps. When, therefore, such stamps are put in by a party to the suit, a copy of the decree and judgment must be furnished to him without further cost.

3. With regard to your remark as to few, if any, of the old class of Office mohurirs in Moonsiffs' Courts knowing English, the Court observe that if this is so you should in future withhold your approval, under Section 36 of the Civil Courts' Act, if the Moonsiff should propose any establishment on which there was not at least one mohurir who knew English. If, in the meantime, copies of decrees and judgments cannot be made at the Chowkeys, they must be sent into the Judge's Office to be made there.

I have, &c,

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[Second Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Embankments and Water-courses, together with the Bill as amended by the Committee, is, by order of the President, hereby published for general information :—

WE the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill "to amend the law relating to embankments and water-courses," as amended by the former committee and submitted with their report of the 28th August 1871, have the honor to submit the following report :—

From Superintending Engineer, Orissa Circle, dated 6th February 1871.
Memorandum from Officiating Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, dated 2nd June 1871, with enclosures.
From Chairman of the Board of Agency, East Indian Railway, dated 1st September 1871.
From Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division, dated 28th September 1871, and enclosure.
From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 16th November 1871.
From Officiating Secretary, Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, dated 11th December 1871, and enclosures.
Memorial of Maharajah Dheraj Mahtab Chand Bahadoor, Maharajah of Burdwan, dated 26th January 1872.
To Board of Agency, East Indian Railway Company, dated 2nd October 1871.
From ditto ditto ditto, dated 15th February 1872.
From Officiating Joint-Secretary, Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, dated 29th July 1872, with notes by the Assistant and Chief Engineers in that department.

We have received and considered the papers noted on the margin.

We have introduced a definition of the word "tenure" and altered that of "proprietor" in accordance therewith.

We have provided by a separate section for power to the engineer to alter railways on the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and also for the recovery of the cost of such alterations.

We have introduced a section defining certain embankments, as shown in a schedule annexed to the Act, and have made the Government alone responsible for the cost and repairs of those embankments.

We have altered the Chapter relating to the apportionment of the cost of the works, proceedings, &c., in view to empower the Collector to determine such apportionment between the proprietors as well as between the zemindars of the estates protected and benefited by such works, so as to avoid the necessity for recourse to the Civil Courts in cases of dispute arising in regard to that apportionment; and have provided for such apportionment being made in certain cases in respect to estates, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively paid for such estates.

We have made the recovery of contributions of zemindars and proprietors from their subordinate proprietors recoverable as arrears of rent due from patni-talookdars.

We have omitted the section of the former Bill giving power to zemindars and proprietors to recover a proportion of their payments from ryots having rights of occupancy.

Forms for certain notices, &c., prescribed by the Bill, have been prepared in the schedules.

Verbal and other alterations have been made which require no special mention.

We recommend that the Bill as now submitted be passed.

PART VI.

COST OF WORKS, PROCEEDINGS, &c.

1. Ascertainment thereof.

Embankments in schedule E.

39. The provisions in this Part contained shall not apply to any of the embankments mentioned in Schedule (E) to this Act annexed, save so far as any works or repairs are executed therein or in relation thereto under the provisions of Sections 10 and 13 of this Act respectively. All sums payable in respect of any works or repairs executed therein or in relation thereto, except under the provisions of the said sections respectively, shall be paid by the local Government. If at any time after the passing of this Act the Collector, on enquiry made by him as far as possible in accordance with the provisions of Part III of this Act, shall find that it is unnecessary for the public interests to retain any embankment mentioned in Schedule (E), the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that the same shall be no longer included in the said Schedule. Provided that the same shall be restored to the said Schedule if on any subsequent enquiry similarly conducted it shall be found necessary so to do.

Alteration of schedule.

41. Specifications of any works or repairs to be executed under the provisions of this Act, and estimates of the expenses to be incurred therein or relating thereto, including such proportion of establishment charges as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct, shall be prepared by the Engineer as soon after the month of October in each year as may be practicable. And whenever it appears that the actual expenses to be incurred will exceed the amount mentioned in the said estimates by one-tenth, the engineer shall forthwith prepare further estimates, and if necessary further specifications. Copies of all specifications and estimates shall be transmitted to the office of the Collector, together with vernacular translations thereof or such abstracts thereof as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time direct, and may be examined by any person interested in such works or repairs. Notice of the receipt of specifications and estimates shall be served for all estates likely to be affected by the said works or repairs; and should any objection be preferred by any such person within a period of one month from the date of such notice, the Collector shall communicate the objection, with his own opinion thereupon, to the Engineer, who shall pass such orders as may appear to him reasonable and proper.

Estimate and specifications to be prepared.

42. The accounts of the actual expense incurred in executing any works or repairs shall be prepared as soon as possible after the completion thereof. The Engineer shall sign a certificate stating the true amount of all such expenses and the names of the estates and villages likely to be affected by the said works and repairs. Copies of the said accounts and certificates shall be forwarded to the office of the Collector, and may be there examined by any person interested. Notice of the receipt thereof shall be served for the said estates and villages and such others as in the opinion of the Collector are liable to contribute to the payment of the said amount; and if, within thirty days from the service of such notice, any interested person shall object to the accounts on the ground either that the work charged for has not been performed, or that the whole sum charged has not been expended, or that the rates of charge are higher than those mentioned in the estimates, the Collector shall enquire into such objection, and may pass any order thereon subject in any case to an appeal by the objector or to a reference by the Engineer to the Commissioner of Division, whose decision shall be final.

Preparation and settlement of accounts.

43. The Collector shall add to the amount appearing in the said certificate all sums which have been paid or have become payable in respect of compensation, costs and expenses under and incidental to any proceedings taken or directed to be taken under Part V of this Act, including costs of all surveys and plans. He shall thereupon make an order specifying the total sum found payable, and the persons by whom or the estates in respect of which the same is payable to him. If the order is made in respect of work done under Section 9, 12, or 13, the same shall forthwith be served upon the party or parties liable to pay. Otherwise the Collector shall proceed under the provisions in the next chapter contained. Interest may be charged upon any sum paid as compensation from the date of payment thereof at such rate, not exceeding 5 per cent per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct.

Total sum payable.

44. The said total sum, save so far as is otherwise provided in this Act, shall be paid to the Collector by the zemindars of the estates in which are situated the lands benefited or protected by the repairs or works executed. Provided that where any special payments have been demanded in respect of any estate not included in schedule E, and when the said embankment is at the time of this Act coming into operation being maintained by Government, then such special payments shall after the passing of this Act thenceforth cease and determine.

Parties liable to pay.

2. Apportionment thereof.

45. So soon as the total sum payable as aforesaid has been ascertained, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served for every one of the said estates and villages mentioned in Section 42. Every such notice shall specify the estates and villages aforesaid, and that an enquiry will be held at a day and place therein named for the purpose of apportioning amongst the zemindars and proprietors the said total sum, with interest and the costs of apportionment.

Notice to be given before apportionment.

46. On the day fixed in the said notice, which shall not be less than thirty days later than the date of any service of such notice, the Collector shall proceed to make the said enquiry. In making this enquiry he shall receive such evidence as may be tendered by, or on behalf of, the said zemindars and proprietors, and by, or on behalf of, any other persons who may claim to be interested therein.

Mode of enquiry as to the proportion chargeable to each estate.

47. In any such enquiry the Collector shall take down in writing the names of all persons who may claim, or who may be alleged by any party interested, to be proprietors of tenures within any of the estates mentioned in such notice. In default of appearance of any such person, the Collector shall issue and serve a notice calling on him to appear at a date and place therein mentioned, and to shew cause against being included in the order of apportionment to be made therein, and shall adjourn the enquiry till such date.

Names of proprietors.

48. At such or any subsequently adjourned enquiry the Collector, if there be only one estate liable, shall charge the zemindar thereof with the total amount payable; and if there be two or more estates, he shall apportion the same amongst the zemindars thereof rateably in the proportion of the respective benefits derived by such estates from such works or repairs; or in proportion of the areas of the lands benefited or protected thereby, and comprised within such estates respectively; or with the sanction of the Local Government in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively payable for such estates, if before the passing of this Act such proportion has been usually adopted.

Amongst proprietors.

49. The Collector shall in like manner apportion the amount payable in respect of each estate amongst all the tenures therein, rateably in the proportion of benefit or area; first deducting therefrom such sum as on the like principle of proportion is payable in respect of such portion of the estate as is not included within any tenure.

Payable by instalments.

50. The amount apportioned to any estate or tenure shall be payable in equal instalments on such days as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct, provided that no instalment shall exceed four annas for every acre of land in respect of which the same is payable, and that not more than four instalments shall be payable in any one year.

Orders for payment.

52. The Collector shall within thirty days from the final order of apportionment make and serve for every estate therein mentioned an order, stating the amount with interest due in respect thereof and that the same is payable to him, and the date or dates at which such amount or instalments thereof shall become payable to him.

Recovery from zemindars.

53. If such sum or any instalment thereof be not, pursuant to the said order, paid, the same with interest shall be recoverable as arrears of a demand under the provisions of Act VII of 1868 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

From proprietors.

54. Every zemindar or proprietor to whom any sum or instalment thereof is payable under the said order, may recover the same with interest in the manner provided by law for the recovery of arrears of rent in respect of putnee tenures. A copy of the said order, certified under the name and seal of the Collector, shall be received in any suit for the recovery of the same as conclusive evidence that the amount was apportioned as therein mentioned, but shall not be evidence as to the existence of, or as to any right in, the tenure to which the said amount has been apportioned.

The Burdwan Fever.

No. 422, dated Burdwan, the 14th August 1872.

From—T. B. LANE, Esq., Officiating Commissioner of Burdwan,

To—The Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Judicial Dept.

IN continuation of this office No. 367, dated the 6th ultimo, I have the honor to forward in original a letter, No. 236P, dated the 27th idem, from the Magistrate of Burdwan, submitting a narrative report on the fever relief operations of that district for the month of June last.

2. This report may be described briefly as more favorable than that of the previous months. Whilst the large number of dispensaries and food depôts established in the district were fully resorted to, the fever was nowhere actually on the increase by the occurrence of new cases, and generally the public health was said to be improving. The average daily number attending for medical relief was nearly 1,750. Food was given to a daily average of 227 people at twelve depôts, showing a decrease compared with May, when 288 were fed daily.

3. The state of health at the beginning of the present month of August has been reported to me as not so good in the town of Burdwan itself, though every means of relief are freely offered, and the Magistrate specially mentioned to me that the tincture of cinchona was succeeding where quinine failed. In the rest of Burdwan circle there has been no unfavorable change as regards the local fever, but dengue fever has spread.

4. In the Jehanabad circle further improvement is reported, though in the extreme south there is still much sickness, and specially to the south and lower side of the Dalkissore river. Bood-Bood and Munglecote circles show improvement.

5. The state of the district in regard to measures of relief for the sick has been fully entered into by me at Burdwan during the past week. I find that one tract to the west of the district is entirely free from all fever. From Kalkapore, on the Adjai, to the north, through the police station of Kaksa, down to the southern limit of pergunnah Sonamookhee, a line separates the healthy and unhealthy tracts. As far as I can ascertain at present, this is coincident with a gradual rise in level of the soil from this line westwards up to the level of Raneegunge. The tract thus free from fever is rather less than 500 square miles. The remainder of the district is more or less afflicted with the fever.

6. For relief purposes the district has been now divided into four circles, superintended generally by the Civil Surgeon, Dr. H. Purves.

1*st.*—Burdwan Circle, under the charge of Dr. Robinson, which includes also a part of the tract lately called Roynah circle.

2*nd.*—Jehanabad Circle, under the charge of Dr. Ghose, including the tract lately transferred from Hooghly district, the rest of the Roynah circle, and the late Oochalun circle.

3*rd.*—Bood-Bood Circle, in charge of Dr. Goopto, who has his head-quarters at Burdwan, including the old Khondghose circle.

7. These three circles comprise the whole portion of the district south of a line drawn through Burdwan station; and a few dispensaries to the north, which are easily reached from the station, are also supervised from thence. The rest of the district to the north and east is assigned to the—

4*th.*—Munglecote Circle, with head-quarters at a place called Gooshkara, under charge of the Sub-Assistant Surgeon Chunder Nath Biswas.

8. The eastern side of this tract is however less distressed with fever now, having unhappily been severely ravaged in 1868, and much depopulated. Its present state has been carefully examined and tested; a dispensary was opened first at Dewangunge to its north, but the attendance fell to 28 persons, and it was closed. Another was subsequently opened at Bamunpara in the centre of this tract, and this again was closed about the beginning of July, as but few made use of it. The Munglecote circle is really higher and drier than the rest of the district, but the type of fever was said to be worse there, and though the means of communication were better, quite as many dispensaries were at one time required as in the Burdwan circle.

9. Over the southern tract in the three other circles the country is very low, and communication in many places very difficult.

10. The number of dispensaries now open in each circle is as follows:—

Burdwan circle	...	...	... 15
Jehanabad circle	...	...	... 16
Bood-Bood circle	...	...	... 15
Munglecote circle	...	...	... 14

11. In addition to the medical men above named, a Sub-Assistant Surgeon or a selected Hospital Assistant is placed in charge of each dispensary, with one or two compounders and a hospital coolie.

12. So far back as December 1871, an attempt was made to organize a body of assistants from the retired compounders, or other men who had at one time received some medical instruction, and who were to be found in almost every village. One of these was to be placed at each dispensary for further instruction, with a view to his being ultimately placed in charge. There was a great want of co-operation, however, on the part of the dispensary officers, and the scheme fell through.

13. I discussed much the practicability of using these retired compounders as distributors of medicine from house to house amongst the poorer class, who are too ill or too proud to go to the dispensaries. I am afraid that this class is numerous and suffers much for want of medicine and sometimes food. But I was told that it would be useless to entrust medicine to these men, who would either keep it, or endeavour to sell it, but would not properly distribute it. Except on this one point, the relief measures appear to me complete, and most admirably worked under Mr. Metcalfe and Dr. Purves. The town dispensaries which I visited gave evidence of great care and attention to the sick and needy.

14. I need only further mention the existing arrangements for distribution of food and clothing. These are separately supervised by a Deputy Collector. Purchases of stores are made in Calcutta, and sent out to the depôts specially selected in every case by himself after personal inquiry, and placed in charge of the chief village residents. The checks on imposition were fully described by the Magistrate in his long report, submitted to Government with this office No. 367, dated the 6th ultimo.

No. 236P, dated Burdwan, the 27th July 1872.

From—C. T. METCALFE, Esq., Magistrate of Burdwan,

To—The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division.

I HAVE the honor to submit a narrative report on the fever relief operations of this district for the month of June last.

2. There has been some delay in the submission of this report, which is owing to the non-receipt of the dispensary returns, some of which have not been received up to date.

3. The subjoined is the figured statement showing the number of persons relieved at the dispensaries during the month of June.

7. The Civil Surgeon forwards reports from the inspecting officers of the various circles attached to this district. The reports embrace the period from 1st to the 22nd of the month.

8. Burdwan Circle.—Dr. Robinson, inspecting officer of the Burdwan Circle, finishes his report by stating that there is a general and very considerable improvement in the physical condition of the people. The death-rate throughout the district is very low. The poor recipients of food relief at the depôts highly approve of the measures. There is a general subsidence of the fever, though it cannot be said that the fever has left any one village yet.

9. Munglecote Circle.—Dr. K. P. Goopta, inspecting officer of the Munglecote Circle, visited almost all the dispensaries of his circle, and observes that there is a gradual decrease in the number of patients attending the following dispensaries,—Ausgram, Bhalkee, Jamtore, Dignuggur, Bagar, Shondah. Dr. K. P. Goopta found there is an increase in the number of patients in the Adra dispensary. This increase is not to be attributed to on account of the increase of fever, but the dispensary is now well known to the people, which was established in May last. Dr. K. P. Goopta recommends that a dispensary may be opened at Bhoorhee, a village about four miles from Shondah. Dr. K. P. Goopta passed through many villages and found the health of the people improving. From the registers examined by the aforesaid officer, he suspects that the registers kept by the Native Doctor of Dignuggur and Bagar are incorrect. I have therefore requested the Civil Surgeon to make inquiries regarding the particular points in which the registers are to be found incorrect, and to report to me the result of his inquiry. I have also requested the Civil Surgeon to institute inquiry regarding the unfavorable mention made by Dr. Goopta in his report against the Native Doctor of Shondah for his asking remuneration from a poor Brahmin of Backta when the Native Doctor visited the village on his inspection duty.

10. Oochalun, Roynah, and Khondghose Circles.—Dr. F. C. Ghose visited the following dispensaries: Ekloky, Kendoor, Gopalbeiah, Degulgram, Karore, Joobleah, Roynah, Arore, Meerpore, Poitah, Gotan, Sreekishtopore, Bamneah, Bellshur, Gobindpoor, Kurshundah, Khondghose, Sungshur, and Sondah. The inspecting officer finds that there has been an increase in the attendance of the patients in the Ekloky dispensary. This increase, as has been explained by him, is principally under the head of admissions, owing to those patients who, by the existence of the Tatterpore dispensary, which has been since abolished, formed rather a class of moving patients, taking medicines and advices from either of the dispensaries, according to their whim or caprice. The inspecting officer found here imperfect arrangements existed regarding the removal of the dead bodies, which have been since remedied. Dr. Ghose concludes his report by stating that the general health of the people is gradually improving. The fever is still at abeyance, and the chronic cases are generally doing well in almost all the dispensaries. The rate of mortality is still on the decrease. The opinion of the people as to the relief measures still continue favorable, and only in two instances complaints are received against the Native Doctors. In many villages where the dispensary is in existence the attendance is small from the village itself, the greater portion being from the distant villages, as in the cases of Sreekishtopore, Bellshur, and Ekloky.

11. Munglecote Circle.—The inspecting officer of this circle, Sub-Assistant Surgeon Baboo Chunder Nath Biswas, reports that the health of the people in his circle is improving. He found that the Mahomedeans of the village Orgram are in the habit of burying dead bodies close to their houses at Hattola. I have requested the Deputy Magistrate of Bood-Bood, in whose jurisdiction the village lies, personally to inspect the village; and if he finds that the practice is still existing, to arrest its continuance under the Criminal Procedure Code. This officer recommends to open a food depot at Shur. Arrangements have been already made to open a food depot at that village.

12. In the latter end of June information was received that there was great distress in the village of Dunonathpore and Powgram near the Bhadia railway station, and in the villages of Shur, Bhoru, Kolekole, and Khanoo, near the junction railway station. Baboo Bogolanund Mookerjea, Deputy Magistrate, on special duty, and Baboo Protap Narain Singha, Deputy Magistrate of Bood-Bood, visited the places, and on their reports arrangements were made to open food depôts and dispensaries in those villages which have been opened in the beginning of the present month.

13. From the reports submitted by various officers it appears that the health of the people is generally improving, but as the rainy season has not yet completely set in in this district, apprehension is gravely entertained how far the health of the people will continue to improve. The fever cannot be said to have left any one village yet, and although the mortality as gathered from the dispensary returns was 101 during the month of June, still the number of patients received under medical treatment was great—58,410. The old cases require great care, and the slightest neglect will prove serious to their lives. Instances of new fever are also met here and there, and they are cases sometimes proving at once fatal. I am glad to mention that very great care is exhibited by the various officers in connection with the relief works in superintending the dispensaries and food depôts.

14. I beg to submit herewith a copy from the Civil Surgeon's report, No. 19, dated the 26th June last.

15. In connection with the dispensary report, I beg to subjoin a detailed statement showing the working of the food depôts for the month of June.

16. Twelve food depôts worked during the month, of which two were closed in the beginning of the present month, and six new opened.

17. During the month of June 6,816 indigent sick were fed, the daily average being 227. During the month of May 8,913 indigent sick were fed, the average being 288 per diem. The cost incurred for the month of June was Rs. 361-6, at the rate of Rs. 14-10-9 per day, of which Rs. 12-0-9 for food, and only Rs. 2-10 establishment. The cost incurred for the month of May was Rs. 417-0-10, at the rate of Rs. 16-0 6 per day, of which Rs. 13-7-9 for food, and only Rs. 2-8-9 for establishment. Daily average cost per head for the month of June was 1 anna, and the monthly expenditure on each person was Rs. 1-15-9, of which the monthly expenditure for feeding Rs. 1-9-9 ; establishment 6 annas.

18. The increase in the monthly expenditure in the month of June to Rs. 1-15-9 from Rs. 1-12-6 in the month of May is due to the rise in the price of rice and vegetables, and in some food depôts, at the recommendation of the medical officers, food is also given in the evening, and oil is also prescribed for rubbing the bodies of the sick men, which indulgence was not recommended before. On the whole the expense is very moderate, considering that 6,816 persons were relieved, and the cost during the month was Rs. 361-6.

19. If there be no rain during this month, the price of grain is expected to rise still higher.

No. 19, dated Burdwan, the 26th June 1872.

From—Dr. H. B. Purves, Civil Surgeon of Burdwan,

To—The Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, Presidency Circle.

I have the honor to submit the following reports from the inspecting officers of endemic dispensaries in this district:

Assistant Surgeon K. P. Goopta, Munglecote circle, one report, from 15th to 23rd June 1872.

Sub-Assistant Surgeon Chunder Nath Biswas, Munglecote circle, two reports, from 8th to 21st June 1872.

Assistant Surgeon T. Robinson, Burdwan circle, one report, from 8th to 14th June 1872.

Assistant Surgeon F. C. Ghose, Oochalun, Roynah, and Khondghose circles, one report, from 8th to 15th June 1872.

Dr. Goopta reported himself for special duty here on the 13th instant. He received orders to proceed to Munglecote to inspect a number of the dispensaries in that circle. He visited eight, viz., Bheddea, Aorgram, Bhalkee, Jamtara, Dignuggur, Bagar, Shondah, and Adrah.

I noted in my last report that Dr. Ghose had visited Shondah.

Bheddea was established on the 13th instant, and the attendance has not been great. It is now discovered that greater sickness prevails in some neighbouring villages, so I have requested Dr. Goopta to remove this dispensary to the locality where the greatest amount of good can be done. The establishment of a food depôt in connection with the dispensary has also been suggested.

At Aorgram sickness is decreasing. The dispensary was not in good order.

The Bhalkee dispensary was in good order, but the attendance small.

As considerable sickness is reported at a village called Bhooree, lying between Gulshee and Shondah, I have requested Dr. Goopta to remove the Bhalkee dispensary to that place.

The Jamtarah dispensary is favorably noticed.

At Dignuggur the general state of the dispensary was found satisfactory, but the inspecting officer doubts the correctness of the returns, especially the new cases admitted.

At Bagar the attendance is considerable. The inspecting officer does not think that 3rd class hospital assistant Hatem Ali visits the neighbouring villages as he ought to do, and doubts the veracity of his returns.

At Shondah the attendance is good. Patients travel long distances to this dispensary. Some people belonging to a village called Backta, near Shondah, accuse apothecary class Native Doctor Gooroo Nath Roy of exacting fees from them. On the inspecting officer making further inquiries, many of the poor patients spoke highly in the Native Doctor's praise, and stated he never asked them for any remuneration whatever.

At Adrah the attendance is increasing. Dr. Goopta during his inspection tour travelled across country as far as possible, in order to learn the state of the villages lying between the various dispensaries.

As a rule he found the water-supply bad, and the simplest sanitary measures totally unattended to.

Although increased sickness is reported in the vicinity of Bheddea and Shondah, necessitating the establishment of dispensaries, still as a rule the general health was found comparatively good in most of the villages he visited.

Munglecote Circle.—Inspecting officer Sub-Assistant Surgeon Chunder Nath Biswas inspected Kaichur, Munglecote, Chanoke, Shur, Dignuggur, Mahatah, Aorgram, and Arore. Several of these dispensaries were inspected twice.

As noted in my last report, the Kaichur dispensary was removed to Bheddea on the 13th instant.

Several fresh cases of fever are reported at Shur, Mahatah, Aorgram, and Arore.

The Magistrate has been requested to pass orders for the proper disposal of the dead at a village named Kattolah near Aorgram.

As the inspecting officer reported considerable sickness at villages called Pattea and Bamoonarah, orders have been passed to establish dispensaries there.

Second class hospital assistant Shaik Fukeer Mahomed has received instructions to close the Munglecote dispensary and proceed to Pattea.

Vernacular licentiate class Native Doctor Nobin Chunder Sen, lately officiating at the jail hospital and Painroh endemic dispensary, has received orders to proceed to Bamoonarah to establish a dispensary there.

Burdwan Circle.—During the weeks under report Dr. Robinson was on special duty for several days at Assensole investigating a reported outbreak of cholera. A separate communication has been forwarded to you on the subject.

The following dispensaries were visited,—Seraitikkur, Jiccurhaut, Katrapotah, Gulshee, Itchlabazar, Baldangah, Juggutbaer, and Kanchunnuggur.

No complaints are made regarding the general management. The attendance at most of the dispensaries continues much the same.

Oochalun, Roynah, and Khondghose.—Dr. Ghose visited all the dispensaries in the above circles with the exception of Nundah, which was lately established at the suggestion of the Sanitary Commissioner.

Vernacular licentiate class Native Doctor Noshu Ram Ghosal reports that there is very little sickness at Nundah; Dr. Ghose will inspect the place as soon as practicable, and if necessary, order its removal to a locality where greater sickness prevails.

In these three circles the dispensaries are very close together, so that several can be visited in one day. This accounts for the number of dispensaries the inspecting officer has been able to visit in the period under notice.

Jehanabad, which lies to the south of Burdwan, has just been transferred from the Hooghly to the Burdwan district. Dr. Ghose has proceeded to Jehanabad to inspect that new part of the district, and will report on the state of health, and whether or not there is any necessity for the establishment of dispensaries.

The attendance at Ekloky has not materially increased since the Tatarpore dispensary was removed. There is no doubt that many patients attended both dispensaries and thus vitiated the statistics considerably. An extra coolie has been sanctioned, and the Magistrate has passed orders regarding the disposal of the dead.

If the average at Koyur continues as low as it is at present, I think the dispensary should be removed to another part of the circle. Since vernacular licentiate class Native Doctor Modhoo Sudhone Chuckerbutty, late of Kanchunnugger new dispensary, took over charge at Roynah, there has been a considerable increase in attendance.

When the inspecting officer visited Srikishtopore, Sub-Assistant Surgeon Amirto Lall Mozoomdar was preparing to remove the dispensary to Jamalpore.

Regarding the other dispensaries there is nothing worthy of particular notice.

I am glad to state that most of the dispensaries were inspected during the past fortnight, and some of them were visited twice and thrice. All the dispensaries in the Munglecote circle were visited, and it is so far satisfactory that many of those that had not been inspected for a long time were found in such fair order.

Munglecote is a very extensive circle, and the dispensaries in many instances at great distances apart.

I am endeavouring, in communication with the Magistrate, to re-arrange the dispensaries so as to distribute them as equally as possible among the four inspecting officers. When the rains fairly set in and the country gets flooded, inspection duty will not be easily carried out. If there be much sickness in and around Jehanabad, I fear Dr. Ghose will not be able to manage the work there in addition to his present share. This will necessitate some of the dispensaries south of the Damoodah being thrown into the Munglecote and Burdwan circles.

Many of the Native Doctors are not visiting the villages in the vicinity of their dispensaries as they should do; and several complaints have been received to the effect that the monthly allowance of Rs. 10 is insufficient to meet the expenditure incurred in travelling.

During the rainy season I fear very little travelling will be done by the majority of the medical officers.

The Sub-Assistant Surgeons and some of the Native Doctors have received a supply of the Darjeeling bark and tincture, and in a short time I hope to be able to furnish you with information regarding the efficacy or otherwise of these drugs in fever cases. The decrease of sickness in one part of the district, and an increase in another, necessitates the frequent changing of the dispensaries.

On the whole, however, I think the general health continues much the same as stated in my last report.

Resolution by the Government of Bengal, dated Calcutta, the 20th August 1872.

A letter No. 422, dated 14th August 1872, from the Officiating Commissioner of the Burdwan division, submitting with his remarks a narrative report by Mr. C. T. Metcalfe, Magistrate of Burdwan, on the fever relief operations in the Burdwan district for the month of June last.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that there was a great improvement in the public health in the month of June last, which continued in most places up to August. The state of things in the town of Burdwan itself is now said to be looking a little worse, but the relief measures are in full operation. Great credit is due to the Commissioner and the other local officers for the complete organization established in the district for affording both medical and food relief to the sufferers.

2. It is a comfort to know that some part of the district which was formerly affected is ceasing to suffer from the fever, and that there is one tract which is entirely free from it. The Commissioner will be good enough to report whether the disease appears to be progressive in other directions at all, or if the limits already attained are stationary. It should be stated whether the tract to the west, now entirely free, ever suffered from the fever; and if so, when.

3. His Honor attributes very great importance to a thorough trial of the tincture of bark, as Government can readily produce it in large quantities from the cinchona plantations.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor has just learned with great pleasure that the Government of India has given a grant of one lakh of rupees towards the fever relief operations.

5. The acknowledgments of Government are due to Mr. T. B. Lane, the Officiating Commissioner of Burdwan, for the clear report now submitted by him.

Order.—Ordered that a copy of the report with this resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette, and that a copy be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Burdwan division for information and guidance, and to the Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Medical Department, for information.

Outbreak of Cattle Disease in the Sibsaugor District.

No. 1292T, dated Shillong, the 1st August 1872.

From—Colonel H. Hopkinson, Agent, Governor-General, N.-E. F. and Commr., Assam,
To—The Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Judicial Department.

In reply to your letter No. 2415 of the 7th idem (Judicial [Medical] Department), I have the honor to submit copy of a letter, No. 867 of the 24th July, with annexures, from the Deputy Commissioner of Sibsaugor, regarding the outbreak of cattle disease in that district.

2. The measures adopted by the local officers have been successful, and the disease which was confined to a few mouzahs only has now disappeared.

No. 867, dated Sibsaugor, the 24th July 1872.

From—Major A. E. Campbell, Deputy Commissioner, Sibsaugor,
To—The Personal Assistant to the Commissioner of Assam.

With reference to your memorandum No. 532T, dated 15th ultimo, forwarding copy of Government letter No. 2415 of the 7th idem, I have the honor to submit the following report on the outbreak of cattle disease in this district.

2. The disease appeared in the sub-divisions of Golaghat and Jorehaut in the month of March. In the latter sub-division it was confined entirely to one mouzah in the Majuli, and in Golaghat to a few mouzahs only. At no time did the disease appear in that virulent form which distinguished it in 1869, and the measures adopted appeared to be able to control the disease from spreading.

3. In April the disease appeared in the sudder sub-district in three mouzahs, where 87 head of cattle died in a very short time, and it then appeared to stop. I inspected some of the cases myself, and although the symptoms seemed to be those of the cattle-plague or rinderpest, they appeared to me to be in a very mild form.

4. As soon as the disease appeared in the district, I issued strict orders to segregate the diseased and infected herds as much as possible, at the same time put a stop to cattle crossing over to or from the Majuli where the disease appeared to be worse. The disease has not at any time assumed a formidable aspect as on its last visitation, I therefore did not establish hospitals or issue medicine.

5. I am quite convinced that the disease was imported from Bengal by the droves of buffaloes which were brought up for sale. In a mouzah near this it appeared simultaneously with a drove of imported cattle.

6. I am happy to be able to say the disease has now stopped, and I beg to append reports, in original, received from the sub-divisional officers on the same subject.

No. 253, dated Jorehaut, the 15th July 1872.

From—P. T. Carnegy, Esq., Assistant Commissioner, Jorehaut,

To—The Deputy Commissioner of Sibsaugor.

Secretary to the Government of Bengal's No. 2415 dated 7th June 1872.
Commissioner's Circular No. 437, dated 20th June 1872.

As there have been no deaths amongst cattle from rinderpest within the present month, and the disease seems to have fairly died out, I have now the honor to submit the report regarding the measures taken to meet the outbreak of cattle-plague in this sub-division, called for in your memorandum No. 723, dated 20th June last, forwarding copies of the correspondence noted in the margin.

2. The outbreak commenced about the central portion of the Majuli. On hearing of it I visited the place, and in my letter No. 110 of the 30th March last informed you of the state of affairs, expressing a hope that the disease might be confined to the area then infected, and such I am glad to say has been the case. The steps taken to ensure this were, as I then stated, to impress upon the villagers beyond the infected area that if they let cattle diseased or not come to their villages from the infected ones, or let their own cattle go near them to graze, then they would to a certainty lose all their cows and buffaloes, and have only themselves to thank for it. The people of the villages where the plague was raging were also warned, that if they took their cattle to other places and spread disease, they would be prosecuted criminally, at the same time steps were taken to effectually close the ferries on the Brahmaputra and Loohit against cattle. One ferry man, who was detected in assisting to cross some buffaloes, was fined Rs. 50, and this had a good effect on the others. Stringent orders were passed about the burying of deceased carcasses, and the mouzahdars and munduls made responsible for having it done.

3. I found when in the Majuli that the ryots had no belief in medicine for their sick cattle, and therefore made no attempt to supply them with any, but contented myself with trying, through the measures above noticed, to confine the disease within limited area of its outbreak, and there let it wear itself out. The people themselves, with the effects of the great plague of 1869-70 before them, were less apathetic than usual, and really tried to keep disease away from their own herds. The situation of Majuli, too, was in favor of isolation, as with the ferries shut cattle could not be taken out of it to the main land, and after the first rise of the Brahmaputra it was even impossible for them to be driven across country from one village to another.

No. 266, dated Golaghat, the 19th July 1872.

From—Captain L. Blathwayt, Assistant Commissioner of Golaghat,

To—The Deputy Commissioner of Sibsaugor.

In reply to your memorandum No. 837, dated 17th July, I have the honor to report as follows:

2. Early in March last cattle disease appeared in mouzah Kajeerunga, brought there I believe by one of the many droves of buffaloes which were about that time travelling up through the province of Assam; for at the end of the month, while in camp in the Majuli, I learnt from the villagers of Kokeela Chaporree mouzah that a drove of buffaloes had passed up a few days previously, and that several of them had died from what appeared to be the regular cattle disease.

3. The disease subsequently made its appearance in the mouzahs of Namdyang, Nahoronee, Jailamonee, Nikkoree, Dehnigea, Deorgaon, Atgaun, and the Nuggur Mehal, but up to the present time the total number of deaths reported is only 522, and this number includes a good many goats. During the whole month of June only 14 deaths were reported, and I think that the disease may now be considered as having ceased.

4. In this sub-division there cannot be less than a hundred thousand head of cattle, and supposing that the average duration of life among them was ten years (and I don't think it is more), ten thousand head of cattle would perish annually from natural causes. The statistics of the mortality among cattle are furnished by the mouzahdars, and they compile them from the reports of the villagers, and there is consequently a very strong probability that if in one village ten cattle die of rinderpest and ten of old age, accidents, sickness of an ordinary nature, &c., the whole twenty will appear in the mouzahdar's report as having perished by the former scourge.

5. But even supposing that every death reported was what it professed to be, still the cattle disease this year has been a mere flea-bite to what it was on the last occasion when the deaths were twenty times as numerous as now.

6. The precautions taken by me were—1*st*, I directed all mouzahdars to use their utmost endeavours to prevent cattle being taken from villages where the disease had shown itself to other villages which were free of it; 2*nd*, I gave positive injunctions to the lessees of the ferries on the Brahmaputra not to take over any droves of buffaloes until they had remained for several days at the ghât in a kind of quarantine without any signs of sickness being apparent; and whenever a drove of buffaloes or other cattle passed up near Golaghat, I used to picket the whole lot out on a piece of waste land far from any village, and keep them there for six or seven days, having them counted and inspected daily, and at the end of this period if no signs of disease were apparent, I allowed the drovers to proceed on their way, and although on six or seven occasions I detained cattle in the above manner, in no instance was any disease shown to be among them.

Rainfall, Weather, and State and Prospects of the Crops.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of the Lower Provinces of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending 17th August 1872.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.	1872.
Burdwan Division. 1	Burdwan ...	Aug. 20th*	2·95	Cloudy; rain general over the district in showers.	In Cutwa and up loop line prospects of crops good; no crops about sudder station; in other parts not favorable. Price of grain rising.	Public health bad. Fever and dengue prevalent
2	Bancoorah ...	„ 17th	0·71	Generally cloudy; slight showers at the sudder station, but heavy showers in the east and south-east; also some rain in the north.	The rice crop is still in a very precarious state. In Bishenpore and parts of Onda transplanting has been tolerably successful, but on the average not more than a quarter of the crop is yet planted out. Other crops are good.	Health generally good. A few cases of cholera.
3	Beerbhoom ...	„ 17th	1·16	Much the same as last week. Often cloudy, but little rain. Complaints especially from the west and north.	In thannah Sacooleepur the whole of the lands are said to have been brought under crops, which is so far favorable. For the greater part of the district anxiety is felt.
4	Midnapore ...	„ 17th	3·06	Heavy but partial rain has fallen at sudder station and Gurbetta; otherwise cloudy, with occasional but insufficient showers.	Where heavy rain has fallen the prospects have improved, but from other quarters rain is urgently looked for, and blight is announced in many quarters owing to drought. Only an 8-anna crop can be anticipated, taking the district as a whole.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 17th	·53	Clear and sunny. Wednesday night drizzled for several hours; heavy dark clouds passed but no rain. There was a good shower of rain yesterday at Serampore sub-division.	Jute and sugarcane are an average crop, but there is no water for steeping the former. Some aus in Serampore thannah has been cut; the rest is spoiling for want of rain. Scarcely any amun has been planted out, and it will soon be too late. The seedlings are turning yellow. Prices are rising. Mahajuns are storing up-country grain.
	Howrah ...	„ 17th	4·04	Cloudy; wind varying from east to south-east. Slight rain almost every day at and near Howrah; and in extreme west there has been more rain than elsewhere.	Aus dhan, sugarcane, and jute, doing fairly well. Transplanting of amun dhan progressing slowly in low lands, but the prospects of the amun crop generally are not favorable. It may yet be saved if heavy rain falls soon, otherwise it will be destroyed.

	Central Districts.	1872.
Presidency Division. 6	24-Pergunnahs ...	Aug. 20th	4·57	Cloudy and warm, with frequent showers of rain. Mean temp. ... 84° Diren. of wind S. & E	The recent rains have decidedly improved the prospects of the crops. At Baroopore the insects which had been previously reported to have attacked the rice crop there are disappearing.	Dengue prevails all over the district, and intermittent fever has also made its appearance in many places.
7	Nuddea ...	„ 17th	1·18	Too dry to be seasonable.	Rain is still much wanted The state of the amun dhan is causing anxiety everywhere but in the north of the district. The cutting of the aus dhan has commenced; there is much local variation in the outturn The spring indigo on the ground is still in a poor state. Transplanting of red pepper is completed; sugarcane very fair; jute not looking well.
8	Jessore ...	„ 17th	2·86	Seasonable rain in most parts of the district. Rain still wanted in north-east and south of district.	Good. In some parts of Magoora and Bagirhat rain wanted for amun rice. Aus rice being reaped. Manufacture of indigo going on.
Rajshahye Division. 9	Moorshedabad ...	„ 17th	0·26	The weather throughout the week has been showery, but not much rain has fallen.	The aus, mulberry, and jute crops are looking well, but the amun crop will be below the average, unless more rain falls speedily, as owing to the want of rain the ryots are unable to cultivate the high lands.
10	Dinagepore ...	„ 17th	3·84	Rain general throughout the district.	All crops looking well; jute and bhadoi dhan being cut.
11	Maldah ...	„ 17th	0·66	Cloudy; slight rain on four days of the week.	The bhadoi (early rice) will be shortly reaped; an average crop is expected. The amun (late rice) so far looks well, but more rain is needed.	Dengue decreasing, but many persons in English bazar suffering from the after effects A few fatal cases of cholera have also occurred.
12	Rajshahye ...	„ 17th	1·14	Clouds always about, but with breaks of clear sky and sunshine; breezes cool and pleasant, and sometimes strong Local showers of rain heavy, but of short duration.	The indigo is now nearly all reaped, and the crop for this year has proved a particularly good one. The reaping has commenced, in parts, of the aus crop, which is below average owing to the small rainfall up to date. For the same reason the prospects of the amun and ropa crops are not favorable. Silk prospects on the other hand continue very good.
13	Rungpore ...	„ 17th	7·60	Alternation of cloudy and fair weather.	All the crops getting on well.
14	Bograh ...	„ 17th	0·78	Occasional drizzling rain; for the most part bright sunny days. Weather close.	The yield of the aus crop is much below the average of late years. Amun rice is suffering for want of rain, which has been scanty throughout the district. Three western thannahs had one day's good rain.	Fever prevails but not in an unusual degree.
15	Pubna ...	„ 17th	1·58	Cloudy, with some rain. The wind was from the east and south.	The rain has been of great benefit to the aus and the amun paddy. Jute is also in a favorable condition.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.

Cooch Behar Division. 16	Darjeeling ...	Aug. 17th	7·75	Warm. For two days heavy rains.	Hills.—Sufficient rain has fallen. All the crops are now promising well. Terai.—Sufficient rain has fallen. The ryots are employed in transplanting heotee dhan. Bhadoi dhan has somewhat suffered. Pât is better this year. Rice still continues to be dear.	Cholera ceased; three or four doubtful cases only heard last week.
17	Julpigoree ...	„ 17th	6·49	Good heavy showers and cool.	Crops have been greatly benefited by the rain which has fallen. Rain in the sub-division of Fallacotta has been heavier than at head-quarters, and reports of crops in that part are favorable.	Cholera is less prevalent, but has not entirely abated.
	Cooch Behar ...	.....	.....	... ..	.....	Return not received.
	Eastern Districts.
Dacca Division. 18	Dacca ...	„ 20th*	1·20	.....	Rivers slightly risen. Prospects of crops good and improving.
19	Furreedpore ...	„ 17th	0·86	Drizzling rain three days in the week, accompanied by cloudy weather; strong and continuous sunshine during the remaining days. Weather sultry and close, with occasional gusts of wind.	The rice, jute, and sugarcane crops are on the whole progressing favorably.
20	Backergunge ...	„ 17th	1·90	Seasonable. There has been rain nearly every day, and the weather has been cool.	Good. The aus harvest has been commenced.
21	Mymensing ...	„ 17th	2·20	Moderate rain on five days of the week; general throughout the district.	More rain is still wanted for the amun rice, especially in the south of the district. The crops are thus far doing well, and the prospect is good.
22	Sylhet ...	„ 10th	3·19	Dry and close; very little rain this week. Max. temperature of week 89° Minimum ditto 76° Range ... 13° Mean of highest readings .. 87·1° Mean of lowest readings ... 78·1° Approximate mean ... 82·6°	Good. Chengri aus crop all but cut. Katai jangli, another description of aus, very coarse and inferior, is being cut. Sowings of the sail crop commenced. A little more rain would do good.
23	Cachar ...	„ 10th	6·08	Cool and pleasant; mild rain.	The river has overflowed its banks between Sunai Mookh and Silchar; all the beels are very full. There is a flood north of the river, in mouzahs Kallain, Bikrampore, and the neighbourhood. No damage has as yet been done to the crops. The river began to fall slightly yesterday at noon.

26	Tipperah ..	„ 17th	3·2	Bright weather, with plentiful showers and strong sea breeze from south-east. Weather delightful but in Brahmunberia there has been still no copious rain	In home thannahs (two-thirds of district) all is favorable. Here and there wind and rain may have injured a small quantity of ripe early rice, but very little. In the sub-division jute and aus are both about 12-anna crops. The amun crop is safe, though the sparseness of the rainfall causes some alarm.
27	Chittagong Hill Tracts	„ 10th	5·25	A heavy shower on 5th; no rain on 6th and 7th; weather is hot generally.	Crops are promising. The cotton and paddy generally flower. The aus paddy is being gathered. Indian corn is over

Bhaugulpore Division. 34	Monghyr ...	Aug. 17th	2·04	Bright weather, interrupted with smart showers.	The crop in almost all places north of the river very fine. The aghani rice in south of district is endangered for want of rain, but if it rains more during the next week, it will still be a good crop.
35	Bhaugulpore ...	„ 20th*	2 50	Very heavy rain in many places, especially in the north.	More rain wanted for aghani rice, especially in parts of sudder and Banka sub-division. Transplanting of aghani is finished in many places. Prices falling again in the north.	General health very good Dengue spreading.
36	Purneah ...	„ 17th	3 61	Quite enough rain has been falling this week every where.	Bhadoi is being cut and the transplanting of the aghani nearly finished. Both crops good.
37	Sonthal Pergunnahs. Rajmehal ..	„ 17th	·61	Very light showers, and hot bright sun.	Indian corn excellent, but about a fourth of the dhan yet to be planted out. Rain very scanty and insufficient.

CHOTA NAGPORE (Contd.)
	South West Frontier Agency (Contd.)
42	Lohardaggah ..	Aug. 17th	0·66	Cloudy, with very little rain. Unusually dry for this season.	For Chota Nagpore proper the prospects are still very fair though more rain is urgently required. In Palamow the prospects are not so favorable as last week, and transplanting has only been very partially carried out. Rain is anxiously looked for.
43	Singbhoom	„ 0th	0 9	Seasonable.	Very favorable generally, but insufficient rain reported from some parts for karan, or second ploughing, so essential to dhan cultivation. The gondoli is being reaped, and teel and gorah dhan are reported most flourishing.
44	Manbhoom .	„ 17th	0 97	Slight showers during the last two days of the week.	The crops in the uplands are promising well, and, if more rain falls, will give a good yield. A large quantity of the low rice lands have not been planted out, and the rice crops in those that have, are suffering for want of rain. If rain in sufficient quantities does not soon fall, scarcity may be expected.
ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS

49	Seebsangor .	„ 10th	5 21	Cloudy, with frequent showers of rain, but the fall has not been so abundant throughout the district.	Rice-planting goes on; and owing to the late fall of rain the prospects of the crops have improved. Tea doing well.
50	Luckimpore ..	„ 10th	2·48	First three days of the week hot and sultry, continuous drizzling rain for the last four days. Thermometer. Maximum .. 93° Minimum ... 78	The kolia now nearly all planted out, weather very favorable for the crops. Report from North Luckimpore subdivision gives—weather cloudy and sultry, with not much rain. Crops not materially affected, and rain promises to fail.
51	Naga Hills .	„ 3rd	1·67	Very little rain anywhere.	Much the same as last week.
52	Khasi and Jynteah Hills	„ 10th	0 55	There have been showers of rain daily, but on the whole the weather has been fine.	Prospects of the rice crops continue to be favorable, and other cereals are also doing well. The Indian-corn has nearly all been housed.
53	Garo Hills ..	„ 10th	2·13	Showery, with some fine hot weather. Very heavy rain on the 10th, which however soon passed off.	There is nothing particular to remark on the state of the crops since last report.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

He is again appointed to officiate in the higher office from the 1st January 1872, and is entitled under section 27 to count towards increments of salary the three months of his first officiating tenure. (STAMPS.)

The 15th August 1872.

No. 2025.

From—R. B. CHAPMAN, Esq., Secy. to the Govt. of India.

To—The Chief Secretary to the Government of Bombay.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 3099—21 A R, dated 1st July 1872.

2. It appears that the Government of Bombay has sanctioned the refund of the excess stamp duty paid on letters of administration of an estate, the assets of which were subsequently proved to be less than what they had been estimated to be at the time duty was paid, and it is suggested that as the Court Fees Act, 1870, does not authorize the grant of refunds of stamp duty under such circumstances, provision might be made by law to meet similar cases in future.

3. In reply, I am to say that the Governor-General in Council confirms the sanction accorded by the local Government to the refund of the excess duty paid, but that His Excellency in Council does not consider it expedient to legislate on this point at present. The suggestion of the Bombay Government will, however, be borne in mind whenever the law is revised.

4. In the meantime the local Governments may sanction refunds of stamp duty when the estimate of the assets of an estate is shown to have exceeded the amount on which the Act says that duty shall be paid, viz. the actual value of the property in respect of which the letters of administration are granted.

Ordered, that a copy of the above be published in the Gazette of India.

2. A double registration fee shall be levied on the delivery of any cover which ought under this order to have been registered at the time of posting, and on which the registration fee shall not have been prepaid as directed in Section XXV of the said Act.

Nothing in this order necessitates the registration of any cover containing postage or other stamps, or labels, a cheque, hundi, bank note and the like, unless the contents thereof are either superscribed upon the cover, or are known or manifest to the officers of the Post Office Department owing to the transparency, insecurity, or insufficiency of the cover, or to any other cause.

Circular No. 47.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions,—(dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.)

ARRANGEMENTS have lately been made to render the boundaries of districts conterminous in respect of revenue and judicial jurisdictions, and to adjust district boundaries to the best advantage. In doing this, it has been necessary to re-arrange some sub-divisions which were divided between two districts, it being deemed desirable that a sub-divisional officer should always be under one Magistrate-Collector only, and should not serve two masters. But as regards all other sub-divisions the Lieutenant-Governor, while feeling that in some districts new sub-divisions are required, and that in others it may be desirable to revise sub-divisional jurisdictions and stations with reference to the experience which has now been secured, has thought that it would be better to complete the district boundaries, organize the subordinate establishments, and obtain the full results of the census before undertaking any review of the sub-divisional re-arrangements generally.

2. It appears, however, that the High Court are engaged in a re-arrangement of moonsiffees, which it is sought to render conterminous with sub-divisions, and so many questions regarding sub-divisional lock-ups (which it is certainly necessary to render more efficient), sub-divisional buildings, and such like matters, constantly come before Government, that the Lieutenant-Governor does not think he can longer delay calling the attention of Commissioners and district officers to the subject. He would not at present undertake to supply sub-divisional establishments for districts, or portions of districts, where sub-divisions have not yet been at all established. But wherever the sub-divisional system has been in operation, he would like it to be considered once for all whether the number and position of the sub-divisional stations are what they should be, and whether the jurisdictions are arranged in the most advantageous manner. It may not be necessary to hurry a decision in specially doubtful or difficult cases. But the Lieutenant-Governor would like to have as soon as possible a report in all cases in which it is clear that the sub-divisional station and jurisdiction are rightly placed and arranged, and where therefore all subsidiary arrangements for lock-ups, &c., may be proceeded with without misgiving.

3. On the other hand, he would equally like to have a report of all cases in which there is reason to think that alteration is desirable, with proposals for re-arrangement as soon as such proposals can be made with confidence.

4. The census returns, thannah by thannah, will very soon be available for almost all districts, and are already supplied to many.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly directs that as soon as the census return is received, a return may be submitted for each district with a map showing sub-divisional and thannah jurisdictions, and a statement regarding each sub-division showing population, number of criminal and other cases for each of the last two years, and other particulars. An opinion should then be expressed in regard to each, either that it should be retained as at present, the Magistrate and Commissioner being thoroughly satisfied on that point, or that it should be altered or re-arranged, for reasons given, in manner specified, or that for any reason the decision had better be postponed.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish that in coming to a conclusion on these points the following considerations should be borne in mind.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the sub-divisions should, if possible, be of such a size that one officer, and no more, of the Covenanted or Subordinate Executive Service grades, should be fully occupied, and should be able to do all the duties lately prescribed with the assistance of a subordinate establishment of the 1st, 2nd, or 3rd class, such as is contemplated in the Resolution of the 20th March last. He prefers full-sized sub-divisions giving employment to an officer and establishment of this kind to a smaller sub-division where the case work is so light that assistance is not required, because now that treasury and much other office work must always be done by some one at head-quarters, a single officer who can with difficulty leave his head-quarters (even when not very fully occupied) is much less efficient than a sub-divisional officer who has such assistance that he can any day visit any part of his sub-division. Probably a fair average sub-division, as at present existing, will nearly satisfy these requirements, the additional work recently required being met by the additional establishments which it is hoped shortly to give. But a sub-division where there is now insufficient work should not be retained on the ground that enough work may be found for one officer.

8. At present there are a few sub-divisions with more than one officer. Probably with a first class subordinate establishment one officer may do the work; if not, a plan should, if possible, be devised for reducing the size of the sub-division.

9. This also the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to be particularly borne in mind that the district should not be equally divided, the sudder division being treated on the same footing as the outlying sub-divisions. The sudder division always has more officers and should be larger. Whenever any place is equidistant from the sudder station and a sub-divisional station, it should go to the sudder in preference; that course has many advantages, and should be followed whenever it can be so arranged by any contrivance. Sub-divisions are established not to divide the work, but to bring the protection and aid of Government, and the administration of justice, nearer to the people. They should, therefore, only be established where they decidedly attain that object, and portions of the district should be attached to them only so far as the object is attained. A district should be sub-divided somewhat in this fashion—

10. In districts where the sub-divisions have been marked off, but have not been officered and established, the Lieutenant-Governor begs that the proposed sub-divisional boundaries may be revised with reference to the above considerations, and a report made.

11. In some instances the sub-divisional stations seem to have been badly chosen, and much loss and inconvenience have been caused by the necessity for changing them. In some other cases, though no complaints have been made, and the sub-divisional officers seem to be comfortable, the stations appear very far from central, and are too much on the borders of other districts. It is most desirable that they should now be fixed and permanent, and wherever a station, being unobjectionable in other respects, is not central, it should be stated what buildings there are, whether the place has local importance, &c., and it should be well weighed whether the permanent advantages of a change are worth the immediate sacrifice.

VIZIANAGRAM SCHOLARSHIPS.

The following Resolution is published for general information :—

(RESOLUTION.)

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 2nd August 1872.

1. IN April 1872 His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram offered to place at the disposal of this Government a sum of Rs. 150 per mensem, to be spent in scholarships for the encouragement of engineering and surveying amongst the natives of these provinces. His Highness at the same time expressed a wish that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor should fix the number and amount of the scholarships as seemed to be expedient and proper.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor, in thanking His Highness for his very liberal offer, stated that he then proposed to establish the scholarships to be called Vizianagram scholarships, tenable for two years by boys who should attend some recognized survey and engineering class at a Government zillah school or at any aided school of corresponding calibre, but that he would consult the educational authorities on the best mode of administering the endowment.

3. The Officiating Director of Public Instruction on being consulted, suggested that the scholarships should be open to all boys qualified for either the minor or vernacular scholarships; that the candidates who showed the greatest knowledge of surveying should be chosen, provided they were placed in either the first or second divisions of the general list; and that the scholarships should be equally divided among the Commissionerships of the Lower Provinces.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor, after carefully considering the arguments urged in favor of making these scholarships open to candidates ignorant of English, has decided that as the object of the endowment is to bring forward boys capable of being ultimately educated as engineers, at least a knowledge of English should be required in Bengal, and His Honor has been pleased to sanction the following rules for the regulation of the scholarships :—

I.—Ten scholarships in surveying and engineering of the value of Rs. 7-8 per mensem will be granted yearly.

II.—These scholarships will be called the Vizianagram scholarships.

III.—One scholarship will be allotted yearly to each of the following divisions :—Burdwan, the Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, Chittagong, Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam (including Goalpara).

IV.—In Burdwan, the Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, and Chittagong divisions, boys eligible for minor scholarships; and in Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam divisions, boys eligible for either minor or vernacular scholarships, will be eligible to compete for the Vizianagram scholarships.

V.—The scholarship for each division will be given to the candidate who shows the greatest knowledge of drawing and surveying, provided he also be placed in the 1st or 2nd division of the general list, and provided in the five divisions of Bengal that he has a sufficient knowledge of English to enable him to continue his studies in that language in the higher classes of the zillah schools. The papers for surveying and drawing will be set in the vernacular.

VI.—The Vizianagram scholarship may be held with any other scholarship.

VII.—The scholarships may be held in any Government school where advanced instruction is given in drawing, surveying, &c.

VIII.—The Vizianagram scholars shall be subject to the same rule concerning good conduct and adequate progress as Government scholars.

IX.—Should no candidate be found competent to hold the scholarship allotted to a division for any year, it may be accorded at the discretion of the Director of Public Instruction to the unsuccessful candidate, who in the examinations in the remaining divisions has shown the greatest knowledge of drawing and surveying, and who has at the same time fulfilled the other conditions required in the holders of these scholarships.

5. The object of the Vizianagram scholarship is so useful, the studies which they are meant to encourage are so important, and the liberality of the Maharajah so suggestive, that the Lieutenant-Governor contemplates adding some Government technical scholarships for the encouragement of the above and other arts as soon as a scheme has been prepared for their allotment. He requests the Director, in communication with the Secretary to Government in this department, to prepare a scheme.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above Resolution be published in the Gazette, and copies sent to His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram, the Director of Public Instruction, and the Commissioners of the Burdwan, Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, Chittagong, Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam divisions, for information.

The following Circular is published for general information :—

CIRCULAR No. 46.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

Dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

THE Lieutenant-Governor understands that more than one officer, following an excellent and successful example, has occupied himself in compiling a history of the district in which he is employed, including legends of the old families, the early British connection with the district, &c., &c.

2. His Honor cannot sufficiently commend such efforts, especially when these writers enter into the social history of the last hundred years, and show the progress of the people and the phases of rural life in successive generations. And seeing the existence of this meritorious inclination to go beyond the scope of bare duty, he is anxious to suggest that, to any officer who has a turn that way, there would be an ample field in an attempt to draw a full picture of the present agricultural state of any district; or say the condition and occupations of the people generally, including agriculture, as directly or indirectly the source of livelihood to the great mass of the population, who are either cultivators, or agricultural laborers and small artizans and tradesmen supplying the needs of cultivators. It would be most interesting to know thoroughly for any district the ordinary modes and conditions of agriculture, the usual size of farms, and the sort of farm on which a family can be decently supported; how far the farms are compact, or how the fields are scattered about—and in the latter case, how the boundaries are recognised and maintained; how far the farmer is generally a laborer with his own hands; how far he employs hired labor, and how he pays for it; what are the respective positions and conditions of ryots and sub-tenants of various kinds, of laborers, of rural artizans; which castes or classes of holders are the best and which the worst cultivators; how money is lent and borrowed; what crops are cultivated, and how, and what is the produce; what stock is kept, and how it is fed; whether stock is ever kept for the sake of manure; whether manure is made on system, or whether manure which accumulates without system is used or wasted; how harvesting is managed; who takes the produce to market, who sells it, and where, and who buys it: by what hands it eventually reaches the great marts; who prepares the jute for the market, who grows the mulberry, who rears the cocoons, and who makes the silk, and how they all go about it; what is the indigo system of the district; who keep the cattle, who poison them, who take their skins, prepare them and bring them to market; what the cattle feed on; what are the breeds, and what attention is paid to them; in what shape rents are paid, how often and through whom; what is the practical religion (if any) of the cultivators, and who announces the lucky days for ploughing and sowing; what are their social habits; what they eat, and how they are clothed; how far they are thrifty or unthrifty; how they keep their accounts; whether they have large families; how soon boys work; whether girls and women work, or what they do; how long agricultural laborers live, and from what diseases they suffer; &c., &c., &c.

3. In fact, we might have a complete agricultural picture of the various parts of the district, distinguishing high lands from low, large zemindaries from small tenures, and so on. Then we might have an account of such manufacturers as there are; what they manufacture and how, and how they live; of the trade and the traders; of the proprietary classes and their modes of life; of the relations of all to the Government.

4. If any officers will compile good district pictures of this kind, the Government will gladly print and circulate them.

CIRCULAR No 48.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

Dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions.

THE Lieutenant-Governor has asked and is asking much of district officers in the way of statistical information and other matters, and has required local officers to perform their duties in an active manner, and in a way involving functions which had somewhat fallen into disuse. He has hoped to make up for any excess of work thus caused by the creation of the proposed subordinate establishments, but as some delay may occur before the inferior services can be organized, and meantime the money designed for them is available, he wishes to intimate to district officers that he is quite prepared to sanction any temporary establishments which can be usefully employed in obtaining the statistical information called for, or assisting in any special duties which have been or may be thrown on district or sub-divisional officers. Commissioners of divisions are authorised to sanction against the provincial reserve such demands when really necessary to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate Rs. 200 to 400 per mensem for each district, according as the district is large or small, and as regards temporary appointments, not exceeding Rs. 100 per mensem, reporting all cases in which such sanction is accorded, with detail of the temporary establishment, and the reason for it. Separate application may be made for any larger sum required in special cases.

2. It will be very desirable that the persons employed should be as much as possible those who are possessed of the qualifications which will fit them for admissions to the junior grades of the Native Civil Service, as set forth in the notification of the 2nd July 1872, published in the Calcutta Gazette of the 3rd idem, in case by good service they show themselves deserving of that position. Men who, in addition to a fair knowledge of English and an active physique, can survey, who understand agricultural tenures and accounts, who know something of police and criminal laws, who can make themselves generally useful in looking after petty public works, should be preferred. It was before suggested that good civil court ameens might be useful men.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor also feels that the districts have a fair claim to the replacement of the officers of the Subordinate Executive Service, who are specially employed on road cess and other works. He is, however, unwilling to burden the road cess funds, and he has not at present on his list many qualified candidates for such appointments. He would prefer that they should hereafter be supplied in due course under the system which it is proposed to establish, and that present necessities should be met by the temporary establishments for which provision has been made above. But in case of emergent necessity, if a really competent man can be found, the Lieutenant-Governor may grant the funds necessary for an Acting Deputy Magistrate and Collector to supply the place of one specially employed.

4. With respect to the distribution of Covenanted Civil Servants, the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to arrange matters so that the most efficient assistance may be given to district officers, and the public service be best served. It seems to be both the established practice and for the public interest, and advantageous for the training of young officers, that a certain number of junior Civil Servants should be in charge of certain sub-divisions, but the propriety and advantage of the arrangement should be well considered in each case, it being borne in mind that the supply of Civil Servants to Bengal for the past and present year is very limited.

5. With respect to the charge of the sudder division of the district, it has always been the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion that when the Magistrate of the district is at head-quarters, it is most proper that the general executive control should rest with him, and His Honor has been somewhat unwilling to put any other Magistrate in charge as a regular sub-divisional officer. But it by no means follows that the Magistrate of the district need try many cases or do much work of detail. In fact, the mere circumstance of being in superior charge of the sudder division does not necessary involve the trying of a single case, and in heavy districts the Lieutenant-Governor will not, under present circumstances, expect the District Magistrates to try many cases. The practice of taking all petitions, which seems to be frequently assumed as part of the duty of the Magistrate when in charge of the division, is a purely self-imposed labour undertaken by many District Magistrates. They are at perfect liberty to entrust any part of their criminal duties, including the receiving of petitions, to any Magistrate under them; and any other duties, except the general control over the police and the functions of general superintendence in executive matters, may be similarly disposed of. While, therefore, the Lieutenant-Governor is very willing that it should, if possible, be arranged that the Magistrate of a large and heavy district should have at head-quarters the assistance of a competent officer who may relieve him of most judicial and much other work when he is present, and take his place in the sudder division when he is absent, he does not think a regular sub-divisional officer of the head-quarters division at all a necessity. But he invites any proposals for stationing Civil Servants to the best advantage which Magistrates and Commissioners may wish to submit, and in special cases may even recognise a sub-division at head-quarters if real necessity for it is shown.

The northern boundary commences above the Amanatganj Burning Ghât on the west bank of the Barisâl river and runs north-west until it crosses a narrow khâl at a point north of homestead No. 11, now occupied by Sadaraddi Chaprasi. It then runs west and south-west north of the rice fields of Amanatganj till it crosses the bamboo bridge over a khâl at a point north of homesteads Nos. 48, 49, now occupied by Kâli Dâs Chakrabarti and Kista Kumár Dâs. It then follows the course of this affluent up to its mouth, which is situated a little above the Ságarde bridge.

The southern boundary of the town is formed by the Ságarde Khâl and the eastern boundary by the Barisâl river.

Letter from the Chief Commissioner of British Burmah' No. 263-62, dated 9th October 1871.

RESOLUTION.—The Chief Commissioner of British Burmah proposes that an Act be passed to enable him to prohibit inoculation in the principal towns of the province, whenever he is satisfied that there exist proper and sufficient arrangements for the vaccination of the people.

2. As there seems reason to fear that the principles are being lost sight of by which, after much discussion and consideration, the Government of India has for several years past been guided in regard to the prohibition of inoculation, and as the Governor-General in Council believes the matter to be one of great importance, His Excellency in Council thinks that this opportunity may usefully be taken for re-affirming the conclusions at which the Government has arrived.

3. Inoculation is commonly practised in many parts of India, and is confidently believed by the people to possess the highest value in affording protection against small-pox. It would be difficult to name a subject on which there has been greater difference of opinion in India than the question of the merits and demerits of the practice of inoculation; but on the whole the highest authorities have agreed that, while inoculation is in all respects incomparably inferior to vaccination, it is nevertheless better than no prophylactic at all Accepting this view, the Government of India has been of opinion that the prohibition of inoculation is only justifiable when complete means of protection by vaccination have been supplied to the people.

4. A good illustration of the circumstances under which alone the prohibition of inoculation is, according to the above conclusion, a proper measure to adopt, is the case of the Hill Districts of Kumaon and Gurhwal, and this case affords a full exposition of the views entertained by the Government of India on the subject. About twenty years ago the ravages of small-pox in these districts were frightful; not a year passed in which the Government did not hear of the population of large villages being more than decimated. The practice of inoculation was at the time common among the people, especially among the higher classes. A thoroughly efficient system of vaccination was, however, commenced under Dr. F. Pearson, now Superintendent-General of Vaccination, North-Western Provinces. The result of the admirable measures adopted by that officer, and pursued with the greatest judgment and perseverance through a course of years, has been that small-pox has almost ceased to exist in Gurhwal and Kumaon. The prejudices against vaccination have for the most part vanished, and the people are generally not only willing but eager to have recourse to it.

5. It was under these circumstances that in February 1868 Dr. Pearson advised that inoculation should be prohibited by law. He wrote as follows :—

"As regards the mooted point, ought inoculation to be prohibited, I am decidedly of opinion that we ought not thus to take away the right of people to protect themselves when we are not in a position to confer the protective power of vaccination. But as in the case of Kumaon and Gurhwal, where there are a sufficiency of vaccinators to thoroughly protect the whole population, then it becomes a duty to suppress inoculation, which undoubtedly is a great source of infection to others, and has many evils attending it, yet is much better than no protection at all, as regards the general welfare of the community. * * * * "

In reply to Dr. Pearson's representation the Government of the North-Western Provinces wrote to him as follows :

"The Lieutenant-Governor fully concurs in the opinion expressed in the 11th paragraph of your report. Now that the vaccination establishments in Kumaon and Gurhwal are sufficient for the requirements of the whole population, inoculation may be very properly prohibited in that Province; but it will be time enough to enforce a similar measure elsewhere when Government has not only provided an efficient substitute, but made it easily available for all, and has shown the people so thoroughly the superiority of vaccination, as to induce them voluntarily to adopt it in preference to inoculation. This has been the result of patient, persevering effort in the Kumaon Division, and there is every reason to hope that similar exertions will eventually produce similar effects elsewhere."

6. The views expressed in the above correspondence were accepted by the Government of India, and Act XXIV of 1868 was passed to prohibit inoculation in Kumaon and Gurhwal. Although this case has been quoted as the best illustration of the principles by which the Government of India has been guided, the same conclusions had been arrived at three years previously in Bengal when Act IV of 1865 (Bengal) was passed authorizing the Lieutenant Governor to prohibit inoculation in certain towns.

7. From correspondence which has come under the notice of the Governor-General in Council, he fears that these principles have sometimes been disregarded, and that it can hardly be said that "proper and sufficient arrangements" for vaccination exist in all the places in which inoculation has been prohibited.

8. The Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in letter No. 4297, dated the 26th December last, asked the opinion of the Government of India in regard to the propriety of prohibiting inoculation in the districts of the Dacca Division, and on the 24th February 1872 the Government of India replied as follows: "It may safely be asserted that the prohibition of inoculation is not justifiable, unless really complete and thoroughly efficient arrangements have been made for the protection of the people by vaccination. It is clear that no such complete protection has been given in the Dacca Division, and the conclusion arrived at by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor is, in the opinion of the Government of India, therefore quite correct.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Governments of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab; the Chief Commissioners of Oudh, British Burmah, the Central Provinces and Coorg, and the Resident at Hyderabad, for information and guidance.

Ordered also, that a copy of the above Resolution be forwarded to the Governments of Madras and Bombay for information.

No. 1495.—The 13*th August* 1872.—Judicial.—The Hon'ble Dwarka Nath Mitter, a Judge of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal, returned from the leave granted him in the notification of this Department. No 1248, dated the 12th ultimo, and resumed charge of his duties on the forenoon of the 29th idem.

WE the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill "to amend the law relating to embankments and water-courses," as amended by the former committee and submitted with their report of the 28th August 1871, have the honor to submit the following report :—

From Superintending Engineer, Orissa Circle, dated 6th February 1871.
Memorandum from Officiating Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, dated 2nd June 1871, with enclosures.
From Chairman of the Board of Agency, East Indian Railway, dated 1st September 1871.
From Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division, dated 28th September 1871, and enclosure.
From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 16th November 1871.
From Officiating Secretary, Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, dated 11th December 1871, and enclosures.
Memorial of Maharajah Dheraj Mahtab Chand Bahadoor, Maharajah of Burdwan, dated 26th January 1872.
To Board of Agency, East Indian Railway Company, dated 2nd October 1871.
From ditto ditto ditto, dated 15th February 1872.
From Officiating Joint-Secretary, Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, dated 20th July 1872, with notes by the Assistant and Chief Engineers in that department.

We have received and considered the papers noted on the margin.

We have introduced a definition of the word "tenure" and altered that of "proprietor" in accordance therewith.

We have provided by a separate section for power to the engineer to alter railways on the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and also for the recovery of the cost of such alterations.

We have introduced a section defining certain embankments, as shown in a schedule annexed to the Act, and have made the Government alone responsible for the cost and repairs of those embankments.

We have altered the Chapter relating to the apportionment of the cost of the works, proceedings, &c., in view to empower the Collector to determine such apportionment between the proprietors as well as between the zemindars of the estates protected and benefited by such works, so as to avoid the necessity for recourse to the Civil Courts in cases of dispute arising in regard to that apportionment; and have provided for such apportionment being made in certain cases in respect to estates, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively paid for such estates.

We have made the recovery of contributions of zemindars and proprietors from their subordinate proprietors recoverable as arrears of rent due from patni-talookdars.

We have omitted the section of the former Bill giving power to zemindars and proprietors to recover a proportion of their payments from ryots having rights of occupancy.

Forms for certain notices, &c., prescribed by the Bill, have been prepared in the schedules.

Verbal and other alterations have been made which require no special mention.

We recommend that the Bill as now submitted be passed.

The Collector shall append to such proclamation a list of the estates and villages mentioned in the said notice and such others as he may consider likely to be affected by the works proposed.

Proclamation to be published for thirty days.

19. Every such proclamation shall be published and served not less than thirty days before the day appointed for hearing the parties interested.

Powers on enquiry and appeal.

20. Hearing of objections to work.

21. The Collector shall, on the day appointed for the hearing, or on any subsequent day to which the hearing shall be adjourned, hear the objections of any parties who may appear, and after recording any evidence which they may adduce, shall communicate the objections that may be made, together with his opinion thereon, to the Engineer, who shall return the same with his opinion to the Collector. If the Engineer agree in opinion with the Collector, the Collector, shall pass an order accordingly in regard to the execution of the aforesaid works, and notice of such order shall be served on the parties appearing in pursuance of the proclamation. If he differ from the Collector, the case shall be referred to the Commissioner of Revenue, who shall pass such orders thereon as he may deem fit.

PART IV.

Procedure in cases of imminent danger to life or property.

Proceedings in emergencies.

22. Whenever the Engineer shall be of opinion that the proceedings commenced by notice under Part III of this Act would cause delay in the exercise of any of the powers by Sections 5, 6, and 7 of Part II, conferred upon him, likely to be attended with grave and imminent danger to life or property, he may forthwith commence to exercise such powers without reference to the Collector. Provided that he shall forthwith inform the Collector thereof and of the nature of the danger, and give notice of his intention to continue to exercise such powers. The Collector, in any case where he shall see fit, may direct the Engineer to suspend further action until after the completion of such proceedings and enquiries. The Engineer as soon as he conveniently may, after giving such notice of his intention, shall give notice in writing to the Collector as provided in section 17, appending thereto a statement that the work mentioned therein has already been commenced, and thereupon such proceedings and enquiries shall be had as in and by Part III of this Act are directed.

Notice to the Collector.

Power to take possession of land.

23. Whenever any land, or earth from any land the property of any person, is required for the purposes of any works commenced in pursuance of the provisions of the last preceding section, the Engineer shall cause public notice in form in Schedule (C) to be given at convenient places in the locality in which such land is situated, and he may at the same time take possession of the same for the said purposes. Provided that he shall, so soon thereafter, as he conveniently may, give notice thereof to the Collector.

Magistrate to enforce surrender.

24. If the Engineer is opposed or impeded in taking possession under this Part of any land, he shall apply to a Magistrate or (within the town of Calcutta) to the Commissioner of Police, and such Magistrate or Commissioner (as the case may be) shall enforce the surrender of the land to the Engineer.

Power to Executive Engineer to act for Engineer.

25. Whenever the Engineer may be absent the Executive Engineer of the District may, in case he shall be of opinion that delay for the purpose of obtaining the orders of the Engineer would be attended with grave and imminent danger to life or property, exercise the powers in and by the three last preceding sections conferred on the Engineer.

Power to re-construct embankments.

26. Whenever, upon an enquiry had under the provisions of this Part it shall be determined in the final and conclusive order to be passed on such enquiry that anything done by the Engineer was unnecessary, the embankments or drainage shall, so far as any alteration thereof shall appear to be unnecessary, be at the expense of the Government restored as nearly as possible to the state in which they were when the Engineer commenced to act under the provisions of this Part; and any person who shall have sustained loss, damage, or injury by the execution of such works, shall receive compensation from the Government to be assessed and imposed according to the provisions contained in Part V of this Act.

PART V.

Acquisition of lands.

Acquisition of land.

27. Whenever in the course of proceedings under Parts II and III of this Act it appears that land is required for any of the purposes thereof, such purpose shall be deemed to be a public purpose within the meaning of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870, and such proceedings shall be forthwith taken as are directed by the said Act or by any other law for the time being governing the acquisition of lands for public purposes.

When land taken, notice to be published.

28. 36. When the amount of compensation has been settled by the Court, and there is any dispute as to the apportionment thereof, or when a reference to the Court has been made, the Judge sitting alone shall decide the proportions in which the persons interested are entitled to share in such amount.

Payment of compensation to whom made.

37. Payment of the compensation shall be made by the Collector according to the award to the persons named therein, or in the case of an appeal according to the decision on such appeal. Embankments in schedule E.

39. The provisions in this Part contained shall not apply to any of the embankments mentioned in Schedule (E) to this Act annexed, save so far as any works or repairs are executed therein or in relation thereto under the provisions of Sections 10 and 18 of this Act respectively. All sums payable in respect of any works or repairs executed therein or in relation thereto, except under the provisions of the said sections respectively, shall be paid by the local Government. If at any time after the passing of this Act the Collector, on enquiry made by him as far as possible in accordance with the provisions of Part III of this Act, shall find that it is unnecessary for the public interests to retain any embankment mentioned in Schedule (E), the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that the same shall be no longer included in the said Schedule. Provided that the same shall be restored to the said Schedule if on any subsequent enquiry similarly conducted it shall be found necessary so to do.

Copies of all specifications and estimates shall be transmitted to the office of the Collector, together with vernacular translations thereof or such abstracts thereof as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time direct, and may be examined by any person interested in such works or repairs. Notice of the receipt of specifications and estimates shall be served for all estates likely to be affected by the said works or repairs; and should any objection be preferred by any such person within a period of one month from the date of such notice, the Collector shall communicate the objection, with his own opinion thereupon, to the Engineer, who shall pass such orders as may appear to him reasonable and proper.

42. The accounts of the actual expense incurred in executing any works or repairs shall be prepared as soon as possible after the completion thereof. Notice of the receipt thereof shall be served for the said estates and villages and such others as in the opinion of the Collector are liable to contribute to the payment of the said amount; and if, within thirty days from the service of such notice, any interested person shall object to the accounts on the ground either that the work charged for has not been performed, or that the whole sum charged has not been expended, or that the rates of charge are higher than those mentioned in the estimates, the Collector shall enquire into such objection, and may pass any order thereon subject in any case to an appeal by the objector or to a reference by the Engineer to the Commissioner of Division, whose decision shall be final.

Preparation and settlement of accounts.

43. The Collector shall add to the amount appearing in the said certificate all sums which have been paid or have become payable in respect of compensation, costs and expenses under and incidental to any proceedings taken or directed to be taken under Part V of this Act, including costs of all surveys and plans. He shall thereupon make an order specifying the total sum found payable, and the persons by whom or the estates in respect of which the same is payable to him. If the order is made in respect of work done under Section 9, 12, or 13, the same shall forthwith be served upon the party or parties liable to pay. Otherwise the Collector shall proceed under the provisions in the next chapter contained. Interest may be charged upon any sum paid as compensation from the date of payment thereof at such rate, not exceeding 5 per cent per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct.

Total sum payable.

44. The said total sum, save so far as is otherwise provided in this Act, shall be paid to the Collector by the zemindars of the estates in which are situated the lands benefited or protected by the repairs or works executed. Provided that where any special payments have been demanded in respect of any estate not included in schedule E, and when the said embankment is at the time of this Act coming into operation being maintained by Government, then such special payments shall after the passing of this Act thenceforth cease and determine.

Parties liable to pay.

45. So soon as the total sum payable as aforesaid has been ascertained, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served for every one of the said estates and villages mentioned in Section 42. Every such notice shall specify the estates and villages aforesaid, and that an enquiry will be held at a day and place therein named for the purpose of apportioning amongst the zemindars and proprietors the said total sum, with interest and the costs of apportionment.

53. If such sum or any instalment thereof be not, pursuant to the said order, paid, the same with interest shall be recoverable as arrears of a demand under the provisions of Act VII of 1868 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

54. Every zemindar or proprietor to whom any sum or instalment thereof is payable under the said order, may recover the same with interest in the manner provided by law for the recovery of arrears of rent in respect of putnee tenures. A copy of the said order, certified under the name and seal of the Collector, shall be received in any suit for the recovery of the same as conclusive evidence that the amount was apportioned as therein mentioned, but shall not be evidence as to the existence of, or as to any right in, the tenure to which the said amount has been apportioned.

12. Nothing in the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, shall be deemed to affect Act No. XV of 1852 (to amend the Law of Evidence), section twelve.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The primary object of this Bill is to continue certain rules which it is believed have been inadvertently repealed by the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. At the same time opportunity is taken to correct some clerical and other accidental errors to which attention has been called.

Section thirty-two of the Act, clause (5) renders admissible certain statements as to the existence of "relationship." As there are many relations other than those intended by the Act, the Bill makes the clause precise by adding the words "by blood, marriage or adoption."

In sections forty-one and forty-five, some words which should have been repeated have been accidentally omitted. The Bill supplies these omissions. The same thing is done in sections one hundred and twenty six and one hundred and twenty-eight. And slight alterations are made in sections ninety-two to clear up some ambiguities of language and to correct a typographical error.

Section fifty-seven, clause 13, declares that the Court shall take judicial notice of "the rule of the road." It must have been intended to include the rules of navigation. The Bill therefore adds the words "on land or at sea."

Section sixty-six contains rules as to notice to produce documents. It only mentions notice to the party in whose possession or power a document is. To prevent a doubt which might arise in the Mofussil, the Bill inserts the words "or to his attorney or pleader."

Section ninety-one of the Evidence Act, exception 2, provides that wills under the Indian Succession Act may be proved by the probate. But other wills are admitted to probate, and the same mode of proof is made applicable to all such, as doubtless was intended.

Of sections one hundred and seven and one hundred and eight, the latter was clearly intended to be a qualification of the former. The language is altered so as to produce this effect.

Section one hundred and twenty-six relates to professional communications, and provides that when made "in furtherance of any criminal purpose," they shall not be protected from disclosure. As every fraud, though "illegal" is not "criminal," the Bill amends this provision by substituting the former word for the latter, thus expressing the present rule of law and establishing the same principle for the first and second provisos of this section.

Section one hundred and fifty-five, paragraph (2) provides that the credit of a witness may be impeached by proof that he "has had the offer of a bribe" The Bill, for obvious reasons, for 'had' substitutes 'accepted.' In India, still more than in England, the mere offer of a bribe, if unaccepted, should not prejudice the character of the person to whom it is made.

Act XV of 1852, section twelve, provides that Her Majesty's Courts and Judges, and all Officers Commissioners, Arbitrators, &c., authorised to receive evidence with respect to proceedings in such Courts, may administer oaths to witnesses. The Evidence Act repeals this section, and puts nothing in its place. Nor is the matter sufficiently provided for by the Oaths Act (VI of 1873), or any other enactment. The Charters of the late Supreme Courts empower those Courts to administer oaths. But nothing is said as to Commissioners to examine witnesses. The Bill accordingly saves Act XV of 1852, section twelve.

Aus, sugarcane, and jute, are moderately good. The rivers have risen, and this has enabled the ryots to prepare the low lands and transplant the seedlings of the amun crop In the higher lands, where irrigation from the river floods is not possible, the Amun crop will be a failure, unless there is a heavy rain soon.
	Central Districts.

37	Sonthal Pergunnahs.
	Rajmehal ...	Aug. 24th	1·89	Hot sun, with occasional very slight showers.	The Indian-corn crop still keeps its favorable promise; but the dhan crop is much in want of rain, and a great deal of the higher dhan land is still unplanted in consequence.
	Deoghur ..	„ 24th	4·89	Favorable .	Heavy rain has fallen to the north and south, not much about Kurrah. Paddy transplanted, except on high lands More rain is wanted Bhadoi crop very good and is being cut.
	Nya Doomka ...	„ 24th	1 56	Less rain at headquarters than in places previously badly off. Weather very favorable for all crops, particularly jenera.	Jenera very promising; dhan nearly all planted out; and although late in some places, good expectations are entertained.
	Godda ...	„ 24th	.....	A fair quantity of rain in early part of week, which materially benefited the crops Much more, however, is required.	In the Mohbary pergunnah agricultural operations almost at a stand-still. If heavy and continuous rain does not shortly fall, considerable damage to the dhan crops may be expected. In the other pergunnahs prospects better. There is every probability of the outturn from jenera crops being an excellent one.	No rain-gauge.
ORISSA.
Orissa Division.
38	Cuttack ...	„ 27th*	2·72	Seasonable ...	Rice crop is being much injured by small insects which have attacked it; otherwise growth satisfactory.
39	Pooree ..	„ 17th	2·30	Favorable, except that a fall of rain (otherwise beneficial) causes a rise in the rivers, and damages those crops that are commanded by breaches in the embankments.	Crops progressing favorably everywhere, except on the inundated tracts But on the Chilka isthmus there is little prospect of any sufficient crop.
40	Balasore ...	„ 24th	2·57	Copious rain except in the south, where it has been rather slight.	Both early and late rice crops progressing favorably.	Dengue has nearly disappeared.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazareebaugh ..	„ 24th	3·51	Cool and cloudy ...	Prospects of rice crops much improved by the timely showers of the past week; more rain, however, is required.
42	Lohardaggah ...	„ 24th	1·73	Cloudy and showery. There appears lately to have been general rain throughout the district, and it will do much good.	The prospects are still favorable as regards Chota Nagpore proper The goondli is being cut, and the gora dhan promises very well. In Palmow the late rice prospects are reported to be very gloomy, as for want of rain transplanting could not go on; there was, however, all appearance of heavy rain at the time of despatching the report.
43	Singbhoom ...	„ 17th	0·28	Rain insufficient ...	Inability to karan, or second ploughing, essential to dhan cultivation, very generally reported, and the season for it has all but passed. About 25 per cent. of embanked dhan cultivation has still to be karaned; and a short crop from this extent is almost a certainty. Indian-corn, gora dhan, til, and goondoli, are all reported flourishing.

44	Maunbhoom ...	Aug. 24th	4·20	Seasonable ..	Rain has fallen plentifully in most parts of the district during the last week, but some pergunnahs are still suffering for want of rain, where the outturn of the rice crop will be scanty. The late rain has done great good to the growing crops both on the low and high lands, but still a full crop on the former cannot be expected, as the completion of the transplantations has been too long delayed.
ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.
45	Goalparah ...	„ 17th	4·04	Cloudy and hot. Rain and sunshine alternately throughout the district.	Transplanting seedlings for winter crops still continues in some parts, where the ryots could not commence earlier for want of rains. Prospects of outturn fair. Reaping of jute commenced. Sugarcane, til, and cotton, thriving.
46	Kamroop ...	„ 26th*	6·14	The whole week was hot, and the horizon overcast with clouds A good deal of thunder and lightning one evening, and rain on four days.	Shalee dhan is being transplanted and promises well. Prospects of tea. cotton, and sugarcane, favorable.	Public health good.
47	Durrung ...	„ 17th	3·37	Thunder-storms and squalls at night; calm and hot days.	Favorable weather; dhan planting progressing; and large quantities of tea being made.
48	Nowgong ..	„ 17th	2·68	Weather seasonable; showers and sunshine alternately; not much heavy rain during the week but some heavy rain in the district under the hills.	Crops doing well. Tea ditto
49	Seebsaugor ...	„ 17th	3·58	Mornings generally rainy; evenings fair. The rain very general throughout the district. In the Jorehaut sub-division the rainfall has been 6·84.	The rain which has fallen has done much good The people are busy planting out rice. With favorable weather we may expect an average crop Tea doing well.
50	Luckimpore ...	„ 17th	7·09	Heavy showers throughout the week—generally at night—with warm days. The weather reported from the sub-division seasonable, rainy, with high winds. Thermometer. Maximum ... 89° Minimum ... 78°	The rice is all planted out, or very nearly. Weather is favorable, and crops looking well. Tea and sugarcane flourishing. Report from sub-division favorable.
51	Naga Hills ...	„ 10th	3·67	A good deal of rain has fallen this week everywhere, and the rivers are all full.	Fair generally; "jhum" crops being cut, and a fair outturn anticipated.
52	Khasi and Jynteah Hills.	„ 17th	·36	The rain has been slight, and the change from the late heavy weather is beneficial.	The rice cultivation is progressing favorably, and other cereals, as also the potato crop, are doing well.
53	Garo Hills ...	„ 17th	2·79	Rainy weather; showery, with occasional hot sun. Some strong winds from the prevailing direction—i. e. south-east.	The rains have been this season somewhat irregular,—in some places there is a full crop, in others the return will be small.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

The following Circular is published for general information:—

Circular No. 47.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT

REVENUE.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions,—(dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.)

ARRANGEMENTS have lately been made to render the boundaries of districts conterminous in respect of revenue and judicial jurisdictions, and to adjust district boundaries to the best advantage In doing this, it has been necessary to re-arrange some sub-divisions which were divided between two districts, it being deemed desirable that a sub-divisional officer should always be under one Magistrate-Collector only, and should not serve two masters. But as regards all other sub-divisions the Lieutenant-Governor, while feeling that in some districts new sub-divisions are required, and that in others it may be desirable to revise sub-divisional jurisdictions and stations with reference to the experience which has now been secured, has thought that it would be better to complete the district boundaries, organize the subordinate establishments, and obtain the full results of the census before undertaking any review of the sub-divisional re-arrangements generally.

2. It appears, however, that the High Court are engaged in a re-arrangement of moonsiffees, which it is sought to render conterminous with sub-divisions, and so many questions regarding sub-divisional lock-ups (which it is certainly necessary to render more efficient), sub-divisional buildings, and such like matters, constantly come before Government, that the Lieutenant-Governor does not think he can longer delay calling the attention of Commissioners and district officers to the subject. He would not at present undertake to supply sub-divisional establishments for districts, or portions of districts, where sub-divisions have not yet been at all established. But wherever the sub-divisional system has been in operation, he would like it to be considered once for all whether the number and position of the sub-divisional stations are what they should be, and whether the jurisdictions are arranged in the most advantageous manner. It may not be necessary to hurry a decision in specially doubtful or difficult cases. But the Lieutenant-Governor would like to have as soon as possible a report in all cases in which it is clear that the sub-divisional station and jurisdiction are rightly placed and arranged, and where therefore all subsidiary arrangements for lock-ups, &c., may be proceeded with without misgiving.

3. On the other hand, he would equally like to have a report of all cases in which there is reason to think that alteration is desirable, with proposals for re-arrangement as soon as such proposals can be made with confidence.

4. The census returns, thannah by thannah, will very soon be available for almost all districts and are already supplied to many.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly directs that as soon as the census return is received, a return may be submitted for each district with a map showing sub-divisional and thannah jurisdictions, and a statement regarding each sub-division showing population, number of criminal and other cases for each of the last two years, and other particulars. An opinion should then be expressed in regard to each, either that it should be retained as at present, the Magistrate and Commissioner being thoroughly satisfied on that point, or that it should be altered or re-arranged, for reasons given, in manner specified, or that for any reason the decision had better be postponed.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish that in coming to a conclusion on these points the following considerations should be borne in mind.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the sub-divisions should, if possible, be of such a size that one officer, and no more, of the Covenanted or Subordinate Executive Service grades, should be fully occupied, and should be able to do all the duties lately prescribed with the assistance of a subordinate establishment of the 1st, 2nd, or 3rd class, such as is contemplated in the Resolution of the 20th March last. He prefers full-sized sub-divisions giving employment to an officer and establishment of this kind to a smaller sub-division where the case work is so light that assistance is not required, because now that treasury and much other office work must always be done by some one at head-quarters, a single officer who can with difficulty leave his head-quarters (even when not very fully occupied) is much less efficient than a sub-divisional officer who has such assistance that he can any day visit any part of his sub-division. Probably a fair average sub-division, as at present existing, will nearly satisfy these requirements, the additional work recently required being met by the additional establishments which it is hoped shortly to give. But a sub-division where there is now insufficient work should not be retained on the ground that enough work may be found for one officer.

8. At present there are a few sub-divisions with more than one officer. Probably with a first class subordinate establishment one officer may do the work; if not, a plan should, if possible, be devised for reducing the size of the sub-division.

9. This also the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to be particularly borne in mind that the district should not be equally divided, the sudder division being treated on the same footing as the outlying sub-divisions. The sudder division always has more officers and should be larger. Whenever any place is equidistant from the sudder station and a sub-divisional station, it should go to the sudder in preference; that course has many advantages, and should be followed whenever it can be so arranged by any contrivance. Sub-divisions are established not to divide the work, but to bring the protection and aid of Government, and the administration of justice, nearer to the people. They should, therefore, only be established where they decidedly attain that object, and portions of the district should be attached to them only so far as the object is attained. A district should be sub-divided somewhat in this fashion—

10. In districts where the sub-divisions have been marked off, but have not been officered and established, the Lieutenant-Governor begs that the proposed sub-divisional boundaries may be revised with reference to the above considerations, and a report made.

11. In some instances the sub-divisional stations seem to have been badly chosen, and much loss and inconvenience have been caused by the necessity for changing them. In some other cases, though no complaints have been made, and the sub-divisional officers seem to be comfortable, the stations appear very far from central, and are too much on the borders of other districts. It is most desirable that they should now be fixed and permanent, and wherever a station, being unobjectionable in other respects, is not central, it should be stated what buildings there are, whether the place has local importance, &c., and it should be well weighed whether the permanent advantages of a change are worth the immediate sacrifice.

VIZIANAGRAM SCHOLARSHIPS.

The following Resolution is published for general information :—

(RESOLUTION.)

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—EDUCATION.

Calcutta, the 2nd August 1872.

1. IN April 1872 His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram offered to place at the disposal of this Government a sum of Rs. 150 per mensem, to be spent in scholarships for the encouragement of engineering and surveying amongst the natives of these provinces. His Highness at the same time expressed a wish that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor should fix the number and amount of the scholarships as seemed to be expedient and proper.

2. The Lieutenant-Governor, in thanking His Highness for his very liberal offer, stated that he then proposed to establish the scholarships to be called Vizianagram scholarships, tenable for two years by boys who should attend some recognized survey and engineering class at a Government zillah school or at any aided school of corresponding calibre, but that he would consult the educational authorities on the best mode of administering the endowment.

3. The Officiating Director of Public Instruction on being consulted, suggested that the scholarships should be open to all boys qualified for either the minor or vernacular scholarships; that the candidates who showed the greatest knowledge of surveying should be chosen, provided they were placed in either the first or second divisions of the general list; and that the scholarships should be equally divided among the Commissionerships of the Lower Provinces.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor, after carefully considering the arguments urged in favor of making these scholarships open to candidates ignorant of English, has decided that as the object of the endowment is to bring forward boys capable of being ultimately educated as engineers, at least a knowledge of English should be required in Bengal, and His Honor has been pleased to sanction the following rules for the regulation of the scholarships :—

I.—Ten scholarships in surveying and engineering of the value of Rs. 7-8 per mensem will be granted yearly.

II.—These scholarships will be called the Vizianagram scholarships.

III.—One scholarship will be allotted yearly to each of the following divisions :—Burdwan, the Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, Chittagong, Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam (including Goalpara).

IV.—In Burdwan the Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, and Chittagong divisions, boys eligible for minor scholarships; and in Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam divisions, boys eligible for either minor or vernacular scholarships, will be eligible to compete for the Vizianagram scholarships.

V.—The scholarship for each division will be given to the candidate who shows the greatest knowledge of drawing and surveying, provided he also be placed in the 1st or 2nd division of the general list, and provided in the five divisions of Bengal that he has a sufficient knowledge of English to enable him to continue his studies in that language in the higher classes of the zillah schools. The papers for surveying and drawing will be set in the vernacular.

VI.—The Vizianagram scholarship may be held with any other scholarship.

VII.—The scholarships may be held in any Government school where advanced instruction is given in drawing, surveying, &c.

VIII.—The Vizianagram scholars shall be subject to the same rule concerning good conduct and adequate progress as Government scholars.

IX.—Should no candidate be found competent to hold the scholarship allotted to a division for any year, it may be accorded at the discretion of the Director of Public Instruction to the unsuccessful candidate, who in the examinations in the remaining divisions has shown the greatest knowledge of drawing and surveying, and who has at the same time fulfilled the other conditions required in the holders of these scholarships.

5. The object of the Vizianagram scholarship is so useful, the studies which they are meant to encourage are so important, and the liberality of the Maharajah so suggestive, that the Lieutenant-Governor contemplates adding some Government technical scholarships for the encouragement of the above and other arts as soon as a scheme has been prepared for their allotment. He requests the Director, in communication with the Secretary to Government in this department, to prepare a scheme.

ORDER.—Ordered that the above Resolution be published in the Gazette, and copies sent to His Highness the Maharajah of Vizianagram, the Director of Public Instruction, and the Commissioners of the Burdwan, Presidency, Rajshahye, Dacca, Chittagong, Patna, Bhaugulpore, Orissa, Chota Nagpore, and Assam divisions, for information.

CIRCULAR No. 46.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions,—(dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.)

THE Lieutenant-Governor understands that more than one officer, following an excellent and successful example, has occupied himself in compiling a history of the district in which he is employed, including legends of the old families, the early British connection with the district, &c. &c.

2. His Honor cannot sufficiently commend such efforts, especially when these writers enter into the social history of the last hundred years, and show the progress of the people and the phases of rural life in successive generations. And seeing the existence of this meritorious inclination to go beyond the scope of bare duty, he is anxious to suggest that, to any officer who has a turn that way, there would be an ample field in an attempt to draw a full picture of the present agricultural state of any district; or say the condition and occupations of the people generally, including agriculture, as directly or indirectly the source of livelihood to the great mass of the population, who are either cultivators, or agricultural laborers and small artizans and tradesmen supplying the needs of cultivators. It would be most interesting to know thoroughly for any district the ordinary modes and conditions of agriculture, the usual size of farms, and the sort of farm on which a family can be decently supported; how far the farms are compact, or how the fields are scattered about—and in the latter case, how the boundaries are recognised and maintained; how far the farmer is generally a laborer with his own hands; how far he employs hired labor, and how he pays for it; what are the respective positions and conditions of ryots and sub-tenants of various kinds, of laborers, of rural artizans; which castes or classes of holders are the best and which the worst cultivators; how money is lent and borrowed; what crops are cultivated, and how, and what is the produce; what stock is kept, and how it is fed; whether stock is ever kept for the sake of manure; whether manure is made on system, or whether manure which accumulates without system is used or wasted; how harvesting is managed; who takes the produce to market, who sells it, and where, and who buys it: by what hands it eventually reaches the great marts; who prepares the jute for the market, who grows the mulberry, who rears the cocoons, and who makes the silk, and how they all go about it; what is the indigo system of the district; who keep the cattle, who poison them, who take their skins, prepare them and bring them to market; what the cattle feed on; what are the breeds, and what attention is paid to them; in what shape rents are paid, how often and through whom; what is the practical religion (if any) of the cultivators, and who announces the lucky days for ploughing and sowing; what are their social habits; what they eat, and how they are clothed; how far they are thrifty or unthrifty; how they keep their accounts; whether they have large families; how soon boys work; whether girls and women work, or what they do; how long agricultural laborers live, and from what diseases they suffer; &c. &c. &c.

3. In fact, we might have a complete agricultural picture of the various parts of the district, distinguishing high lands from low, large zemindaries from small tenures, and so on. Then we might have an account of such manufacturers as there are; what they manufacture and how, and how they live; of the trade and the traders; of the proprietary classes and their modes of life; of the relations of all to the Government.

4. If any officers will compile good district pictures of this kind, the Government will gladly print and circulate them.

CIRCULAR No. 48.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions.—(dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872)

THE Lieutenant-Governor has asked and is asking much of district officers in the way of statistical information and other matters, and has required local officers to perform their duties in an active manner, and in a way involving functions which had somewhat fallen into disuse. He has hoped to make up for any excess of work thus caused by the creation of the proposed subordinate establishments, but as some delay may occur before the inferior services can be organized, and meantime the money designed for them is available, he wishes to intimate to district officers that he is quite prepared to sanction any temporary establishments which can be usefully employed in obtaining the statistical information called for, or assisting in any special duties which have been or may be thrown on district or sub-divisional officers. Commissioners of divisions are authorised to sanction against the provincial reserve such demands when really necessary to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate Rs. 200 to 400 per mensem for each district, according as the district is large or small, and as regards temporary appointments, not exceeding Rs. 100 per mensem, reporting all cases in which such sanction is accorded, with detail of the temporary establishment, and the reason for it. Separate application may be made for any larger sum required in special cases.

2. It will be very desirable that the persons employed should be as much as possible those who are possessed of the qualifications which will fit them for admissions to the junior grades of the Native Civil Service, as set forth in the notification of the 2nd July 1872, published in the Calcutta Gazett of the 3rd idem, in case by good service the ... themselves deserving of that position. M ..., in addition to a fair knowledge of Engl ... an active physique, can survey, who un ... agricultural tenures and accounts, wh ... something of police and criminal laws, w ... can make themselves generally useful in lo... ng after petty public works, should be preferr... It was before suggested that good civil court ameens might be useful men.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor also feels that the districts have a fair claim to the replacement of the officers of the Subordinate Executive Service, who are specially employed on road cess and other works. He is, however, unwilling to burden the road cess funds, and he has not at present on his list many qualified candidates for such appointments. He would prefer that they should hereafter be supplied in due course under the system which it is proposed to establish, and that present necessities should be met by the temporary establishments for which provision has been made above. But in case of emergent necessity, if a really competent man can be found, the Lieutenant-Governor may grant the funds necessary for an Acting Deputy Magistrate and Collector to supply the place of one specially employed.

4. With respect to the distribution of Covenanted Civil Servants, the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to arrange matters so that the most efficient assistance may be given to district officers, and the public service be best served. It seems to be both the established practice and for the public interest, and advantageous for the training of young officers, that a certain number of junior Civil Servants should be in charge of certain sub-divisions, but the propriety and advantage of the arrangement should be well considered in each case, it being borne in mind that the supply of Civil Servants to Bengal for the past and present year is very limited.

5. With respect to the charge of the sudder division of the district, it has always been the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion that when the Magistrate of the district is at head-quarters, it is most proper that the general executive control should rest with him, and His Honor has been somewhat unwilling to put any other Magistrate in charge as a regular sub-divisional officer. But it by no means follows that the Magistrate of the district need try many cases or do much work of detail. In fact, the mere circumstance of being in superior charge of the sudder division does not necessary involve the trying of a single case, and in heavy districts the Lieutenant-Governor will not, under present circumstances, expect the District Magistrates to try many cases. The practice of taking all petitions, which seems to be frequently assumed as part of the duty of the Magistrate when in charge of the division, is a purely self-imposed labour undertaken by many District Magistrates. They are at perfect liberty to entrust any part of their criminal duties, including the receiving of petitions, to any Magistrate under them; and any other duties, except the general control over the police and the functions of general superintendence in executive matters, may be similarly disposed of. While, therefore, the Lieutenant-Governor is very willing that it should, if possible, be arranged that the Magistrate of a large and heavy district should have at head-quarters the assistance of a competent officer who may relieve him of most judicial and much other work when he is present, and take his place in the sudder division when he is absent, he does not think a regular sub-divisional officer of the head-quarters division at all a necessity. But he invites any proposals for stationing Civil Servants to the best advantage which Magistrates and Commissioners may wish to submit, and in special cases may even recognise a sub-division at head-quarters if real necessity for it is shown.

Notice.

LORD NORTHBROOK'S PRIZE OF ONE THOUSAND RUPEES.

HIS Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India has been pleased to offer a prize of the value of Rs. 1,000 (one thousand rupees), to be competed for by any or all Sub Assistant Surgeons or others who have passed through the Calcutta Medical College, the subject selected being—"The nature and causes of the fever which now prevails in and near Burdwan, and the best means of preventing its continuance." All essays submitted in competition must be sent in, with sealed covers and mottoes, on or before the 1st of August 1873.

They must be addressed to the Principal of the Medical College, Calcutta.

All papers sent in will be examined, and the prize adjudged by the Principal of the Medical College and the Officiating Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

Competitors are warned that they must adduce facts and close arguments bearing on these facts, and that they must not indulge in mere speculation and theorizing.

Original observations on the pathology of the disease are required; also on the range of temperature observable at different periods of its course; and on successful modes of treatment. The modes of life of the people which tend to develop or arrest the fever should be carefully dwelt on, as well as the peculiarities of the villages themselves which are subject to, or exempt from, its influence.

The names of unsuccessful candidates will not be published.

It must be understood that the prize will not be awarded unless a fairly good essay is received.

DAVID B. SMITH, M.D.,
Offg. Principal, Medical College.

No. 4.

TO ALL SESSIONS JUDGES AND MAGISTRATES.

Considerable inconvenience having been felt by the Judges composing Criminal Benches of this Court from the manner in which the record of Criminal appeals and references is frequently made up in the Courts of Sessions Judges and Magistrates, the following directions are for the future to be strictly attended to.

HIGH COURT, &c.
CRIMINAL SIDE.
Present:
The Hon'ble Sir R. Couch, Kt., Chief Justice.
" F. A. Glover,
" W. Ainslie,
Judges of the Court.

2. The evidence of the witnesses should in all cases be recorded on printed or lithographed Forms, and care should be taken that the headings are carefully and accurately filled up. No more than one deposition should be written on each sheet; and when the evidence of a witness does not fill the whole of the paper, care should be taken to affix the memorandum required by Section 199 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, exactly at the close of the writing. In many cases, the Court have found the deposition ending on one page and the memorandum filled in at the end of the other page, and there is no security against the blank being filled in, after the record has been returned to the Sherishta, with something that the witness did not say.

3. The attestation required could be impressed at the end of a deposition by a stamp, which would be, for obvious reasons, a better plan than affixing it as a label by means of gum or paste.

4. The Court also desire that all documents referred to by the Sessions Judge, and used by him as evidence (such as medical depositions, confessions of accused, &c., &c), should be put up with the Sessions Nuthee. Considerable inconvenience as well as delay is caused by the Appellate Court having frequently to search through the Magistrate's proceedings for papers which ought to form part of the Sessions record. Copies can, if necessary, be placed in the Magistrate's records.

5. When confessions of accused persons made before a Magistrate form part of the evidence against the persons committed for trial to the Court of Sessions, they should be accompanied by translations into English fairly written out. The Court has frequently to notice the great difficulty experienced in the reading of the vernacular papers of the local Courts by persons unaccustomed to the peculiarities of the writing and local idiom.

By order of the High Court,
W. CORNELL,
Offg. Registrar.

Calcutta, the 10th August 1872.

Are informed that the Vernacular registers of fines in their offices, required to be kept up by paragraph 2 of Circular Order No. 14, dated 16th December 1867, need no longer be examined by the Sessions Judges, as they are required to be examined and dealt with by the Commissioner of the Division in his annual tour of inspection or at other suitable seasons.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of the Lower Provinces of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending 31st August 1872

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.
BENGAL.
	Western Districts.	1872.
Burdwan Division. 1	Burdwan ..	Sep 3rd*	0·85	Sky overcast Rain still wanted.	Prospects of crops not favorable in Culna, Burdwan, or Bood-Bood subdivision. No apprehension for Cutwa crops Price of grain is falling.	Dengue and fever increasing, especially in Bood-Bood and Cutwa subdivisions. Sporadic cholera and small-pox prevalent throughout the district.
2	Bancoorah ..	Aug. 31st	2·42	Heavy showers at the sudder station on the 25th and 27th Some rain also fell in the west of the district.	It is now possible to estimate the extent of the amun crop for this year. About half crop has been planted out. The ous crop, such as it is, is beginning to ripen. Jenera has been a capital crop, and sugarcane promises well.
3	Beerbhoom ..	,, 31st	3·03	Rain has been pretty general during the week, but not in sufficient quantities in the north-west.	The prospects are now fair in the greater part of the district. In some places they are still poor.
4	Midnapore ..	,, 31st	3·73	Some 3 inches of rain have fallen all over the district generally in one or two heavy showers.	More hopeful accounts received from all quarters, but there is no chance of a full crop.
5	Hooghly ...	,, 31st	1·90	Clear and rainy. Heavy rain on Monday at Hooghly and Serampore Dark heavy clouds constantly passing.	Planting out of amun going on rapidly, but not yet half complete. Sugarcane and jute are fair crops; ous a defective crop. Amun will not be a half crop.
	Howrah ..	,, 31st	1·28	Cloudy. Generally it rained on three or four days during the week, but at Shunkrail only on one day.	The fall of rain has not been sufficient to enable the ryots to transplant the whole of the amun crop. The ous dhan is ripe. Sugarcane, jute, &c, doing well.
	Central Districts.
Presidency Division. 6	24-Pergunnahs ..	Sep. 3rd	1·57	Warm and cloudy, with occasional showers of rain Mean temperature 83° Direction of wind, south-east.	Reaping of the ous crop and jute commenced in separate parts of the district; sugarcane doing well. More rain still wanted for the amun paddy.	Dengue and intermittent fever generally prevailing in the district, the former however seems to be disappearing from the sudder station. Cholera has appeared in some places.
7	Nuddea ..	Aug 31st	1·13	Unusually dry for the time of year Lightning in east and west.	The ous is being harvested, and is much better than was expected The general crop is quite an average one. The amun is very late, but looks well. Jute has much improved All other crops very good. Slight floods from the Ganges reported from Kooshteah.
8	Jessore ...	,, 31st	1·35	Seasonable ..	Good.

* Telegram of the 3rd received on the same day.

BENGAL —(Contd.)
	Central Districts.—(Contd.)	1872.
Rajshahye Division. 9	Moorshedabad ..	Aug. 31st	2·51	Heavy rain in the Sudder and Lalbaug sub-divisions on the 25th, and in the other sub-divisions on the 28th and 29th. Weather cloudy and showery. On the whole during the week a fair quantity of rain has fallen.	The rain that has fallen has greatly benefited the amun crop, but more rain is still wanted. The bhadoi harvest is going on, and the outturn will be fair, though below the average. The indigo, sugarcane, and jute crops are doing well. It is reported from Bhogowangolah that the Pudma river is rising, and threatens to inundate the adjacent lands.
10	Dinagepore ..	,, 31st	3·21	Showers in some parts of the district; rainfall partial. Temp. highest 92° ,, lowest 72°	Crops every where reported to be doing well. Bhadoi rice and jute being cut. Planting out of ropa dhan still going on.
11	Maldah ..	,, 31st	1·57	Rain on four days of the week. Cloudy, brisk sun, and sultriness at times. Wind easterly.	Bhadoi (early rice) is being gathered. Amun (late rice) is in a satisfactory condition.
12	Rajshahye ..	,, 31st	1·10	The prevalent winds from south-east and south. Lightning and mutterings of thunder among the clouds have at times promised storms, which have, however, passed off. Three days without rain; on the other four days slight rain has fallen in showers.	The prospects of amun are improving owing to the irrigation from the rivers which have risen. The ous harvest promises to be a moderate one. Sugarcane and jute are doing well.
13	Rungpore ...	,, 31st	·40	During the first three days of the week boisterous winds prevailed, and the weather has been cool the whole week.	The steeping of the jute has commenced near the sudder station. The rice crops look as if doing well.
14	Bograh ..	,, 31st	2·96	First half of week occasional drizzling rain; latter half heavy, but short showers. Weather generally was close and hot.	Rain has been pretty general throughout the district, and has benefited the amun rice, which is the main crop. More rain is needed.	Moderately healthy.
15	Pubna ...	,, 31st	4·78	Hot and rainy. Easterly winds chiefly prevailed.	The rain and the rise of the rivers have been of great benefit to jute, paddy, sugarcane, and other crops of the season. The jute crop is splendid this year; could hardly be finer. The rice crop—amun—also looks very well. The ous has been out, and is a good average crop.
Cooch Behar Dtn. 16	Darjeeling ...	...	...	.....	.....	Return not received.
17	Julpigoree ..	...	...	.....	.....	Return not received.
	Cooch Behar ...	,, 24th	1·43	Fine, with a few showers. Temperature high.	Favorable. The transplanting of dhan is still going on.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date	Remarks.
BENGAL —(Contd)
	Eastern Districts	1872
DACCA DIVISION 18	Dacca ..	Sep 3rd*	3 40	First two days fair and sultry, last five days cloudy, rainy, and cool.	Prospects of crops favorable. Rivers steady
19	Furreedpore	Aug 31st	1 41	Drizzling rain three days in the week, strong and continuous sunshine during the remaining days	The state of crops in general is favorable.
20	Backergunge .	„ 31st	2 41	There has been much rain all over the district.	Good.
21	Mymensing ..	...	.....	... ..	.. ...	Return not received.

23	Cachar .	„ 21th	2·53	Slight rain every day	The sail crop promises well In some places the people have begun to reap the asra dhan. There will be a four-anna crop, but this is an inconsiderable area in Cachar More rain is wanted Tea is doing very well, there is a little blight however.
CHITTAGONG DIVN 24	Chittagong .	„ 21th	1 58	Showers, with fine intervals	The reports are generally favorable, and cultivation is progressing everywhere From Nila some damage is reported by worms Particulars have been called for.
25	Noakhally .	.. 24th	1·68	The first part of the week was rainy, and the latter half clear, hot, and sultry.	Reaping of ous crop is not yet completed Amun crop progressing favorably.
26	Tipperah ...	„ 31st	5·28	Excessively hot and oppressive, varied by thunder-storms and heavy rain The fall of rain in the sub division is again under 2 inches.	There is nothing to complain of Even in Bramanberiah, where the rainfall is so scanty, it is the jute and not the amun crop that is so much depended on The cultivation of the former has increased this year, so the want of rain will not do so much injury as might be supposed.

Highest rdng. 29·820 Lowest rdng. 29·440	Bhadoi crop very good, and harvest has commenced. The aghani paddy is doing well towards the south. More rain is still required for it. Indigo crop is reported rather indifferent. Bhabooah return not received.
	31	Tirhoot ...	„ 31st	4·30	Cloudy, with showers of rain.	Second indigo crop doing well. Bhadoi crops are first-rate. Young blades are looking fresh and healthy.
	32	Sarun ...	„ 31st	1·24	East and west winds. Rain general throughout the district.	"Bhadoi" continues promising, except in the jurisdiction of Bhorey outpost, where only a four-anna crop is expected, as the crops there have been inundated owing to excessive rain. Marwa and "shama" are being cut and stacked. Indian corn has begun to ripen. Sugarcane doing well. Indigo hopeful. Transplantation of rice seedlings is being pushed on briskly in the sudder sub-division, and is finished in the Sewan subdivision. In some of the western pergunnahs paddy in the lower chur is reported to have been irretrievably lost, owing to the fields being overflooded, but those in the high lands are in a healthy condition. More rain wanted in the jurisdiction of Gurkha and Goldengunge outposts in the Sudder sub-division, and towards south-west in the Sewan subdivision.
	33	Chumparun ...	„ 31st	0·15	Slight rain on Sunday, Monday, and Wednesday. Variable winds. Hot weather.	The prospects of bhadoi crops are most favorable, but rain is wanted for the rice crop. The manufacture of indigo is going on satisfactorily.
Bhaugulpore Division.	34	Monghyr ..	„ 31st	1·67	Sudder station.—Bright weather, with showers interspersed. The showers less heavy and less frequent than last week.	It is feared that the rice crop will be a poor one. It was planted out late, and there has not been enough rain for it in the south of the district, where alone it is grown in any quantity. If heavy showers do not fall for the remainder of the season the crop will be poor—perhaps not more than 8 annas. All other crops are unusually fine and abundant everywhere.

Bhaugulpore Division.—(Contd.)
35	Bhaugulpore ...	Sep. 3rd*	·46	Scarcely any rain except in extreme north; not near enough in the south.	Rain much wanted for the aghani rice. All other crops promise well. Bhadoi is being reaped in many places.	General health very good. Dengue still very prevalent
36	Purneah ...	Aug. 31st	2·20	Not dull and cloudy, with occasional storms.	The bhadoi dhan is being cut; crop very good. The want of rain has much retarded the transplanting of the aghani. Sugarcane and Indian corn good.
37	Sonthal Pergunnahs.
	Rajmehal ..	„ 31st	2·87	The rain has been heavier towards the south and general throughout the sub-division.	Much improved. The rain has enabled much of the land unplanted to be planted now. Indian corn crop excellent.
	Deoghur ...	„ 31st	1·39	Rainy and cool.	Paddy crops have been all transplanted. Heavy rain is needed as the crop is very backward. Jenera, murwa, gandolee, and other bhadoi crops, are being gathered.
	Nya Doomka ..	„ 31st	1·35	Very favorable for all crops.	Jenera coming on rapidly and well. Dhan very promising, and nearly all planted out.
	Godda ...	„ 31st	.....	Heavy and continuous rain in the early part of week in all the pergunnahs, with the exception of Munihari. Light showers and sunshine in latter part of week.	Prospects much brighter than they were last week. About one-fourth of the transplanting still to be done. Bhadoi crops reported to be very good indeed, particularly in the Pasai pergunnah.	No rain-gauge.
ORISSA.
Orissa Division.
38	Cuttack ...	Sep. 3rd*	·52	Seasonable ...	Rice crop, especially beali, much injured by insects, which still infest it. Rivers flooded, and low land under water. Damages, if any, not yet known.
39	Pooree ..	Aug. 24th	2·30	Seasonable showers, but more sunshine is wanted.	Crops are thriving well, except that there is a good deal of blight (apparently owing to the want of sunshine) in the northern half of the district.
40	Balasore ..	„ 31st	1·42	Moderate rain.	Crops progressing favorably. More rain said to be wanted in one pergunnah in the south, but this is doubtful.
CHOTA NAGPORE.
	South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazareebaugh .	„ 31st	3·43	Cloudy, with much rain, which has been general all over the district.	Indian corn and goondli being gathered in the east. Rice crops greatly benefited by the rain. Transplanting still continuing. Prospects much improved.
42	Lohardduggah ..	„ 31st	3·18	Seasonable.	The reports of the crops from all parts of Chota Nagpore proper are generally very favorable. In Palamow the bhadoi and khureef crops to the south and south-west are good, but elsewhere poor, and the prospects of the late rice crops are still very gloomy for want of more rain.

43	Singbhoom ...	Aug 24th	3·10	Seasonable .	Favorable.
44	Maunbhoom ..	„ 31st	1·93	Favorable ..	The whole of the crops in the high lands are very good, and the outturn of early broadcast rice, kudo, pulses, and Indian corn, will be a full one. More rain is required for the transplanted rice, and in some of the south-eastern pergunnahs the whole of the land has not been planted out for want of more rain.
ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.
45	Goalparah ...	„ 24th	1·38	Sunny and cloudy alternately. Scanty showers of rain throughout the district.	Reaping of aus crops completed, with good return. More rain is still wanted for winter crops. A fair outturn of jute, cotton, and sugar, is expected.
46	Kamroop ..	Sep. 2nd*	2·35	Occasional rain and sun, and the weather cool during the week.	Prospects of tea, cotton, and sugarcane, favorable. Shalee dhan is being transplanted and promises well.	Public health good
47	Durrung ..	Aug. 24th	2·8	Very hot days. Cloudy at times, with rain. Nights sultry.	Sugarcane crop looking well, and dhan cultivation progressing favorably.
48	Nowgong ..	„ 24th	6·08	Weather seasonable. Heavy rain at nights; general in the district.	Crops doing well. Tea ditto.
49	Seebsaugor .	„ 24th	6·38	There has been a good deal of rain, but principally in heavy showers of short duration. Temperature high.	The weather during the week has been very favorable for planting out the rice, and should it continue the prospects of the dhan crop will be good. Tea doing well.
50	Luckimpore .	„ 24th	4·53	Heavy showers in the morning, with sunshiny days. Weather exceedingly favorable for the staple crop of the district. Thermometer. Maximum ... 91° Minimum ... 78	Planting out rice continues, and will be completed by the end of next week Rainfall generally at night or early in the morning, with dry, hot days. Weather consequently very favorable for all kinds of crops, especially tea. Sub-divisional report favorable, and to the same effect as above.
51	Naga Hills ...	„ 17th	0·80	Very little rain anywhere. Close and oppressive in the plains, but pleasant in the hills.	Fair generally. 'Jhum' crops being cut, and a fair outturn expected.
52	Khasi and Jynteah Hills.	„ 24th	2·51	Weather fair, with occasional showers. Rains were heavier during the week in the lower hills overlooking the plains of Sylhet.	State and prospects of the crops continue unchanged since last report.
53	Garo Hills ...	„ 24th	3·42	Showery, with some rather hot days There was some very heavy rain on the 24th, accompanied with thunder and lightning.	There is not much change in the state of the crops In places the dhan crop is not good, but in others it is fair. The rain of the season has fallen unequally too much, at one time, with long intervals of dry weather.

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

J. WARE EDGAR,
Offg. Jr. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal

The following Orders issued by the Government of India, in the Home Department, are republished for general information :—

No. 3421 —Simla the 28th August 1872 —Notifications —Public —The following despatch from the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India on the subject of prohibiting public officers from engaging in speculation in India is hereby republished for general information.

As doubt has been expressed regarding the application of the orders contained in the despatch, the Governor-General in Council thinks it right to give notice that he will be prepared to enforce the principle therein laid down in regard to all public servants of whatever class or position, and His Excellency in Council relies on Local Governments, Administrations, and Heads of Departments, to see that it is not infringed :

Despatch No. 46, dated 31st May 1872.

"1 have considered in Council your letter (No. 23) dated 11th March 1872, transmitting your proceedings, consequent on the accompanying minutes by the Governor and the Members of the Government of Bombay on the question of prohibiting public officers from engaging in speculations in India.

"2 You will have learned from my despatch to the Government of Bombay, No 11, dated the 8th April last, that, in connection with the orders of that Government of the 26th November 1861, relative to the case of public officers, who might take part in any Company formed for working the gold mines in the Dummul Hills, I stated that 'as a general rule, I see no objection to servants of Government holding shares in Mining or other Companies having for their object the development of the resources of the country, and the only restriction I think it necessary to impose is, that public servants shall take no part in the management of such institutions, and shall not be employed in the districts, where the operations of the Company may be carried on.'

"3. * * * *

I think it important that this condition should be maintained, and I have to direct that my decision, communicated in the terms above quoted to the Government of Bombay, may be made generally applicable, and may be published for general information

4. There can be no doubt as to the great evil of public servants in India engaging in speculations in the public funds, or in the shares of Joint Stock Companies ; but I agree in the opinion of Lord Canning that such a practice, on the part of any officer, could not long escape the knowledge of Government, and that it would be in the power of Government to mark its sense of such conduct either by withholding promotion, or in any other way it might deem fit."

No. 278 —The 30th August 1872.—Ecclesiastical —Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India has permitted the Reverend M R Burge and the Reverend John Cave-Brown, Senior Chaplains on the Bengal Establishment, to retire from the service, the former from the 4th May 1872, and the latter from the 31st July 1872

Circular No. 47.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions,—(dated Calcutta, the 14th August 1872.)

ARRANGEMENTS have lately been made to render the boundaries of districts conterminous in respect of revenue and judicial jurisdictions, and to adjust district boundaries to the best advantage. In doing this, it has been necessary to re-arrange some sub-divisions which were divided between two districts, it being deemed desirable that a sub-divisional officer should always be under one Magistrate-Collector only, and should not serve two masters. But as regards all other sub-divisions the Lieutenant-Governor, while feeling that in some districts new sub-divisions are required, and that in others it may be desirable to revise sub-divisional jurisdictions and stations with reference to the experience which has now been secured, has thought that it would be better to complete the district boundaries, organize the subordinate establishments, and obtain the full results of the census before undertaking any review of the sub-divisional re-arrangements generally.

2. It appears, however, that the High Court are engaged in a re-arrangement of moonsiffees, which it is sought to render conterminous with sub-divisions, and so many questions regarding sub-divisional lock-ups (which it is certainly necessary to render more efficient), sub-divisional buildings, and such like matters, constantly come before Government, that the Lieutenant-Governor does not think he can longer delay calling the attention of Commissioners and district officers to the subject. He would not at present undertake to supply sub-divisional establishments for districts, or portions of districts, where sub-divisions have not yet been at all established. But wherever the sub-divisional system has been in operation, he would like it to be considered once for all whether the number and position of the sub-divisional stations are what they should be, and whether the jurisdictions are arranged in the most advantageous manner. It may not be necessary to hurry a decision in specially doubtful or difficult cases. But the Lieutenant-Governor would like to have as soon as possible a report in all cases in which it is clear that the sub-divisional station and jurisdiction are rightly placed and arranged, and where therefore all subsidiary arrangements for lock-ups, &c., may be proceeded with without misgiving.

3. On the other hand, he would equally like to have a report of all cases in which there is reason to think that alteration is desirable, with proposals for re-arrangement as soon as such proposals can be made with confidence.

4. The census returns, thannah by thannah, will very soon be available for almost all districts and are already supplied to many.

5. The Lieutenant-Governor accordingly directs that as soon as the census return is received, a return may be submitted for each district with a map showing sub-divisional and thannah jurisdictions, and a statement regarding each sub-division showing population, number of criminal and other cases for each of the last two years, and other particulars. An opinion should then be expressed in regard to each, either that it should be retained as at present, the Magistrate and Commissioner being thoroughly satisfied on that point, or that it should be altered or re-arranged, for reasons given, in manner specified, or that for any reason the decision had better be postponed.

6. The Lieutenant-Governor would wish that in coming to a conclusion on these points the following considerations should be borne in mind.

7. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the sub-divisions should, if possible, be of such a size that one officer, and no more, of the Covenanted or Subordinate Executive Service grades, should be fully occupied, and should be able to do all the duties lately prescribed with the assistance of a subordinate establishment of the 1st, 2nd, or 3rd class, such as is contemplated in the Resolution of the 20th March last. He prefers full-sized sub-divisions giving employment to an officer and establishment of this kind to a smaller sub-division where the case work is so light that assistance is not required, because now that treasury and much other office work must always be done by some one at head-quarters, a single officer who can with difficulty leave his head-quarters (even when not very fully occupied) is much less efficient than a sub-divisional officer who has such assistance that he can any day visit any part of his sub-division. Probably a fair average sub-division, as at present existing, will nearly satisfy these requirements, the additional work recently required being met by the additional establishments which it is hoped shortly to give. But a sub-division where there is now insufficient work should not be retained on the ground that enough work may be found for one officer.

8. At present there are a few sub-divisions with more than one officer. Probably with a first class subordinate establishment one officer may do the work; if not, a plan should, if possible, be devised for reducing the size of the sub-division.

9. This also the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to be particularly borne in mind that the district should not be equally divided, the sudder division being treated on the same footing as the outlying sub-divisions. The sudder division always has more officers and should be larger. Whenever any place is equidistant from the sudder station and a sub-divisional station, it should go to the sudder in preference; that course has many advantages, and should be followed whenever it can be so arranged by any contrivance. Sub-divisions are established not to divide the work, but to bring the protection and aid of Government, and the administration of justice, nearer to the people. They should, therefore, only be established where they decidedly attain that object, and portions of the district should be attached to them only so far as the object is attained. A district should be sub-divided somewhat in this fashion—

10. In districts where the sub-divisions have been marked off, but have not been officered and established, the Lieutenant-Governor begs that the proposed sub-divisional boundaries may be revised with reference to the above considerations, and a report made.

11. In some instances the sub-divisional stations seem to have been badly chosen, and much loss and inconvenience have been caused by the necessity for changing them. In some other cases, though no complaints have been made, and the sub-divisional officers seem to be comfortable, the stations appear very far from central, and are too much on the borders of other districts. It is most desirable that they should now be fixed and permanent, and wherever a station, being unobjectionable in other respects, is not central, it should be stated what buildings there are, whether the place has local importance, &c., and it should be well weighed whether the permanent advantages of a change are worth the immediate sacrifice.

LORD NORTHBROOK'S PRIZE OF ONE THOUSAND RUPEES.

His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor-General of India has been pleased to offer a prize of the value of Rs. 1,000 (one thousand rupees), to be competed for by any or all Sub Assistant Surgeons or others who have passed through the Calcutta Medical College, the subject selected being—"The nature and causes of the fever which now prevails in and near Burdwan, and the best means of preventing its continuance." All essays submitted in competition must be sent in, with sealed covers and mottoes, on or before the 1st of August 1873.

They must be addressed to the Principal of the Medical College, Calcutta.

All papers sent in will be examined, and the prize adjudged by the Principal of the Medical College and the Officiating Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal.

Competitors are warned that they must adduce facts and close arguments bearing on these facts, and that they must not indulge in mere speculation and theorizing.

Original observations on the pathology of the disease are required; also on the range of temperature observable at different periods of its course; and on successful modes of treatment. The modes of life of the people which tend to develop or arrest the fever should be carefully dwelt on, as well as the peculiarities of the villages themselves which are subject to, or exempt from, its influence.

The names of unsuccessful candidates will not be published.

It must be understood that the prize will not be awarded unless a fairly good essay is received.

Bills of the Legislative Council of India.

Government of India.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

[First Publication.]

THE following Bill was introduced into the Council of the Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 29th August 1872, and was referred to a Select Committee with instructions to report thereon in two months:—

No. 20 OF 1872.

A Bill to amend the Law relating to the Transhipment of Goods imported by Steamer.

Whereas it is expedient to amend the law relating to the transhipment of goods imported by steamer; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Preamble.

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Transhipment of Goods Act, 1872":

Local extent.

It extends to the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchi, Aden, Rangoon, Maulmain, Akyab, and to such other British Indian ports as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct in this behalf;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Repeal of Act XX of 1867.

2. Act No. XX of 1867 (to authorize the transhipment without payment of duty of goods imported into Calcutta, Madras and Bombay by steamers) is repealed. But all rules, rates and regulations prescribed under the said Act shall be deemed to have been prescribed under this Act.

Power to permit transhipment without payment of duty.

3. Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, the chief officer of customs of every port to which this Act extends for the time being may, on application of any person interested as owner, agent, consignee or otherwise in any goods imported by steamer into such port, grant leave to tranship the same without payment of duty at the port of transhipment, and without any security or bond for the due arrival and entry of the goods at the port of destination:

Proviso.

Provided that such goods have been specially and distinctly manifested or declared at the time of import as for transhipment to some other British Indian or foreign port.

Rules regulating exercise of power.

4. The power conferred by section three shall be exercised subject to such rules as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe by notification in the official Gazette.

Levy of transhipment fee.

5. A transhipment fee on each bale or package of goods transhipped under this Act shall be levied at such rates and under such regulations as the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may from time to time prescribe by notification in the official Gazette.

Power to prohibit transhipment.

6. The Governor-General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit the transhipment at any specified port of any specified class of goods, and may, by like notification, withdraw any such prohibition.

7. Opium imported by sea into any British Indian port may, if the local Government think fit, but not otherwise, be re-exported by sea from the same port on payment of a duty equal in amount to the fee to which it would have been liable if it had been transhipped at such port.

Duty on opium re-exported by sea.

8. This Act shall be read as part of the Consolidated Customs Act, and shall not be construed as in any respect limiting the power of the customs officers to levy duty or to require such bonds or other securities as are authorized by the same Act.

Act to be read as part of Act VI of 1863.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under the provisions of Act XX of 1867, the Chief Customs Officers in the ports of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay may, under certain circumstances, and subject to rules issued by the Local Government, grant leave to tranship goods imported by steamer, without payment of duty and without the security required by section one hundred and ten of Act VI of 1863, the Consolidated Customs Act.

It is desirable that the Government should have the power to authorize the same practice in Aden, Karáchi, the ports of Burma and elsewhere; and the present Bill accordingly repeals Act XX of 1867, and re-enacts its provisions making them applicable, not only to Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, but also to Karáchi, Aden, the Burmese ports, and such other ports as the Government of India notifies in the Gazette.

Power is also given to prohibit the transhipment of any specified class of goods; and the Bill contains a clause declaring that opium imported by sea may, if the Local Government think fit, be re-exported on payment of a duty equivalent to the fee which would have been payable, if it had been transhipped.

There has now been abundance of rain, except, perhaps, in Pergunnah Mohisara, but since the 6th heavy rain has fallen, and it appears to be general. The rice planted out is doing well Some of the early rice crop has been cut.
	3	Beerbhoom ..	„ 7th	4·06	Very general rain almost throughout the district.	Sugarcane everywhere reported to be doing well The prospects of rice crop have much improved this week.
	4	Midnapore ...	„ 7th	3·17	Very heavy rain in the sudder station on Thursday, but less elsewhere ; showery almost every day.	The reports are still somewhat more favorable, not less than a half crop anticipated everywhere, and more in most places.

NOTE.

Barometric Pressure.—The pressures in column 2 of the above table for all stations below 500 feet are reduced from those given in column 3 of the table on the previous page by adding the weight of a column of air of the corresponding temperatures given in column 17. For stations of above 500 feet elevation, the reduction is made by Dippe's tables as given in Guyot's "Meteorological and Physical Tables." The temperatures at the sea-level are taken from column 3 of the above table.

Temperature.—The temperatures in column 3 are reduced from those in column 17 on the preceding page by adding 1° Fahr. for every 350 feet.

Wind, Resultant.—The resultant wind direction and the comparative predominance are calculated from the whole number of wind observations recorded during the month. The relative predominance in the direction of the resultant is given as a percentage of the whole number of observations. The direction is computed in the usual way by Lambert's formula.

Serenity.—This column gives the average proportion of unclouded sky, a cloudless sky being indicated by 10 and one completely overcast by 0.

The above being all comparable, afford the data for constructing a meteorological chart for the month, which shall show the isobaric and isothermal lines and the resultant wind directions, which last may be represented by arrows of varying length, proportioned to the prevalence of the wind. To these may be added the rainfall from the previous tables

The mean barometer as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

Circular No. 56.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVENUE.

To—All Commissioners of Divisions—(dated Calcutta, the 13th September 1872)

THE Lieutenant-Governor finds that while we are casting about for land for model farms, there are in many stations public gardens maintained by subscription. His Honor, however, observes with concern that in some instances these gardens, after having been flourishing, are falling off for want of funds. To remedy this state of things His Honor would be willing to give a grant-in-aid, or any reasonable special assistance which might be suggested, for the purpose of procuring seeds or improved stock at any places where there are such institutions, and a competent person will undertake their management, with a view to making agricultural experiments on a small scale, and developing by selection, cultivation, and care, the plants and animals by which the resources of the country may be improved

2. It also strikes the Lieutenant-Governor that much might be made of the jail gardens, which are generally under the care of men of science and skill, who have time to devote to such agricultural experiments. His Honor is quite in favor of these gardens as a means of usefully employing prisoners who have earned indulgence, and convalescents of good character, and of supplying vegetables for the consumption of the prisoners And the gardens being maintained for these purposes, the opportunity may well be taken for making them also the means of agricultural improvement. I am to beg that the attention of Jail Officers may be called to the subject, and the co-operation of all who have any taste that way, invited. The Lieutenant-Governor will gladly sanction a fair expenditure for seeds, implements, and manure, in order to carry on hopeful experiments.

Offg. Jr. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

Attention is, therefore, again drawn to the necessity of presenting such petitions to the Local Governments and Administrations for transmission by them

A Bill to amend the Law relating to the Transhipment of Goods imported by Steamer.

Preamble.

Whereas it is expedient to amend the law relating to the transhipment of goods imported by steamer; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called "The Transhipment of Goods Act, 1872":

Local extent

It extends to the ports of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Karáchi, Aden, Rangoon, Maulmain, Akyab, and to such other British Indian ports as the Governor-General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, direct in this behalf;

Commencement.

And it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

Repeal of Act XX of 1867.

2. Act No. XX of 1867 (to authorize the transhipment without payment of duty of goods imported into Calcutta, Madras, and Bombay by steamers) is repealed. But all rules, rates, and regulations prescribed under the said Act shall be deemed to have been prescribed under this Act.

Power to permit transhipment without payment of duty.

3. Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, the chief officer of customs of every port to which this Act extends for the time being may, on application of any person interested as owner, agent, consignee or otherwise in any goods imported by steamer into such port, grant leave to tranship the same without payment of duty at the port of transhipment, and without any security or bond for the due arrival and entry of the goods at the port of destination:

Proviso.

Provided that such goods have been specially and distinctly manifested or declared at the time of import as for transhipment to some other British Indian or foreign port.

Rules regulating exercise of power.

4. The power conferred by section three shall be exercised subject to such rules as the Local Government may from time to time prescribe by notification in the official Gazette.

Levy of transhipment fee.

5. A transhipment fee on each bale or package of goods transhipped under this Act shall be levied at such rates and under such regulations as the Local Government, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, may from time to time prescribe by notification in the official Gazette.

Power to prohibit transhipment.

6. The Governor-General in Council may from time to time, by notification in the Gazette of India, prohibit the transhipment at any specified port of any specified class of goods, and may, by like notification, withdraw any such prohibition.

Duty on opium re-exported by sea.

7. Opium imported by sea into any British Indian port may, if the Local Government think fit, but not otherwise, be re-exported by sea from the same port on payment of a duty equal in amount to the fee to which it would have been liable if it had been transhipped at such port.

Act to be read as part of Act VI of 1863.

8. This Act shall be read as part of the Consolidated Customs Act, and shall not be construed as in any respect limiting the power of the customs officers to levy duty or to require such bonds or other securities as are authorized by the same Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

Under the provisions of Act XX of 1867, the Chief Customs Officers in the ports of Calcutta, Madras or Bombay may, under certain circumstances, and subject to rules issued by the Local Government, grant leave to tranship goods imported by steamer, without payment of duty and without the security required by section one hundred and ten of Act VI of 1863, the Consolidated Customs Act.

It is desirable that the Government should have the power to authorize the same practice in Aden, Karáchi, the ports of Burma and elsewhere; and the present Bill accordingly repeals Act XX of 1867, and re-enacts its provisions making them applicable, not only to Calcutta, Madras and Bombay, but also to Karáchi, Aden, the Burmese ports, and such other ports as the Government of India notifies in the Gazette.

Power is also given to prohibit the transhipment of any specified class of goods; and the Bill contains a clause declaring that opium imported by sea may, if the Local Government think fit, be re-exported on payment of a duty equivalent to the fee which would have been payable, if it had been transhipped.

Experimental Sale by Government of European Medicines in the Mofussil.

No. 575, dated Fort William, the 21st August 1872.

From—J. CAMPBELL BROWN, ESQ., C.B., Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Medical Department.

To—The Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Judicial Department.

I HAVE the honor to present an account of the sale of medicines for the half-year ending 31st March 1872.

2. There is a considerable increase in the transactions of this half-year as compared with the results of the two previous half-years already reported on. This would show,—(1) that the people appreciate the boon offered them by Government more and more; and (2) that the measures adopted to extend the sale have been successful.

3. The increase is almost entirely due to an increased sale of quinine. It is remarkable to observe that while 38lb of this drug were sold in the zillah of Burdwan, only 1lb 7 oz. were disposed of in the adjoining zillah of Hooghly, where the people are known to have also suffered severely from fever during the half-year under report.

4. As stated in my letter No. 1323 of 27th March (paragraph 3), I caused particular inquiries to be made regarding the causes of ill-success of this scheme in districts where the realizations fell below Rs. 50 in the half-year, and the prospect of a better sale. I append an abstract of the replies received. With regard to these, I would recommend—

Bancoorah.	Hazareebaugh.
Midnapore.	Sarun.

Balasore.	Gowalparrah.
Cuttack.	Tezpore.

I.—That the system should be continued in the districts marginally noted.

II.—That in the districts enumerated marginally the stock should be reduced.

III.—That the system should be entirely discontinued in the districts of Howrah and Garo Hills, where no sales have taken place, and where no reasonable prospect of success exists.

5. The sale of chiretta, jalap, and cholera pills, has not improved. I append a copy of a circular* I have caused to be issued on this subject. Replies have not as yet been received. The subject will be taken up in my next report.

* No. 15 of the 27th April 1872.

PRESIDENCY CIRCLE.

24-Pergunnahs.—No demand for quinine, as it is easily procured from private shops. The sale of this drug is likely to be increased in future.

Howrah.—Owing to there being many independent practitioners in the district, who prescribe and supply to their patients at cheaper rates the remedies required, the sale of Government medicines could not be effected satisfactorily.

Bancoorah.—Quinine and castor oil are more appreciated than any other drugs which are procurable in the locality at cheaper rates; the demands of cholera pills might be satisfactory if obtainable at two annas per dozen. The best mode suggested for negociating the sale of those drugs is to entrust the Abkaree Department with their charge.

Midnapore.—The half-year was healthy. Arrangements have been made to effect larger sales in future.

Pubna.—Cannot account for small sales, but the sales are considerably improving.

Cuttack.—The cause of the small sale of medicines is simply that the natives object to pay for medicines. There is no prospect, with such material as Ooryahs in their present condition to deal with, of the sale of medicines increasing.

Balasore.—The medical officer is unable to account for the very inconsiderable sale of the drugs on any other grounds than that the boon conferred is unappreciated.

Pooree.—Large sale was not effected because the use of the medicines is not so generally known, and fever was not so prevalent here as elsewhere. The people are too poor to purchase quinine, and think they can spend their savings more profitably on other necessaries. However, it is anticipated that the sale of quinine is likely to increase. No demand for chiretta and jalap, as they can be procured locally.

DACCA CIRCLE.

Gowalparah.—All the people at Gowalparah are very poor, and those who use Europe medicines obtain gratis, having had recourse to the charitable dispensary. The wealthy people never use Europe medicines. There is very little prospect of a large sale at present.

Garo Hills.—The Garos are merely savages, and do not buy medicines, nor will they ever use them, even if when supplied free.

Tezpore.—Rich people do not buy quinine, which is the only medicine appreciated by the natives. The poor classes procure it (when sick) from the charitable dispensary.

Naga Hills and Samoogoodting.—No prospect of a better sale at present. The people are very poor. Recommends that the system may be continued.

DINAPORE CIRCLE.

Hazareebaugh.—Better sale has been effected during the past five months, and hopes that the demands for the medicines are likely to rise steadily.

Maunbhoom.—The causes of scanty sale of medicines seem to be—(1) the comparative poverty of the mass of the population of the district; (2) the tolerably prevailing opinion (how it originated is not known) that quinine causes fevers and produces enlarged spleens; lastly the almost total indifference displayed by rajas, zemindars, and other men of position and influence in not coming forward to buy medicines, and thus showing their disbelief in the absurd stories circulated by some stupid and mischievous persons.

Monghyr.—The majority of the population have had no experience of Europe medicines, and are in consequence ignorant of their values. It is desirable that medicines may be supplied to native doctors stationed in the interior of the district for sale.

Singbhoom.—Apathy and disinclination to pay for the medicines are perceived; however, as the medicines are now sold in small quantities, better result in future is anticipated.

Sonthal Pergunnahs.—The causes of scanty sale are—1*st*, the people are ignorant; 2*nd*, they are very poor; and 3*rd*, the district is, as a rule, healthy. Very little prospect of securing a better sale of quinine.

FORT WILLIAM,
The 26th July 1872.

K. McLEOD, A.M. M.D.,
Offg. Secy., Inspr.-Genl. of Hospitals, Indian Medical Dept.

Circular No. 15, dated Fort William, the 27th April 1872.

Memo. by—K. McLEOD, ESQ., A.M., M.D., Offg. Secretary, Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Medical Department.

To—The Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals, Presidency, Dacca, Dinapore Circles.

WITH reference to the annexed extract† from the resolution of the Government of Bengal, Judicial Department, dated the 12th instant, the undersigned is directed to request that the Deputy Inspector-General of Hospitals of the Presidency, Dacca, Dinapore Circles will be so good as to ascertain and state for the Inspector-General's information whether any medical officer would wish to retain the articles noted in the margin at his disposal. If not, they should be handed over to the dispensary and the amount thus disposed of reported.

Chiretta.
Jalap.
Cholera pills.

Extract paragraph 4 of Bengal Government Resolution dated 12th April 1872.

4. In the half-year ending 30th September 1871 the sales were in excess of the last half-year by Rs. 2,873. The increase was chiefly due to the sales under the head of quinine and castor oil. The sales were more general, but the demand for chiretta and jalap fell off, and cholera pills were in small demand: it is said that cheap and effective substitutes for these drugs are obtainable in ordinary bazar. It has been proposed by the Inspector-General of Hospitals to discontinue the future supply of the three last-mentioned medicines, unless specially asked for, and Lieutenant-Governor approves of the suggestion.

(RESOLUTION)

JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.—MEDICAL.

Calcutta, the 9th September 1872.

READ—

The Proceedings for April 1872, No. 12, reviewing the result of the experimental sale by Government of European medicines in the mofussil during the half years ending 31st March and 30th September 1871.

Also letter No. 575, dated 21st August 1872, from the Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Medical Department, submitting an account of the sale of medicines in the several districts in Bengal for the half year ending 31st March 1872.

1. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the total value of the medicines sold during the half year ending March 1872 was Rs. 10,272-4-2‡ as against Rs. 6,873-2-2 sold in the half year ending September 1871, thus showing an increase of Rs. 3,399-2-0. The increase is solely due to the large sales of quinine. The sale of chiretta, jalap, and cholera pills, has not improved. It is noteworthy that while 38lb of quinine were sold in the Burdwan district, only 1lb 7oz. were disposed of in that of Hooghly. The same reason as has been assigned for the scanty sales of medicines at Howrah is probably the cause of the small sales in the Hooghly district, viz. that there are in those districts many independent practitioners who prescribe and supply to their patients remedies at cheaper rates.

2. The following suggestions made by the Inspector-General of Hospitals, Indian Medical Department, resulting from the inquiries which were instituted regarding the causes of the ill success of the scheme in districts where the realizations fell below Rs. 50 in the half year, meet with the Lieutenant-Governor's approval, viz.—

I.—That the system shall be continued in the districts of Bancoorah, Midnapore, Pubna, Hazareebaugh, Sarun, and 24-Pergunnahs;

Reduced to 5lb.	Reduced to 3lb.
Balasore.	Gowalparah.
Cuttack.	Tezpore.
Pooree.	Samoogoodting.
Maunbhoom.	Deoghur.
Singbhoom.	Monghyr.

II.—That the stock of medicines in the districts noted on the margin be reduced; and—

III.—That the system be entirely discontinued in the districts of Howrah and Garo Hills, where no sales have taken place, and where no reasonable prospect of success exists.

3. The Lieutenant-Governor concurs in opinion with the Inspector-General of Hospitals that the increased transactions this half, as compared with the results of the two previous half years, indicate that the people are commencing to appreciate the boon offered them by Government, and that the measures adopted to extend sales have been successful.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, with a copy of the Inspector-General's last report, be submitted to the Government of India for information; and that a copy of this Resolution only be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Hospitals for information and guidance. Further, that the report and Resolution be published for general information in the Calcutta and Bengalee Gazettes.

Statement showing Rainfall, Weather, State and Prospects of the Crops in the different Districts of the Lower Provinces of Bengal, as reported to Government during the week ending 14th September 1872.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date	Remarks.
BENGAL		1872.
	Western Districts.
BURDWAN DIVISION 1	Burdwan ...	Sep. 17th*	1·00	Weather sultry and oppressive.	Aus dhan in Culna sub-division nearly cut, yield expected to be a fair one. Large importations of rice from Dinagepore Amun crop still being planted Bood-bood — Prospects of amun not at all promising Cutwa — Prospects of all crops favorable. Rain everywhere required.	Fever lessening all over south of district Several thousands of cases of dengue reported Cholera cases increasing
2	Bancoorah ..	„ 14th	3·60	Heavy showers, with intervals of sunshine.	The weather has been as favorable as possible to the growing crops, which are therefore now progressing rapidly. Some aus dhan is being cut.	Dengue has appeared in the south east of the district; also the epidemic fever
3	Beerbhoom ..	„ 14th	1·05	Not much rain anywhere. Some days hot and bright. A high wind on Thursday.	Prospects fair, but much depends on the weather during the next month.
4	Midnapore ..	„ 14th	1·06	Three days without rain at the beginning of the week, after which high winds and a threatened gale on the 14th, the weather is calm.	No great change The rainfall was sufficient, if there is a further and continuous fall for some weeks more Prospects no worse, and prices, though fluctuating, show a slight tendency to decrease.
5	Hooghly ...	„ 14th	·87	Fair and cloudy Thursday, rainy and high wind throughout.	Jute and aus are being reaped, and are an average crop. Amun a half crop.
	Howrah ..	„ 14th	2·10	During first three days of the week clear and hot; westerly wind. During latter part of week stormy. Very high winds. Rain fell on three days everywhere, except at Ooloobereah and Sunkrail, where it fell on one day only Thunder-storm on 11th, universal.	Aus dhan, sugarcane, jute, &c., good. The amun dhan is being still transplanted, but it is so late that there is little hope of a fair return.
	Central Districts.
PRESIDENCY DIVISION 6	24-Pergunnahs ..	„ 17th	2·26	Scanty showers, with strong winds in most of the sub-divisions Sultry in other places Mean temp. 85° Direction of wind, north east and south	The reaping of the aus and jute completed, or nearly completed, all over the district. The transplanting of amun nearly finished. More rain wanted. Prospects of amun much the same as last week.	Dengue and remittent fever prevalent in most parts of the district Cholera has made its appearance in some places
7	Nuddea ..	„ 14th	0·88	Unsettled. The rains seem to be breaking up.	The aus crop still being harvested The crop will not be above average The amun crop is generally considered pretty good. The rivers are high and are still rising. Some damage has already been done by inundation. The chilly crop in Chooadangah sub-division has suffered in this way.
8	Jessore ...	„ 14th	·79	Little rain in district except in Khoolnea. Inundation high in Jhenida and Nurail.	Good.

BENGAL.—(Contd.)
	Central Districts.—(Contd.)	1872.
Rajshahye Division. 9	Moorshedabad ..	Sep. 14th	0·75	Cloudless and sultry. The heat for the last four days has been intense. Slight rainfall on Sunday and Monday.	The aus harvest is nearly over, and there will be a fair outturn. The amun crop has not had sufficient rain, but any that may fall now will be too late to benefit it. The other crops are doing well.
10	Dinagepore ...	„ 14th	1·41	Moderate rain throughout the district. Temp. Highest ... 94° Lowest ... 85°	Bhadoi dhan nearly all cut; other crops looking well.
11	Maldah ...	„ 14th	0·31	Weather fair; occasional heavy gales in the afternoon. Constant variations of temperature—westerly and then easterly.	Bhadoi has been almost all cut. Produce average. Amun and hymunti crop flourishing.
12	Rajshahye ...	„ 14th	2·84	Clouds have occasionally appeared, but no sufficient rain has fallen to keep the weather cool during the week.	State and prospects of the amun and aus crops are good. Ropa crop has been greatly benefited by the rains of the last week. Aus is being cut. The sugarcane is very good. The arahur crop is not a good one.
13	Rungpore ...	„ 14th	1·70	Very bright and hot sun in the morning; a light breeze generally during the day: evenings and nights oppressively hot.	The sun, though powerful, has not affected the rooa crops in consequence of the late heavy rain. The planting of the rooa dhan is still going on, so that the harvest will probably be late this year. At Bhowanigunge sub-division 4·71 inches of rain fell. The weather was generally hot, but the rain did good to the amun crop.
14	Bograh ...	Sep. 14th	0·95	Moderate and partial rain in the district.	The amun rice generally now promises well, though traces remain of want of rain earlier in the season.
15	Pubna ...	„ 14th	0·45	Fine and clear, occasional clouds, and strong easterly winds.	All the crops are doing well; the rise of the rivers making up for want of rain.
Cooch Behar Division. 16	Darjeeling ...	„ 14th	1·58	Fair	Progressing favorably.
17	Julpigoree ...	„ 14th	0·30	Very sultry and hot owing to rains drying up.	There is plenty of water in all the fields, so much so that if the rains have stopped, which looks probable, no damage will be done to the crops. Hymunti dhan promises very well.	Cholera again broke out in a village adjacent to the Julpigoree station; five deaths.
	Cooch Behar ...	„ 7th	10·91	Plenty of rain, without floods; the most favorable weather possible.	The aus crop lately reaped is above the average, and the prospects of the amun are very favorable. Jute is now being cut. The crop is rather poor in low grounds.

No.	District.	Date of return from each district.	Rainfall at Sudder Station in inches.	Character of the weather in the district as far as known.	State and prospects of the crops at date.	Remarks.
BENGAL.—(Contd.)
	Eastern Districts.	1872.
Dacca Division. 18	Dacca ...	Sep. 17th*	Nil.	Weather very hot; wind chiefly north-east.	Prospects of crops favorable. Rivers still rising slowly.
19	Furreedpore ...	,, 14th	0·21	Drizzling rain three days in the week; strong and continuous sunshine during the remaining days; weather close and sultry.	The state of crops in general is promising.
20	Backergunge ...	,, 14th	2·73	Rainy; sun very powerful between the showers.	Good.
21	Mymensing ...	,, 14th	1·76	Rain on three days of the week, followed by four days of warm, sunny weather. The weather is exactly what was wanted for agricultural operations.	State and prospects of crops excellent. The heavy rain of last week did some little damage in the north of the district, but not to any serious extent.
22	Sylhet ...	,, 7th	15·26	Nothing but incessant rain since the 30th August. Max. temperature of week ... 84° Min. ditto ... 73.5° Range ... 10.5° Mean of highest readings 81°3′ Mean of lowest readings 75°1′ Approximate mean of week ... 78°2′	If the rain continues much longer, the amun crop will be damaged considerably. The sowings of the sail crop have been stopped in consequence of the heavy rains this week. The rain during the last nine days has been most extraordinary. It has lasted almost incessantly. The rainfall up to date is 165·83 inches, and is more than the rainfall for the whole year in 1870-71, and about 12 inches less than the rainfall for the whole of 1869, which was considered an unusually wet year.
23	Cachar ...	,, 7th	5·91	Cloudy, with heavy rain night and day.	Every prospect of a full crop of rice. A few acres have been submerged, but they can be easily re-planted with fresh seedlings.
Chittagong Division. 24	Chittagong ..	,, 7th	6·71	Showers more or less heavy, with fine intervals.	Rain has fallen plentifully over the district, and both paddy and sugarcane are coming on well. The worms, or slugs, at Nila are reported to have almost or entirely disappeared.
25	Noakhally ...	,, 7th	8·15	Heavy rains throughout the week.	Aus dhan has been completely reaped and gathered. Amun dhan transplanting and doing well.
26	Tipperah ..	,, 14th	0·34	A week of intense heat; wind scarcely stirring.	Favorable at present, but the moisture in the rice fields is not superabundant, and the hot sun is rapidly exhausting it.
27	Chittagong Hill Tracts	,, 7th	2·2	There has been slight rain daily, but no heavy fall.	The cotton is in flower. The crops are promising. Cucumbers, melons, pumpkins, and gourds, plentiful in the markets. The harvest of Indian corn (maize) has been gathered. The early rice is now being harvested
	Hill Tipperah ...	,, 7th	5·06	Rainy and cloudy almost throughout the week.	Prospects are much brighter. The rain which fell during the week has done much good to the crops.

BEHAR.		1872.
28	Patna ...	Sept. 17th*	0·50	Weather exceedingly hot and close.	The bhadoi crops are being cut and are yielding well. Rice doing well, but more rain is wanted.	Cholera has almost died out, and dengue is lessening.
29	Gya ...	„ 14th	0·78	Cloudy, misty, stormy.	Bhadoi crop generally cut. Transplanting of rice nearly completed.
30	Shahabad ...	„ 14th	1·86	Cloudy and variable, with occasional storms; rain pretty general. Thermometer. Maximum ... 92° Minimum ... 76° Barometer. Highest rdg. 29·800 Lowest rdg. 29·600	The maroua and jenera have turned out excellent crops. Aghani rice generally promising. More rain still appears to be required in the Bhaboosh sub-division. The prospects of the whole district, however, are good.
31	Tirhoot ...	„ 14th	·10	Clear and hot, cloudy at intervals.	Second indigo crops are being reaped for manufacture. The dhan prospects have improved. The harvest of bhadoi crops, which are very good, has been commenced.
32	Sarun ...	„ 14th	2·79	East and west winds. There has been much rainfall over the district.	The bhadoi crop is being reaped. Sugarcane good. Paddy in the high lands doing well. Second indigo crop is being manufactured, but the outturn is in some factories not so good as was expected. Crops in pergunnahs Kusmer, Goa, and Mukair, have been injured by flood and bursting of the Gunduck embankment. Information has been called for, and the extent of the damage caused will be reported in due course. Reports have also been received that considerable damage has been done to the crops in the jurisdictions of thannahs Bussuntpore and Musrakh, and outposts Somepore, Mirzapore, and Bharay; the latter is in Sewan sub division. From reports just received, the bhadoi in the Bharay jurisdiction is expected to yield only four annas and the paddy eight annas. In Chuprah thannah, too, the crops in the Deerahs have specially suffered owing to a rise of the Ganges. About 100 beegahs of paddy in the jurisdiction of the Roghoonathpore outpost, on the bank of the river Gograh, has been swept away by the inundation.
33	Chumparun ...	„ 14th	0·70	Slight rain on Monday; hot weather; variable wind.	Bhadoi crops ripening, and promising to yield an excellent outturn. Aghani crop is progressing satisfactorily. The second cutting of indigo is going on.

Patna Division.

BEHAR.—(Contd.)		1872.
Bhaugulpore Division. 34	Monghyr ..	Sep. 14th	0·18	Sudder station.—Bright weather most of the week, with heat.	Food crops everywhere favorably reported on.
35	Bhaugulpore .	„ 17th*	0·72	...	Excellent reports still received of the aghani rice crop. Kallia and koorthi being sown in many places.	General health very good; a few cases of cholera in Banka, and dengue abating.
36	Purneah	„ 14th	0·21	Very bright.	Very good reports from all quarters both as regards the bhadoi harvest and the aghani prospects.
37	Sonthal Pergunnahs.
	Rajmehal ..	„ 14th	1·03	Occasional light showers, and hot sun throughout the subdivision.	The Indian corn crop proves excellent, and so does the bhadoi dhan. Prospects are good for the amun and later dhan crops throughout.
	Deoghur ..	„ 14th	30·	Favorable.	Paddy crops are all transplanted but are backward. Bhadoi crops have been cut, and the outturn was very good
	Nya Doomka ..	„ 14th	·73	Very little rain, less than is needful for dhan.	Jenerah very fine. Dhan wants much more rain; in many places dhan has been planted out so unusually late that exceptionally late rains will be needed to produce a crop
	Godda ...	„ 14th	1·28	Heavy rain in early part of week; hardly any during the past five days	Crops are doing well. Prospects generally favorable
ORISSA.
Orissa Division. 38	Cuttack .	„ 17th*	4·89	Weather wet.	Reports of all crops good.
39	Pooree ..	„ 7th	1·23	Seasonable .	Weeding going on. Damages by insects still complained of.
40	Balasore ..	„ 14th	6·15	Moderate rain in the south, but more than was wanted in the north. The weather has been changeable and boisterous as though the rains were drawing to a close.	Crops everywhere progressing splendidly. If not spoilt by too much rain, an unparalleled harvest is expected.
CHOTA NAGPORE
	South-West Frontier Agency.
41	Hazareebaugh ..	„ 14th	1·76	Seasonable.	Very favorable.
42	Lohardaggah ..	„ 14th	2·16	Close and hot up to 12th, when heavy rain fell generally.	The reports of all the crops from all parts of Chota Nagpore proper still continue favorable. The report from Palamow is not yet to hand, but as heavy rain has fallen there since the despatch of last report, the prospects of the late rice crop are doubtless better.
43	Singbhoom ...	„ 7th	2·95	Seasonable	Favorable.

CHOTA NAGPORE.—(Contd.)
	South-West Frontier Agency.—(Contd.)	1872.
44	Maunbhoom ...	Sep. 14th	1·74	Favorable.	Some of the crops on the high lands, such as goondli, Indian corn, kuddoo, and kanguree, have been and are being cut, and have given full returns. The gorah or bhadoi rice is nearly ripe, and will be a full crop. The transplanted rice crops promise well.
ASSAM AND ADJACENT HILLS.
45	Goalparah ...	,, 7th	14·57	Cloudy and almost incessant rain throughout the whole week.	The cutting of jute is completed; outturn fair. Cotton and sugarcane looking well. The late rain has been beneficial to winter crops.
46	Kamroop ..	,, 16th*	3·40	The whole week was hot, excepting the 16th.	Tea, cotton, and sugarcane and the shalee dhan, which is being transplanted, promise well.	Public health good.
47	Durrung ...	,, 7th	6·08	Range of temperature high; little or no breeze; cloudy.	All crops doing well. Rice-planting nearly finished.
48	Nowgong ..	,, 7th	7·15	Weather seasonable. Rain general throughout the district. Atmosphere cool and pleasant.	Crops doing very well indeed. Tea ditto ditto.
49	Seebsaugor ...	,, 7th	6·35	Partly cloudy and partly fair. Rain very general throughout the district.	Prospects of crops good. Tea doing well.
50	Luckimpore ...	,, 7th	7·24	Continuous rain since Monday. Thermometer. Max. ... 89° Min. ... 77°	Weather exceedingly favorable to grain crops, but owing to incessant rain, without any intervals of sunshine, unfavorable to tea. Reports from the sub-division fairly favorable.
51	Naga Hills ...	Aug. 31st	1·20	Generally fine during the day, with light showers at night. The mornings and evenings cool and pleasant.	"Jhum" crops still being cut, and a fair outturn expected. The "pathar" crops are backward.
52	Khasi and Jynteah Hills.	Sep. 7th	12·81	The weather throughout the week has been very heavy. The rain has been incessant, but it is not unseasonable.	The standing crops—rice, millet, Job's tears, and potatoes, are looking healthy.
53	Garo Hills ...	,, 7th	16·32	Heavy rain during the week; indeed heavier than the Deputy Commissioner has known before. It commenced on Friday and ended on the day of report.	The Deputy Commissioner has not much to remark. This continued wet will interfere somewhat with the cutting of the dhan where it is ripe, but it will not injure the cotton crop seriously. Such continuous rain cannot be beneficial.

The mean barometer, as likewise the dry and wet bulb thermometer means, are derived from the twenty-four hourly observations made during the day.

The dew-point is computed with the Greenwich constants. The figures in column 10 represent the humidity of the air, the complete saturation of which being taken at unity. The receiver of the lower rain gauge is 1½ feet, and that of the anemometer 70 feet 10 inches above the level of the ground. The velocity of wind, as indicated by Robinson's anemometer, is registered from noon to noon.

The Executive Engineer has been called upon to report on the cause of this low amount of tollage. In the opinion of Superintending Engineer it will be found that the falling off in the tollage is due partly to river communication being available during low freshes and partly to the fact that for ten days in July the floods were so high that any approach to the canal was impossible.

Storm Signals.

THE following regulations, for the use of the Storm Signals provided at the Indian Museum, are notified for general information :—

The Signals are of two kinds; a double cone to be hoisted as a Warning Signal, and a drum or Storm Signal.

The Warning Signal will be hoisted on the flagstaff at the Indian Museum whenever the appearance of the weather at Calcutta, and as reported by telegraph from the Meteorological Stations on and near the coast, is such as usually precedes a Cyclone in the neighbourhood of the coast.

The Storm Signal will be hoisted when from the same indications it is to be inferred that a storm is imminent and approaching Calcutta.

These Signals will be hoisted only during the hours of day-light.

Similar signals are deposited at the Government Dockyard, Kidderpore, the Sailors' Home, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Office of the Trades' Association, and on due occasion notices to exhibit them will be sent to the Bankshall, the Office of the Commissioners for the Improvement of the Port, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Trades' Association.

Notice.

OVERLAND MONEY ORDERS.

THE public are hereby informed that, under arrangements concluded with the Post Office of the United Kingdom, an exchange of Money Orders between that country and India will commence on the 1st October 1872.

2. The offices established in India for the transaction of inland money order business will transact also the business of Overland Money Orders. A list of Indian Money Order Offices is given in the Indian Postal Guide.

3. Any persons desirous of remitting money to the United Kingdom by means of an Overland Money Order should apply to a Money Order Office furnishing the particulars described below:—

Overland Money Order application.

For £ _____ s _____ d _____.
Payable to _____ residing at _____
Name of remitter _____
Address _____
Date _____

Blank forms of application can be obtained by intending remitters from a Money Order Office all necessary instructions respecting the filling up of such forms being printed on the back. The residence of the person to whom the order is to be made payable should be carefully given by the remitter as it is on this information that the London Office determines the particular Money Order Office in the United Kingdom at which the order can be most conveniently made payable.

4. No Overland Money Order can exceed £10, or contain the fraction of a penny.

5. The amount chargeable in India for an order payable in the United Kingdom can be ascertained from any Money Order Office. The scale of Indian charges is liable to vary with the rate of exchange; for the present the scale of charge will be as follows :—

Amount of Order. £.	s.	d.	Cost of Order. Rs.	As.	P.
7	10	11	80	11	4
7	10	0	80	4	0
5	0	11	53	15	4
5	0	0	53	8	0
2	10	0	26	12	0

The sum chargeable for an intermediate amount can be obtained from the next higher amount in the above schedule by deducting from the "cost" at the rate of 8 annas for every shilling and eight pie for every penny, by which the "amount" is reduced.

6. For each remittance the remitter will be furnished with a receipt with all needful information printed on the back. This receipt will be retained by the remitter; all that he has to do being to write to the payee in England informing him of his (the remitter's) name as entered in the receipt. The payee in England will receive the Money Order direct from the London Office.

7. Orders for remittances from the United Kingdom, payable in India, will be forwarded without charge for postage by the Post-Master, Bombay, to the payee in India; and, if there be no Money Order Office at his address, the Post-Master of Bombay, before issuing the order, will enquire of him as to the office at which payment can most conveniently be taken. These orders will be in the same form, and subject to the same rules in respect of payment as ordinary Inland Money Orders except that the payee will not be required to give information respecting the address of the remitter in Britain, but only in respect of his surname and Christian name.

[Fourth Publication.]

THE following Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to amend the law relating to Embankments and Water-courses, together with the Bill as amended by the Committee, is, by order of the President, hereby published for general information :—

WE the Select Committee appointed to consider the Bill "to amend the law relating to embankments and water-courses," as amended by the former committee and submitted with their report of the 28th August 1871, have the honor to submit the following report :—

From Superintending Engineer, Orissa Circle dated 6th February 1871.
Memorandum from Officiating Secretary to Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, dated 2nd June 1871, with enclosures.
From Chairman of the Board of Agency, East Indian Railway, dated 1st September 1871.
From Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division, dated 25th September 1871, and enclosure.
From Honorary Secretary, British Indian Association, dated 16th November 1871.
From Officiating Secretary, Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, dated 11th December 1871, and enclosures.
Memorial of Maharajah Dheroj Mahtab Chand Bahadoor, Maharajah of Burdwan, dated 20th January 1872.
To Board of Agency, East Indian Railway Company, dated 2nd October 1871.
From ditto ditto ditto, dated 15th February 1872.
From Officiating Joint-Secretary, Government of Bengal, Public Works Department, Irrigation Branch, dated 20th July 1872, with notes by the Assistant and Chief Engineers in that department.

We have received and considered the papers noted on the margin.

We have introduced a definition of the word "tenure" and altered that of "proprietor" in accordance therewith.

We have provided by a separate section for power to the engineer to alter railways on the previous sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and also for the recovery of the cost of such alterations.

We have introduced a section defining certain embankments, as shown in a schedule annexed to the Act, and have made the Government alone responsible for the cost and repairs of those embankments.

We have altered the Chapter relating to the apportionment of the cost of the works, proceedings, &c., in view to empower the Collector to determine such apportionment between the proprietors as well as between the zemindars of the estates protected and benefited by such works; so as to avoid the necessity for recourse to the Civil Courts in cases of dispute arising in regard to that apportionment; and have provided for such apportionment being made in certain cases in respect to estates, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively paid for such estates.

We have made the recovery of contributions of zemindars and proprietors from their subordinate proprietors recoverable as arrears of rent due from putni-talookdars.

We have omitted the section of the former Bill giving power to zemindars and proprietors to recover a proportion of their payments from ryots having rights of occupancy.

Forms for certain notices, &c., prescribed by the Bill, have been prepared in the schedules.

Verbal and other alterations have been made which require no special mention.

We recommend that the Bill as now submitted be passed.

Provided that he shall forthwith inform the Collector thereof and of the nature of the danger, and give notice of his intention to continue to exercise such powers. Application to be made within a year.

33. No claim shall be entertained which shall be made later than one year next after the completion of the work by which such right is injuriously affected.

Procedure for such compensation.

34. Subject to the provisions of the next preceding section, the Collector shall proceed to enquire into each claim made, and to determine the amount of compensation, if any, which should be made, and the person to whom the same should be payable, and the Collector, on the receipt of such claim, shall fix a time and place for hearing such claim, and Sections 9 to 15, 18 to 23, 26 to 34, 36, 37, 38, 51, and 59 of the said Land Acquisition Act, 1870, shall apply to enquiries into such rights as aforesaid, or the exercise of such rights as aforesaid, and to the awards of compensation for injuries to such rights as though they were rights in and awards of compensation for land needed for a public purpose.

Appeal from Judge's decision as to compensation.

35. If the Judge differs from both the assessors as to the amount of compensation, under any of the provisions hereinbefore contained, he shall pronounce his decision, and the Collector or the person interested (as the case may be) may appeal therefrom to the Court of the District Judge.

Every appeal under this section shall be presented within the time and in manner provided by the Code of Civil Procedure for regular appeals in suits.

Provided that nothing herein contained shall affect the liability of any person who may receive the whole or any part of any compensation awarded under this Act, to pay the same to the person lawfully entitled thereto.

Land, &c., taken possession of to vest in Secretary of State.

38. All land, earth, pathways, sluices, gates, bermes, hedges, belonging to or forming part of any embankment, water-course, channel, or line of drainage, of which charge has been or may hereafter be taken by the officers of Government, shall vest in the Secretary of State for India, and shall be held by him on behalf of the persons interested in the lands to be protected or benefited by such embankment, water-course, channel, or line of drainage.

PART VI.

COST OF WORKS, PROCEEDINGS, &c.

1. Ascertainment thereof.

Embankments in schedule E.

39. The provisions in this Part contained shall not apply to any of the embankments mentioned in Schedule (E) to this Act annexed, save so far as any works or repairs are executed therein or in relation thereto under the provisions of Sections 10 and 13 of this Act respectively. All sums payable in respect of any works or repairs executed therein or in relation thereto, except under the provisions of the said sections respectively, shall be paid by the local Government. If at any time after the passing of this Act the Collector, on enquiry made by him as far as possible in accordance with the provisions of Part III of this Act, shall find that it is unnecessary for the public interests to retain any embankment mentioned in Schedule (E), the Lieutenant-Governor may direct that the same shall be no longer included in the said Schedule. Provided that the same shall be restored to the said Schedule if on any subsequent enquiry similarly conducted it shall be found necessary so to do.

Alteration of schedule.

41. Specifications of any works or repairs to be executed under the provisions of this Act, and estimates of the expenses to be incurred therein or relating thereto, including such proportion of establishment charges as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct, shall be prepared by the Engineer as soon after the month of October in each year as may be practicable. And whenever it appears that the actual expenses to be incurred will exceed the amount mentioned in the said estimates by one-tenth, the engineer shall forthwith prepare further estimates, and if necessary further specifications. Copies of all specifications and estimates shall be transmitted to the office of the Collector, together with vernacular translations thereof or such abstracts thereof as the Lieutenant-Governor may from time to time direct, and may be examined by any person interested in such works or repairs. Notice of the receipt of specifications and estimates shall be served for all estates likely to be affected by the said works or repairs; and should any objection be preferred by any such person within a period of one month from the date of such notice, the Collector shall communicate the objection, with his own opinion thereupon, to the Engineer, who shall pass such orders as may appear to him reasonable and proper.

Estimate and specifications to be prepared.

42. The accounts of the actual expense incurred in executing any works or repairs shall be prepared as soon as possible after the completion thereof. The Engineer shall sign a certificate stating the true amount of all such expenses and the names of the estates and villages likely to be affected by the said works and repairs. Copies of the said accounts and certificates shall be forwarded to the office of the Collector, and may be there examined by any person interested. Notice of the receipt thereof shall be served for the said estates and villages and such others as in the opinion of the Collector are liable to contribute to the payment of the said amount; and if, within thirty days from the service of such notice, any interested person shall object to the accounts on the ground either that the work charged for has not been performed, or that the whole sum charged has not been expended, or that the rates of charge are higher than those mentioned in the estimates, the Collector shall enquire into such objection, and may pass any order thereon subject in any case to an appeal by the objector or to a reference by the Engineer to the Commissioner of Division whose decision shall be final.

Preparation and settlement of accounts.

43. The Collector shall add to the amount appearing in the said certificate all sums which have been paid or have become payable in respect of compensation, costs and expenses under and incidental to any proceedings taken or directed to be taken under Part V of this Act, including costs of all surveys and plans. He shall thereupon make an order specifying the total sum found payable, and the persons by whom or the estates in respect of which the same is payable to him. If the order is made in respect of work done under Section 9, 12, or 13, the same shall forthwith be served upon the party or parties liable to pay. Otherwise the Collector shall proceed under the provisions in the next chapter contained. Interest may be charged upon any sum paid as compensation from the date of payment thereof at such rate, not exceeding 5 per cent. per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor may direct.

Total sum payable.

44. The said total sum, save so far as is otherwise provided in this Act, shall be paid to the Collector by the zemindars of the estates in which are situated the lands benefited or protected by the repairs or works executed. Provided that where any special payments have been demanded in respect of any estate not included in schedule E, and when the said embankment is at the time of this Act coming into operation being maintained by Government, then such special payments shall after the passing of this Act thenceforth cease and determine.

Parties liable to pay.

2. Apportionment thereof.

45. So soon as the total sum payable as aforesaid has been ascertained, the Collector shall cause a notice to be served for every one of the said estates and villages mentioned in Section 42. Every such notice shall specify the estates and villages aforesaid, and that an enquiry will be held at a day and place therein named for the purpose of apportioning amongst the zemindars and proprietors the said total sum, with interest and the costs of apportionment.

Notice to be given before apportionment.

46. On the day fixed in the said notice, which shall not be less than thirty days later than the date of any service of such notice, the Collector shall proceed to make the said enquiry. In making this enquiry he shall receive such evidence as may be tendered by, or on behalf of, the said zemindars and proprietors, and by, or on behalf of, any other persons who may claim to be interested therein.

Mode of enquiry as to the proportion chargeable to each estate.

47. In any such enquiry the Collector shall take down in writing the names of all persons who may claim, or who may be alleged by any party interested, to be proprietors of tenures within any of the estates mentioned in such notice. In default of appearance of any such person, the Collector shall issue and serve a notice calling on him to appear at a date and place therein mentioned, and to show cause against being included in the order of apportionment to be made therein, and shall adjourn the enquiry till such date.

Names of proprietors.

48. At such or any subsequently adjourned enquiry the Collector, if there be only one estate liable, shall charge the zemindar thereof with the total amount payable; and if there be two or more estates, he shall apportion the same amongst the zemindars thereof rateably in the proportion of the respective benefits derived by such estates from such works or repairs; or in proportion of the areas of the lands benefited or protected thereby, and comprised within such estates respectively; or with the sanction of the Local Government in proportion to the amount of revenue respectively payable for such estates, if before the passing of this Act such proportion has been usually adopted.

Amongst proprietors.

49. The Collector shall in like manner apportion the amount payable in respect of each estate amongst all the tenures therein, rateably in the proportion of benefit or area; first deducting therefrom such sum as on the like principle of proportion is payable in respect of such portion of the estate as is not included within any tenure.

Payable by instalments.

50. The amount apportioned to any estate or tenure shall be payable in equal instalments on such days as the Lieutenant-Governor shall direct, provided that no instalment shall exceed four annas for every acre of land in respect of which the same is payable, and that not more than four instalments shall be payable in any one year.

Interest.

Interest shall be charged on the unpaid portion of the said amount from the date of the same becoming due until payment thereof at such rate, not exceeding five per cent. per annum, as the Lieutenant-Governor shall from time to time determine.

Final order of apportionment.

51. The Collector shall make an order, specifying the estates and tenures, and the several sums payable in respect thereof, the instalments of such sums and the dates on which the same are payable.

3. Recovery thereof.

Orders for payment.

52. The Collector shall within thirty days from the final order of apportionment make and serve for every estate therein mentioned an order, stating the amount with interest due in respect thereof and that the same is payable to him, and the date or dates at which such amount or instalments thereof shall become payable to him.

Recovery from zemindars.

53. If such sum or any instalment thereof be not, pursuant to the said order, paid, the same with interest shall be recoverable as arrears of a demand under the provisions of Act VII of 1868 passed by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal in Council.

From proprietors.

54. Every zemindar or proprietor to whom any sum or instalment thereof is payable under the said order, may recover the same with interest in the manner provided by law for the recovery of arrears of rent in respect of putnee tenures. A copy of the said order, certified under the name and seal of the Collector, shall be received in any suit for the recovery of the same as conclusive evidence that the amount was apportioned as therein mentioned, but shall not be evidence as to the existence of, or as to any right in, the tenure to which the said amount has been apportioned.

PART VII.

55. Every person who, without the previous permission of the Engineer obtained as hereinbefore set forth, shall erect, or cause or wilfully permit to be erected, any new embankment, or shall obstruct or divert, or cause or wilfully permit to be obstructed or diverted, any drainage channel, shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, or in default of payment, to imprisonment of either description for a period not exceeding six months.

Circulation of Currency Notes in the Lower Provinces.

No. 151, dated Calcutta, the 18th June 1872.

From—The Accountant-General, Bengal.

To—The Under-Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

I HAVE the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 2476, dated the 15th instant.

2. The substance of the replies to my circular No. 245 will be communicated to you as soon as they all come to hand; in the meantime I beg to submit copy of a paragraph from the administration report for 1871-72 bearing on the currency note transactions in that year.

"The following statement shows the receipts and issues of Government currency notes at the district treasuries of Bengal during 1871-72 and the two preceding years :—

"The increase in receipts and issues from and to the public in payment of Government dues and demands is satisfactory,—the latter more particularly so, as it evinces a greater demand on the part of the public for the notes, arising, it may be assumed, out of a greater confidence in their convertibility. The improvement in the receipts and issues of notes in exchange for silver is most marked. The cause of the falling off in the issues in 1870-71 was explained last year to have been due to the orders of the local Government prohibiting the exchange of notes for cash at surplus treasuries. Happily this restriction was withdrawn by the publication of the resolution of the Government of India No. 241, dated 13th January 1871. Under its provisions treasury officers have since cashed notes of their own circles freely on demand, whenever it could be done without inconvenience. The result in the year's transactions is an increase of 163 per cent. in the receipts and of 1,052 per cent. in the issues. The provincial totals of the two sides of the account so nearly correspond, that the cost to the Government of this immense boon to the public may be said to have been almost nil. Against one crore and six lacs of silver received on this account, one crore and four lacs of silver were issued. The only charge that could possibly be debited to what may thus be called the currency exchange department of mofussil treasuries, is the cost of postage incurred in remitting notes from one treasury to another. That silver remittances have not been made to meet the public convenience in the above respect, is capable of proof by a comparison of the cost of specie remittances during late years."

At the same time the falling off in the business of the Money Order Agency must not be overlooked. The decrease in value of orders issued may be roughly put at 6 lacs of rupees, the loss on which may be estimated at Rs. 6,000. This loss is directly attributable to the increased paper circulation.

No. 310A, dated Calcutta, the 29th August 1872.

From—The Officiating Secretary to the Board of Revenue, L. P.

To—The Officiating Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

V. H. Schalch, Esq

In reply to Government order No. 3432 of the 7th instant, I am directed to submit the following report on the circulation of Government currency notes in the Lower Provinces during the year 1871-72.

2. The increase in the receipts and issues of currency notes from and to the public in exchange for silver at public treasuries during the year under report, as compared with the previous year, has been altogether unprecedented. The receipts have risen from Rs. 39,66,460 to Rs. 1,01,57,490, and the issues from Rs. 9,25,530 to Rs. 1,06,74,010. The direct cause of this increase is beyond doubt the removal at the end of 1870-71 of the restriction previously placed on the issue of notes for silver at surplus treasuries. The increased receipts have followed naturally on the increased issues, and are not to be regarded as any indication of a want of confidence in the Government, or in the value of the notes. The same remark applies to the increased receipts of notes in payment of Government dues, which receipts have risen from Rs. 1,09,40,770 in 1870-71 to Rs. 1,27,67,920 in 1871-72; for this increase is somewhat more than balanced by the increase in the value of notes issued in payment of demands against Government, the rise under this head having been from Rs. 75,97,560 to Rs. 97,75,640.

3. The fact that the large increase under observation has occurred in both receipts and issues, and is specially remarkable in the latter, lends confirmation amounting to almost absolute proof to the reports of the local officers from nearly all parts of the country, that the run on the public treasuries for notes has been mainly for purposes of remittance, and that there has been but a small increase in the bonâ fide paper currency of the country.

4. In Midnapore, Burdwan, and Bancoorah, notes have been taken, it is said, in preference to cash for purposes of safe keeping and current use. But the report of the Commissioner of Burdwan, which contains this statement, is the only one in which such an allegation occurs.* The Commissioners of Bhaugulpore, Cooch Behar, and Chota Nagpore, speak indeed with much satisfaction of the confidence evinced by the people in the paper currency. Mr. Barlow observes—"The great increase which has taken place in the circulation is a proof of the confidence of the people in the Government. The late notification authorizing the issue of five-rupee notes will no doubt be hailed with satisfaction by the public at large." And Colonel Dalton says—"The people of this part of the country are year by year becoming accustomed to appreciate the advantages of a paper currency in their commercial dealings and for other purposes. This confidence is newly acquired. Amongst the mercantile and educated classes it is complete, and there is every reason to hope that it will become more and more general in time..... The circulation has much increased in Hazareebaugh since the establishment there of a currency note agency, and the Deputy Commissioner says that the people of his district are now beginning to look on currency notes with the same faith that they formerly had only in coin." But the reports of these officers contain no distinct indication of the use to which the notes are put by the people, and the Member in charge scarcely entertains a hope that in the parts of the country under observation there is any greatly increased employment of notes in the daily transactions of buying and selling.

* The Collector of Shahabad makes a similar statement in respect to his district, but the Commissioner's remarks lead to the impression that he does not think there is any extensive use of notes in his division except for purposes of remittance.

5. From all other parts of the country it is reported that currency notes are rapidly superseding other media of remittance, while they are used to a very limited extent only for other purposes. The Member in charge has no information in regard to the financial results of the money order system during the past year,—results which would supply valuable evidence on the point in hand. But he observes that the sales of stamps for bills of exchange fell short during 1871-72 of those of the previous year by rather more than Rs. 8,000, the figures for the two years being Rs. 97,777 and Rs. 1,05,942 respectively, a decrease which is sufficiently marked to lend countenance, in the absence of other special explanation, to the common report that currency notes are now constantly employed in lieu of hoondees, remitters accepting the increased risk for the sake of avoiding the expense of the commission charged by bankers upon drafts.

6. The Member in charge does not, however, regard the existing state of things as discouraging. That a paper currency should, for the first few years after its introduction into a country like this, be principally employed by the commercial classes for the purpose of remitting money, is just what might have been expected; and as an intermediate stage of development, the rapidly extended use of the currency notes by those classes which is now observed is a hopeful and satisfactory phenomenon. It cannot but be that a ten-fold multiplication, such as has occurred within the past year, of the paper money which has passed, however temporarily, into the hands of the public, must tend to extend among the people at large a knowledge of the convenience and advantage of the use of notes as a substitute for coin for general purposes. It is almost beyond doubt that this result must have been already in some small degree accomplished, and the Member in charge believes that further and perhaps rapid progress in this direction may be looked for.

7. He therefore would strongly deprecate any curtailment of the free issue of notes for silver to the public. The obvious objection to the concession is that Government suffers a loss, both in the form of diminished receipts of commission on money orders, and in that of increased expenditure in the transport of treasure. The Member in charge has no returns before him showing the amount of that loss in either department, but he hazards a belief that it can scarcely be sufficient to justify the abandonment or suspension of what he believes to be a true and enlightened course of policy.

9	Moorshedabad ..	Sep. 21st	0·14	Hardly any rain; weather intensely hot.	The harvest of early sown bhadoi is over, but the late sown bhadoi has not yet been reaped. No report has been received from Lalbaugh sub-division.
10	Dinagepore ..	,, 21st	·76	Showers generally slight throughout the district. Temperature. Highest .. 93° Lowest ... 80°	The bhadoi dhan nearly all cut. Planting out of ropa dhan only ... finished in a few pl... The harvest will pro... bly be rather late. All crops looking well.
11	Maldah .	,, 21st	0·82	Weather fair; extreme variations of temperature; night and morning dewy; wind easterly and southerly.	Amun and hymunti crops are in a satisfactory state. Kalye is being sown. Inundation subsiding.
12	Rajshahye ..	,, 21st	0·30	Fine weather, but very hot until Friday, when clouds gathered and the temperature fell, and strong wind set in from the north accompanied by occasional showers of rain.	The prospects of the amun crops are very satisfactory. The harvest of aus rice has proved better than was expected. The reaping is still going on. The sugarcane crop is a good one. Kalye is now being sown.
13	Rungpore ...	,, 21st	1·96	Cooler during the week. A high wind prevailed on the 20th, but the rain is now falling.	Good.

15	Pubna ...	,, 21st	6·78	Generally cloudy, but no rain till 20th. There was a severe cyclone on the 20th. It blew more or less all night, and early in the morning. From about 11 A.M. the wind increased in violence from the east, and at 2 P.M. it burst on the station with all its fury from the north-east, veering round to the north, till about 4-40, when there was a lull for about 20 minutes. At 5 P.M. it again commenced to blow from the north-west, but not with quite the same violence, and from 6 to 9 the wind gradually began to subside, blowing from the west and finally veering round to south-west.	It is feared considerable injury has been done to the crops by the cyclone, but as yet reports thereof have not been received.

Bhaugulpore Division. 34	Monghyr ..	Sept. 21st	Nil	Bright and fine ..	As last week. Entirely satisfactory.
35	Bhaugulpore ..	„ 21th	3·76	More rain wanted in places If the late rain has been at all general, it will have been of great benefit.	Bhadoi crops nearly all reaped, and, as already reported, outturn generally far above average. Prospects of aghani rice in most parts of district very favorable.	General health exceedingly good Dengue dying out
36	Purneah ..	„ 21st	0 37	Showery ..	The bhadoi harvest, now nearly finished, is very good Aghani, though backward, promises well. Other crops good.
37	Sonthal Pergunnahs. Rajmehal ..	„ 21st	·74	Sun very hot; rapidly drying up moisture.	Bhadoi nearly all cut Average produce at present, and for the next ten days all will do well. After that more rain will be requisite to ensure anything of a crop of dhan in the cold weather.
	Deoghur ..	„ 21st	·01	Weather very hot but healthy	Much more rain needed for paddy. Kurthee and surgujia are being sown, but require rain. Sugarcane very good.
	Nya Doomka ..	„ 21st	·78	Very little rain; more is wanted.	Jenerah being reaped and producing well Dhan wants a good deal more of rain
	Godda ...	„ 21st	1·12	One day's rain at the sudder station. Heavy rain in the north and north east portion of the sub-division	Crops doing well.

39	Pooree ..	„ 14th	3 3	Sunny, with varying winds.	Crops progressing favorably. The yellow insect disappearing.
40	Balasore ..	„ 21st	1·34	In the north moderate rain, weather getting cooler In the south heavy rain and flood in the Salnadi.	Crops progressing very favorably. The flood has rather done good as it has left a fertilizing deposit on the lands occupied by the late rice crop. It is anticipated that there will be an exceptionally good crop all over the district.
CHOTA NAGPORE
	South-West Frontier Agency
41	Hazareebaugh .	„ 21st	Nil.	Hot . and rather oppressive	Fair, but rain still much wanted. Indian-corn has been cut and carried Goondli being cut in some parts of the district.
42	Lohardaggah ..	„ 21st	0·29	Bright, clear weather, with cool mornings and very hot sun in the day.	In Chota Nagpore proper the prospects of all the crops continue favorable, though more rain is much wanted in some parts. In the Palamow sub-division the bhadoi crops are generally fair; murwa, til, and cotton, good; mukai also good, but the late rice crop will be a very short one. In some parts it may reach to 12 annas, but mostly it will be 8 annas or 4 annas. This is owing to the seed plants not having been transplanted for want of rain.
